PROCEEDINGS AND DEBATES OF THE 105th CONGRESS, SECOND SESSION

Vol. 144

WASHINGTON, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1998

No. 130

House of Representatives

The House met at 9 a.m. and was called to order by the Speaker pro tempore (Mr. MILLER of Florida).

DESIGNATION OF THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore laid before the House the following communication from the Speaker:

WASHINGTON, DC.
September 25, 1998.

I hereby designate the Honorable DAN MILLER to act as Speaker pro tempore on this day.

NEWT GINGRICH,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

PRAYER

The Reverend Douglas Tanner, Faith & Politics Institute, Washington, D.C., offered the following prayer:

Let us pray. Almighty God, we come before You this morning conscious of a change in the seasons. We still see around us signs of a dry summer. Trees have suffered, and some have died. Others, with deeper roots, have reached well below the surface, found water, and grown even in the drought-like conditions, like President Nelson Mandela in his prison cell. We marvel at the ways You redeem Your creation.

We know, O God, that we could experience the coming season in this institution as one of spiritual drought, with little rain falling to nurture mutual respect and appreciation for each other across ideological and party lines. We could see streams of wisdom and statesmanship disappear into a desert of superficial and self-righteous postures.

Save us, we pray, from such a season. But if we must fully enter it, deepen the roots in our souls. Nourish our awareness, Lord, of truth, beauty, compassion, and understanding, that in even such a season, we may grow toward Your light. Amen.

THE JOURNAL

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair has examined the Journal of the last day's proceedings and announces to the House his approval thereof.

Pursuant to clause 1, rule I, the Journal stands approved.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from New York (Mr. SCHUMER) come forward and lead the House in the Pledge of Allegiance.

Mr. SCHUMER led the Pledge of Allegiance as follows:

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

SEC. 8128. (a) FINDINGS.—The Congress finds that—

(1) child experts estimate that as many as 250,000 children under the age of 18 are currently serving in armed forces or armed groups in more than 30 countries around the world;

(2) contemporary armed conflict has caused the deaths of 2,000,000 minors in the last decade alone, and has left an estimated 6,000,000 children seriously injured or permanently disabled;

(3) children are uniquely vulnerable to military recruitment because of their emotional and physical immaturity, are easily manipulated, and can be drawn into violence that they are too young to resist or understand;

(4) children are most likely to become child soldiers if they are poor, separated from their families, displaced from their homes, living in a combat zone, or have limited access to education;

(5) orphans and refugees are particularly vulnerable to recruitment;

(6) one of the most egregious examples of the use of child soldiers is the abduction of some 10,000 children, some as young as 8 years of age, by the Lord's Resistance Army (in this section referred to as the "LRA") in northern Uganda;

(7) the Department of State's Country Reports on Human Rights Practices for 1997 reports that in Uganda the LRA kills, maims, and rapes large numbers of civilians, and forces abducted children into "virtual slavery as guards, concubines, and soldiers";

(8) children abducted by the LRA are forced to raid and loot villages, fight in the front line of battle against the Ugandan army and the Sudan People's Liberation Army (SPLA), serve as sexual slaves to rebel commanders, and participate in the killing of other children who try to escape;

(9) former LRA child captives report witnessing Sudanese government soldiers delivering food supplies, vehicles, ammunition, and arms to LRA base camps in government-controlled southern Sudan;

(10) children who manage to escape from LRA captivity have little access to trauma care and rehabilitation programs, and many find their families displaced, unlocatable, dead, or fearful of having their children return home;

(11) Graca Machel, the former United Nations expert on the impact of armed conflict on children, identified the immediate demobilization of all child soldiers as an urgent priority, and recommended the establishment through an optional protocol to the Convention on the Rights of the Child of 18 as the minimum age for recruitment and participation in armed forces; and

(12) the International Committee of the Red Cross, the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF), the United Nations High Commission on Refugees, and the United Nations High Commissioner on Human Rights, as well as many nongovernmental organizations, also support the establishment of 18 as the minimum age for military recruitment and participation in armed conflict.

(b) IN GENERAL.—The Congress hereby—

(1) deplores the global use of child soldiers and supports their immediate demobilization;

(2) condemns the abduction of Ugandan children by the LRA;

(3) calls on the Government of Sudan to use its influence with the LRA to secure the release of abducted children and to halt further abductions; and

(4) encourages the United States delegation not to block the drafting of an optional protocol to the Convention on the Rights of the Child that would establish 18 as the minimum age for participation in armed conflict.

(c) SENSE OF THE CONGRESS.—It is the sense of the Congress that the President and the Secretary of State should—

(1) support efforts to end the abduction of children by the LRA, secure their release, and facilitate their rehabilitation and reintegration into society;

(2) not block efforts to establish 18 as the minimum age for participation in conflict through an optional protocol to the Convention on the Rights of the Child; and

(3) provide greater support to United Nations agencies and nongovernmental organizations working for the rehabilitation and reintegration of former child soldiers into society.

JOINT EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

The managers on the part of the House and the Senate at the conference on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses on the amendment of the Senate to the bill (H.R. 4103), making appropriations for the Department of Defense for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1999, and for other purposes, submit the following joint statement to the House and the Senate in explanation of the effect of the action agreed upon by the managers and recommended in the accompanying conference report.

The conference agreement on the Department of Defense Appropriations Act, 1999, incorporates some of the provisions of both the House and Senate versions of the bill. The language and allocations set forth in House Report 105-591 and Senate Report 105-200 should be complied with unless specifically addressed in the accompanying bill and statement of the managers to the contrary.

Senate Amendment: The Senate deleted the entire House bill after the enacting clause and inserted the Senate bill. The conference agreement includes a revised bill.

DEFINITION OF PROGRAM, PROJECT, AND ACTIVITY

The conferees agree that for the purposes of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985 (Public Law 99-177) as amended by the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Reaffirmation Act of 1987 (Public Law 100-119) and by the Budget Enforcement Act of 1990 (Public Law 101-508), the term program, project, and activity for appropriations contained in this Act shall be defined as the most specific level of budget items identified in the Department of Defense Appropriations Act, 1999, the accompanying House and Senate Committee reports, the conference report and accompanying joint explanatory statement of the managers of the Committee of Conference, the related classified annexes and reports, and the P-1 and R-1 budget justification documents as subsequently modified by Congressional action. The following exception to the above definition shall apply:

For the Military Personnel and the Operation and Maintenance accounts, the term

"program, project, and activity" is defined as the appropriations accounts contained in the Department of Defense Appropriations Act. At the time the President submits his budget for fiscal year 2000, the conferees direct the Department of Defense to transmit to the congressional defense committees budget justification documents to be known as the "M-1" and "O-1" which shall identify, at the budget activity, activity group, and subactivity group level, the amounts requested by the President to be appropriated to the Department of Defense for operation and maintenance in any budget request, or amended budget request, for fiscal year 2000.

SPECIAL INTEREST ITEMS

Items for which the conferees have specifically provided funds through a conference agreement or through adoption of original House or Senate recommendations in Research, Development, Test, and Evaluation or Procurement appropriations are Congressional special interest items for the purpose of the Base for Reprogramming (DD Form 1414). These items are identified in the respective committee or conference reports using the phrases "only for" or "only to" or are specifically identified in the tables. Each item will be carried on the DD form 1414 in the amount agreed to by the conferees. The Department of Defense shall consult with the congressional defense committees before issuing the DD form 1414 so there is common agreement on items of special interest. In no case will the Department of Defense transfer funds from special interest items through the below threshold reprogramming process. In addition, the term program in Section 8111 includes any subprogram, modification, project, or subproject not previously justified and appropriated in a given appropriation account by the Congress through the normal budget process.

TITLE I—MILITARY PERSONNEL

The conferees agree to the following amounts for the Military Personnel accounts as follows:

[In thousands of dollars]

	Budget	House	Senate	Conference
Active personnel:
Army .....	21,002,051	20,908,851	20,822,051	20,841,687
Navy .....	16,613,053	16,560,253	16,532,153	16,570,754
Marine Corps .....	6,272,089	6,241,189	6,253,189	6,263,387
Air Force .....	17,311,683	17,201,583	17,205,660	17,211,987
Reserve personnel:
Army .....	2,152,075	2,171,675	2,152,075	2,167,052
Navy .....	1,387,379	1,427,979	1,387,379	1,426,663
Marine Corps .....	401,888	403,513	401,888	406,616
Air Force .....	856,176	850,576	856,176	852,324
National Guard personnel:
Army .....	3,404,595	3,413,195	3,499,595	3,489,987
Air Force .....	1,376,097	1,372,997	1,376,097	1,377,109
Total, Military Personnel .....	70,777,086	70,551,811	70,486,263	70,607,566

PAY RAISE INCREASE

The conferees recommend an increase of $202,455,000 to active and Guard and Reserve personnel accounts to provide for a 3.6 percent military pay raise, an increase of a half percent over the budget request of 3.1 percent.

FORCE STRUCTURE CHANGES

The conferees recommend a total of $106,200,000 in the Military Personnel and Operation and Maintenance accounts for restoration of force structure that was reduced in the budget request, as follow:

	Dollars in thousands)	Milpers	O&M	Proc.	Total
Air Force B-52 aircraft .....		3,600	40,100	10,300	54,000
Army Reserve AGR's .....		15,000	.....	.....	15,000
Navy Reserve P-3 aircraft .....		2,600	7,600	.....	10,200
Army National Guard civilian technicians .....		.....	27,000	.....	27,000

PERSONNEL UNDEREXECUTION SAVINGS

The conferees recommend a total reduction of $220,800,000 for active and reserve military personnel accounts due to lower than projected end strengths, and differences in the actual grade mix of officers and enlisted recommended in the budget request. The General Accounting Office estimates that the active duty components will have approximately 15,000 fewer personnel on board beginning in fiscal year 1999, and the Reserve components approximately 3,700 personnel. As a result, the fiscal year 1999 requirements are overstated.

REPLACEMENT MEDALS AND DECORATIONS

The conferees encourage the Secretary of Defense to take all actions necessary to eliminate the backlog of requests of former service members for replacement medals and decorations.

BACKLOG OF UNPAID RETIRED PAY

The conferees direct the Secretary of Defense to take all actions necessary to eliminate any backlog of unpaid retired pay for former service members, to include those retired from the Guard and Reserve. Not later than ninety days after enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Defense shall submit a report on the backlog of unpaid retired pay. The report shall include the actions taken to eliminate any backlog; the extent of any remaining backlog; and a description of any additional actions required to ensure that retired pay is paid in a timely manner.

ACTIVE END STRENGTH

MILITARY READINESS

The conferees agree with the concerns delineated in Section 8160 of the Senate-passed fiscal year 1999 Defense Appropriations bill, and the concerns expressed in the report accompanying the House-passed fiscal year 1999 defense Appropriations bill with regards to the indications of declining readiness within the Military Services.

Accordingly, the conferees direct the Secretary of Defense to submit a report to the congressional defense committees not later than June 1, 1999, on the readiness of the Armed Forces of the United States. The Secretary shall include in the report detailed information on each of the following issues: (1) An assessment of current force structure and its sufficiency to execute the National Security Strategy; (2) A service-by-service outline of the force structure expected to be committed to a major regional contingency as envisioned in the National Security Strategy; (3) A comparison of the force structure outlined in item (2) with the service-by-service order of battle in Desert Shield/Desert Storm as a representative recent major regional conflict; (4) An assessment of the force structure and projected defense appropriations increases necessary to execute the National Security Strategy of the United States assuming current projected ground force levels assigned to the peacekeeping mission in Bosnia are unchanged; (5) A discussion of the United States ground, naval and air force levels in Bosnia that can be sustained without impacting the ability of the Armed Forces to execute the National Security Strategy assuming no increase in force structure or defense appropriations during the period in which forces are assigned to Bosnia; and (6) A complete assessment of recent trends in the Measured ready-ness of United States forces with a focus on current manning shortfalls, recent declines in aviation mission capable rates, and below standard levels of ground forces training.

OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE REPROGRAMMING

The conferees agree that proposed transfers of funds between O-1 budget activities in excess of $15,000,000 are subject to normal, prior approval reprogramming procedures. In addition, due to continuing concerns about force readiness and the diversion of Operation and Maintenance funds, the conferees agree that the Department should provide written notification to the congressional defense committees for the cumulative value of any and all transfers in excess of $15,000,000 from the following budget activities and sub-activity group categories:

Operation and Maintenance, Army

Land Forces: Divisions, Corps combat forces, Corps support forces, Echelon above corps forces, Land forces operations support; Land Forces Readiness: Land forces depot maintenance; Logistics operations: Ammunition management.

Operation and Maintenance, Navy

Air Operations: Mission and other flight operations, Fleet air training, Aircraft depot maintenance; Ship Operations: Mission and other ship operations, Ship operational support and training, Intermediate maintenance, Ship depot maintenance.

Operation and Maintenance, Marine Corps

Expeditionary Forces: Operational forces, depot maintenance.

Operation and Maintenance, Air Force

Air Operations: Primary combat forces, Primary combat weapons, Air operations training, Depot maintenance; Mobility Operations: Airlift operations, Depot maintenance, Payments to the transportation business area; Basic Skills and Advanced Training; Depot maintenance; Logistics Operations: Depot maintenance.

Further, the Department should follow prior approval reprogramming procedures for transfers in excess of $15,000,000 out of the following budget subactivities.

Operation and Maintenance

Depot maintenance

Operation and Maintenance, Navy:

Aircraft depot maintenance,
Ship depot maintenance

Operation and Maintenance, Marine Corps:

Depot maintenance

Operation and Maintenance, Air Force:

Air Operations, Depot maintenance, Mobility Operations, Depot maintenance, Basic Skills and Advanced Training, Depot maintenance, and Logistics Operations, Depot maintenance.

OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE BUDGET EXECUTION DATA

The conferees support the position expressed in the House report accompanying the Defense Appropriations bill for fiscal year 1999 requiring the Department of Defense to provide the congressional defense committees with quarterly budget execution data. Such data should be provided not later than forty-five days past the close of each quarter of the fiscal year, and should be provided for each O-1 budget activity, activity group, and subactivity for each of the active, defense-wide, reserve and national guard components. For each O-1 budget activity, activity group and subactivity, these reports should include: the budget request and actual obligations; the DoD distribution of unallocated congressional adjustments to the budget request; all adjustments made by DoD during the process of rebaselining the O&M accounts; all adjustments resulting from below threshold reprogrammings; and all adjustments resulting from prior approval reprogramming requests.

In addition, the conferees require that the Department of Defense provide semiannual written notifications to the congressional defense committees which summarize Operation and Maintenance budget execution to include the effect of rebaselining procedures, other below threshold reprogrammings, and prior approval reprogrammings. The conferees further direct that the Department of Defense provide the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations written notification 30 days prior to executing procedures to rebaseline the Operation and Maintenance accounts.

PENTAGON RENOVATION TRANSFER FUND

The conferees agree to Senate language which establishes the Pentagon Renovation Transfer Fund, totaling $279,820,000 by transfer from the active component and Defense-Wide Operation and Maintenance accounts.

DOD OUTSOURCING AND PRIVATIZATION INITIATIVES

The conferees are aware of large scale efforts by DoD to privatize many of its support and infrastructure functions in order to reduce costs and free up resources for readiness and modernization. For example, the Defense Reform Initiative projected that DoD could save $6 billion from competing 150,000 civilian positions over the next five years. However, the conferees harbor significant concerns about DoD's privatization strategy, primarily due to the risk of building unrealistic savings estimates into the budget request. Specifically, these concerns include: 1) uncertainty as to the criteria used to select activities or functions as candidates for outsourcing; 2) the apparent lack of any method to validate savings assumed in DoD budget estimates; and, 3) the lack of any systems or methods to assess the impact of outsourcing on the readiness or combat power of DoD forces. Accordingly, the conferees direct that the Secretary of Defense submit a report, not later than March 31, 1999, which provides a detailed assessment of the results of DoD's privatization strategy to date. The report shall specify those functions or activities selected for outsourcing, and the criteria used select these functions or activities. The report shall also detail the net savings achieved by outsourcing in fiscal years 1996-1998. This element of the report shall also include estimates of the number of contractor workyears compared to the number of civilian workyears required to perform functions which have been privatized.

LIGHTWEIGHT MAINTENANCE ENCLOSURES

The conferees direct that $5,000,000 of the funds made available in Operation and Maintenance, Marine Corps be used only for the acquisition of lightweight maintenance enclosures.

COMPETITIVE BANKING PROCEDURES

It is the conferees' intent that the provision of banking services provided by any bank or credit union on military installations and at facilities in the United States shall include the broad range of services including at least all of the following: the receipt of money for deposit, check or draft cashing services, the origination of loans or other extensions of credit, the issuance of promissory notes, and the provision of electronic banking and automated teller machines. The conferees direct the Department of Defense to submit a report to the Committees on Appropriations by February 1, 1999, on the DoD and services policies and procedures for provision of banking services on the basis of full and open competition.

REPORT ON SECURITY IN THE TAIWAN STRAIT

On or before February 1, 1999, the Department of Defense shall provide to Congress a report, in both classified and unclassified form, detailing the security situation in the Taiwan Strait. Such report shall include an analysis of the military forces facing Taiwan from the People's Republic of China, evaluating recent additions to the offensive military capabilities of the People's Republic of China. It should also assess new challenges to the deterrent forces of the Republic of China on Taiwan, consistent with the commitments made by the United States in the Taiwan Relations Act, Public Law 96-8.

MARINE CORPS DEPOT MAINTENANCE
The conferees are concerned about the substantial reduction in the Marine Corps depot maintenance budget from fiscal year 1998 to 1999 and the impact that this will have on the backlog of Marine Corps equipment. The conferees are also concerned that the budgeted depot maintenance program may have caused the Marine Corps to prematurely consider initiating reductions-in-force among its civilian personnel at the Marine Corps Logistics Base at Barstow. Accordingly, the conferees agree to increase funding for the Marine Corps depot maintenance program by $20,700,000 above the budget request to address this shortfall, and hereby direct the Marine Corps to include adequate funding in future budget submissions.

CIVIL AIR PATROL

The conferees recognize that changes have occurred in the relationship between the Air Force and the Civil Air Patrol Corporation, in that the principal source of support from the Air Force to the Civil Air Patrol Corporation is not excess supplies and equipment, but appropriated funds from the Air Force budget. Also, changes in the Civil Air Patrol Corporation headquarters staff have affected the relationship and funding between Air Force and the Civil Air Patrol. Of the funds appropriated for the Civil Air Patrol Corporation, the conferees direct that no more than fifteen percent may be spent for the Civil Air Patrol Corporation headquarters staff and operations and the National Executive Committee and Board. Further, the Civil Air Patrol Corporation shall provide the Secretary of the Air Force with a quarterly execution report, detailing the utilization of appropriated funds.

FLOTATION DEVICES

The conferees direct that of the funds provided in Operation and Maintenance, Air Force $1,000,000 be used only to begin the planned acquisition of passive flotation devices.

FINLEY AIR FORCE STATION NORTH DAKOTA

The conferees direct the Air Force to expedite the abatement of hazardous substances in housing located at the Finley Air Force Station.

HAVRE AIR FORCE BASE

Of the funds available in Operation and Maintenance, Air Force, the conferees agree to provide the Bear Paw Development Council, Montana, $150,000 for redevelopment of the Havre Air Force Base and Training Site.

CIVIL/MILITARY PROGRAMS

The conferees recommend a total of $87,394,000 for the Department's civil/military programs. In addition, the conferees recommend a new general provision, Section

8131, which waives the limitation on expenditures for the National Guard Challenge Program for fiscal year 1999. The conferees recognize that both the Department of Justice and Department of Defense have taken steps in developing programs for at-risk youth. The National Guard's highly effective Youth Challenge Program is an example of 22 states working to make productive citizens out of high school drop-outs. The conferees encourage both Departments to work together, combining strengths and successes of each program, exchange ideas, and, when possible, share available resources to enhance and expand the effectiveness of these initiatives. The funding for the civil/military programs for fiscal year 1999 follows:

OEA—SHIPYARD INFRASTRUCTURE REPAIRS
The conferees have agreed to provide $10,000,000 only for shipyard infrastructure repairs as recommended by the Senate under the Operation and Maintenance, Navy appropriation account.

H.L. HUNLEY

Of the funding provided for the Legacy Program, the conferees agree to provide $300,000 to prepare conservation plans to preserve the H.L. Hunley, and to develop an emergency recovery plan associated with raising the ship.

ON-SITE INSPECTION AGENCY

The conferees have agreed to reduce funding for the On-Site Inspection Agency. If additional funds prove necessary to meet emergent requirements stemming from valid treaty obligations, the conferees expect the Department of Defense to submit a reprogramming request subject to normal, prior approval reprogramming procedures.

SECURITY LOCKS

The conferees agree with the Senate report language directing the Department of Defense to provide a report on their security locks retrofit program by December 15, 1998. Furthermore, the conferees agree that of the funds provided in this account $15,000,000 is for the purchase of additional security locks which meet federal specification FF-L-2740A.

JOB PLACEMENT PROGRAM

The conferees are disappointed with the Department's lack of responsiveness to last year's direction to implement a job placement and community outreach services program. Therefore, the conferees again direct the Department to provide at least $6,000,000 from within available funds for the implementation of this effort which would market and coordinate involvement of existing qualified service providers through the Job Training Partnership Act, facilitate municipal offering of community outreach services and provide data for the evaluation of federal job placement programs.

ARMY/NAVY RESERVE CENTERS

The conferees understand that there are two Army Reserve Centers in Florida and one in Youngstown, Ohio which are in extensive need of repair and renovation. In addition, the Navy Reserve has a facility located in Youngstown, Ohio, which is vacant and needs remediation. The conferees have provided additional funds for Real Property

Maintenance for the Army Reserve and Navy Reserve, and directs that $2,000,000 be designated to each component to meet these requirements.

JOINT MILITARY TRAINING COMPLEX

The conferees understand that several Reserve units in central Florida have been impacted by the closure of the Orlando Naval Training Center, and the Department is considering the possibility of developing a joint complex in the Orlando area. The conferees recommend that $300,000 of the funds provided for "Operation and Maintenance, Army Reserve" be used for feasibility studies and environmental assessments in the support of the joint complex.

SEARCH AND RESCUE SUPPORT

The conferees direct that the Air National Guard provide support for Coast Guard seasonal search and rescue mission requirements at the Francis S. Gabreski Airport in Hampton, New York. Assistance to the Coast Guard will include access to necessary facilities, runway, hangar, operations center, berthing, and maintenance spaces. Seasonal Coast Guard access will be maintained between April 15 and October 15, 1999. The Director of the Air National Guard and the Commandant of the Coast Guard shall enter into a memorandum of agreement (MOA) for use of these facilities and shall provide copies of that agreement to the Committees on Appropriations not later than December 1, 1998.

DEFENSE SYSTEMS EVALUATION PROGRAM

The conferees direct that $2,250,000 of the funds provided for Operation and Maintenance, Air National Guard be for the Defense Systems Evaluation program for support of test and training operations at White Sands Missile Range, New Mexico, and Fort Bliss, Texas.

OVERSEAS CONTINGENCY OPERATIONS TRANSFER FUND

The conferees agree to provide $439,400,000 for the Overseas Contingency Operations Transfer Fund. This amount covers estimated DoD costs of continuing operations in Southwest Asia.

UNITED STATES COURT OF APPEALS FOR THE ARMED FORCES

The conference agreement provides $7,324,000 for the United States Court of Appeals for the Armed Forces as requested in the budget.

ENVIRONMENTAL RESTORATION, ARMY

The conferees agree to provide $370,640,000 for Environmental Restoration, Army.

ENVIRONMENTAL RESTORATION, NAVY

The conferees agree to provide $274,600,000 for Environmental Restoration, Navy.

ENVIRONMENTAL RESTORATION, AIR FORCE

The conferees agree to provide $372,100,000 for Environmental Restoration, Air Force.

ENVIRONMENTAL RESTORATION, DEFENSE-WIDE

The conferees agree to provide $26,091,000 for Environmental Restoration, Defense-Wide.

ENVIRONMENTAL RESTORATION, FORMERLY USED DEFENSE SITES

The conferees agree to provide $225,000,000 for Environmental Restoration, Formerly Used Defense Sites.

BUILDING DEMOLITION AND DEBRIS REMOVAL

To minimize mobilization costs at remote sites, the Department may perform building demolition and debris removal at formerly used defense sites (FUDS) using fiscal year 1999 funds available under this heading. The conferees direct the Department to conduct building demolition and debris removal at the following formerly used defense sites: Collision Point, Nuvagapak Point and Cape Sarichef, Alaska, or alternative sites in Alaska to optimize cost effectiveness on a regional basis.

CHARLESTON MACALLOY SITE

The conferees concur with the Senate's recommended reporting requirements regarding the Defense Logistics Agency inventory location in Charleston, South Carolina. The conferees expect that, if the Department determines that this site is eligible for formerly used defense sites (FUDS) funding, $10,000,000 shall be made available as expeditiously as possible considering departmental policies on the allocation of such funds.

GOVERNMENT OWNED CONTRACTOR OPERATED (GOCO) FACILITIES

The conferees are concerned about the Army's limited progress in recovering the costs associated with environmental restoration at former ammunition production GOCO facilities. Therefore, the conferees direct the Army to take the following actions and, by the dates noted, report on their findings to the congressional defense committees.

No later than March 30, 1999, the Army should (1) identify all GOCO ammunition production facilities, the contractors that operated the facilities, and the prime contract numbers of each contract for the operation of the facilities (2) document the current environmental cleanup status, including past and projected clean up costs, for each GOCO facility (3) compile a summary of historical third-party insurance coverage for each GOCO facility, including the names of all the insurers, policy numbers, policy periods, and terms, conditions, and limits of coverage (4) ascertain whether notices of accidents or occurrences, or other appropriate notices, have been given to each of the insurers, including any notices provided by the operating contractor, and (5) determine if any of the GOCO facilities was placed on a standby status and whether insurance coverage remained in force during that period.

Not later than June 15, 1999, the conferees expect the Department to (1) file notices of claims with as many of the insurers as possible and to provide a timetable for filing all remaining notices of claims (2) prepare a detailed legal analysis of the potential claims for each of the GOCO facilities including an assessment of applicable case law, potential effect of specific indemnification provisions, pollution exclusion and limitations in the scope of coverage (3) analyze alternative approaches, such as pursuing claims in groups, to maximize insurance recovery, including legal strategy and timetables, and decide on a recommended course of action.

NOTIFICATION OF ENVIRONMENTAL CONTRACT AWARDS

The conferees direct each military service to notify interested State and local authorities ties and interested Members of Congress upon release of draft solicitations for contracts anticipated to exceed $5,000,000. The conferees further direct that this requirement shall also apply to all increments of indefinite delivery indefinite quantity-type contracts which meet this threshold.

TOTAL ENVIRONMENTAL REMEDIATION CONTRACTS (TERC)/REMEDIAL ACTION CONTRACTS (RAC)

The conferees direct that not more than twenty-five percent of funding obligated by the Corps of Engineers for environmental remediation shall be executed through TERC contracts. Additionally, the conferees are concerned with the Navy's increasing reliance on the RAC to accomplish environmental remediation. Accordingly, the conferees direct the Secretary of the Navy to report to the congressional defense committees no later than January 15, 1999, on their use of RAC during fiscal year 1998. The conferees further direct that this information be provided quarterly throughout fiscal year 1999.

MITIGATION OF ENVIRONMENTAL DAMAGE

In entering into contracts for the mitigation of environmental damage on Indian lands, the Department is encouraged to extend a preference to Native American owned or operated businesses with experience in the mitigation of environmental damage or environmental technology.

OVERSEAS HUMANITARIAN, DISASTER, AND CIVIC AID

The conferees agree to provide $50,000,000 for Overseas Humanitarian, Disaster, and Civic Aid.

FORMER SOVIET UNION THREAT REDUCTION

The conferees agree to provide $440,400,000 for the Former Soviet Union Threat Reduction program.

QUALITY OF LIFE ENHANCEMENT, DEFENSE

The conferees agree to provide a total of $455,000,000 for Quality of Life Enhancement, Defense. Given the substantial backlog of real property maintenance in the areas of barracks, dormitories and related facilities, the conferees direct that these funds be applied to workload for such projects within the United States and its territories. In the case of the Reserve components, these additional funds should be utilized to reduce the backlog in mission and support facilities. The conferees further direct the Secretaries of each of the Military Services to provide the congressional defense committees with a report on each additional project to be funded from funds available in this account prior to solicitation for these projects. This report shall include the location, estimated cost and projected commencement and completion dates for each project.

NIMITZ OVERHAUL

The conferees withdraw direction in the fiscal year 1998 conference report that $20,000,000 of the amount budgeted for the Nimitz overall is only for the ship self-defense system, since the Navy has requested and this Act provides funds in the fiscal year 1999 Other Procurement, Navy appropriation for the same purpose.

LPD-17

The Navy desires to move to the more capable advanced enclosed mast system (EMS) for the LPD-17 class ships and has informed the Appropriations Committees it has sufficient funds for this program. The conferees direct the Navy to include the AEMS on LPD 17 and 18 and to provide sufficient funds for the AEMS on subsequent ships. Should additional funding be required the Navy is directed to request reprogramming or ship cost adjustments next year. The conferees concur with the House direction regarding the evaluation of combat systems and ship self defense alternatives for the LPD-17 class ships.

Currently planned systems are not sufficient to meet the anti-ship cruise missile and other threat scenarios. The report to the Appropriations Committees shall include, but not be limited to, alternatives such as multi-function radars together with an evolved sea sparrow to enhance cruise missile defense and Navy plans to ensure the post delivery availability or backfit of enhanced combat system and ship self defense alternatives for the LPD-17 class ships.

DIRECT SUPPORT ELECTRICAL SYSTEM TEST SETS

The conferees urge the DoD to include the general purpose Direct Support Electrical System Test Sets (DSESTS) in the DoD automatic test system family. DSESTS are currently in use by the Army and Marine Corps as automatic test equipment (ATE) on several wheeled and tracked combat vehicles. DSESTS are proven test equipment that are comparable to other ATE included in the ATE family.

AEROSTAT JOINT PROJECT OFFICE

The conferees have provided $15,000,000 for the Aerostat program to participate in joint demonstrations of surveillance technologies and to continue development efforts. Within the available funds, the conferees urge the Defense Department to investigate issues associated with building and demonstrating a deployable mobile large aerostate system platform.

LANDMINE WARFARE/BARRIER—ENG DEV

The conferees understand that the Department has launched a search for alternatives to anti-personnel landmines with the goal of fielding such alternatives as soon as practicable. The conferees support this effort relating to the identification, adaption, modification, research, and development of existing and new technologies and concepts that are militarily equivalent cost effective and safe. These efforts should result in: (1) a combat capability that is equivalent to the combat capability provided by non-self deactivating anti-personnel landmines; (2) a combat capability that is equivalent to the combat capability provided by anti-personnel (AP) submunitions used in mixed anti-tank mine systems; or (3) a combat capability to replace the entire mixed munitions.

The conference recommendation provides a total of $32,200,000 as follows: $17,200,000 ($12,500,000 in RDT&E, Army and $4,700,000 in RDT&E, Defense-Wide) for the Army's current Non-Self Destruct Alternatives (NSD-A); $2,000,000 for studies of NSD-4 designs, beyond man-in-the-loop technology; and $4,000,000 to research, identify and adapt technology and concepts that could replace capabilities now provided by mixed system or the AP submunitions in mixed systems. The Secretary of Defense shall submit a report to the congressional defense committees not later than April 1, 2000 and April 1, 2001, describing progress made in identifying and fielding such alternative, and future plans in this effort.

The conferees direct that the Secretary of Defense obtain the recommendations of two appropriate scientific organizations regarding concepts that would provide comparable combat capabilities to current anti-personnel landmines and anti-personnel landmines used in mixed systems.

ARMY MISSILE DEFENSE SYSTEMS INTEGRATION

The conferees are aware of the High Accuracy Guidance (HAG) system and its potential to improve the capability of the seeker found in certain missile defense interceptors. Therefore, the conferees strongly urge the Department to conduct additional tests of the HAG system.

ANTI-ARMOR WEAPONS MASTER PLAN

The conferees agree with the House direction with regard to submission of an Anti-Tank Weapon Master Plan and further direct that the scope of the report be expanded to include all DoD weapon systems with an anti-armor capability.

ULTRA-LIGHT STEEL BASED HIGH MOBILITY MULTI-PURPOSE WHEELED VEHICLE (HMMWV)

The conferees direct the Secretary of the Army to submit a report to the congressional defense committees with the fiscal year 2000 budget request assessing the potential benefits of integrating advanced commercially based tactical truck platforms incorporating leading edge ultra-steel concepts into its HMMWV fleet replacement plan.

MEDICAL RESEARCH PROGRAM MANAGEMENT

The conferees commend the Army for organizing outstanding medical research initiatives in various fields of study that have received high marks from independent review panels and from various advocacy groups. The conferees note especially the 1997 review of the Army's breast cancer research program by the Institute of Medicine of the National Research Council. This review concluded that the Army's program "fills a unique niche among public and private funding sources for cancer research . . . and is a promising vehicle for forging new ideas and scientific breakthroughs in the nation's fight against breast cancer." The conferees have received similar reports about the other medical research programs managed by the Army. The conferees expect the Army to continue its emphasis on coordinating and integrating its medical research programs with those of the National Institutes of Health to avoid duplication and to accelerate promising avenues of treatment. In setting annual research priorities, the Army should consider ways to maximize involvement from responsible advocacy and survivor groups, especially in the Prostate research program. The conferees also urge the Army to consider ways to lengthen the terms of peer review group members for the Neurofibromatosis program and other smaller programs to promote consistency of guidance and direction.

METALS REMEDIATION

The conferees urge the Department to provide up to $2,750,000 for a metals remediation demonstration project at Wheeler Army Air Field. This effort would demonstrate the technology in the fragile Pacific ecosystems and potentially reduce infrastructure and environmental cleanup costs.

DIABETES RESEARCH

The conference agreement includes $4,500,000 to continue the successful diabetes research program currently underway. The conferees urge the Department to work to include the activities identified in House Report 105-591.

COMMON INTEGRATED ELECTRIC DRIVE SYSTEMS

The conferees agree to Senate direction requiring a report on a common integrated electric drive system for surface combatant ships, but direct that development of superconducting DC homopolar motor technology also be addressed in the report.

HELICOPTER

The conferees direct the Navy to submit to the Congress by December 1, 1998, a specific plan for accomplishing a flight demonstration of the VDTDP compound helicopter technology. The conferees reiterate last year's language which directed that the Navy's H-60 program office shall have the responsibility for the management and execution of this program.

SEMI-AUTONOMOUS UNDERWATER VEHICLE FOR INTERVENTION MISSIONS

The conferees have just been advised of a potential funding shortfall for the Semi-Autonomous Underwater Vehicle for Intervention Missions (SAUVIM) program in the upcoming year. The conferees encourage the Navy to ensure that sufficient funding is provided for this program to carry it through until the end of 1999.

PROJECT M

The Congress appropriated $5,000,000 in fiscal year 1998 for Project M, including funds for a prototype system for surface ships. The Navy has yet to obligate funds for a surface ship application. Of the amount requested in the fiscal year 1999 budget and appropriated in this Act for Project M, $1,000,000 is only to begin development of a prototype system for surface ships. The conferees direct that the Navy budget funds in the future to ensure an at-sea demonstration of a full scale active control of machinery raft within two years.

ADC(X)

The conferees direct that fiscal year 1999 funds may not be obligated for an ADC(X) program unless the program plan includes ship construction in at least two shipyards.

ICR ENGINE

The conferees agree to provide the amount requested in the budget to continue development of the intercooled recuperated gas turbine engine. The conferees direct the Secretary of Defense to limit obligation of additional funds, while allowing the program to proceed in an orderly basis, until an international memorandum of understanding has been promulgated ending United States government participation in the ICR development program after design review five at a cost of no more than $60,000,000 in fiscal year 1999 and subsequent fiscal years.

TACTICAL TOMAHAWK

The conferees are aware that the contract solicitation for the tactical Tomahawk weapons control system does not specify the type of display to be used. The recent contract award for the standard Navy display system for air, surface, and subsurface applications specified that development of new configurations to meet legacy equipment replacement requirements would be accomplished under that contract. Accordingly, the Navy should avoid duplication in development costs and take advantage of the economies of scale and infrastructure support by developing the tactical Tomahawk display under this contract.

SEAWOLF SHOCK TEST

The conferees agree to House language concerning system-level, live-fire shock testing of Seawolf submarines and note that the Commander in Chief of the Atlantic Command has recently indicated that he has no requirement for such a test. The conferees fully endorse the existing live fire legislation and testing for weapon systems in a normal acquisition cycle. The conferees fully expect that the Defense Department will conduct such a test on the New Attack Submarine early in its production cycle, where the lessons-learned from the test can be incorporated into future production of that weapon system. The unique circumstances that caused the Congress not to support the Seawolf shock test should not be viewed either that Congress no longer requires live fire testing nor as a precedent for other weapon systems to be exempted from the requirements of law.

RANGELESS TRAINING

The House proposed to terminate the Joint Tactical Combat Training System (JTCTS) and eliminate a total of $17,300,000 in four procurement or RDT&E line items. The House also proposed an alternate system, the integrated Large Area Tracking Range (LATR)/Kadena Interim Training System (KITS), and provided a total of $15,000,000 in three procurement or RDT&E line items. The Senate provided the amount requested by the Defense Department for JTCTS, with an increase of $9,827,000 in the Navy RDT&E account to provide an initial JTCTS system to support Cope Thunder exercises. The budget requested funds to initiate JTCTS production in fiscal year 1999.

Since JTCTS has not entered into production, and development and testing has not been completed, there is an opportunity to ensure that the Defense Department has identified the best technical solution prior to expenditure of significant amounts of funds in future years for rangeless training equipment. The conferees also want assurance that combat training systems for tactical aircraft will be compatible with surface ship and submarine training range systems, to the extent practicable, for joint service exercise or Navy battlegroup training. The conferees direct that the Defense Department conduct a technical evaluation, using actual equipment, to compare the capabilities, performance, and costs of an integrated LATR/KITS system to JTCTS. The conferees therefore agree to provide the full amount requested in RDT&E for JTCTS, plus an additional $2,500,000 in the Navy RDT&E account only for LATR/KITS integration. The conferees agree to a reduction of a total of $9,000,000 in Air Force procurement accounts requested for JTCTS, but an increase of a total of $20,000,000 in Navy and Air Force Other Procurement accounts which is only for purchase of equipment needed to conduct the technical evaluation, and purchase of objective systems once reporting requirements in the next paragraph have been met. Of this amount, $8,000,000 is only to begin installation of a rangeless training system to support Cope Thunder exercises. Further, the conferees direct that the JTCTS RDT&E funds are provided to proceed with equipping CAG 5 with an initial JTCTS training capability in fiscal year 1999.

The goal of the technical evaluation is to ensure that the Defense Department has identified the best technical solution to meet its rangeless training needs which minimizes technical risk at lowest life cycle cost based on performance of real equipment in a realistic environment. The conferees direct that no funds may be obligated for rangeless training production, other than those needed to conduct the technical evaluation, until the following criteria have been met:

The Director of Operational Test and Evaluation in the Office of the Secretary of Defense has certified to the congressional defense committees that the Defense Department has established a technical evaluation between JTCTS and integrated LATR/KITS which is reasonable, realistic, and objective in order to determine the relative performance of the systems;

The technical evaluation has been conducted and the results reported to the congressional defense committees; and

The Undersecretary of Defense for Acquisition and Technology has certified to the congressional defense committees that the best technical solution to meet DOD rangeless training requirements at the best value has been identified and validated by the results of the technical evaluation. His certification should include a determination whether the most cost effective method to satisfy future Navy and Air Force training needs is to continue development and deployment of JTCTS, begin an evolutionary LATR/KITS system development and deployment, or expand the JTCTS program to include integrated LATR/KITS features.

AVIATION SAFETY

The Committee understands that the U.S. Air Force is working with the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) to use the capabilities at the FAA Airworthiness Assurance Center of Excellence and other FAA research resources for projects that will enhance the safety of both military and civilian aircraft. The Committee encourages increased coordination to maximize improvements in safety research and to avoid duplicative efforts.

AIRBORNE LASER PROGRAM

The conferees have provided $267,219,000, a reduction of $25,000,000 to the budget request. The conferees direct that the first priority within the available funds shall be to conduct a meaningful ground demonstration of the capability to produce a high energy beam, compensate the beam for atmospheric disturbances, and measure the deposition of laser energy on a target under realistic test conditions. The funding level recommended by the conferees reduces concurrency in the program to enable the lessons learned from the test to be incorporated in the program.

HARD AND DEEPLY BURIED TARGET DEFEAT SYSTEM

The conferees have provided a total of $6,000,000, with $3,000,000 in the RDT&E, Navy account and $3,000,000 in the RDT&E, Air Force account. The conferees direct that the $6,000,000 shall be available only for completion of a joint analysis of alternatives (AOA) as well as planning efforts associated with establishing a joint hard and deeply buried target defeat program.

TARGET SYSTEMS DEVELOPMENT

The conferees agree with the Senate direction with regard to the KC-135 Big Crow report and further direct that the report be provided no later than December 31, 1998.

TACTICAL AIR RECONNAISSANCE SYSTEM

The conferees believe that if the Defense Department decides to acquire additional sensors for the AF Tactical Air Reconnaissance System (TARS) program, the Department should consider the CA 261, the MAEO and other sensors based on best value, capability and stated Air Force requirements.

WARFIGHTER

The conferees continue to support the Warfighter-1 program. The conferees are concerned however, that the license amendment for commercial operation of the Warfighter-1 sensor has still to be adjudicated 13 months after initial application. While the conferees recognize the importance of a stringent national security review before any commercial remote sensing license is granted, the excessive length of the review process may jeopardize program milestones and objectives.

The conferees therefore, strongly encourage the Secretary of Defense and the Director of Central Intelligence to take immediate steps to resolve remaining license issues and report to the Committees on Appropriations no later than November 15, 1998 on the resolution of all outstanding issues concerning the commercial operation of the Warfighter-1 program.

EVOLVED EXPENDABLE LAUNCH VEHICLE (EELV)

The conferees agree to provide $260,297,000 for the Evolved Expendable Launch Vehicle Program, a reduction of $20,000,000 to the budget request. The conferees also agree to House language directing that reports and certifications regarding the EELV program be provided to the Committees on Appropriations and necessary program information be provided to the Comptroller General. The conferees do not agree that the obligation of fiscal year 1999 appropriations for the EELV program should be restricted pending the receipt of said reports and certifications.

DEFENSE SATELLITE COMMUNICATIONS SYSTEM (DSCS)

The conferees agree to the House language requiring the Air Force to report to the Committees on Appropriations on the resolution of difficulties associated with the completion of the operational requirements document for the DSCS follow-on system. The conferees do not agree that the report needs to be provided prior to the release of any draft RFP for the DSCS follow-on system.

MISSILE DEFENSE

The conferees are concerned by recent evidence that the theater ballistic missile threat is emerging more rapidly and in a more sophisticated form than previously projected. Further, the recent ballistic missile launch by North Korea clearly demonstrates that longer range missiles, even intercontinental class, could soon be within the reach of our adversaries. Thus, world events continue to clearly validate the Defense Department requirement for national missile defenses as well as a mix of upper and lower tier TMD systems to defend U.S. interests and forward-deployed forces.

Testimony this year by the Chief of Naval Operations, Army Chief of Staff, and Director of the Ballistic Missile Defense Organization established that the department's two upper tier systems, THAAD and Navy Theater Wide, are complements, not substitutes, for each other. The conferees are concerned by the THAAD program's failure to achieve an intercept in five attempts. However, believing that additional testing is the appropriate course of action, the conferees have provided $445,252,000 to continue the THAAD Demonstration and Validation flight test program during fiscal year 1999.

The Navy Theater Wide program offers the capability to defend a large area against the medium and longer range ballistic missiles our adversaries are seeking to acquire. The deployability of Navy Theater Wide systems will allow this nation to respond to the theater ballistic missile threat whenever and wherever required. The conferees have a dedicated $338,446,000 to Navy Theater Wide development and strongly urge the Department of Defense to proceed aggressively with development and adequate testing.

The conferees have also provided $950,473,000 for the development of a national missile defense system. The conferees are pleased that this program is now poised to make critical progress given the recent NMD contract award. The conferees view NMD as a national priority and place full responsibility on the Department of Defense to prudently and aggressively complete the technical work and testing necessary for an effective national missile defense system which can provide protection for all 50 states.

The conferees also recognize the Airborne Laser as a high priority and promising program for our nation's defense. The program is proceeding on budget and schedule, and the conferees look forward to the results of ground demonstrations which will provide confidence in the capability of the ABL design.

INFORMATION SYSTEMS SECURITY PROGRAM
(ISSP)

The conferees have agreed to provide a total of $251,081,000 for the Information Systems Security Program (ISSP); $12,000,000 over the amount proposed by both the House and the Senate. In its recommendation, the House included a $15,000,000 increase in a different program element and directed that the funding be transferred to the ISSP. The conference agreement reduces the recommended increase to $12,000,000 and funds the program in the correct program element, which eliminates the need for a transfer of funds. The additional $12,000,000 is for a new program to establish a clearinghouse for information related to the protection of vital systems data as addressed in the classified annex accompanying the House-passed fiscal year 1999 Department of Defense Appropriations bill.

SUPPORT TECHNOLOGIES—APPLIED RESEARCH

The conferees urge the Department of Defense to give strong consideration to the potential benefits, both military and civilian offered by the EXCEL Stern Cell process. Providing funding for the EXCEL program in fiscal year 1999 would ready technology for clinical trials and provide the nation with a new and aggressive treatment for individuals exposed to weapons of mass destruction.

GULF WAR ILLNESS

The conferees have provided $23,796,000 for Gulf War Illness research, an increase over the budget of $4,150,000. The conferees agree that within this increase, $3,000,000 may be provided for research into Gulf War Syndrome that includes multi-disciplinary studies of fibromyalgia, chronic fatigue syndrome, multiple chemical sensitivity and the use of research methods of cognitive and computational neuroscience.

NUCLEAR EFFECTS TESTING CAPABILITY

The conferees are concerned that insufficient resources and attention are being paid to ensure the continued survivability of weapon platforms and supporting C3I systems from the effects of a nuclear explosion, particularly in light of India and Pakistan's recent nuclear testing. With the termination of underground nuclear testing and the emerging nuclear capability of rogue states, there is an urgent national security requirement for continued above ground qualification and verification testing of new and upgraded military components and subsystems. The conferees agree that the current industry-based Defense Threat Reduction Agency X-ray simulator program should have increased funding for timely development of affordable pulsed power based x-ray test capabilities that were lost with the cessation of underground nuclear tests and encourage the Department to fund this program at adequate levels in future budgets.

DEFENSE WORKING CAPITAL FUNDS

The conferees agree to provide $94,500,000 for the Defense Working Capital Fund.

COMMISSARY FUNDING

In view of the Department of Defense decision to move the appropriations requested in support of commissary operations back into the Military Services' operation and maintenance accounts, the conferees expect to see a significant adjustment in the fiscal year 2000 budget request for the Defense Commissary Agency (DeCA) headquarters. The conferees direct the Department of Defense to report to the congressional defense committees on the adjusted responsibilities and purposes of the DeCA headquarters organization in light of this development, no later than December 1, 1998.

NATIONAL DEFENSE SEALIFT FUND

The conferees agree to provide $708,366,000, an increase of $290,200,000 to the budget request. The increase consists of $251,400,000 for a Large Medium Speed Roll-on/Roll-off (LMSR) ship, $28,800,000 to be transferred as specified in the House bill, and $10,000,000 only for Marine Corps' maritime prepositioning ship research and development.

In fiscal year 1997, the Congress provided $250,000,000 above the budget as an initiative to enhance the capabilities of the Maritime Prepositioning Force through procurement of two ships. The Congress recognized that these ships could not only significantly enhance the capability of the Marine Corps during combat operations but also provide a strategic national asset. In order to expedite fielding of the ships, the Marine Corps chose to convert used commercial ships rather than build new ones. The conferees recently discovered that, as was the case in conversion of used commercial ships for Army strategic sealift, the second and third MPF-E ship conversions have suffered significant cost and schedule difficulties. The conferees understand that the Navy issued a solicitation for the third MPF-E ship, but subsequently cancelled it after issues arose on the second ship. The conferees further understand that the Marine Corps must now divert a substantial amount of funds from the third ship to finance increased costs on the second ship in order to make it viable. Given the unfortunate recent events in this program, the conferees have rescinded $65,000,000 from the fiscal year 1997 funds for the third MPF-E ship and direct the Department of the Navy to use the remaining funds for the first two ships in order to keep their fielding on track. Since the third ship is no longer viable, the conferees agree to provide $10,000,000 only for maritime prepositioning ship research and development to begin work on design of a new-construction ship to meet MPF-2010 requirements. The conferees suggest that the CVN-77 "transition-ship" model, to bridge from the capabilities of current MPF sealift ships to the objective future configuration, should be considered. The conferees direct the Secretary of Defense to develop and budget for a new-construction maritime prepositioning ship program and to report by February 1, 1999 to the congressional defense committees on how technical issues in the MPF-E conversion program will be resolved and the new-construction program implemented.

The conferees also agree to rescind funding appropriated in fiscal year 1996 for the National Defense Features (NDF) program by $20,000,000 because of serious funding shortages. The conferees continue to believe that the NDF program would provide great benefits to the defense sealift capabilities of the nation. Therefore, the conferees direct that the remaining $20,000,000 funding be available only for the NDF program and that no funds may be reprogrammed from this program without the approval of the Committees on Appropriations.

PACMEDNET

The conferees have provided $10,000,000 to continue this activity, including implementation of automated clinical practice guidelines and outcome management on an individual, as well as a population, basis.

MEDICAL RESEARCH ACTIVITIES

Within the Defense Health Program, the conferees provide an additional $19,500,000 for medical research activities conducted by the Department. The funds are to be used for research that focuses on issues pertinent to our military forces.

Such efforts would include: alcoholism research; sleep management; chemical weapons treatment; disease management; healthcare information protection; lung research; laser eye injury/eye cancer research and treatment; mustard gas anecdote; prostate diagnostic imaging; retinal display technology for cardiovascular research; smoking cessation; neurological examination equipment; digital mammography; Paget's disease; and pediatric asthma. The conferees direct the Deputy Secretary of Defense to work with the Surgeons General of the Services to establish a medical research program that satisfies military objectives in this area.

ABLATABLE DISC LASER VISION CORRECTION

The conferees are aware of the successful clinical trials involving laser vision correction technology and believe this could have the potential to enhance the combat effectiveness, especially in critical night operations, for nearsighted military personnel. The conferees therefore encourage the Department to determine the cost-effectiveness, utility and desirability of ablative disc laser vision correction technology for military personnel.

SMOKING CESSATION

The conferees agree that not later than 60 days after enactment, effective tobacco cessation products and counseling may be provided for members of the Armed Forces (including retired members), former members of the Armed Forces entitled to retired or retainer pay and dependents of such members and former members who are identified as likely to benefit from such assistance in a manner that does not impose costs on the individual.

CHRONIC DISEASE MANAGEMENT

The conferees strongly request that the Department conduct a study of chronic disease management and the provision of comprehensive care for chronically ill patients outside the hospital emergency room. The conferees believe that such a study may result in a reduction in the number of emergency room visits for chronically ill patients and therefore has the potential to provide savings and a better quality of life.

DENTAL CARE POLICIES

The conferees direct the Secretary of Defense to prepare and submit a report regarding the policies, practices and experience of the uniformed services pertaining to the provision of dental care to dependents, 18 years of age and younger, of active duty members of the uniformed services to the defense congressional oversight committees not later than March 15, 1999.

IMPROVING PATIENT CARE

The conferees are encouraged by Department of Defense efforts to reengineer medical care in accordance with Program Decision Memorandum (PDM) number 1, directed by the Under Secretary of Defense for Personnel and Readiness, the Director of Program Analysis and Evaluation and the Surgeons General. This initiative should improve inpatient and out-patient care in several major urban centers and provide for greater efficiency in the Military Health System. The conferees strongly urge the Department to continue such reengineering efforts and direct the Department to provide a report to the congressional defense committees on subsequent initiatives to accomplish these goals by February 15, 1999.

GALLO INSTITUTE

The conferees strongly support the comprehensive efforts of the Cancer Institute of New Jersey and commend the work of the Gallo Institute to address prostate cancer.

The conferees included a general provision (Section 8101) to provide permanent clarification of the application of the "Brooks Act" qualifications based selection (QBS) process to surveying, mapping, charting and geodesy contracts of the National Imagery and Mapping Agency (NIMA). The conferees expect the officials responsible for the Federal Acquisition Regulations (FAR) to strike and revise the last sentence of section 36.601-4(a)(4) of the FAR (48CFR 36.601-4(a)(4)) to define "Surveying and mapping" in such a manner as to include contracts and subcontracts for services for Federal agencies for collecting, storing, retrieving, or disseminating graphical or digital data depicting natural or man made physical features, phenomena and boundaries of the earth and any information related thereto, including but not limited to surveys, maps, charts, remote sensing data and images and aerial photographic services.

The conferees included a general provision (Section 8117) which amends House language requiring the Department to include Year 2000 simulations as part of their major military exercises.

The conferees remain concerned about the progress the Department is making in bringing its systems into Year 2000 compliance. However, the conferees are encouraged by the actions outlined in recent letters from the Secretary of Defense and Deputy Secretary of Defense regarding Year 2000 compliance. The conferees believe a strong and sustained effort by the Department is critical to minimizing the risk.

The House had recommended reducing the budget request by $142,100,000 in Title II, Operation and Maintenance, in order to reduce total funding requested for advisory and assistance services. The conferees have instead agreed to levy a $142,100,000 reduction against Title III.

The conferees included a new general provision (Section 8135) which reduces funding available for the Military Personnel and Operation and Maintenance accounts by $193,600,000 due to foreign currency fluctuation.

The conferees included a new general provision (Section 8137) concerning the Global Positioning System. Section 8137 requires the Secretary of Defense to develop strategy to protect the integrity of the GPS frequency spectrum against interference and disruption. The conferees expect this strategy to be devised with the support of the Secretaries of State, Commerce, and Transportation, the director of the Office of Science and Technology Policy, and interested user and industry representatives. The required report shall include plans for collection and analysis of test and demonstration data to be completed in time for presentation by the United States at the World Radiocommunications Conference 2000. The conferees have included a new general provision (Section 8144) which conveys an Army Reserve Center in Reading, Pennsylvania to the City of Reading, Pennsylvania.

The conferees have included a new general provision (Section 8145) which directs the Secretary of the Air Force to obligate up to $7,646,000 of previously appropriated funds for demolition and related environmental restoration of 31 buildings at the former Norton Air Force Base, California. Sufficient funds remain available for obligational adjustments within "Base Realignment and Closure Account, Part I" to absorb this cost within existing balances in the Base Realignment and Closure Accounts.

The conferees have included a new general provision (Section 8146) which establishes a cash objective and policy for unbudgeted operating losses in the Defense Working Capital Funds.

The conferees have included a new general provision (Section 8147) which addresses the Military Personnel Information Systems. The conferees concur in the direction in the House Report regarding military personnel information systems and the revised Defense Integrated Military Human Resources System (DIMHRS). Section 8147 establishes a revised DIMHRS program, a defense reform initiative enterprise pilot program for military and manpower personnel information systems. Manpower and personnel information systems shall include, but not be limited to, personnel, manpower, training, and compensation. Health and dependent systems should only be included for interoperability and coordination purposes. The conferees have provided the budget request for DIMHRS and the Navy Standard Integrated Personnel System (NSIPS) and direct that DIMHRS funding be used for the revised DIMHRS enterprise level pilot program. The conferees direct DoD to provide full funding for this revised program in future budget requests and defense plans. The conferees have provided an additional $38,000,000 in Operation and Maintenance, Defense-Wide and $12,000,000 in Procurement, Defense-Wide and direct these funds be obligated as directed in the House Report.

The Department shall identify, develop and approve strategic functional requirements for the current and revised enterprise DIMHRS program through the Under Secretary of Defense for Personnel and Readiness, and in full coordination with the individual services and Joint Chiefs, no later than nine months from the date of enactment of this Act. The DoD Chief Information Officer and Director, Program Analysis and Evaluation, shall establish and incorporate into the budget process mission performance goals and measures and identify functional savings resulting from business process improvements. The Department shall identify changes to the planning, programming, and budgeting system needed to implement the revised DIMHRS enterprise solution including, but not limited to, instituting program elements and activity based costing for this enterprise solution. The conferees direct that configuration management and budget oversight of all manpower and personnel legacy systems be centralized with day to day operational management remaining with the services. The Department shall provide a report to the Appropriations Committees by May 1, 1999 on the revised enterprise DIMHRS, and how the revised program, budget changes and business process improvement changes comply with Appropriations Committee direction and with Public Laws 104-106 and 103-62.

The conferees included a new general provision (Section 8148) regarding a review of military compensation. The conferees are deeply concerned with the increasing demands placed on our military personnel, which affect the ability to recruit and retain the highly skilled personnel needed to maintain the all-volunteer force. Operating tempos, particularly for those forces deployed in support of contingency operations, are at historic high rates at the same time force structure has been reduced. People are working harder and under more challenging circumstances. At the same time, outside employment opportunities for highly skilled military personnel, especially in certain career fields, are readily available due to the nation's prolonged period of economic prosperity. In this environment, while none of our military personnel serve for financial advancement, we should not expect them to serve and suffer financial hardship.

These competing demands are being compounded by a widespread perception within the force that there has been, and will continue to be, a steady erosion in those programs associated with military compensation and benefits. For example, the conferees note that while the Administration has in recent years proposed increases in pay rates consistent with existing legal limits, those increases have not reversed the gap between military and private compensation. Of even more concern, it is becoming steadily more apparent that the changes in the military retirement system enacted in 1986 are having a direct impact on the services' reenlistment rates, and have raised fundamental questions of equity between those service members who are under the previously established retirement structure and those who have joined the force since 1986. Finally, the conferees continue to observe persistent problems in other programs intended to provide for an adequate quality of life for service members and their families, including medical care, housing programs, and family support programs. The conferees are convinced that these problems, coupled with the high level of demands being placed on the force and the effects of a healthy economy, are directly responsible for the emergence of downward trends in recruiting and retention of personnel. If these interweaving issues are not dealt with soon, and in a meaningful manner, the conferees fear it could inevitably result in a dramatic decline in the capability of the nation's armed forces.

The conferees believe that a long-term solution to these issues cannot be found by simply focusing on one aspect of these problems, such as pay or retirement, in isolation from the others. The complexity of these issues requires a more broad approach if the Department of Defense is to truly address the new and different demands confronting the military force of the future. Therefore, in Section 8148, the conferees direct the Secretary of Defense, in consultation with the nation's senior military leadership, to undertake a comprehensive reassessment of the array of existing compensation and benefit programs, and the need, if any, for changes in these programs in order to meet both future manpower and quality of life requirements. The conferees intend that this effort provide the underpinning for a total review of these programs and issues by both the executive and legislative branches as soon as possible, and therefore direct that the Secretary provide an interim report on these issues to the congressional defense committees within 60 days of the enactment of the fiscal year 1999 Department of Defense Appropriations Act. In order to provide for full consideration of these matters in the next Congress, the Secretary is also directed to provide his recommendations on these issues to the Congress in conjunction with submission of the fiscal year 2000 budget request.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will entertain 10 one-minutes from each side.

THE STORY OF THE RIP VAN DEMOCRATS

(Mr. PITTS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. PITTS. Mr. Speaker, remember the story of Rip Van Winkle, who slept for 20 years, then woke up and was surprised by all the changes that had taken place during his slumber? A lot of people do not know this, but Rip Van Winkle had some relatives, the Rip Van Democrats, who have also slept for a long, long time.

The Rip Van Democrats slept for 40 years, until waking up in 1995 to discover that the Republicans had taken over. But during those 40 years of slumber, their liberal friends were out plundering the Social Security trust fund and spending it on big government programs. When they woke up they were shocked, shocked to find out that the liberals had left not only Medicare teetering on the edge of bankruptcy, but Social Security as well. So their only recourse was to blame the Republicans for the mess that their liberal friends themselves had created.

That is the story of the Rip Van Democrats.

VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN

(Mr. SCHUMER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. SCHUMER. Mr. Speaker, the Violence Against Women Act significantly changed the way law enforcement and social service agencies respond to women victimized by domestic violence.

Yet, between 50 and 70 percent of men who abuse their female partners also abuse their children. Children who witness domestic violence experience anxiety and depression and other mental disorders.

Thanks to VAWA, more mothers and children have left these horrendous conditions and begun life anew. But unfortunately for many mothers and children, a new battle begins over custody and visitation.

VAWA II, my new bill, will provide many more desperately needed supervised visitation programs in safe and secure locations. Child welfare workers will be trained to better serve victims, and laws that protect these mothers and children will be strengthened.

Mr. Speaker, that is just one more reason to support and bring to the floor the Violence Against Women Act II.

One need only pick up a newspaper to read stories about mothers and their children being injured or killed by the batterer during visitation exchange. The need for supervised visitation areas is great, but the need surpasses the number of available programs.

IN PRAISE OF THE PAYROLL PROFESSIONAL DURING NATIONAL PAYROLL WEEK (SEPTEMBER 14-18)

(Mr. SHAW asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. SHAW. Mr. Speaker, I would like to call attention to some of the unsung heroes in the child support enforcement process. The welfare reform bill we passed just 2 years ago took strong steps to ensure that all single parents receive child support payments. Providing child support officials with the tools they need to locate parents who owe child support was key to this effort.

The most important tool was information employers were required to report on every person they hire. These new hire reports are used to locate parents anywhere in this country and then to establish an order or enforce an existing order.

With new hire reporting, State child support enforcement agencies have the ability to issue income withholding orders much more quickly. None of this would be possible without the cooperation of employers, and specifically the payroll professionals who bear the major responsibility for this new hire reporting.

Payroll professionals are also responsible for withholding wages from paychecks and sending the money to custodial parents and children. The funds they withhold from workers amounts to more than half of the $13 billion in child support payments made nationally each year.

Few public policies are more important than child support, and no group is more important in this issue than employers in general and payroll professionals in particular. I wholeheartedly commend them.

AMERICA'S WORKERS ARE SICK AND TIRED OF FAST TRACK

(Mr. TRAFICANT asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. TRAFICANT. Mr. Speaker, American workers are sick and tired of fast track. Take today's fast track, for example, another fast track that will send more American factories, more American investment, and more American jobs overseas, this time to Central America.

In return, America will get two used Ford pick-up trucks, another 50 tons of heroin and cocaine, and three baseball players, to be named later. Beam me up, Mr. Speaker. Washington does not need more lobbyists and lawyers to advise Congress. I honestly believe that a proctologist is in order down here. I yield back whatever common sense is left.

MEMBERS MUST DEFEND THE RULE OF LAW AND THE CONSTITUTION

(Mr. GIBBONS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, this great country is struggling to find its way through the darkness of cynicism, distrust, and divisiveness, because this body and this administration tend to demagogue, to speak against others when we do not agree with them or their ideas or their philosophies.

We must realize that the foundation of this very government was based upon a rule of law and not a rule of man, a moral direction for a new country, and most importantly, a Constitution.

This foundation is what makes America so great, so strong. All men are created equal, and no man is above the law. Our Founding Fathers made the tough decisions on governance, on principle, on what was right and wrong, not on opinion polls and conjecture.

When we address the circumstances beset upon this President, we must remember that we are all bound by the Constitution, by the stable and forthright direction of our Founding Fathers.

The duty before us is an onerous one that requires each of us to summon the courage and the means to defend the rule of law, and to stand up and recapture the constitutional intent of James Madison.

SAVING THE SOCIAL SECURITY SURPLUS

(Ms. WOOLSEY asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. WOOLSEY. Mr. Speaker, Social Security is one of our very successful programs here in the United States. It has well served more than 160 million workers and their families for nearly 60 years. But recently the majority leadership has put together a hasty proposal to spend a portion of our budget surplus on tax cuts, rather than invest it in the Social Security system.

I am a very strong supporter of needed tax relief for our families, but Mr. Speaker, robbing the Social Security system to pay for tax cuts would make it more difficult and painful, and in fact impossible, to deal with the serious problems facing our Social Security system. Spending the surplus now will suck security right out of the system.

We have a responsibility to future generations. Our responsibility is to ensure that our parents, our children, and their children have the base security of Social Security.

AN HISTORIC OPPORTUNITY TO GIVE TAXPAYERS THE FIRST BACK-TO-BACK TAX CUTS IN MODERN HISTORY

(Mr. BLUNT asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. BLUNT. Mr. Speaker, so many of our colleagues are for tax cuts in the abstract, until there is money to actually give some relief to working families.

This week we have to deal with really what can be a defining moment in the history of this Congress. We have an opportunity to give American taxpayers the first back-to-back tax cuts in modern history.

Last year we had the first tax cuts in 16 years, and revenue increased as the Federal Government encouraged work and productivity. We have the unique opportunity for the second time in 2 years to let hardworking families keep more of their money.

It is unreasonable to spend the surplus on more government when American families are forced to spend 40 percent of their income on taxes. This plan has a win-win-win formula. It ensures the future of Social Security with $1.4 trillion. It simplifies the tax filing system. We begin the process of eliminating the marriage penalty, that currently forces 21 million couples to pay an average of $1,400 a year in extra Federal taxes because they are married.

Mr. Speaker, we cannot afford not to do a tax cut and give tax relief to working families this year.

SOCIAL SECURITY

(Mr. MENENDEZ asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. MENENDEZ. Mr. Speaker, there is a lot of talk about values today, but we need to remember that every day the actions we take on the floor of this House say a lot to the American people about what our values really are.

So I will be proud to cast another vote for the Democratic plan to reserve the budget surplus, whose ink has not even dried yet, to save Social Security, and against the Republican plan to use the Social Security surplus to pay for tax cuts, because I value our senior citizens. I value the years of work they dedicated to raising our families, to building this Nation, and to defending our freedom. I will fight to make sure the benefits they deserve, the benefits they paid for, are there when they retire.

So when Members come to the floor to vote, they will have a clear choice of values: the value of playing election year politics with Social Security and the fiscal stability of this country, or the value of doing right by our senior citizens.

TAX RELIEF: JUST DO IT

(Mr. SAM JOHNSON of Texas asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. SAM JOHNSON of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I think some of us have forgotten that Social Security under our plan is paid for totally. Within the next 10 years, all our debt can be retired.

Mr. Speaker, tomorrow this body is going to debate a tax relief bill that will ease the penalty married couples must pay under the current Tax Code. Right now in America, married couples pay more in taxes than two single people living together. That is just plain wrong. Why should we penalize the cornerstone of our society, the American family? We ought to encourage marriage, not penalize it.

We also set aside $1.4 trillion to protect Social Security. That is 90 percent of the surplus. President Clinton calls this, and I quote, "a gimmick to please people." I urge my colleagues, do not believe him. The President has already proposed spending billions from the surplus on bigger government. He is the one with the gimmick.

We can protect Social Security and provide relief for our families. Let us just do it.

TAX CUTS TODAY WILL HURT AMERICAN WORKERS TOMORROW

(Mr. WISE asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. WISE. Mr. Speaker, we are going to hear a lot today about there being a budget surplus, and that is the good news. But the surplus comes from the Social Security system. So what is the bill that is going to be on the floor today? To give an election year tax cut paid for out of using Social Security funds.

Mr. Speaker, I want a tax cut, too, for America's working families, but not by taking from Social Security.

We are going to hear about a 90-10 bill, that they are going to put 90 percent of Social Security aside where it cannot be touched. But we all know something. That is that we should not take 90 percent of Social Security to pay for anything else. We should not take 10 percent. We should not take one penny of the Social Security surplus to pay for something else. That belongs to America's retired.

I support a bill giving tax cuts but not until Social Security is preserved. In order to cut taxes today, we should not take from the benefits that American workers receive tomorrow. That is wrong.

REPUBLICANS WANT TO PRESERVE SOCIAL SECURITY FOR THE NEXT GENERATION

(Mr. KINGSTON asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. KINGSTON. Mr. Speaker, after 40 years of Democrat rule in the United States House of Representatives, what do we have? We have a national debt of about $5 trillion. Year after year, deficit spending. After 3 years of Republican rule, we have a surplus.

What do we have after 40 years of Democrat rule on Medicare? A Medicare system that was going bankrupt. What do we have after 3 years of Republican rule? A Medicare system that was saved and protected on a bipartisan basis.

Now on Social Security, after 40 years of Democrat rule, what do we have? $14 trillion that has been taken out of the Social Security trust fund and spent on roads and bridges and anything else, any special projects and wasteful spending the Democrats could dream up.

What are Republicans doing about it today? We set aside $1.4 trillion for the Social Security trust fund. Not one dime in 40 years of Democrat rule has been set aside and protected for Social Security. It has all been taken out and backed up with a Treasury bill.

Now Republicans are taking the step to look after not just American seniors for the next election but for the next generation.

SAVE SOCIAL SECURITY FIRST

(Mr. WYNN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. WYNN. Mr. Speaker, we are about to engage in a momentous debate here in Congress, a debate about the future of America and about the really big issues, like saving Social Security.

On the Democratic side, we have a very simple proposition. If we have a surplus, we should use all of that surplus to preserve and save Social Security, because the baby boomers are coming. When they do, we will be insolvent. We do not have a full solution, but we do know that if we get some money into the Treasury, we ought to set it all aside to save Social Security.

Now, the Republicans have an election year gimmick. They say, let us run down here and propose a tax cut for the American people, and that way we can get elected because it is election year.

Mr. Speaker, the fact of the matter is that they are perpetuating a myth. They say it is a drain on the economy. Taxes are a terrible drain. The fact of the matter is that the economy is doing very well. Poverty is at an all-time low. Unemployment is at an all-time low. Business starts are increasing.

They say, well, taxes are a burden on the average taxpayer. Tax rates for the average American taxpayer are at the lowest point they have been since 1978. They say taxes are a disproportionate part of the gross domestic product. That is only because revenues increased because more people are working.

The fact of the matter is we should save Social Security first.

MAINTAIN TRUST IN SOCIAL SECURITY

(Mr. DOGGETT asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. DOGGETT. Mr. Speaker, so much has been said in recent days about truth and about trust. How ironic it is that at a time the Nation is focused on truth and trust with one person, that the Republican leadership here in the House should choose that week to come in and challenge the Social Security trust fund, the very week the videotapes are released. It is no coincidence that they choose this time to violate the trust that millions of working Americans have placed in the Social Security trust fund.

With an election year gimmick, they propose to take monies that we were able to develop through the balanced budget agreement and use those monies for other purposes than for strengthening Social Security so that it will be there for future generations.

Mr. Speaker, remember how hard it was to get a balanced budget agreement? Initially, the Republicans wanted to take money from Medicare, millions of dollars from Medicare to fund tax breaks. We were able to overcome that, and we will also overcome this challenge to Social Security.

TAX CUT BILL WILL HELP EVERY SENIOR CITIZEN

(Mr. SOLOMON asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, I am getting ready to bring up the tax cut bill, but I sit here and the one thing I will not miss when I retire January 1 is all this rhetoric about Social Security.

I represent Hyde Park, New York, the home of Franklin Delano Roosevelt. In 1933, he established this rainy day fund. It was a forced savings account so that the American people would have to put aside a little bit, so they would not become wards of the state when they finally get around to retiring, perhaps at 65 or later. Enough said on that.

Mr. Speaker, the tax cut bill that is coming up is going to relieve senior citizens who now have to pay penalties when they go out and work while they are drawing from that savings account that they paid into for 65 years.

We are going to raise that limitation from $14,500, which it is now, up to $17,000 with no penalty next year. After that, $18,500 with no penalty, and the year after that, $26,000.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to come over here and stop all of this rhetoric and vote for the tax cut bill that is going to help every senior citizen in America.

REPUBLICAN TAX CUT PROPOSAL IS AN ASSAULT ON SOCIAL SECURITY

(Mr. PALLONE asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. PALLONE. Mr. Speaker, let us make no mistake about it. The Republican tax bill is a direct assault on Social Security.

The budget surplus the Republicans want to use to pay for their tax cuts does not exist. The only portion of the Federal budget that is in surplus is the Social Security trust fund. In fact, without Social Security, the Federal budget would still be in a deficit this year.

Instead of voting on an $80 billion tax cut that is paid for by raiding Social Security, we should pass the Democratic proposal to save Social Security first. It would require by law that the entire amount of the Social Security surplus in each fiscal year be transferred to the Federal Reserve Bank in New York to be held in trust for Social Security.

Mr. Speaker, the point is that Democrats could support many of these tax cuts, and we could pass a tax relief bill, if the Republicans agreed to do it without using Social Security to pay for it. But they will not. They are not going to do that. That is why we have to vote down this Republican bill and save Social Security first.

NO SURPRISE THAT DEMOCRATS OPPOSE TAX CUTS

(Mr. FOX of Pennsylvania asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. FOX of Pennsylvania. Mr. Speaker, is anyone at all surprised that the Democrats have found an excuse to oppose tax cuts this is year?

The very same Democrats who never once ever thought that billions and billions of dollars in spending were a threat to Social Security, now pretend that tax cuts would be.

There are more ironies here. The same party that did not put a dime aside to save Social Security during their 40 year "reign of error" now act as if they are concerned about raiding the Social Security trust fund.

The same party that refused to take Social Security off budget all of these years, in opposition to conservative proposals to create a more honest system, now recognize that the Social Security trust fund can be solvent while providing tax cuts.

The same party that has proposed billions and billions of dollars in new spending just this year straight out of the Social Security trust fund, now turn around and claim that tax cuts are a raid on that trust fund.

Mr. Speaker, the fact is we can have tax cuts and save the Social Security system at the same time, and we will do that for the American people.

A LOAD OF ROCKS

(Mr. BERRY asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. BERRY. Mr. Speaker, I am an East Arkansas rice farmer, and I remember a story an old fellow in my community told me when I first started farming. He said there was a man who came through during the Depression and he had a truckload of rocks. If a farmer would buy one of these rocks from him and put it where the irrigation water ran into their rice field, he claimed it would make them a lot better crop.

He said, "You know, he sold some of those rocks." I said, "How did it do? Did it make the crop better?" He said, "It was pretty hard to tell."

Mr. Speaker, that is what these fellows are trying to do, is to sell the American people a load of rocks. I think it is a bad idea.

Mr. Speaker, we are all for tax cuts, but not if we have to rob the Social Security trust fund and our children's future to do it. It is a bad idea, and the American people need to recognize this load of rocks for what it is.

TRIBUTE TO TONY MOCERI, BOILERMAKERS LOCAL 363

(Mr. SHIMKUS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. SHIMKUS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor Mr. Tony Moceri, who is to have the new Boilermakers Local 363 building in Belleville, Illinois, named in his honor.

Tony became a proud member of Local Boilermakers Lodge 363 in 1942. During his career, he served as assistant business agent and was elected business manager in 1966, where he served until 1984.

In addition to his regular job, Tony served proudly on the State Boiler Board, the Boilermakers Trades Committee, and Senator Charles Percy's Labor Task Force Committee, before retiring in 1984.

Mr. Speaker, I want to congratulate Tony for this honor and for his years of service, and I want to wish Tony and his wife, Vera, all the best for another 44 years.

THE CHOICE IS CLEAR

(Mrs. KELLY asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Mrs. KELLY. Mr. Speaker, Congress has less than 1 month to conduct the people's business. I think Congress should focus on the issue of tax cuts.

Republicans believe that Americans are overtaxed. Democrats believe that Americans are not overtaxed, and some of them actually believe that Americans are not taxed enough.

Republicans talk about tax cuts for all Americans. Democrats speak in terms of targeted tax cuts, which is a great way of saying that the middle-class, the backbone of America, will not be getting a tax cut.

Now, let us make a distinction between Democrats and so-called "New Democrats." Democrats will raise taxes. New Democrats will talk about cutting taxes, but they will raise them once they get in office.

Mr. Speaker, if Americans believe that taxes are fundamentally a freedom issue, then Republicans are on their side. If they think that government knows best, then the Democrats are their friend.

To me, the choice is clear.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. KOLBE). The gentleman from New York (Mr. SOLOMON) is recognized for 1 hour.

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, for purposes of debate only, I yield the customary 30 minutes to the gentlewoman from Rochester, New York (Ms. SLAUGHTER), pending which I yield myself such time as I may consume. During consideration of this resolution, all time yielded is for the purpose of debate only.

Mr. Speaker, the resolution before us is a structured rule providing for consideration of two bills, H.R. 4578, the Protect Social Security Account, and H.R. 4579, the Taxpayer Relief Act of 1998. These are two extremely important measures for the American people.

First, the rule provides for consideration of H.R. 4578 in the House without intervention and point of order. The bill is considered as read and the Committee on Ways and Means amendment in the nature of a substitute now printed in the bill is considered as adopted.

The rule further provides for one hour of debate, equally divided and controlled by the chairman and the ranking minority member of the Committee on Ways and Means, the committee of jurisdiction.

The rule provides for consideration, without intervention of any point of order, of an amendment printed in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD and numbered 1, if offered by the gentleman from New York (Mr. RANGEL) or his designee, which shall be considered as read and shall be debatable for 1 hour, equally divided and controlled by the proponent and an opponent.

Finally, the rule provides one motion to recommit with or without instructions.

Secondly, Mr. Speaker, after the disposition of H.R. 4578, the rule then provides for consideration of another bill, which is H.R. 4579, again, without intervention of any point of order. The bill will be considered as read, and the Committee on Ways and Means amendment in the nature of a substitute now printed in the bill, as modified by the amendment printed in the Committee on Rules report accompanying this rule, is considered as adopted.

The rule further provides for one hour of debate equally divided and controlled by the chairman and ranking minority member of the Committee on Ways and Means.

The rule further provides for consideration, without intervention of any point of order, of an amendment printed in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD and again numbered 1, if offered by the gentleman from New York (Mr. RANGEL), which shall be considered as read and shall be debatable for 1 hour, equally divided and controlled by, again, the proponent and the opponent.

The rule also provides one motion to recommit with or without instructions.

Finally, the rule provides that in the engrossment of H.R. 4579, the Clerk shall add the text of H.R. 4578, as passed by the House, and that upon the addition of the text, H.R. 4578, shall be laid on the table.

Mr. Speaker, the rule and the two bills before us demonstrate that we can achieve two very, very important goals: We can save Social Security, and we can cut taxes.

The package before this House today, and Members ought to look at this, because the American people are looking at it the taxpayers of this Nation are looking at it the package before the House today sets aside 90 percent of the projected budget surplus over the next 10 years. We are very, very fortunate today that based on the philosophy of Ronald Reagan and Reagonomics, we have had this surging economy now for all these years, very unusual in the history of this Nation. But it has happened because of major, major tax cuts that were implemented way back in 1981. That pumped money back into the pockets of people so that they could either spend it on things they wanted to spend it on, whether it was on buying a house, buying a car, educating their children, or saving it so that they would have monies available to them later on when they got around to retiring.

So let me just repeat one more time, this package before the House today sets aside 90 percent of all of that new projected surplus that is rolling into the coffers of this Nation, and that is about $1.4 trillion over the next 10 years. That money is set aside to help replace the monies that have been legitimately and legally stolen out of the Social Security trust funds.

Now, the remaining 10 percent of that surplus, which is only $80 billion of the $1.4 trillion, $80 billion is used to provide tax relief to families, to farmers, to small businesses across this Nation.

Mr. Speaker, the issue before the House today is really quite simple. Do we believe that the American people, both families and businesses, deserve lower taxes? It is as simple as that. Of course, we know what the answer is. It is unequivocally yes.

As the chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means said so eloquently during debate in my Committee on Rules meeting yesterday, when testifying before our committee, he said the tax burden on American families is higher today than at any previous point in our peacetime history.

That means we are taking more money out of the pockets of people than ever in peacetime before. This vibrant domestic economy, driven by the hard work of both main street and Wall Street, Mr. Speaker, deserves a break. A tax cut now will provide taxpayers with more flexibility in establishing important consumer and investment priorities for families.

For instance, let me give Members an example, the Taxpayer Relief Act of 1998 will provide marriage tax relief for over 48 million married taxpayers. How many? Forty-eight million married taxpayers will receive an average tax cut of $243 per tax return.

You may not think that is much, Mr. Speaker, but I had five children. And my wife and I were struggling for a long time. And lo and behold, I came to this Congress about 20 years ago, I do not know what the salary was in those days, about $37,000 or something, but we struggled to educate those kids. I will tell you, do you know what $247 extra means? It means an awful lot. It means an awful lot to my family. It would have meant a lot to us.

Six million married taxpayers who currently itemize deductions on their returns will no longer need to do so. That means you do not have to go out and hire an accountant. Do you know what it costs the average family, a young couple, because of the complicated tax system? They are going to go out and spend 2-, 3-, 4-, 5-, $600, maybe even $1,000, if they happen to be a small businessman or family running a small business. And in this bill, these 6 million married taxpayers who currently itemize deductions on their returns will no longer need to do so. This represents tremendous simplification.

Many of the provisions of this bill simplify the tax code and result in the elimination of several tax forms that taxpayers currently are required to file.

Again, if you are a small businessman, like I was, you find the cost of doing business is so great because of all of the Federal and State and county, town, city, village, and local mandates. Anything we can do to relieve that is going to help make these businesses and these families prosper. That is what this bill does.

In addition, 68 million taxpayers are provided tax relief by excluding from taxation a portion of the interest and dividend income received. Let me repeat that. Sixty-eight million taxpayers are provided tax relief by excluding from taxation a portion of that interest and dividend income received.

This will provide very visible tax relief for families by allowing them to keep portions of interest income that they now have to pay taxes on, even from small savings accounts. You have a small savings account with maybe $1,000 or $2,000, right now you have to pay 100 percent tax on that. This is going to give relief to these families, tax free, and simplify their tax filing.

And I think this is more important, because we have heard a lot of rhetoric, every morning we have one-minutes in this House, where Members can come down. And the Democrats line up over here and the Republicans over here, and we hear all this rhetoric. I hope that we will follow my infinite wisdom and do away with those things or put them at the end of the day and not have it stir things up in the morning. We have heard a lot of rhetoric about Social Security.

Let me tell you what this bill does for Social Security, this tax cut bill. This bill increases the Social Security earnings limit, thereby increasing the amount of money seniors can earn without losing Social Security benefits, something I have been trying to accomplish in this body for years.

My wife is drawing a Social Security check. She worked all of her life, and now she is in a part-time business. She sells real estate. And now she has earned more than the $14,500 limit, and she has had to pay back the meager I think it is about $4,000 that she had gotten she has to pay all that back. Yet that was from a forced savings account. She was forced to put aside, in Social Security all these years, her own money. Now the government is taking it away from her.

Well, this year that limit is $14,500. And now, under this bill, next year we are raising it up to $17,000. That means my wife, your wife, all the people out there on Social Security now can earn $17,000 and not pay that two-for-one penalty that should not be there at all. Then the following year, 2 years later, the limit is going to be raised to $18,500.

Do you not think that is going to make a difference to people who are living on a fixed income? Then 3 years later, in other words, in the total of a three-year period, we are raising that to $26,000. That means that a man and wife can go out and they can earn a little bit of extra money, and yet they will not have to pay a penny of their Social Security back if they earn less than $26,000. That is what this bill does.

Now, another major tax relief is the 100 percent health insurance deduction for the self-employed and farmers. It is accelerated to take full effect on January 1, 1999, providing 3.3 million taxpayers an average tax benefit of $382 in 1999, $382 into the pockets, again, of a couple who own a small business or a farmer who is trying to live on about $25,000 in income.

Credit under the estate tax, or what is otherwise called the death tax, is accelerated to take full effect on January 1, 1999. Again, I do not know about all the rest of my colleagues, but I represent the Hudson Valley in upstate New York. It has the Catskills on one end, the Adirondacks on the other. In between are very, very small dairy farms, 50 head each. It is the 20th largest dairy producing district in America. One would not think that in New York, would they, from Arkansas over there? And we have apple orchards. But these people have trouble keeping the new generation on the farm because it is so difficult, first of all, even to make a living. And secondly, they cannot even inherit the farm because of the inheritance tax.

What this does is move the credit under the estate tax up to make it fully effective January 1, 1999. And it means that those farms now are going to be turned over to the children. And we are going to be able to keep them operating.

This, combined with other small business and agriculture provisions, will provide needed and immediate tax relief to many family-owned small business and family farms, many.

Mr. Speaker, key tax relief is also provided this is something that is very close to me to military personnel by making it easier for our Nation's men and women in uniform to qualify for the capital gains tax relief on the sale of a home due to the fact that their duties often require them to be away from home for long periods of time. They lose the capital gains benefit that the ordinary citizen would have when they sell their home. Civilian homeowners can take advantage of it. Our military personnel cannot do that. So that is a glitch in the law, and we are making a correction.

The Taxpayer Relief Act also will extend various expiring tax incentives necessary to grow the economy, such as research and experimentation tax credits, very, very important.

It also extends the work opportunity tax credit and the welfare to work credit, which is extremely important.

Finally, the bill before us today includes landmark language which authorizes the creation of 20 renewal communities designed to help fight poverty.

□ 0945

This is extremely important to Members on both sides of the aisle. Patterned after the work of the gentleman from Oklahoma (Mr. WATTS), the gentleman from Missouri (Mr. TALENT) and the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. DAVIS), these communities would be eligible for capital gains tax relief, increased expensing for small businesses, wage credits for workers, deductions for cleaning up brownfields—very, very important—a commercial revitalization tax credit, and tax incentives for Family Development Accounts. This is an historic initiative aimed at addressing the travesty in impoverished rural and urban areas throughout our country.

Mr. Speaker, in closing let me just address those of my colleagues who claim that the surplus tax revenue generated by hard-working men and women of this country should be kept here in Washington and not used for tax cuts. This is something that just gets under my skin. First, let us remember that the tax revenue that pours into this city from all over this country does not belong to us, it does not belong to the government. Rather, it belongs to those who sent it here, the taxpayers of this Nation. When the taxpayers send the government more money than is necessary to run it, the government is duty bound to return that excess.

Second, everybody knows, and, believe me, all Members know it we are going through it right now everybody knows that any dollar not nailed down to a Federal program in Washington, D.C. is a spent dollar. We know the Congress is going to spend those dollars. In order to prevent the frivolous spending of taxpayer dollars the government does not need, we must cut taxes and give them back to the American people. That is exactly what this bill does.

Cut taxes and save Social Security by voting for this rule and for these two bills. It is the responsible thing to do. My grandson told me that this morning. He said, "Granddad, it's the right thing to do." Ladies and gentlemen, it is the right thing to do. Come over here and vote for this rule.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Ms. SLAUGHTER. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from New York for yielding me the customary 30 minutes and I yield myself such time as I may consume.

(Ms. SLAUGHTER asked and was given permission to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. SLAUGHTER. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong opposition to this rule. The rule sets the stage for Congress to take up a destructive, irresponsible set of proposals that will simultaneously raid the Social Security trust fund and explode the deficit. This package threatens to destroy our hard-won budgetary discipline and send us, like Alice in Wonderland, through the looking glass into a place where long-standing budget rules do not apply and a budget deficit is called a surplus.

This rule will allow Congress to consider H.R. 4578 and H.R. 4579, the Tweedlebum and Tweedledee of budget politics. The first bill, H.R. 4578, would set aside a portion of the Social Security surplus in a mythical special reserve account where it would supposedly be saved. The second bill, H.R. 4579, would use the remainder of the Social Security surplus to pay for tax cuts. It is bad enough that these proposals are irresponsible and shortsighted. To make matters worse, we are being denied a full and open debate on them. The modified closed rule does a disservice to the American people by barring the gentleman from Texas (Mr. STENHOLM) from offering his alternative. The Stenholm proposal would cut taxes without raiding Social Security or threatening to increase the deficit. Unfortunately this fiscally responsible bill was banned from the House floor in favor of the majority's reckless plan to raid future retirees' savings. In addition, constructive proposals sponsored by the gentlewoman from California (Ms. SANCHEZ) and the gentleman from Connecticut (Mr. MALONEY) were denied the opportunity for floor consideration.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 4578 and H.R. 4579 illustrate how the majority is indulging in creative accounting to invent a surplus that they can use to justify tax cuts. Over the next five years our Nation is projected to have a Social Security surplus of $657 billion and a budget deficit of $137 billion. The majority is using the Social Security surplus to cancel out that budget deficit and declare a total budget surplus of $520 billion free for the taking.

But as my colleagues can see, the surplus is not a real surplus. It is a mirage. It is a surplus of Social Security taxes which we need to hold in reserve for that approaching day when Social Security begins to have financial problems. The Federal budget will remain in deficit or just barely in balance until at least the year 2005 even assuming the economy remains as robust as it is now. Federal Reserve Chairman Alan Greenspan has warned repeatedly that our economy could take a downturn which could wipe out the surplus and multiply the cost of the proposed tax cut.

H.R. 4578 places 90 percent of the Social Security surplus in a reserve account in the U.S. Treasury. This account is nothing but a budget gimmick. There is nothing to prevent Congress from spending these funds in the future. If the majority is spending the surplus on tax cuts now, what will stop them in the future for using it for other purposes? The majority is referring to their proposal as the 90-10 plan. I would suggest that that means if you live to be 90 you might get 10 percent of the Social Security benefits you are due.

Democrats are committed to reserving all, 100 percent, of the surplus for Social Security. Our alternative will place the entire surplus in a special account in the New York Federal Reserve Bank where Congress is completely unable to reach it. This is the only proposal that guarantees the surplus will be used solely to save Social Security and not for politically irresistible goodies.

Democrats support tax cuts. Most of the proposals in the majority's package were originally Democrat bills. But we will not cut taxes without paying for them. The Democratic alternative includes all the same tax cuts but provides they will not take effect until Congress has enacted legislation to preserve Social Security. Social Security is a Democrat program, and we have always kept our promises to the Nation's seniors. We will again before we start making new promises to Americans. The Democratic alternative enacts tax relief and saves Social Security.

I would like to note that the majority's misguided proposal has no chance of becoming law. The President has vowed to veto any proposal that raids the Social Security surplus to pay for tax cuts. Americans should recognize this tax bill for the cynical election-year ploy that it is. Democrats will protect Social Security while Republicans protect their majority.

We should save Social Security first. This bill is an unwelcome flashback to the Reagan era of deficit spending. The majority's proposal places in jeopardy the Social Security benefits of over 44 million older Americans, many of whom rely on their benefits as their sole source of income. While we would all like to cut taxes, we cannot do so at the expense of the balanced budget and the Social Security trust fund. We owe our senior citizens and all Americans better than that.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. WYNN).

Mr. WYNN. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding time. If it is an election year, it must be time for a tax cut. At least that is what the Republicans think. And they do not really care how they finance it. We on the Democratic side like tax cuts, too. In fact, we voted for tax cuts last year because they were paid for within the budget. They were paid for in the context of a balanced budget. This year, though, the Republicans are not worried about that. They are going to raid the Social Security trust fund to pay for tax cuts. That is not right.

The fact of the matter is we do not even have a surplus yet and if we get one, we do not know how much it is going to be. So we ought to at least let the ink dry on the surplus before we start giving it away. More importantly, if the surplus is not as great as we think it will be or if there is a downturn in the economy, we will not have those revenues but we will have shortchanged the Social Security trust fund.

Americans believe that Congress ought to deal with the big issues. The big issue facing our society is how we will deal with Social Security when the baby boom generation moves into its senior years.

We on the Democratic side have a simple proposition. Any revenue we get, any and all of that surplus ought to be set aside for that rainy day. The Republicans are saying, "Well, let's shave a little bit off and give it away." The problem is, that will raid the Social Security trust fund and will not maximize the security we ought to provide for our seniors.

Now, they will come down and tell you, "We've got this terrible tax burden and that's what we're really fighting against." The fact of the matter is the economy is doing very well. Unemployment is down, employment is up, interest rates are down. They say, "Well, there's a burden on the average family." Let me tell you this: The tax rates on the average American family are at its lowest point since 1978. We want to give tax breaks when we can pay for them, but if we cannot pay for them, we do not believe we ought to jeopardize the Social Security trust fund. We ought to put all the surplus back into the trust fund to protect long-term national interests.

Ms. SLAUGHTER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from West Virginia (Mr. WISE).

Mr. WISE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose this rule. We hear a lot about there being a surplus but the reality is it is in Social Security. I have the greatest respect and friendship for the distinguished chairman of the Committee on Rules. He is irrepressible when it comes to the Reagan years, and certainly President Reagan was a strong President in many ways. He was also strong because he left us the strongest deficit in history. We went from $70 billion to $200 billion and deficits as long and far as the eye can see according to a former Reagan aide.

So what does this bill do? It continues the same pattern, because you cut taxes, that was part of the Reagan formula, and yet you do not do anything really about the spending. I do not support election-year tax cuts that come from Social Security.

Now, they say they are going to put 90 percent of it in a lock box. But my question is, if you are going to save 90 percent of Social Security, why not save 100 percent? What happened to that radical idea, 100 percent of Social Security? I support tax cuts but not until Social Security is preserved.

The irony to this is the American worker pays into Social Security, you are going to tell them that you are giving them a tax cut and yet the tax cut is going to come at the price of what they have been paying into for many years for their retirement.

I look at this, a lot of us, whether we are parents or grandparents or whatever take our children to McDonald's. And so what this does is, you drive in, you give them a Happy Meal today, then you take the hamburger and the fries and what the worker is left with is a plastic googol toy that after the first five minutes ends up as election-year junk in the back of the car.

Mr. Speaker, this is simply taking for election-year purposes, giving a tax cut at the expense of Social Security. What my constituents, 300,000 senior citizens in West Virginia, hundreds of thousands of more getting ready to retire, what they say is save Social Security first, then look at the tax situation.

Ms. SLAUGHTER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from New York (Mr. RANGEL).

(Mr. RANGEL asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, if I could have a statement today on this rule which I oppose, it would be to my dear friend and fellow New Yorker (Mr. SOLOMON). Because the gentleman from New York is leaving this great body, but he leaves with a great reputation as a feisty fighter for all of the things that he has believed in all of his life as a true American and a true Marine. I feel awkward, because having moved to be the senior member of the Committee on Ways and Means, some of the ways I used to think have now been replaced by having the responsibility of not being able to express my liberal ways the way I used to enjoy them before.

I would believe that if a surplus was there, spend the darn thing. Put it in education, build some houses, let America's quality of life be a little better. As far as Social Security is concerned, what the devil. If we do not have money for the check, the country is not there, anyway, so forget it.

But that is not the way Americans have been thinking. The Republicans have been so good at telling us if you do not have the money, you do not spend it. They have been so good in saying you pay as you go. They have been so good in saying that we have got budget rules, that you cannot even do it without violating the very principles of the House. Yet this rule today would allow us just to waive all of the disciplines that we have learned to work together in a bipartisan way to respect.

The whole idea of having a tax cut that you cannot pay for is repugnant to everything I thought Republicans stood for. For those reasons and others, I oppose the rule.

Ms. SLAUGHTER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. PALLONE).

Mr. PALLONE. Mr. Speaker, I want to tell my colleagues what my constituents are saying about this bill and why they want me to oppose this Republican tax plan.

What they are saying is that a few years ago; I think it was in the 1970s; this Congress passed a tax increase in order to provide more money for the Social Security Trust Fund through the payroll tax essentially because there was a recognition that in a few years there would be a lot more baby boomers who turned 65 and we would need more money in the Social Security Trust Fund to pay benefits for that baby boom generation. But that money now is being borrowed by the general revenue, by the budget in general, used for purposes other than Social Security, and now we are being told that even though that surplus is there in the Social Security Trust Fund to be paying benefits in the future, we are going to take even more of it and spend it on a tax cut that primarily, I would say, goes to wealthy individuals.

Well, my constituents are saying that that is not fair, it is not fair to raise taxes on the average guy, on his earnings, on his payroll tax and then take it away in a tax cut when that money is supposed to be saved for the future when it has to be paid out in benefits. And my constituents are saying what Congress is telling me is that the money is not going to be there to pay out the benefits when I get to be 65 even though I have been paying more to make sure that it is there. And then they are saying we know what is going to happen in the future. We are going to have to raise taxes because we have taken the money away that supposedly we were saving.

So the consequence of this Republican action is that 5-10 years down the road we are going to have to raise taxes more, most likely, on that wage earner, on the payroll taxes, to make sure money is there for Social Security or, alternatively, that there will be pressure to cut back on Social Security benefits, to cut back on the COLA, to raise the age before one can get Social Security or to even suggest other kind of crazy ways to deal with retirement because there is no money in Social Security.

This is wrong, and that is why we have to vote against this rule and vote against the Republican tax cuts.

Ms. SLAUGHTER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentleman from Arkansas (Mr. BERRY).

Mr. BERRY. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of a tax cut but not to raid the Social Security Trust Fund.

My esteemed colleague from the 17th District of Texas (Mr. STENHOLM) yesterday introduced a rule before the Committee on Rules that would provide for a tax cut but not to rob the Social Security Trust Fund, and that is what we should do.

This rule waives the budget rules that got us to the balanced budget; it throws it out the window. It says what we have been doing is the wrong thing to do. This is how we get to a $5 trillion debt. We owe the American people more than this. We owe them more than to rob Peter to pay Paul.

Yesterday in the Committee on Rules the point was made that was quite outstanding that said we have got to spend this money before someone else does. I cannot think of a more ridiculous idea or a less responsible idea than this.

These folks have a heart as big as a washtub, as they say where I come from. We are going to rob Social Security on one hand and leave our constituents in poverty at age 65, but we are going to give them a small tax cut before we do that.

Let me urge my colleagues to vote against this rule and vote for responsible fiscal management.

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I do not think I heard right. The gentleman from Arkansas said he heard something upstairs that Republicans want to spend this money before somebody else does.

We want to cut taxes and put the money back into the pockets of people.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. SMITH), one of the most fiscally responsible Members of this body.

Mr. SMITH of Michigan. Mr. Speaker, first of all, I invite the gentleman from New York (Mr. RANGEL) to come over and join the Republican party. We still believe in that philosophy that he is starting to think.

Mr. Speaker, I am disappointed that there is so much rhetoric, and we are shy on some upright honesty on what is happening in Social Security.

First of all, let me suggest that with a unified budget deficit last year of over $20 billion, this year, in that same way that we figure surplus and deficit, we are going to have a surplus of $70 billion. And let me also suggest that almost every Democrat on that side of the aisle last year voted for the tax cuts even though we had a much larger deficit than we do this year. And what happened? Because of the fact that there is some way to treat taxes to make it more fair to stimulate the economy we have ended up bringing in more tax revenue this year, and it has been a stimulus to a stronger economy in this country. That is part of the solution, long term, to any Social Security solution.

Let me additionally suggest, Mr. Speaker, to whoever might be listening to our debate, that neither approach, the Rangel amendments, nor this rule, move in the direction of saving Social Security. All we are saying is, let us start paying down the public debt a little bit, and that is good. That is going to help a little bit. But what we are really going to have to do to save Social Security is to increase the return on the investment that working men and women in this country are putting into their Social Security tax.

Right now, Mr. Speaker, the Tax Foundation says that, on average, they are going to have a negative return on that money that they pay into Social Security. A negative return; the estimate is between a negative ½ and a negative 1½. What we have got to do to save Social Security is have a better return on that investment. We cannot continue as a pay-as-you-go program for Social Security. So, all of this pretense that we are setting the money aside is just that, it is pretense.

I went to the Committee on Rules, and my amendment in the Committee on Rules, and that is my disappointment, Mr. Speaker, with the Committee on Rules; my amendment incorporated my House Bill 4033 that says from now on when the government borrows money from Social Security it should be marketable, negotiable

Treasury bills. It is not that today. They are just blank IOUs, as will this new account be. It also said that from now on OMB and CBO, the administration and Congress' budget people, will not consider the surplus coming into the Social Security Trust Fund as revenue in terms of defining a deficit or a surplus.

I think the important thing as we start solving Social Security, that we be up front, that we be honest with the American people.

Ms. SLAUGHTER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Oregon (Mr. DEFAZIO).

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, there is going to be a lot of talk today on the floor of the House about a surplus. Let us get one thing straight. There is no surplus. The so-called surplus, 100 percent of it is the Social Security Trust Fund. We are overcollecting today in Social Security taxes. Seventy-three percent of Americans pay more in Social Security taxes to the United States Government than they do income taxes, with the idea that that money will be available tomorrow and the day after to pay future Social Security benefits.

But guess what? The Republicans want to spend that money today. They want to over collect from 73 percent of the American public with the false promise of Social Security being there in the future, and they want to spend that money tomorrow in a new tax cut. That is the worst of bait and switch. At least they could have the guts to do both bills on the same day and say to the American people, "Yes, we are spending your Social Security and tax cuts that will flow to a different group of people than paying the tax, but we think that's good policy. And don't worry, we'll somehow honor your benefits 10 and 15 years hence."

This is bad legislation. The Republicans know it is bad. They want to give tax cuts. Yes, actually they are not bad tax cuts for the Republicans, probably the best tax cuts the Republicans have ever proposed because they are trying to hang Democrats out to dry. But we are not going to be hung out on the line here. It is the Republicans that are being hung out because they are spending the Social Security Trust Funds. They are not protecting the Social Security Trust Funds. What a magnanimous gesture. They will only spend 10 percent of them, and they will put the other 90 percent in a phony account in the Treasury that will be immediately borrowed and spent on other things.

Mr. Speaker, this provides zero protection for Social Security. What is worse, it spends the Social Security Trust Fund of tomorrow on tax cuts today.

Ms. SLAUGHTER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. MENENDEZ).

(Mr. MENENDEZ asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. MENENDEZ. Mr. Speaker, I rise against the Republican rule in the bill because it does not put Social Security first, it does not put senior citizens in this country first who work to build communities, families and to protect the country, it does not protect working families who are paying the FICA taxes for both their future security and their present security of their parents and grandparents and because it is fiscally irresponsible.

On the tax bill this rule that we are considering would automatically adopt a provision to waive the budget law, and what does that law say? It requires that all tax cuts be fully paid for. The provision is intended to keep the country, the reason that law exists, is to keep the country from returning to the days of creating huge tax breaks at the expense of the deficit in terms of going back to that credit card mentality.

Instead of following the path of fiscal responsibility, Mr. Speaker, Republicans have irresponsibly decided to dip into the Social Security Trust Fund for tens of billions of dollars to pay for the costs of these tax cuts even before any action has been taken to deal with Social Security's long-term solvency.

Now where are my friends from the CATs, the conservative action teams? As my colleagues know, we are constantly talking about being fiscally responsible. How is it that my colleagues can begin to spend money, how is it possible to begin to spend money before the ink even dries on a projected surplus? That is clearly not fiscally responsible.

And this question about a separate account; the separate account has no lock, has no guarantee, has no provisions to preserve Social Security. It is fiscally irresponsible, it does not put our seniors first, it does not put our country first, and it does not continue us on the path of fiscal stability.

The fact of the matter is, if we want to put our seniors first and working families, we should reject the rule, reject the bill and adopt the Democrat proposal.

Ms. SLAUGHTER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 4 minutes to the gentleman from Texas (Mr. STENHOLM).

(Mr. STENHOLM asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. STENHOLM. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong opposition to this rule. All Members who care about fiscal discipline, all Members who care about the Social Security system, all Members who care about the legacy we leave for future generations should vote against this fiscally irresponsible rule.

I was sincerely disappointed that the Committee on Rules choose to report a rule which did not allow for consideration of the bipartisan Stenholm-Berry-Neumann amendment which would require that tax cuts be paid for out of general revenues and prohibits funding a tax cut out of the Social Security surplus. Once again the Committee on Rules denied a free and open debate on an issue of which some of us on both sides of the aisle feel are very important. That is the reason why everyone should oppose this rule, Mr. Speaker.

The Stenholm-Neumann amendment would establish the common-sense position that we should wait until a true budget surplus materializes before tax cuts which are not paid for take effect.

The rule does make in order a Rangel substitute that delays implementation of the tax cuts until the Social Security trust fund is restored to actuarial balance. I will support the Rangel substitute because it would make the underlying bill more responsible and add meaningful protections for the Social Security trust fund. However, the Stenholm-Neumann amendment would have set a significantly tougher standard by requiring us to balance the budget without using the Social Security trust fund surplus. The vote on the rule will be the only opportunity Members will have to express support for the principle set forth in the Stenholm-Neumann amendment that we should not be funding a tax cut from the Social Security trust fund.

Let me be clear, I, too, support tax cuts, but not if they are paid for with Social Security Trust Funds. We should not talk about budget surpluses so long as we are counting Social Security Trust Fund. Under current projections there is no surplus available to use for tax cuts unless we are willing to use Social Security Trust Funds.

The substitute amendment that Mr. NEUMANN and I proposed contained all of the tax cuts in the package reported by the Ways and Means Committee, but would add a requirement that any tax cuts which are not paid for be delayed until we have an on-budget surplus large enough to pay for the tax cut without relying on the Social Security trust fund surplus. This amendment would have ensured that the tax cut is not funded out of the Social Security surplus, and establishes the position that we should wait until the surplus materializes before tax cuts which are not paid for take effect.

We should not talk about budget surpluses so long as we are counting the Social Security trust fund surplus. Under current projections, there is no surplus available to use for tax cuts unless you are willing to use the Social Security trust fund surplus.

Over the next 5 years, CBO estimates the surplus of Social Security Trust Funds will be $520 billion, of which 657 of that 520 is Social Security Trust Fund. Over the next 10 years, it takes 10 years before we find $31 billion that are not Social Security Trust Fund.

Enacting a permanent tax cut that is not paid for would result in continued deficits into the future as far as the eye can see.

In a letter sent our earlier this week, the Concord Coalition warned us that "the election year temptation to use Social Security surpluses for other purposes will lead to a dangerous breakdown in fiscal discipline." We should maintain the discipline that has put us on a path to a truly balanced budget that puts Social Security off budget once and for all by 2002.

The West Texas tractor seat common sense I hear when I go home also reminds me that we should not count our chickens before they are hatched. The surplus exists only in projections, not reality. According to CBO, a recession similar to the 1990-1991 recession would turn the projected surplus into a deficit.

Even a modest slowdown in economic growth could reduce revenues and increase spending by tens of billions of dollars, quickly turning a projected surplus into a deficit. Lawrence Lindsey, a Republican economist and former Federal Reserve Governor, warned that the surge in income taxes that has contributed to the surplus in the unified budget may not continue, arguing that "The prudent thing to do when you enjoy a windfall from some good luck is to save it, you might need the cushion in bad times."

I cannot believe my friends on the other side of the aisle are not taking a conservative approach to the economy today, when everyone is saying that is what we should be doing. People out in West Texas know that when we get a little extra money, our first priority should be to pay off our debts, particularly if we have a debt.

We should use the opportunity presented by the strong economy and improved budget projections to reduce the $5.4 trillion national debt, instead of leaving that burden for future generations. The current projections of a budget surplus follow years of deficit spending that has resulted in a national debt of $5.4 trillion. Federal Reserve Chairman Alan Greenspan, former CBO Director Rudy Penner and countless other economists have told us that the best course of action for the economy is for Congress to use the surplus to reduce the debt. Reducing the national debt will help maintain a strong economy by reducing interest rates and increasing the amount of savings available to the private sector to invest in the most effective way possible.

The senior representative in my State in the other body the other day echoed the view that I share when he said, "I think I know the people I represent would agree we ought to save social security. I do not have to see a poll to know that."

We have a tremendous opportunity to prepare for the retirement of the baby boom generation by reducing the debt and reforming entitlement programs.

I have worked extremely hard over the last 3 years in a bipartisan effort with the chairman, the gentleman from Arizona (Mr. KOLBE), the gentleman from South Carolina (Mr. MARK SANFORD), the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. NICK SMITH), and other Members on both sides of the aisle to bring us to a point where we are seriously discussing the long-term reforms necessary of the social security system. The task of enacting meaningful social security reform will be even harder if we use the projected budget surplus for a short-term, politically attractive tax cut.

Members know that. I know that. Anyone that is serious knows there are going to be transition costs. We should not spend it today.

I also strongly oppose this rule because it includes several major waivers of the Budget Act discipline. This legislation represents one of the largest violations of the budget enforcement rules since the enactment of the Budget Enforcement Act.

At the same time that the Committee on the Budget is considering legislation that would take a positive step towards making it harder to waive the Budget Act, we are being asked to vote for a rule that makes at least four major waivers of the Budget Act. These are not routine waivers of technical violations of the Budget Act, but are major, substantive waivers of budget discipline.

I hope that my colleagues who have joined me over the years in complaining about waiving the Budget Act would join me in opposing now the blatant violation of budget discipline in this rule.

The gentleman from New York (Mr. SOLOMON) and I have joined in this fight so many times over the years, when the gentleman was in the minority and I was in the majority, and I was differing with my party. The gentleman and I stood on this floor and said, we should not do this. Today, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is bringing a rule that does it, and he is waiving it. I cannot believe it that the gentleman is doing that.

Mr. Speaker, the exemption from the PAYGO rules that allows the bill to be funded out of the Social Security surplus instead of being offset by spending cuts or revenue increases is a dangerous step toward weakening existing budget enforcement rules. The pay-as-you go budget rules have put us on a path to a balanced budget. Now is not the time to be waiving, suspending or otherwise violating our budget discipline rules. The recent volatility of world financial markets makes it even more critical that we reaffirm our commitment to maintaining the discipline that has produced a dramatic improvement in the federal budget and a strong economy.

The conservative thing to do with the budget surplus is to be conservative. It is extremely important that we follow the path of fiscal responsibility and take advantage of this opportunity to preserve the Social Security system for future generations. The bill before us, for all its merit, would undermine fiscal discipline and jeopardize our ability to preserve Social Security. I strongly encourage all members who are committed to maintaining fiscal discipline and maintaining the integrity of the Social Security trust fund to vote against this rule so that the House may consider a tax cut that is not funded out of the Social Security trust fund.

Vote down this rule and let us do what the country needs.

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I would just say that I respect every Member of this body. I love all of them. The gentleman from Texas is one of my best friends. However, sometimes we have to ask whose ox is being gored here?

I heard the gentleman stand up here and say that he is for tax cuts, but he is not going to vote to cut taxes if it is going to have anything to do with Social Security. Yet, I am looking at a bill here that just passed the House September 15. It was a bill that spent billions of surplus funds on the agriculture emergency bill. It is the same surpluses. Then it was okay to spend it, but no, it is not okay to cut taxes with it now.

Mr. Speaker, I am just looking at the whole list of all my good friends on that side of the aisle. Every one of them—I just drew the line here—every one voted for that surplus bill. Spend those surpluses, take it out of that Social Security. Yet, when we start talking about 48 million Americans that are married taxpayers, we cannot spend some of the surplus on them. We cannot give them a tax break. We cannot give 6 million other Americans an exemption on their itemizations. We cannot give 68 more million Americans a tax exemption on their interest on their income.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Morris, the south suburbs of Chicago, Illinois (Mr. WELLER).

(Mr. WELLER asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. WELLER. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding me the time.

We can tell this is an election year, with the political rhetoric we are hearing. People are talking about the social security trust fund, and of course politicians say a lot of things in an election year, particularly 6 weeks before the election.

As a member of the Subcommittee on Social Security, I thought I would share with everyone here, the Social Security Administration says that the tax cuts we are going to vote on tomorrow eliminate the marriage tax penalty for a majority of those who suffer. It will have no impact on the social security trust funds.

In fact, in response to a question by the gentleman from Texas (Chairman ARCHER), "As a result of the tax bill being considered by the committee today, will there be any impact on the monies in the social security trust fund," the chairman asked Judy Chesser, deputy commissioner of the Social Security Administration, she had a very simple answer: "No."

So if we want to be honest about this, this legislation has absolutely no impact. The tax cuts have absolutely no impact on the social security trust fund. Let us be honest today. The Social Security Administration is honest. All politicians should try and be honest once in a while.

Mr. Speaker, this is an exciting day. Let us think about it. As a result of last year's balanced budget, we now have projected a $1.6 trillion surplus. Today we are going to vote to set aside $1.4 trillion to save social security. What a victory. 2 years ago we had massive deficits. Today we have that opportunity to save social security, setting aside $1.4 billion.

I was one of those who stood up and applauded in January of this year when the President said, let us take the surplus from the budget and use it to save social security. I applauded. In fact, I stood up like everyone else in this room, and said, good idea. At that time the surplus was projected to be $600 billion. Today we are going to vote to set aside more than twice what the President asked for, $1.4 trillion.

I have heard a lot of messages in the forums and town meetings I have had on social security in the south suburbs and south side of Chicago: Keep politics out of it, use most of the surplus to save social security, and let us eliminate the marriage tax penalty.

Ms. SLAUGHTER. Mr. Speaker I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. CARDIN).

(Mr. CARDIN asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. CARDIN. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentlewoman for yielding me the time.

I oppose this rule, Mr. Speaker, and I am very disappointed that the Republican leadership is bringing this forward. We have worked very hard for the past 6 years to bring in a balanced budget, including the 1993 economic program on deficit reduction, that we passed without a single vote from the Republican side of the aisle. But we did come together, Democrats and Republicans, on budget discipline.

The pay-go rules were put in for a reason. The pay-go rules say very simply that we cannot spend money unless we have a way to pay for it. We cannot cut taxes unless we have a way to pay for it. It is very simple.

Yes, we have voted for tax cuts, we did last year, but we paid for them. We did not take it out of the surplus. We paid for it. Yes, we can fund true emergencies through the budget rules without waiving the budget rules, because that is the rules we are operating under. But we cannot cut taxes, we cannot raise spending, unless we pay for it under the pay-go rules.

What do the Republicans do? They bring out a rule that waives the pay-go rules. It says that "We waive pay-go requirements with respect to a bill making the revenue loss not covered under pay-go," the height of hypocrisy. If they did not do that, they would have a Medicare cut next year of $6.7 billion under sequestration; the year after that, $8 billion. They did not want that to happen, but they did not want to pay for it.

That is wrong. There is no surplus, but for the fact that social security is running a cash surplus. We do not have any surplus to spend. It is very possible that we are going to enact permanent tax cuts, and then what happens two or three years from now, if we do not have the money they are talking about, it is not going to be 10 percent of the projected surplus that comes about as a result of social security, but it could be 20 percent, 30 percent, or 40 percent. That is wrong. That is why we worked together, Democrats and Republicans, for budget discipline rules.

I urge my colleagues to reject the rule.

Ms. SLAUGHTER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 4 minutes to the gentleman from South Carolina (Mr. SPRATT).

(Mr. SPRATT asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. SPRATT. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentlewoman for yielding time to me.

Mr. Speaker, in a week, just a week, the government will declare a budget surplus for the first time in 30 years. This is a landmark achievement, and in large measure it is the result of rigorous budget rules that Congress enacted in 1990, in 1993, and in 1997, which were followed consistently. Now, on the verge of the first surplus in 30 years, the House is about to throw budget discipline to the wind and dissipate the surplus before we have even declared it, even put it in our pockets and realized it.

When we did the budget summit agreement with President Bush in 1990, we adopted something we call colloquially the pay-as-you-go rule. Congress extended that rule in 1993, we extended it again in 1997, because it has worked. It has been the foundation of our fiscal discipline, and it has been a major factor in bringing the budget to balance.

Under that statutory rule, increases in entitlement spending or decreases in taxes have to be fully offset. If not offset, the initiatives have to be paid for. They are entered on a pay-go scorecard, and money is sequestered at the end of the fiscal year which otherwise would go to the farm program or Medicare or Medicaid, certain selected entitlement programs.

We all know there is a unified budget surplus over the next 5 years, but we also know that when the surpluses in the social security trust funds are backed out, the budget is in deficit by $137 billion.

If this rule is enacted and if H.R. 4579 is enacted, we will raise that deficit from $137 billion to $217 billion, and postpone the date when we are truly in surplus well beyond the year 2008. This is backpeddling. This is the first step down the slippery slope. When we are finally at the point of success, we are about to blow it.

I support tax cuts. I find a lot of the provisions in this tax bill very appealing. But I think it is a mistake to dispense with our budget rules and the budget discipline that has brought us this far in order to pass this bill.

The rule for H.R. 4579, everybody should note this, everybody should know it when they vote for it, has to bust the budget rules, has to break the budget rules and the discipline that we have established in four different ways for this bill to come to the floor.

First of all, it has to amend the tax bill to provide the pay-as-you-go requirements, to override these pay-as-you-go requirements which are present, which this Congress reaffirmed and extended just last year. We have to override them altogether.

It is buried here. It is the last paragraph in this thing. It says, "Upon the enactment of this Act, the director of the Office of Management and Budget shall not make any estimates of the changes and receipts under section 252 of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of '85 resulting from the enactment of this Act." In other words, disregard fiscal reality.

Secondly, we have to violate section 306 of the Budget Act, which says that only the Committee on the Budget, not the Committee on Rules, can change statutory budget rules like the pay-go rule.

Thirdly, this rule waives section 311 of the Congressional Budget Act, in effect because the tax bill cuts go well beyond the tax cuts that we explicitly agreed to in last year's budget agreement and implemented in the Tax Relief Act of 1997.

Fourth, the rule must waive section 303 of the Congressional Budget Act, because it amends the revenue law before Congress has agreed to a budget resolution for this year. We do not have a budget resolution. We passed one in the House, the Senate passed one. We never even had a conference. The rules say that we cannot do this until we have adopted a budget resolution.

This is a long list of violations which we will waive. They are serious, not trivial violations. I urge that we stick with the fiscal discipline that has brought us to this day on the verge of a surplus, and not throw budget discipline to the winds. Let us vote against this rule.

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I am just surprised to hear the gentleman, whom I have great respect for. He was a member of the Committee on the Budget in 1993, along with the gentleman from Minnesota (Mr. SABO). They asked for the same kind of waivers, but for spending, not for tax cuts. In 1997, the same thing happened, for spending, not for tax cuts.

By the way, if there is an attempt to defeat the previous question and to make in order the Stenholm substitute, it, just like the Rangel substitute, requires the same kind of budget waivers. Let us get that straight, so Members, when they come over here, know what they are voting for.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the very distinguished gentleman from Staten Island, New York (Mr. VITO FOSSELLA).

(Mr. FOSSELLA asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. FOSSELLA. Mr. Speaker, I thank my good friend, the gentleman from upstate New York, for yielding time to me.

Mr. Speaker, I am very happy that we are having this discussion, this debate, and indeed the opportunity to vote on this rule, because really, what we have is providing the American people, people on Staten Island and Brooklyn, the opportunity to determine what side here is for providing more tax relief for the American people, more tax relief for married couples, better opportunities for small business owners, and what side just wants to keep all our hard-earned money here in Washington for more big government, more spending, more bureaucracy.

I think the issue is clear. Frankly, I believe the American people are taxed too much. I think they work hard every single day. When their paycheck comes every couple of weeks or every month, or when they are filing their taxes, they recognize that they pay too much in taxes.

The reality is, we want to send that money back to the people, whether it is in Staten Island or Brooklyn or San Diego or anywhere across this country.

Last year, there was a debate about cutting taxes on hard-working Americans to stimulate our economy and allowing people to keep more of what they earned. We were told that there was a budget deficit and that we could not afford to cut taxes.

Now we are told that there is a budget surplus and we cannot afford to cut taxes. This is the logic that defies ordinary Americans. If we have a deficit and a surplus and we cannot afford to cut taxes in either case, then when can we?

The reality is that we have a great opportunity today to support a rule and underlying legislation that brings tax relief to hard-working married couples, to small business owners across America. Let us get the money out of Washington back to Staten Island and Brooklyn and across this great country where it belongs. Where people who work hard every single day who created the surplus, not the people here in Washington, the Americans, let us give them the tax relief they need.

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Oklahoma (Mr. WATKINS), an outstanding Member.

(Mr. WATKINS asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. Speaker, I stand in support of the bill. I think we all need to be grateful from the standpoint of being able to balance the budget. One of the reasons why I returned to Congress, was to do anything I could do to balance the budget, and also to try to provide some tax relief for a lot of the working families in this country.

We can also be very proud of the fact that we are setting aside 90 percent of the projected surplus to help protect and secure Social Security. A 90 percent set-aside or $1.4 trillion is more than any other time in the history of our country. An historic record breaking amount of dollars that we are willing to set aside to protect Social Security.

Also, as one of the previous speakers said, President Clinton, proposed a set-aside in January, of approximately $600 billion. We are setting aside over twice as much; $1.4 trillion is over twice the amount that President Clinton proposed in January.

So, I think we can be very thankful with what we have done to protect Social Security. The 10 percent will help save our farmers and our ranchers. Let me share with you what that 10 percent does.

One, it allows us to provide income averaging with a 5-year carryback to farmers and ranchers. And let me tell my colleagues, my farmers and ranchers who are hurting with low prices and the worst crisis since the Great Depression. They feel that the 5-year carryback is one of the best provisions they could possibly have to help them survive through this time.

It also allows 100 percent deductibility on health insurance for the self-employed. We are not only talking about farmers and ranchers being able to have health insurance, but also the small business on Main Street. Most of them are self-employed and they do not have the opportunity to have health insurance today, or they are not allowed to have 100 percent deducted.

A lot of ministers are under this provision of being self-employed. This is something that they have been wanting for a number of years.

The elimination of the marriage penalty which affects millions of people across this country. This is a good working family middle-class tax cut and our senior citizens will receive 90% or $1.4 trillion to help protect Social Security well past the year 2030.

Ms. SLAUGHTER. Mr. Speaker, I want to urge my colleagues to join me in opposing the rule. Vote "no" on the previous question.

Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to insert the text of the amendment that will be offered if the previous question is not ordered at this point in the RECORD.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. KOLBE). Is there objection to the request of the gentlewoman from New York?

There was no objection.

On page 4, line 1, strike "and (3)" and after the semicolon, add the following:

"(3) a further amendment printed in the Congressional Record and numbered 2 pursuant to clause 6 of rule XXIII, if offered by Representative Stenholm or his designee, which shall be in order without intervention of any point of order, which shall be considered as read, and shall be separately debatable for one hour equally divided and controlled by the proponent and an opponent; and (4)".

Ms. SLAUGHTER. Mr. Speaker, I yield the balance of my time to the gentleman from Texas (Mr. GREEN).

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Texas (Mr. GREEN) is recognized for 30 seconds.

Mr. GREEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to the rule, the bill, and in support of the Democratic substitute.

For too long this Congress has had the habit of using the Social Security trust funds to hide the true amount of our deficit. Now Republicans want to use the Social Security trust fund to inflate the value of the budget surplus.

This money should not only be saved, but it needs to be saved to ensure the solvency of the Social Security program. Let us be honest about the budget. It is only in balance because of Social Security. If we remove Social Security trust funds from our budget calculation, we would still have a deficit.

This bill to supposedly save 90 percent of the surplus for Social Security is a sham. By supporting this bill, the Republicans are doing nothing more than taking from America's seniors to pay for a tax cut.

Democrats want to save 100 percent of the surplus to pay for a program that has worked well for seniors and their families but is in need of repair—Social Security.

By voting for the Republican fig-leaf bill and against the Democratic substitute, Republicans are voting to cut the money available for strengthening Social Security.

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time.

Mr. Speaker, I want my colleagues to read this sign here. It says: Social Security Administration says the tax cut plan has no impact on Social Security trust funds. Quote, "As a result of the tax bill being considered by the committee today, will there be any impact on the monies in the Social Security trust fund? No."

Now, who said that? It is Mrs. Judy Chesser, Deputy Commissioner, Office of Legislative and Congressional Affairs, Social Security Administration of the Clinton administration.

Is that clear?

Later on this year, before we adjourn in the next couple of weeks, we are going to be voting on some very critical things where we have to come up with emergency monies. One of them is Bosnia. Ever hear of it? We have to pay for it. Y2K, billions of dollars. We have to pay for it. Disaster aid in New York and California and all across this country. We have got to pay for it. National security, we have to pay for it.

As I pointed out before, 178 Democrats did not hesitate for a minute to come on this floor 2 weeks ago and vote to spend billions of dollars of these surpluses—spending it, not cutting taxes. Now today we want to put aside 90 percent of these funds, 90 percent of over $1.5 trillion and save that for Social Security. But we want to take 10 percent of it and we want to give 87 million Americans a tax break in this country, all middle-income, low-income Americans that need the help.

Mr. Speaker, what is this all about? I urge Members to come over here and vote for the rule and let us vote for the Social Security bill and then let us vote for the tax cut bill.

Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I rise to speak against this rule, which governs the debate on two separate bills that gravely affect our Social Security and tax systems.

This rule prohibits the free and open debate of the social security system. It only allows for one amendment to be made on each of these important bills, that effect the lives and livelihoods of millions of Americans around the country.

Social Security is an extremely important program. For many Americans, it provides their only source of retirement. Their only source for sustenance after they retire from work. Both of these bills threaten the stability of their accounts. They take part of the money, that should entirely be set aside on their behalf, as was contracted the moment that funds were garnered from their paychecks, and put it towards election-year tax cuts. Such important legislation should not be unreasonably limited in debate, or in deliberation, as they are here today.

H.R. 4578 purports to save Social Security, but any elementary school teacher would be quick to stamp it "incomplete". It puts aside only a portion of the hard-earned money of the American people. The Republicans admit it is a 90-10 plan. They acknowledge that 10% of the Social Security Fund is left unprotected. I say that 10% is 10% too much.

The Democratic substitute for this bill sets aside every penny of Social Security and places it into the New York Federal Reserve for safekeeping, away from lawmakers looking to earn quick votes. I intend to vote for the substitute, and hope that its passage signals to the Republicans that their efforts to bring about tax cuts do not have to come at the expense of the people around the country.

Now, this resolution does allow for one Democratic amendment to H.R. 4579, which takes funds out of the Social Security surplus and uses it for tax cuts. Tax cuts that are intended to benefit the middle class. However, to truly ensure that the middle class will receive the benefits, those cuts must be carefully targeted. Targeting requires careful debate and deliberation. Under this rule, we are afforded neither. We get only one substitute.

Furthermore, under this rule, H.R. 4579 "self-executes", meaning that a portion of the Budget Act is waived automatically! The Budget Act requires that all tax cuts be fully paid for before being enacted. Why is that waived in this case? Because the Republicans know that there is no surplus to spend. It is prima facie evidence that this bill takes money away from the Social Security Trust Fund.

I urge all of you to vote against this rule, and for the workers of this great nation.

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time, and I move the previous question on the resolution.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on ordering the previous question.

The question was taken; and the Speaker pro tempore announced that the ayes appeared to have it.

Ms. SLAUGHTER. Mr. Speaker, I object to the vote on the ground that a quorum is not present and make the point of order that a quorum is not present.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Evidently a quorum is not present.

The Sergeant at Arms will notify absent Members.

Pursuant to clause 5 of rule XV, the Chair will reduce to a minimum of 5 minutes the period of time within which a vote by electronic device, if ordered, will be taken on the question of agreeing to the resolution.

The vote was taken by electronic device, and there were—yeas 219, nays 202, not voting 13, as follows:

 PROTECT SOCIAL SECURITY
 ACCOUNT

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, pursuant to House Resolution 552, I call up the bill (H.R. 4578) to amend the Social Security Act to establish the Protect Social Security Account into which the Secretary of the Treasury shall deposit budget surpluses until a reform measure is enacted to ensure the long-term solvency of the OASDI trust funds, and ask for its immediate consideration in the House.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.
 The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. QUINN). Pursuant to House Resolution 552, the bill is considered read for amendment.

The text of H.R. 4578 is as follows:

"(2) The Secretary of the Treasury shall pay into the account annually during the fiscal-year period beginning on October 1, 1997, and ending on September 30, 2008, amounts totalling, in the aggregate, 90 percent of the projected surplus (if any) in the total budget of the United States Government for that fiscal-year period.

"(3) Within 10 days after the date of enactment of this subsection, the Secretary of the Treasury, in consultation with the Director of the Office of Management and Budget, shall project the budget surplus (if any) for the total budget of the United States Government for the fiscal-year period beginning on October 1, 1997, and ending on September 30, 2008.

"(4) The Secretary of the Treasury shall invest the funds held in the account pending enactment of the reform measure referred to in paragraph (1). The interest on, and the proceeds from redemption of, any obligations held in the account shall be credited to and form a part of the account.

"(5) As used in this subsection, the term 'total budget of the United States Government' means all spending and receipt accounts of the United States Government that are designated as on-budget or off-budget accounts."

SEC. 2. EFFECTIVE DATE.

SEC. 2. EFFECTIVE DATE

The amendment made by section 1 shall apply to fiscal years beginning on or after October 1, 1997.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. After one hour of debate on the bill, as amended, it shall be in order to consider the further amendment printed in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD numbered 1, which shall be considered read and debatable for one hour, equally divided and controlled by the proponent and an opponent.

The gentleman from Texas (Mr. ARCHER) and the gentleman from New York (Mr. RANGEL) each will control 30 minutes of debate on the bill.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Texas (Mr. ARCHER).

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on H.R. 4578.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Texas?

There was no objection.

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, today we consider a plan to set aside 90 percent of the surplus until we can save Social Security and use the remaining 10 percent to cut taxes now.

The plan we vote on establishes a special reserve account within the Treasury called the Protect Social Security Account. This account will save budget surpluses until a reform measure can be considered to ensure the long-term solvency of Social Security.

Ninety percent set aside, Mr. Speaker. Ninety percent of the surplus. The American people expect us to save Social Security, and they need tax relief. This plan gets the job done on both accounts.

We are committed to saving Social Security. We are also committed to letting people keep a part of the taxes that they have generated for this government by their work.

But, Mr. Speaker, I hear there is opposition to this plan from my friends on the other side of the aisle. Why would anyone oppose setting aside 90 percent of the surplus until Social Security can be saved? It is because they do not want to save the surplus. They want to spend the surplus. The Democrats do not want to use the surplus for Social Security. They want to use it to increase spending, expand the size of government, and grow bureaucracy. Under the Democrats' proposal, the very people who need help will be hurt. The Democrats are proposing to punish husbands and wives, farmers and ranchers, senior citizens and small businesses by denying them tax relief now. Why? So they can spend the taxpayers' money.

Earlier this year, President Clinton spent $2.9 billion of the surplus to help the people of Bosnia. Already this fall he is proposing to spend another $13 billion of the surplus on more government. Not to pay for it, not to offset it, but to simply increase government spending. When will this end? If we do not return a portion of the surplus to the people whose income taxes created this surplus, the politicians will spend it. They always have, and they always will. Make no mistake about it, we have a surplus only because of the increase in income taxes, not payroll taxes. We have a surplus instead of a deficit only because of the increase in income taxes, not an increase in payroll taxes.

Mr. Speaker, the best way to stop the politicians from spending the taxpayers' money is to take it away from them before they can waste it. We now have a chance to set aside enough money to save Social Security and to cut taxes. They are both important goals. They are both within our reach.

Now is not the time for anyone to say "no" to families who pay marriage penalties, farmers and ranchers who are suffering, and small business owners who create jobs. Now is not the time to say "no" to senior citizens whose Social Security checks are reduced because of an unfair earnings limit when they decide voluntarily they want to continue to work.

Now is the time to say yes to saving Social Security and cutting taxes, and our 90-10 plan does both. We can save Social Security and cut taxes. The job begins today with this vote.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself 5½ minutes.

(Mr. RANGEL asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I may be wrong, but I thought I heard some sense of partisanship in the gentleman from Texas' presentation on this bill, and I am going to try to restrain myself and try to remind my Republican friends that things that they are talking about today are Democratic concepts. These are concepts that we Democrats have and continue to support. The only difference that separates us today is that we believe that until we have the fiscal discipline to abide by our budget rules that we should have the money to pay for these tax cuts before we cut the taxes.

Now I had thought, and probably my colleagues have had a caucus and changed their mind, but the last I heard from my Republican leadership friends was that they were running around the country pulling up the Tax Code by the core. They were pulling it up by the roots. They were saying that the system was too complicated. And they had the majority, and they had the opportunity to fix it, and they came back with a $300 billion bill, which we supported, that was far more complicated than any code the Democrats left them.

So let us forget all this talk about flat tax, consumer tax and retail tax. They should say that they would like to be realistic and deal with taxes that most of the people want. But they also have to let the senior citizens know that they have decided that the monies that Americans have paid to make Social Security solvent, that they are only entitled to 90 percent of it because they have decided to take 10 percent of the money that provides the surplus that was basically there for survivors and widows and disabilities and Social Security to give a pre-election tax cut.

Now some people talk about Democrats and the leader of the free world, President Clinton, going into the surplus for emergencies. So what would they have it? That the farmers not get any assistance? Shall we tell our citizens in Puerto Rico that we are not going to help them? Are we going to say to our military, our boys and our girls in the military that are in Bosnia, that they are not going to be helped because we do not touch the surplus?

We are talking about a one-shot emergency as opposed to a permanent tax cut, as long as they are in the majority that is. And so let us wait and do what the President has asked and that is to say we support tax cuts, Republicans support the suggestions that the Democrats have. The only difference between the two is we say save Social Security first.

Now what is so remarkable about us coming back and in a bipartisan way going to the Social Security Trust Fund and making certain that actuarially it is going to be solvent, and then under the democratic rule it triggers, without us going into conference and without us going into debate, it triggers off the tax cuts, but what it does not do is violate the rules of fiscal responsibility.

So I do not know when the gentleman from Texas (Mr. ARCHER) talks about do not let the politicians touch it. My God, the politicians have to be those who have the majority. They are the ones that have their fingers in the cookie jar that the taxpayers put in the cookies for the Social Security Trust Fund.

So I do not know how many votes they have. I do not even understand the politics of their tax bill. All I know is this: that politically I do not see why their leadership would have them to vote for a bill that raids the Social Security system, that the Senate may not even take up, that the President is going to veto and that they know in the bottom of their hearts they do not have the votes to override the veto. So if they want to go back home and be counted among those who cared more about a political advantage in November than preserving the funds for our seniors, they can do it, but it almost frightens me that we are about to lose the rule, because I truly believe, if we are going to show the difference between us and them, this is going to be the issue.

So I do not know how many votes they have for fast track, I do not know how many votes that they are going to have for Social Security, but I do believe that if we are going to save Social Security, do not put it in an accounting system and say we are not going to touch it, that we really take it out of the system, off budget, put it in the Federal Reserve, and then we would know not 90 percent but a hundred percent of the taxes are going to be used for what the taxpayers think it should be used for.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 5 minutes to the gentleman from Kentucky (Mr. BUNNING), the chairman of the Subcommittee on Social Security, who is a sponsor of the base bill on which we are voting today. It is interesting to also note that the gentleman from New York (Mr. RANGEL) is a co-sponsor of that bill.

(Mr. BUNNING asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. BUNNING. Mr. Speaker, just to respond in a small way to the gentleman from New York, the gentleman from New York voted just last week on the floor of the House of Representatives to spend part of the surplus on agricultural disaster relief. If it is okay for him to spend part of the surplus, why is he proposing to punish farmers and ranchers and others by denying them relief now?

Throughout my tenure in Congress, I have devoted myself to protecting and preserving Social Security. The Committee on Ways and Means' Subcommittee on the Social Security, which I chair, has conducted a series of hearings, 11 to be exact, on the future of Social Security for this generation and the next. Our subcommittee has worked to fully explore every option for Social Security reform. The information obtained through these hearings will be invaluable to the Congress as they proceed to save Social Security. And we will save Social Security just like we balanced the budget, reformed welfare, saved Medicare and cut taxes.

The President has also worked to advance the Social Security debate, vowing in his State of the Union address to reserve every penny, then $680 billion of future budget surpluses, until Social Security has been strengthened. Unfortunately, however, somewhere between his State of the Union and the drafting of the President's budget proposal this commitment to Social Security got lost in the shuffle. The President's budget did nothing to redirect budget surpluses to Social Security, included no new trust fund investment strategies, no changes in Social Security taxes or spending. It proposed nothing new.

That is why in March of this year I introduced legislation to create a new Treasury account, the Protect Social Security Account, into which each year's budget surplus would be deposited. My bill, as introduced, walled off 100 percent of all budget surpluses so that they could not be frittered away on new spending programs. Due to lower inflation, increased corporate taxes and increased income tax revenue from hard-working Americans, the projected surplus we reached is $1.6 trillion. That is an additional 1 trillion since the President's State of the Union.

So I say we can do more. We can save Social Security, and we can cut taxes for those Americans who need it most: married couples, farmers, small businesses and senior citizens. Today, using language virtually identical to my original bill, we will pass legislation to wall off 90 percent of the budget surplus until a solution for Social Security is found.

While less sounds like less, in this case less is more. Ninety percent of the surplus today is just about 1.4 trillion, nearly double the amount that would have been saved at the time of my original bill. Certainly Social Security has no guarantee of any kind right now, no guarantee of any kind that it will get any of the surplus without some kind of protection like that provided in this bill. The President and Congress will spend the surplus on anything they want.

Even the President has already proposed 31 billion in new government spending funded from the very budget surplus he promised to reserve. Americans deserve better than more broken promises. This bill, by including my wall-off provisions, will guarantee in law that 90 percent of the surplus will be held aside to strengthen and protect Social Security. It will guarantee that we have the funds needed to implement Social Security reform when Congress takes action on it. That is 1.4 trillion for Social Security.

The Federal Government has never done anything like this. I wanted a hundred percent, but 90 in hand and guaranteed in law is better than a whole roomful of wishes that it was 100 percent. This bill locks in that protection in law.

My primary goal in this bill and since I came to Congress is to protect and preserve Social Security. The bill with the wall-off provisions will do more to protect and strengthen Social Security than anything Congress has considered in the 12 years that I have been here.

Mr. Speaker, I want to assure everybody to vote in a positive manner on this bill.

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. BONIOR), our Democratic Whip.

Mr. BONIOR. Mr. Speaker, I thank my friend from New York (Mr. RANGEL) for yielding this time to me.

For years the Republicans talked about fiscal responsibility. So what is happening now? They are rushing to spend a surplus that does not exist. This bill is nothing but camouflage to cover that up. It is just an accounting trick to permit siphoning off funds from Social Security Trust Fund.

Let us remember something here. Social Security is the foundation of America's retirement system. It has worked well for more than half a century, and we have to strengthen it for future generations.

Even as we speak today, 44 million Americans are receiving Social Security benefits, our fathers, our mothers, grandparents, our friends, our neighbors. Protecting these benefits for today's seniors and protecting them for baby boomers and future generations beyond that is our responsibility.

Of course everybody likes tax cuts. We favor tax cuts. We supported tax cuts just a year ago, and they became law. But Americans have been very clear with the Congress about their priorities. They want us to save Social Security first.

We cannot give a surplus that does not exist. Americans believe that people who have worked hard all of their lives have a right to a secure retirement. They expect us to guarantee that right. This is why we need to address the long-term challenges of Social Security. If we fail to come up with a long-term plan, if we squander today's Social Security revenue on a short-term election year giveaway, then the retirement for millions of Americans will be put in danger.

Now, the Republicans say they only want to divert just 10 percent of the revenue from Social Security. Well, that is like rowing into the middle of a lake and then announcing you only want to drill one hole in the bottom of the boat; just one hole.

This bill is a prelude to a raid on the Social Security trust fund, and that raid will probably happen tomorrow when we meet here to pass the raid itself, the robbery, the stealing of the fund.

Perhaps my friends on this side of the aisle think that while the country is distracted they can pick its pocket and dip into our retirement funds. Well, I have news for you: The country understands what is happening here. They know it is not right and not fiscally responsible, and you are not going to get away with it.

To my senior friends in Florida, and we have many Michiganders who have gone down to Florida and live, let me say, you are going to about to get hit by Georges, the hurricane, that is going to deliver that left hook to you. But tomorrow the Republicans are going to give you the uppercut, the knockout punch.

Vote no on this camouflage.

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield three minutes to the gentleman from California (Mr. HERGER), a respected member of the Committee on Ways and Means.

Mr. HERGER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to begin by respectfully pointing out that the gentleman from Michigan voted just last week on the floor of the House to spend part of that surplus on agricultural disaster relief. If it is okay to spend part of the surplus, why is the gentleman proposing to punish farmers and ranchers by denying them tax relief now?

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in strong support of the Republican plan to save Social Security and reduce our Nation's record high tax burden. We are also dedicated to fulfilling our commitment to our Nation's seniors as our plan sets aside the vast majority, some 90 percent of our entire expected surplus until we agree on a plan to save Social Security.

At the same time, we believe it is entirely appropriate to return at least a small portion, some 10 percent of this projected surplus, to those who created it in the first place, hard-working American taxpayers.

According to the Congressional Budget Office, taxes are now higher than they have been at any other time in America's peacetime history. So to my friends on the other side of the aisle who say we should not use even one penny of our Nation's surplus to provide middle class tax relief, I say, yes, we do have crucially important task ahead of us in saving Social Security, and our plan sets aside $1.4 trillion to do precisely that. But, at the same time, we should, at least at this time, not pass up this opportunity to provide 48 million married taxpayers relief from the marriage penalty. After all, when a couple stands at the alter and says "I do," they are not agreeing to higher taxes. And why should we deny Americans new incentives to save? Why should we deny farmers and ranchers relief from the death tax? Why should we deny the self-employed the opportunity to fully deduct the cost of their health insurance? And why should we deny seniors a chance to earn a little more outside income without facing the loss of their Social Security benefits?

Today we have the opportunity to do all of this, while at the same time setting aside 90 percent of our surplus to save Social Security. I would urge my colleagues on both sides of the aisle, please, do not turn your back on husbands and wives; do not turn your backs on farmers and ranchers; and do not turn your backs on seniors and small businesses in your districts. Support the Republican plan to reduce America's record high tax burden and, at the same time, save Social Security.

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself 30 seconds to say to the gentleman from California (Mr. HERGER) that I am one of the friends on this side of the aisle, and we support those tax cuts. We just think we ought to save the Social Security system first.

In terms of the emergency spending for the poor farmers that were hit by an act of God with floods and droughts, we thought at one time that America wanted to help them. We think that is different than a pre-election tax cut.

Mr. Speaker, I yield three minutes to the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. LEWIS).

Mr. LEWIS of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank my friend and my colleague from New York for yielding me time.

Mr. Speaker, this debate reminds me of an old gospel song, "Ninety-nine and a Half Won't Do." The song tells us that when you believe in a cause, when you truly believe, you have to give 100 percent; ninety-nine and a half won't do.

Mr. Speaker, when it comes to Social Security, when it comes to our workers and the elderly, ninety-nine and a half won't do. And if ninety-nine and a half won't do, then 90 percent just won't do.

My Republican colleagues want a tax cut, but they do not want to pay for it. So what do they do? They raid the Social Security trust fund; they steal from our workers and our seniors. They take 10 percent, and then they brag this they let the elderly keep 90 percent of their own money. They brag that they left 90 percent of the money in the Social Security trust fund.

Mr. Speaker, 90 percent just won't do.

How can you do this to the old? How can you do this to our workers, hard working American families that have paid into the Social Security trust fund for 30 and 40 years? Now Republicans want to give them 90 cents on the dollar.

Mr. Speaker, 90 percent just won't do.

Democrats, my side of the aisle, will accept no compromise when it comes to the savings and the retirement of American working families. Every penny paid in the Social Security trust fund must be used to save Social Security first.

So I urge all of my colleagues to reject this bill; to reject any effort to sell Social Security short; to sell Social Security down the river; to give anything less than 100 percent.

Mr. Speaker, 90 percent just won't do.

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume simply to quickly and briefly respond to the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. LEWIS), for whom I have the greatest personal respect.

Mr. Speaker, the gentleman's statement that we want to raid the Social Security trust fund is totally irresponsible and is totally false. In our committee's markup of this bill, there was a political appointee of the Clinton Administration from the Social Security Administration that was asked this precise question and responded that what we were doing did not raid the Social Security trust fund nor in any way impact on the payroll dollars that go into that fund.

That should be very clear. We are going to hear a lot of rhetoric today and tomorrow, and Members should realize that much of it is false.

Recently the minority leader from the other body commented that we were taking Social Security reserves out of the fund. That also was repudiated by the administration's representative from the Social Security Administration.

This type of rhetoric should not enter this debate. I regret it, but the facts should be laid out for what they are.

Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Florida (Mr. STEARNS).

(Mr. STEARNS asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. STEARNS. Mr. Speaker, Judy Chessler, Deputy Commissioner of the Office of Legislation of the Social Security Administration said that statement.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 4578 Save Social Security Act.

H.R. 4578 establishes a new account in the U.S. Treasury to preserve Social Security system. This account is being set up for the vote we will have tomorrow on the tax relief or the 90-10 plan. What we are talking about on this amendment is to set up this fund with the understanding that 10% of the surplus will be used for tax reduction for the middle income citizens of this country.

Mr. Speaker, the House will consider Mr. RANGEL's amendment to transfer 100 percent of the Social Security trust fund surplus to the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, to be held in trust for the Social Security system. But under this substitute, Congress must default on publicly traded debt obligations before it could default on its obligations to fund the Social Security system.

This is a Faustian bargain and is not what we want to do. I represent a District with a large elderly populations.

While I do like Mr. RANGEL's idea about setting aside 100 per cent of the surplus for Social Security, I do not think it is prudent to do so at the risk of allowing the country to go into default to achieve that end.

There is much good in the tax relief bill. Our tax cut focuses on middle-income Americans. The centerpiece is marriage penalty relief. We also help small business, make health care more affordable, and we will make filing tax forms a lot easier. Plus we will lower tax penalties on people who save, reduce death taxes, and provide tax relief for senior citizens, for education and child care. We also provide help for farmers and ranchers who have been hit hard this year. This is a compromise that I can support.

Our plan protects Social Security and reduces the worst penalties in the tax code, but it is also a safety check against big government and wasteful spending.

For those who say we are hurting the Social Security Trust Fund . . . let's go the Administration themselves. When Ms. Judy Chesser, Deputy Commissioner, Office of Legislation and Congressional Affairs, Social Security Administration was asked if these tax cuts would impact the Social Security Trust Funds she said "NO." Therefore this tax relief plan has no impact on the Trust Funds. Period.

And finally . . . isn't it possible that if we reduce taxes ever so lightly we will also give more incentives for Americans to create more jobs and to ultimately provide more revenues to the Government. This will mean more surplus to the Government which will again shore up the Social Security trust fund.

All of us here must also remember that we might not have a surplus if it does not stop these emergencies supplements appropriations for all these monies that the President is talking about. Every day he is proposing a new program and every country he goes into he promises more money without true accountability. So let's stop these emergency appropriations.

For those Senior Citizens who want tax credit relief for estate taxes and a social security earnings limit, I suggest that this bill our plan will actually help Senior Citizens.

There are many other things that make H.R. 4578 a good bill towards passage tomorrow of our 90–10 tax relief plan.

Seniors have done their part to make this country great and deserve to be treated with dignity and respect. When the President receives this bill, he can sign it thereby ensuring that Social Security will remain solvent for generations to come. For these reasons I support H.R. 4578.

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield three minutes to the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. WELLER), a respected member of the Committee on Ways and Means.

Mr. WELLER. Mr. Speaker, I first want to begin by commending the gentleman from Texas (Chairman ARCHER) and the gentleman from Kentucky (Chairman BUNNING) for their leadership on this effort, which not only will save Social Security, but begin the process of eliminating the marriage tax penalty, an issue which affects 28 million married working couples.

We hear a lot of rhetoric and have to recognize it is an election year, and politicians in many cases will say just about anything in an election year.

Of course, we have heard some claim that this plan somehow harms the Social Security trust fund. I thought it was so important when the gentleman from Texas (Chairman ARCHER) asked a representative of the Clinton Administration, the Deputy Commissioner of the Social Security Administration, Chairman ARCHER asked as a result of the tax bill being considered by the committee, which, of course, we will be voting on tomorrow, will there be any impact on the monies of the Social Security trust funds? And Judy Chesser, the Deputy Commissioner of the Social Security Administration was pretty direct. Sometimes politicians are not very direct, but she had a very simple answer. She said no. This plan in no way harms, hurts, hinders, impacts the Social Security trust fund.

So let us be honest about it, this is an important piece of legislation. We are going about saving Social Security here. This is a big day. If you think about it, since 1969 Washington not only was spending money beyond the means of this Federal Government, but we never had the opportunity to save Social Security. Now, thanks to a balanced budget, we have a projected surplus; extra money that we can use for important priorities. Today we are voting to make saving Social Security first the number one priority.

If you think about it, the same folks who oppose this effort to save Social Security and to eliminate the marriage tax penalty are the same people that said we could not balance the budget. They are the same people that fought down here and fought against lowering taxes for the middle class. They are the same people who opposed our efforts to change and reform our welfare system that was failing, with more children living in poverty than ever before, and also they are the same people that objected when we wanted to tame the tax collector and bring about IRS reform.

This is important legislation because, just as the Deputy Commissioner of the Social Security Administration pointed out that our legislation does not impact the Social Security trust fund, in fact we are going to have extra money to help save Social Security, that we set aside $1.4 trillion.

Think about that. When President Clinton gave a speech, which we all applauded, talking about saving Social Security and setting aside the surplus for Social Security, there was $600 billion in the projected surplus at that time. Today we are setting aside more than twice what the President asked for, $1.4 trillion. Think about that. $1.4 trillion. That is a lot of money. Yes, it is 90 percent, but it is more than twice what the President originally asked for.

I have often had a series of town meetings and forums on Social Security, and the senior citizens and the working people that attend these forums have had a pretty common message. Number one is they say as we work to save Social Security, let us keep the politics out of it. Let us make it a nonpartisan effort.

Democrats and Republicans should work together. This legislation deserves bipartisan support. Let us vote to save Social Security and eliminate the marriage tax penalty. We have that opportunity today and tomorrow.

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself one minute.

Mr. Speaker, I had thought under the House rules it was a violation to take the official transcript of a markup or committee meeting, other than a public hearing, that it should not be published or distributed to the public in any way except by majority vote of the committee. But having seen how the majority has waived the budget rules, I suppose you have waived the House rules, and so I am not in violation.

Now, Ms. Chesser was asked to respond to the majority, yes or no. Her answer was no. That was the chart we saw.

The gentleman from Kentucky (Mr. BUNNING) then asked her to come back, and he said, I just want to make sure, unless I misunderstood, Ms. Chesser, would you please come back to the table and repeat what you have said.

The answer was, it does not affect the money currently going into the trust fund. However, it would make a far smaller amount of the surplus available when there is a bipartisan attempt to resolve the social security's current financial problems, which we hope to do in a bipartisan way. As Members know, we are not in actual balance over the next 75 years.

It helps, when we take part of the transcript out and publish it, that we put in the whole amount.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. NEAL).

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman yield for 5 seconds?

Mr. NEAL of Massachusetts. I yield to the gentleman from Texas.

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, on the statement made by the gentleman from New York, I am not sure where he got what he presented to the House, but we received what we presented to the House off of C-Span. Therefore, it was not in violation of the rules.

Mr. NEAL of Massachusetts. Mr. Speaker, this is one of the details, when we come into this Chamber, that makes us really feel good about being Democrats.

I have to tell the Members, when I hear speakers march to that microphone and suggest that this side is playing politics with social security, after they have scheduled the tax cut 6 weeks before the national elections, that we are playing politics? Do Members know what the name of this account they have offered today is? The Protect Social Security Account. It is Orwellian, that is really what it is, because only George Orwell would have suggested that we should protect social security by raiding it. That is precisely what they are doing today.

For them to complain about politics, politics, 6 weeks before a national election, to offer a tax cut to the American people by raiding the social security account, that is politics. We ought to have a substantive debate in this Chamber about what we really mean by "protecting social security," and spending it for a tax cut is not the way we protect social security.

This bill that they are offering today locks up what they say is 90 percent of the social security trust fund. What about the Asian fiscal crisis? What about a recession that could loom on the horizon, and alter dramatically every fiscal projection we have seen in this Chamber for the last year? Are we blind to the realities of what is happening across the globe?

This is a time when we should be taking satisfaction from the fact that it was the Democratic Party, with the leadership of President Clinton in 1993, that balanced that budget. Do Members know what else is ironic? Let us not forget the role George Bush played in 1991 when half of his own party split from him, when he looked at the reality of where we were headed as we turn the page on this century.

I have to go back to what I said earlier. To complain that the Democrats today are using politics, we are honoring the contract we made with Mr. Roosevelt, which the American people have said time and again they subscribe to and they do not want to see it altered.

A tax cut 6 weeks before the national election, who among us believes that that is intelligent fiscal policy? And at the same time, they violate that sacred trust that Democrats hold dear and senior citizens hold dear. Social security should be saved and protected before we discuss any tax cuts.

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I would once again point out that the term "raiding the social security trust fund," which obviously is programmed to be in each of the Democrats' presentations, is completely and totally false, and it is reprehensible that it continues to be used on the floor of the House.

Members should be well aware that it is not the case. But I guess if they say it enough, long enough, maybe some people may believe it. The gentleman, who is a very good friend of mine, again, and whom I respect personally, also said that we were locking up 90 percent of the social security trust fund. That is false.

I would suggest that the Members on the other side read the bill. The gentleman from New York (Mr. RANGEL) cosponsored it, other than the change from 100 to 90 percent. The bill does not say that. It says, "A projected surplus will be set aside." Let us try to be accurate in what we say.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Texas (Mr. JOHNSON), a respected member of the Committee on Ways and Means.

Mr. SAM JOHNSON of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding time to me.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to respectfully point out that the gentleman from Massachusetts who just spoke ahead of me voted on the floor of the House to spend part of the surplus on agricultural disaster. If it is okay to spend the surplus that way, why is the gentleman proposing to punish farmers and ranchers by denying them tax relief now?

I want everyone to listen to the Democrats' rhetoric. They are forgetting one simple fact, that for 40 years the Democrats never set aside one penny to protect social security. Instead, they spent taxpayer and social security dollars on government programs. They are talking about 40 days from election, and suddenly they are concerned about saving social security. In this bill today we are protecting social security, and the Democrats are going to have a chance to put their money where their mouths are.

In 1960, the Democrats said that we could not win the Cold War. We did. In 1996, the Democrats said we could not reform welfare. We did. In 1997, the Democrats said we could not give tax relief and balance the budget, and we did. They also said we could not and should not reform the IRS. Well, we did that, too.

Now the Democrats say we cannot provide tax relief to families, farmers, small business, seniors, and protect social security. Once again, they are wrong. We will.

This bill does set aside 90 percent of the $1.6 trillion surplus for social security. That is a lot of money. In return, we want to give the families, farmers, small businesses, seniors a break from high taxes. They deserve a break. Taxes are just too high.

Let me say it one more time. I think people deserve a strong social security system and tax relief. What they do not need is for the surplus to stay here in Washington, D.C., where Democrats and the President will steal it to create a bigger government.

The choice is simple, taxpayers over bureaucrats. How can anybody argue with that?

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Louisiana (Mr. JEFFERSON), a member of the committee.

Mr. JEFFERSON. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding time to me.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in opposition to H.R. 4578 because it breaks our promise to the American people to keep social security whole. Mr. Speaker, this debate should not be about politics or partisanship but about people, the American people.

Social security is the foundation of retirement income for American workers and their families. Two-thirds of older Americans rely on social security for 50 percent of their total income. Thirty percent rely on it for 90 percent or more. It is the principal insurance against family impoverishment due to death or disability for 96 percent of America's work force, and it is a lifeline for more than 43 million retirees and disabled workers and their spouses and their children.

Because of its importance to the American way of life, my Democratic colleagues and I join the President in his commitment to preserve social security for future generations. This is not a debate about who favors tax cuts. Both Democrats and Republicans favor tax cuts in this bill. This debate is about whether we have the resolve, the fiscal discipline, to do what is right, or whether we will, once again, say that we can have it all, let the good times roll, and do the wrong thing: rob from our social security trust fund to give a tax cut we know we cannot afford.

Mr. Speaker, if we are serious about preserving the benefits of social security for our children and grandchildren, setting aside 90 percent to save social security is not enough. Even diverting 10 percent of the social security surplus before enacting a proposal to save social security undermines the future financing of the system.

In fact, this diversion of 10 percent from social security, which our Republican friends dismiss as small and rather unimportant, amounts to more than a $200 billion hole in the social security trust fund over the next 5 years, at a time when we owe $2.235 trillion to the fund already.

As my Democratic colleagues have already stated, the surplus in the unified budget consists of funds raised from social security payroll taxes and from the interest accrued on social security Treasury bond. Today we have a surplus in the social security fund due to the policies of President Clinton and most of the Democrats on this side. However, as millions of baby boomers age, the social security fund is projected to begin losing money in 2013, and would become insolvent a few years later unless reforms are enacted.

The bottom line is that we must begin to take steps to ensure that sufficient resources are building up in the social security system, so they are building to pay the promised social security benefits in the future and that will not be threatened.

H.R. 4578 therefore amounts to an illusory election year tax plan that might be right to pander for votes in an election year, but it is dead wrong for the future of social security and the direction of our Nation's fiscal policy.

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Missouri (Mr. HULSHOF), a respected member of the Committee on Ways and Means.

(Mr. HULSHOF asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. HULSHOF. Mr. Speaker, first of all, as a member of the Subcommittee on Social Security, I have to commend the chairman of the committee, the gentleman from Kentucky, with having a series of hearings about saving social security. I participated in the first great debate in Kansas City with the President about the discussion about social security.

But I think what we are trying to do today, Mr. Speaker, is rather than just talking about saving social security, we are putting actions with our words. We are putting the peoples' money where our mouths are.

There has been a lot of talk about billions and trillions of dollars, about the surplus, but let me put it in language that everybody can understand.

Mr. Speaker, I have in my hand ten $1 bills, a projected surplus. This is not money that is needed to balance the Federal checkbook, which we are doing. But of these ten $1 bills of surplus money, we want to take 9 of those bills and put them aside for social security for safekeeping. We want to take this single dollar bill of surplus money and leave it in the pockets of the people who sent it here.

How dare these Members say to married couples across this country, we want to continue to punish you because you choose to get married, we are not going to let you have this dollar? How dare we say to the farmers of this country, who feed us, or the small businesspeople who employ the majority of people, no, you sent the money here, but you cannot have it back?

It is laughable, Mr. Speaker. Even in this tax relief measure we are providing relief for seniors who choose to work beyond retirement. There is tax relief for seniors in this bill. Yet, our friend on the other side say no.

In fact, the gentleman from Michigan earlier today in this debate said that we were picking the pockets of the taxpayers of this country. There is such a death grip on this dollar by those on the other side that they will not even let it stay in the pockets of those who sent it here.

I say no. I say it is time to say no to the Rangel substitute and yes to the bill. We can save social security, and let the American people keep what they earn.

Mr. Speaker, I am proud to rise today to speak in strong support of the Save Social Security Act.

Social Security is perhaps the most important and successful program in the history of our republic. It has helped generations of Americans retire with dignity and respect. There is bipartisan agreement that we should take advantage of projected budget surpluses to address the long-term financial challenges facing the system. We owe it to retirees and future generations to do this, and I commend Representatives BUNNING, the Chairman of the Social Security Subcommittee, for the series of hearings he has held over the past year and a half to take an honest, straightforward look at the choices we must make to save Social Security for our children and grandchildren.

To make sure there are enough resources set aside from future budget surpluses, the Save Social Security Act proposes that we wall-off $1.4 trillion of future budget surpluses in a special Save Social Security Account. That's right, $1.4 trillion. Clearly, this is a responsible commitment to the future of Social Security that will help preserve the program's solvency.

By setting aside $1.4 trillion to save Social Security, we can not only protect the program, but allow the American people to keep more of their hard-earned money. Taxes are currently at their highest levels in our Nation's peacetime history. The House has a clear choice today. Those who think your constituents pay too much in taxes should vote for the Save Social Security Act. Those who think that Americans are not overtaxed or do not pay enough in taxes should vote against the bill before us. It is shameful to scare seniors and hide behind Social Security to cloak opposition to letting the American people keep more of their hard-earned dollars. It is even more shameful to hide behind Social Security to spend more on government programs, like the Administration's proposal to spend $13 billion of the surplus on new spending.

I'm going to illustrate what this debate is all about. I am holding in my hand ten one dollar bills. What we are proposing is to take these nine dollars and put them aside to save Social Security. A truly worthy goal.

Given the willingness of the Administration to spend the surplus on government programs, $13 billion at last count, the debate then becomes what do we do with this remaining one dollar. I think we should let the American people keep it. After all, it is their taxes that have created the surplus in the first place. Those who agree with me that this one dollar is best returned to the taxpayers will vote for the bill before us.

Or, we can give this money to the Federal Government for new spending programs and let Americans continue to pay the highest level of taxes in our Nation's peacetime history. Those who favor this approach should vote against the Save Social Security Act.

Putting aside enough money to protect Social Security is not the issue. The issue is more government programs or tax relief. The choice is clear. If you favor letting the American people keep more of their money, vote for the Save Social Security Act. If you want more Washington programs, vote against the bill.

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from California (Mr. BECERRA), a member of the committee.

Mr. BECERRA. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding time to me.

Mr. Speaker, I, too, will pull out those same 10 $1 bills. I, too, will tell the Members that if I have $10 because I work for the government, and I got them because someone is working every day contributing to the social security trust fund for his or her retirement, I am not going to tell them, well, I am only taking one of your $10 you just gave me for your social security investment in retirement, and I am going to use this to give out tax cuts, mostly to folks who are better off and do not need to worry about your retirement the way you maybe do. So you keep your 9 and I get to spend your one.

That is what we are talking about. And, by God, please do not tell me that they are willing to tell an American farmer that they are going to punish them because this Congress, some here, are willing to say that we want to help them in time of need because of the drought and because of floods and because of all that done through an act of God.

But my colleagues on the other side are saying to them, no, we cannot let this Congress help them out in their time of need. But, by the way, we do have money, that $10 that they just gave in their contributions out of their paycheck every month, to take one of those $10 and give a tax cut 6 weeks before the election. We can do that. Punish the farmers for an act of God.

Do not do that. And please do not punish seniors for the political acts of men in this House.

Now, when those folks out there in the country that are earning this money that they are putting into the Social Security trust fund go to the supermarket, they do not expect to receive 90 percent of the groceries they just paid for. When we buy a home, we do not expect to own nine-tenths of that home. When we pay for our child's education, we do not expect them to receive 90 percent of a college degree.

Mr. Speaker, when Americans deposit money in a bank, they certainly do not expect that bank to give them only 90 percent back of their original deposit, or 90 percent of the interest that their money has earned. They expect 100 percent.

The fact is, the budget surplus is not a surplus, other than Social Security funds contributed every day by people who work and give of that money out of their paycheck. American workers are doing what Republicans here are unwilling to do in this House. They are saving and investing for their retirement.

In fact, what Republicans are proposing through this tax cut is to take those savings and investments because, again, the surplus we are talking about is created by all the trust fund dollars that American workers are contributing. The fact that we are not using every dollar out of the trust fund for Social Security and paying out for today's retirees does not mean that we should tell those folks who are working and contributing that right now we have a surplus, because they are paying a little bit more than we have to pay out today, because those workers know that tomorrow when the baby boomers retire we are going to go in the opposite case and we have to save now to take care of that problem later.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues, please do not take even one dollar out of the $10 that American workers are earning every day and depositing into the Social Security trust fund to pay for tax cuts right after an election.

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from California (Mr. THOMAS), a highly respected member of the Committee on Ways and Means.

Mr. THOMAS. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Texas for yielding to me.

Mr. Speaker, I had not intended to speak on this, but some of the examples are just getting absolutely ridiculous. The gentleman from Texas (Chairman ARCHER) has cautioned a number of folks that they really ought to deal with a debate about the facts and not about some political rhetoric that they wish to argue.

The reason we have a surplus right now is because people are paying more in income taxes, the economy is doing well, and inflation is lower than anticipated. It is always relative to what people said was going to happen. And what is happening today is that people are better off than the projections and inflation is lower. So, more money is coming in than anticipated.

The Social Security trust fund does not go bankrupt until 2030. We have a few years to be prudent about the way we spend our money. And I would tell the gentleman from California (Mr. BECERRA), the $9 he counted out is not money that is in the trust fund. It is money that people paid in income taxes beyond what the government's current obligations are.

The point that needs to be made repeatedly, and I know folks on the other side know it but will not admit it, but what the American people need to understand is that all 10 of those dollars are theirs. All we are proposing to do is to give them back one of them, as the gentleman indicated, and set the other nine aside for the ongoing obligation for Social Security leading toward the year 2030.

Now, what we propose to do is have a surplus every year, not just this year. This is not a unique event. In 1999, in 2000, in 2001, in 2002, on and on and produce a surplus, every year. We want to make sure if we miscalculate on collecting revenue that we set aside a reasonable portion to deal with tomorrow, the day after tomorrow, till 2030. But there is no reason whatsoever why people who are overcharged by this government on their income tax cannot get a small portion of it back, whether it is the first day of a Congress or the last day of a Congress.

Mr. Speaker, what my colleagues on the other side of the aisle continually forget is that the money is the people's in the first place.

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentleman from California (Mr. FARR).

Mr. FARR of California. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from New York (Mr. RANGEL) for yielding me this time.

Mr. Speaker, hearing this debate leads one to believe that the only thing we have to fear is truth itself. The truth, according to the tax committee, is that we have in the next 5 years, according to this chart, we have a national fiscal situation that is still in deficit. $137 billion of the fiscal picture is in deficit.

We have a $520 billion fiscal picture over the next 5 years which is in the plus side, and that is all in the Social Security account. There is no free lunch in this business. We have to rob from Peter to pay Paul. If we are going to give tax breaks, we have to pay for the lost revenue. And the only surplus that we are going to have is in the Social Security account. That is it. So, we will have to rob from the Social Security account.

Now, if this tax plan is not an election year gimmick, I ask the Republican leadership, they have been in the majority for 4 years, if this was such a great tax plan, why did they not bring it to us before, instead of 6 weeks before the election?

Mr. Speaker, this is not fiscal responsibility. This is fiscal foolishness, election year fiscal foolishness.

I urge my colleagues to vote "no" on this bill.

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Arizona (Mr. HAYWORTH), a respected member of the Committee on Ways and Means.

Mr. HAYWORTH. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Texas (Mr. ARCHER), chairman of our committee.

Mr. Speaker, hearing my good friend from California typifies the incendiary nature of this debate. For what the American people see today, Mr. Speaker, is a clear example of those who eagerly embrace the politics of fear rather than the policies of hope.

The case is clear, the facts these: In excess of $1 trillion, $1.4 trillion set aside to do nothing but save and protect Social Security.

My colleague from California and others who expound on the politics of fear talk about the short-term calendar. But, Mr. Speaker, for purposes of full disclosure, it is far better to take a long-range view and let history teach us.

Mr. Speaker, in terms of full disclosure, the facts are clear and undeniable. In 40 years' time, when the liberals had the majority in this Chamber, they never set aside one single penny to save Social Security. Zero. Zilch. Nada. Not a thing did they save.

Oh, they were happy to raise payroll taxes. They were happy to take more and more of Americans' hard-earned money. And now when we have the opportunity to set aside in excess of $1 trillion, they say no, because, Mr. Speaker, the message is clear, if somewhat confusing, from the other side. They once again say no tax relief, no time, no how. It is the taxpayers' money, but somehow they should not have it.

Shame. Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to adopt the majority proposal, reject the minority substitute.

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. CUMMINGS).

Mr. CUMMINGS. Mr. Speaker, I stand in support of my colleague, the gentleman from New York (Mr. RANGEL) and his amendment to protect Social Security.

Without Social Security, an additional 11.5 million older Americans, our mothers, our fathers, our brothers and sisters, would be impoverished, dramatically increasing the overall poverty rate from 13 percent to nearly 50 percent among those over the age of 65.

It is very simple. Social Security works. Social Security reduces poverty, and the American people want this Congress to ensure that Social Security remains solvent well into the future. I, for one, intend to do whatever it takes to make sure that this body meets that demand.

Mr. Speaker, it is ironic to me that the very party that at one point would have turned Social Security over to Wall Street is proposing to use the potential budget surplus not for Social Security but rather for a tax cut that I find imprudent, ill-timed, inefficient, poorly targeted and risky.

Mr. Speaker, we may end this fiscal year with a budget surplus. If we do, we owe it to the American people to put that money, all of that money, and that is the difference, all of it, aside until we are sure that we can maintain the long-term solvency of Social Security. Therefore, I stand in support of the Rangel substitute.

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentleman from Washington (Mr. ADAM SMITH).

Mr. ADAM SMITH of Washington. Mr. Speaker, the key fact in this debate is that there is no budget surplus. The only surplus that exists, exists in the Social Security trust fund.

So, when we hear the other side talking about how they are setting aside $1.4 trillion for Social Security, we cannot set aside money that is already spoken for. That money is borrowed. It must be paid back, plus interest.

We would not borrow $200,000 for a home mortgage and say we are setting that aside for our child's education, because we have to pay it back. That is the fundamental flaw in the Republican argument. The money is already in the Social Security trust fund. We should keep it there.

We saw that chart that the gentleman from California (Mr. FARR) brought up. We saw the truth. The only surplus that exists outside the Social Security trust fund, which we have to pay back, is $31 billion. Now, if they wanted to be honest and offer a bill to say we should set aside 90 percent of the real surplus, 90 percent of $31 billion would make sense, because that is the only surplus that we have.

Mr. Speaker, we cannot spend money twice. I will agree with the Republicans on one point. We were wrong for 40 years. I use "we" loosely, because I was not here. We should not have borrowed that money and used it to reduce the size of the deficit, and the public agrees. They sent us that message in 1994.

What I am afraid of is that the Republican majority has forgotten the very message that sent them here. I hope that the American public will send them the same message in 1998: Do not borrow from the Social Security trust fund and treat it as income. That is manipulative rhetoric, and it is wrong.

The reason is that money is already spoken for. We have to pay it back. We should not let the Republicans, any more than we would let the Democrats, spend money twice. It gets us into big deficits.

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentlewoman from California (Ms. LEE).

Ms. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from New York for yielding me this time.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in very strong opposition to H.R. 4578. I oppose any Republican attempt to undermine Social Security by proposing a big tax cut during this election year.

In the 1930s, before Social Security, many hard-working Americans who had no family to care for them lived in the streets, and sometimes they starved. Social Security was created to reduce this type of primitive poverty, conditions that are unconscionable in our time and in our Nation of wealth and resources.

We need Social Security for the 30 million hard-working Americans who, after a lifetime of low-wage jobs, have no money for retirement. Without Social Security, they would have nothing. We need Social Security for the 5.5 million Americans with severe disabilities who are unable to work. They would be destitute without Social Security.

This Congress has an obligation to strengthen Social Security, because working people have earned and deserve Social Security. It is the most sacred, fundamental measure for the survival of all Americans. That is why tax cuts are not an option until Social Security is 100 percent secure.

Mr. Speaker, I strongly urge a "no" vote on H.R. 4578.

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I yield the balance of my time to the gentleman from Texas (Mr. BENTSEN).

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. QUINN). The gentleman from Texas (Mr. BENTSEN) is recognized for 2 minutes.

Mr. BENTSEN. Mr. Speaker, since everybody was using props, I think I will use a prop, in my opinion, that talks about the deficit. It is a credit card. It is not cash. We do not have the cash yet.

Anybody who believes a 10-year projection on what the surplus is going to be really has lost their mind. We do not know if it is going to be $1.5 trillion. We hope it is $1.5 trillion. We do not know that.

This whole tax cut and this whole 90/10 scenario is predicated on a surplus that we do not even have yet. It is a fraud on the market, and it is a fraud on the public.

The fact is, we are looking down the barrel at $5.5 trillion of debt that we are going to have to pay, including the debt in the Social Security trust fund. To go and start spending all that money now without a rational plan of how it is going to be done means that we are going to end up adding more debt. And, ultimately, our debt-to-gross-domestic-product ratio will go to 200 percent, and then Social Security will really be in trouble. So bills like this are not going to strengthen Social Security. In fact, it probably makes it worse.

This is nothing more than a political gimmick to cover what the true intention is, which is to take us back to supply-side economics and back to the days of $200 billion deficits, because many Members on the other side just seem to think that does not really matter.

The fact is, if they ran a business the way they are proposing to do this now, and I came from the business world, they would run it into the ground. They would never be able to get credit, and now they are talking about spending credit that they do not have.

This is a terrible, terrible idea. The best thing we could do would be to start paying down the debt, get the debt-to-GDP ratio down. That would make Social Security stronger and honor our obligations, not only to the senior citizens and future senior citizens that are going to rely on Social Security, but also honor the obligations of the United States taxpayers to the Treasury bonds that are out there.

This is a fraudulent, risky policy that will lead us back into the problems that we came out of. I guess if we pass this tax bill, we can say that the days of fiscal responsibility, which we only have enjoyed for a fleeting moment, are dead, and they are dead at the hands of the Republican Party.

Who would have believed it?

Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to H.R. 4578. This bill does nothing to strengthen Social Security and, in fact, it may weaken it. It is nothing but a political gimmick that allows the Majority to argue, falsely, that they voted to protect Social Security. This legislation is only a cover-up for tomorrow's attempted raid on the Social Security Trust Fund.

The best way and the most responsible way to strengthen Social Security is to buy down the Federal debt, which today stands at $5.5 trillion. The debt to GDP ratio is 67 percent, double what it was in 1981. Interest paid on the Federal debt, $244 billion this year, has more than tripled since 1981. It is now the third largest Federal program after Social Security and defense. If we do not start paying down the debt, it will mushroom to 200 percent of the Nation's economic output by the middle of the next century and interest payments will consume more and more of the Federal budget.

We should take advantage of this window of opportunity to begin paying down the debt before the retirement of the Baby Boom generation a decade from now begins to require additional spending on programs such as Social Security and Medicare. By paying down the debt, we will be able to add to private investment and expand national income to pay the costs of the Baby Boom's retirement and reduce the share of Federal spending taken by interest payments on the debt.

The Republican Majority says that they will pledge 90 percent of the projected surplus to Social Security, but at least 98 percent of it comes from Social Security. Furthermore, the surplus does not yet exist and the Republicans want to go ahead and spend it. If it does not materialize, the Congress will be spending far more than 10 percent of the Social Security surplus. To propose a tax cut that is not paid for means more debt. If you run a business that way, you would run it into the ground.

There is no difference between the Social Security Trust Fund and the "Protecting Social Security Account." This is spending the surplus and there is no reason why the Majority could not dip into the "Protecting Social Security Account" to fund another ill-timed, ill-advised, and irresponsible tax cut. Mr. ARCHER has said that as long as the Republicans are in charge, there will be a tax cut every year. So it looks like the Republican tax bill is just a downpayment on the $700 billion raid on the Social Security surpluses they proposed earlier this year.

The Majority's proposed tax cut is not paid for, so my colleagues have to resort to political gimmicks. This legislation is a sham. It will neither strengthen Social Security nor will it help us buy down our $5.5 trillion national debt. Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to oppose H.R. 4578.

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield the balance of my time to the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. KASICH), highly respected chairman of the Committee on the Budget.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Ohio (Mr. KASICH) is recognized for 4½ minutes.

Mr. KASICH. Mr. Speaker, what is an interesting proposition is that everybody in America now, from the President to the Democrats to the Republicans, claims we have a balanced budget. Why is it that we claim that we have a balanced budget? Well, it is not complicated. It is because we are taking in more money this year than we are spending.

Now, when we take a look at the surplus, we are actually going to spend less than what we take in. And let us just presume that the surplus is $40, two twenty-dollar bills. You said to me, so, JOHN, the surplus is $40. Where does that $40 come from? I say, well, 20 of the $40 comes from the Social Security FICA taxes that we all pay. That is the difference between how much we collect in FICA taxes and how much we pass out to our seniors. So of the $40 surplus, 20 of it is Social Security FICA taxes. We are going to put it on this side of the podium.

The other $20 comes from all the other taxes that we levy in the country, the income taxes, all the taxes that Americans are subjected to; and we are going to put that $20 on the other side of the podium.

Now, the $20 that comes in from the FICA tax, the Social Security tax, we are going to save it. We are going to put it right in our pockets. We are going to save it, and we are going to use it to fix Social Security long term, to save it for three generations of Americans.

But the other $20 that gets generated from the income taxes and all the other taxes, we are going to give part of it back to the American people.

It is just that simple. It has nothing to do with robbing something from Social Security. It is about giving people some of the taxes that they pay in excess of the Social Security taxes.

One more time, for all those watching, $40 in surplus, $20 comes from the Social Security tax. We are going to save it and put it in our pocket. The other $20, we are going to start to give some of it back.

To my colleagues and those who want to be in favor of change, let me just suggest to you what this is about. For those that are watching this debate, in my opinion, this is not really about tax cuts. School choice is not really about just school choice. Social Security reform is not just really about Social Security. It is about power. It is about whether we are going to run America from the bottom up, where the people and the families and the communities have the power, or whether we are going to continue to run America from the top down, where just a handful of people in America think they know better and they run our lives.

If I can give you more money in your pocket, you and your family, then you have personal power and you can begin to solve the problems in your community. But if the government tells you they want to keep it all here in Washington, they not only do not want to give you a tax cut, they want to use the surplus to spend, to create even more government.

Would it not be an irony for a party and individuals who are committed to shrinking the size of government to take the benefits of balancing the budget and then use it to increase the size of the governmental elites in this town?

I ask you all to think, when you come for this vote, where do you want the power to be? Do you want it to be vested in Washington with a handful of people running this country from the top down, or do you want to be in charge of where your kids go to school? Do you want to be in charge of the ability to provide for yourself in your retirement years? Do you want to be in charge of designing a welfare program in your own community? And, finally, maybe the best manifestation of personal power, do you want more money in your pocket and less money, less of your money in the hands of the government?

I would argue to you, as we go into this next century, the strength of America is not going to be based on the big shots, on the elite. The strength of America is based on the power of every man and woman and child and family and community inside of this Nation.

This is about power and this is about giving you more of it.

I hope my colleagues will reject this notion of keeping the governmental elite powerful and accept the notion and have the confidence that we, working together, can make America better. Support the gentleman from Texas (Mr. ARCHER).

Mr. STOKES. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong opposition to the majority's legislative measures that would jeopardize the solvency of the Nation's Social Security trust fund. It is just "mean spirited" and "irresponsible" to further burden seniors by weakening their most stale source of income.

Social Security accounts for more than 40 percent of the income of the elderly. In fact, 44 million retired and disabled workers, their dependents and survivors, are counting on us to do the right thing. Preserving the safety net for elderly Americans is one of the most pressing issues facing our Nation today, and impacts each one of us individually and collectively. More importantly, how we as a Congress choose to address this issue today will impact the quality of life for generations to come.

Mr. Speaker, seniors are in the twilight of their lives, and we should be considering measures that are designed to improve the quality of their lives. Instead, the majority in Congress is once again playing a game of Russian roulette and using "smoke and mirrors" tactics to trade seniors' economic security for an election year tax cut. This is just irresponsible, and threatens the lives of the weakest and most vulnerable among us.

As the current baby boomer generation approaches retirement, our Nation stands on the brink of an incredible demographic shock. According to the Congressional Budget Office, between the years 2010 and 2030, the over-the-age 65 population will increase by more than 70 percent. However, the population paying payroll taxes will rise by less than 4 percent. This is firm and compelling evidence that the budget surplus must be invested in protecting Social Security.

The Nation is enjoying a record budget surplus, and we had promised the American people that if they would help us to control spending, and help us to balance the budget, and that if we could yield a budget surplus those funds would be used to protect Social Security. Now, the Republican majority is reneging on that promise.

In fact, 98 percent of the more than $1.5 trillion budget surplus is due to the surplus in the Social Security trust fund. These funds are needed to pay future benefits to senior citizens.

We must do all that we can to protect Social Security's long-term solvency. The Democratic proposal would save 100 percent of the Social Security surplus and place it in a "lock box" account at the Federal Reserve until it is released to be used or Social Security.

We must keep our word to our seniors and to the American people. We must keep our promise to use the surplus to ensure the solvency of our Nation's Social Security system.

Seniors must not be forced to choose between food and shelter, or between food and medicine. They have worked hard for their country, and their country must not turn its back on them. Let's do what is right—protect Social Security. I ask my colleague to join me in voting no to H.R. 4578, a bill that jeopardizes Social Security's solvency.

Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to this bill, not because I am against reducing the tax burden on my constituents, but because I am a firm believer in keeping promises—in this case, the promise to our citizens that Social Security will be there for them when they retire.

The debate on this bill involves one point of contention. Republicans believe that the funds in our coffers are surplus, and we Democrats believe that we ought to honor the contracts that we have entered into.

Why do I call this a contract? When we originally passed the Social Security Act, we had to justify the additional amount of money that was being taken out of the paychecks of our constituents. It was explained to them at that time, that the money would be held and given back to them at the time that they chose to retire.

As proof, I have brought with me a copy of a letter, that was sent out in 1936 as a mass mailing to people all over the country. The pertinent part reads:

Under this law the United States Government will send checks every month to retired workers, both men and women, after they have passed their 65th birthday . . . This means that if you work in some factory, shop, mine, mill, store, office, or almost any other kind of business or factory, you will be earning benefits that will come to you later on. From the time you are 65 years old, or more, and stop working, you will get a Government check every month of your life.

Most importantly, the statement reads: "The checks will come to you as a right." A right.

We cannot deprive the citizens of this country this right. Last month I held a series of town hall meetings. Although the meetings were all held in different neighborhoods, with people of different races and backgrounds, with people from different financial strata, and with people of all age groups, at each of the meetings there was a clear consensus that Social Security must be there for them when they call upon it. It must be saved for them, not out of the generosity of our hearts, but because we owe them the money. It is their right?

This position is supported by the National Committee to Preserve Social Security and Medicare, who recently stated: "An $80 billion election-year tax cut proposed by the U.S. House Republican Leaders wrongly taps Social Security funds and ignores Congress's obligation to protect the nation's social insurance program . . . The diversion of these Social Security funds undermines the future financing of Social Security, and Congress should reject this proposal."

We all agree that our middle class is taxed too heavily. However, it does not make sense to remedy that by raiding the Social Security Trust Fund, before the Social Security trustees tell this Congress Social Security is safe. Instead, what should be done is follow the democratic tax relief bill which gives tax relief to working Americans once Social Security is saved.

We Democrats voted for significant tax cuts last year. However, that bipartisan bill was paid for. This one is not. In order to even debate this bill, we had to waive part of the Budget Act. If you need any indication of how bad this bill, is, all you have to realize is that it is just a few votes away from violating another federal statute.

I strongly urge all of you to vigilantly protect against this robbery of the American people, and vote against this passage of H.R. 4579.

Mr. TAYLOR of Mississippi. Mr. Speaker, at 7:00 p.m. on September 25, National Weather Service and civil defense officials indicated that the projected landfall of Hurricane Georges would be somewhere between Baldwin County, Alabama, and Bay St. Louis, Mississippi. Based on this information, Representative SONNY CALLAHAN and I have decided that it would be in the best interest of the constituents we serve to return immediately to our respective congressional districts to make the necessary preparations before this major hurricane strikes. We understand that the House will consider tomorrow H.R. 4579, the Taxpayer Relief Act. Although we do not share the same opinion on H.R. 4579, I oppose it, both Congressman CALLAHAN and I do realize the important nature of the legislation being considered. However, due to overwhelming threat of impending natural disaster, we plan to go home to help our families and constituents prepare for Hurricane Georges. Therefore, we have decided to pair our votes and depart for our congressional districts.

Mr. Speaker, had I been present I would have voted against H.R. 4579 for the following reasons: there is no surplus. We are $5.5 trillion in debt. Its the first time in 30 years that we haven't had to borrow money to pay for our annual operating deficit. Its not the time to incur new responsibilities.

We still owe $800 billion to the Social Security Trust Fund. When Social Security was started there were 19 contributors for every one recipient. By the year 2025, it is projected that there will be 2 workers for every one Social Security recipient. If we don't repay the debt now, while we can, we never will.

People don't feel they get enough from their tax dollars now. They're right. The biggest chunk of their taxes ($365 billion) goes for interest payments on the national debt (approximately $1 billion per day). The amount of money squandered on interest continues to grow every day. Our taxpayers money will be squandered forever unless we retire the debt.

This is especially bad for national security. These dollars could be better spent replacing 30 year old warplanes, helicopters, ships, and land weapon systems. National defense spending has shrunk since the Republicans took control of Congress. In Fiscal Year 1995, the first fiscal year under the leadership of the new Republican majority, defense budget outlays in constant dollars amounted to $295.4 billion. The Fiscal Year 1999 level of defense outlays in constant dollars is $265.6 billion. That is a $30 billion reduction in constant dollars under Republican leadership. Now, the GOP is dreaming up ways to give tax breaks to rich contributors, instead of addressing our pressing national security needs.

We need to fulfill the promises that have been made. First and foremost, is honoring the promise of a "lifetime of free medical care" made to those who served in our nation's armed forces. Just yesterday, the House National Security Committee was informed that the Defense Health Program was underfunded for the next year by $623 million. As you may know, the Defense Health Program provides funding for the treatment of our uniformed service personnel, their families, and military retirees. It also provides funds for the operation of our military medical treatment facilities. It really doesn't surprise me that House Speaker GINGRICH, Senate Majority Leader LOTT, House Budget Committee Chairman KASICH, and Senate Budget Committee Chairman DOMENICI do not consider keeping our promises to our nation's military retirees as important. After all, not one of them served one minute in uniform. However, I do think that fully funding our nation's defense and military health care needs is important. This is where we should be spending any surplus that may be left after we've restored the financial integrity and stability of Social Security.

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong opposition to this election year GOP tax gimmick that would raid and expend the Social Security Trust Funds and jeopardizes the solvency of the most successful domestic program in our nation's history. The Republican leadership has opted for instant gratification with an untimely and irresponsible tax expenditures that would spend much of the projected federal budget surplus in the midst of the ongoing global economic contagion. In this bill, the Republican Majority breaks the 1997 budget deal and has turned its back on our retirees by renegeing on their prior promise and advertised position to "Save Social Security First."

This irresponsible bill simply undermines the core effort to protect the solvency of the Social Security Trust Funds and provide sufficient resources to fulfill our commitments to all retirees. In this plan, Republicans spend the first projected budget surplus in almost 30 years on tax cuts. Plain and simple, this GOP action speaks louder than words. Tax breaks and election year gimmicks take first place over a sound Social Security system. Whether or not this surplus will actually materialize is not at all guaranteed. And virtually every economist, inside the government and out, believes that any surplus could be short-term and will vaporize shortly after the Baby Boom generation starts to collect Social Security and Medicare in 2008. It would be foolish to spend any of this money before we have assured the long-range solvency of the Social Security system. Almost every plan that has been offered to date to reform and strengthen the Social Security Trust Funds would use the entire budget surplus. This suggests that the GOP wants to manufacture a Social Security Insurance system crisis to compound and ensure that radical changes will and must occur to this time honored defined benefit program.

Rushing to spend the hard-won and long awaited budget surplus is reckless and irresponsible for several reasons. First, this tax cut plan reduces the amount available for Social Security from $520 billion to $430 billion during the next five years. Next, the Republicans are spending money that is not in the federal government coffers. The surpluses the GOP want to spend is not real; such funds are only projections made by the Congressional Budget Office (CBO) and the Office of Management and Budget (OMB)—the kind of unreliable budget projections that the Republican leadership criticized only a few months ago. The GOP view is colored by partisan motives and has changed as the CBO has made more rosy projections.

Moreover, the recent turmoil in the financial markets and the ongoing economic and financial crises in Russia, Japan and the other Asian Pacific Rim nations, and now, Brazil could have a significant impact on the U.S. economy. This would result in the further weakening of both the stock markets and real economic growth more than CBO expected in the July projections. As a senior Member of the House Banking Committee, I visited southeast Asia last winter and met with political and financial leaders in China, Korea and Japan. Following the trip, I was convinced then and recognize today that the Asian economic contagion is not isolated to Asia. This global crisis will further impact adversely the rosy United States budget picture of today without a doubt.

In response to this partisan and careless Republican tax plan, I support the Democratic alternative tax plan, which safeguards Social Security, is fiscally responsible and invests in our nation's future. Unlike the Republican tax plan, the Democratic alternative sets aside every penny of the projected federal budget surpluses to ensure the long-term solvency of the Social Security Trust Fund, increases the standard deduction for a joint return to an amount equal to twice the amount allowed on a single return to provide some marriage penalty relief and would permanently extend income averaging for farmers by providing a tax relief package that would take effect immediately. Furthermore, the Democratic tax bill would take the entire amount of the Social Security surplus in each fiscal year and transfer it to the Federal Reserve Bank of New York to be held in trust for Social Security. This would safeguard the temptation to expend it on pet tax breaks schemes. Furthermore, this would limit the use of the Social Security surplus and place a control on Congress. Under the bill, Congress would have to default on publicly traded debt instruments before it could default on its obligation to the Social Security system. Moreover, the Democratic bill would really lock up 100% of the Social Security surplus, while the Republican proposal pretends to safeguard 90% of the Social Security Insurance system surplus.

Deciding now to use the surpluses for tax cuts before addressing Social Security's long-term problems will siphon off resources that will be needed to maintain the solvency of the Social Security Trust Fund. Budget surpluses should be reserved until a Social Security Commission, the President and the Congress address the long-term requirements of Social Security. This initiative represents just another step in the Republican agenda to eliminate the Social Security Insurance program and squander away the projected surplus as they cast about for an issue in the upcoming mid-term elections.

Unfortunately, while House Republican leaders praised the concept of "Saving Social Security First," they turned around and then passed a budget that broke this pledge. However, its telling that the Senate has never agreed to this scheme up-front in a budget blue print. This broken promise has led to dissension and differences among their own party and has entrenched the budget conference process with the GOP led Senate, which strongly endorses the President's call to save every penny of the budget surplus to strengthen the Social Security Trust Funds. To date, we have no budget. This is not governing. There is little doubt that the GOP Senate will finally be seduced into accepting tax breaks. However, the Administration and most Democrats will not accept this raid on the Social Security Insurance System. Nothing is going to happen if these surpluses and funds are justified. Such funds will be available once the solvency of Social Security is resolved. Meanwhile, this "surplus" will translate into a lower overall national debt. A good positive result that most citizens believe must be reduced.

I urge all members to vote no on this Republican attempt to raid the Social Security Trust Funds for election year tax breaks.

Mr. CONYERS. Mr. Speaker, Social Security is the single most popular federal program ever conceived. It provides millions of seniors with retirement income. But it does more than just pay out retirement benefits. Social Security is a retirement program, a life insurance program and a disability insurance program all in one. Social Security provides benefits to more than forty-three million Americans each year, only thirty million of whom are retirees. Seven million Social Security beneficiaries receive survivors benefits—one and one-half million of those survivors are children. Five and one-half million Americans receive Social Security disability benefits. Social Security has paid these benefits on time, month after month, like clockwork, for the past sixty years. Social Security has always been there when we have needed it and its our responsibility to ensure that it will always be there in the future.

But now, the part of Social Security which Americans are most worried about is its retirement portion, and with good reason. Since Social Security was created six decades ago, Americans have depended on the "three-legged stool" model of retirement planning. The first leg of the stool is personal savings; the second leg of the stool is the employer provided pension plan; and the third leg of the stool has always been Social Security.

Social Security has rightly been considered the bedrock upon which retirement security rests for all Americans. No matter what damage vagaries in the stock market might have on personal savings, no matter what damage employer carelessness or dishonesty might have on pension plans, people have always believed that Social Security would be there, the strongest and most important leg of the stool.

Unfortunately, over the years, the stool has weakened. As income stagnated in the 1970's, Americans had to dip into their retirement savings to pay for their children's education, or put a down payment on a house, or pay for increasing medical costs, thus weakening the first leg of the stool.

Employer provided pension plans are also dwindling with the loss of secure jobs with reliable benefits. Nowadays, less than half of all workers have employer provided pension plans, and those that do are receiving less and less in contributions from their employers, thereby weakening the second leg.

Now, when people are beginning to depend on it the most, some people want to weaken or even saw off that third leg of the stool. Those people say that Social Security will go bankrupt in the next century, that Social Security doesn't pay beneficiaries a high enough rate of return. They believe that instead of fixing Social Security by saving the surplus, and sitting Americans' retirement security firmly on the three-legged stool, Americans would be better off trying to balance their futures on only two legs. I wouldn't try to sit on a two-legged stool, and I wouldn't recommend anybody trying to balance their retirement future on one either.

Right now, some Republicans in this House are mounting an attack on Social Security. Not a direct attack, though they have tried that in the past, but an indirect attack. These Republicans are planning to spend our budget surplus, the first budget surplus we have had for 30 years, on tax cuts. Tax cuts are not necessarily a bad idea. In fact, I would seriously consider supporting some of these tax cuts, if we really had any money to spare. But the fact is that we do not.

The "surplus" that some in this House so desperately want to spend on tax cuts is in fact needed to support Social Security once it begins running a deficit early in the next century. The only reason why a surplus exists at all is because the Social Security trust fund is taking in more money than it is spending. But that will change in 2013. That year, Social Security starts paying out more money than it takes in. That year, we will need the money which we should be saving from the surplus to pay for the baby boomers' retirement. The surplus that exists now, and with good economic luck will exist for the next several years, is nothing more and nothing less than our and our children's future.

But there are those who believe that Social Security is not worth saving because its return rate is too low. Social Security is not meant to provide workers with a big bonanza. It is intended to provide an income floor, a minimum below which we will not allow beneficiaries to fall. And it has worked. When Social Security was created, senior citizens were the most poverty stricken group in America. Now only 12% of older Americans are poor. Without Social Security, 42% of older Americans would be poor.

Some may think that Social Security is too conservative. It may not pay out as high a rate of return as more risky and speculative investments. But it is that caution which guarantees that Social Security will be there for all of us when we retire or are injured or the person we depend on to provide for us dies. So if the stock market fails us, if our savings are eaten up by illness, if our pension plan disappears, we will be still able to live with dignity.

When you are already at retirement age, there are no second chances. There is no time to build up a new nest egg. There is no time to play the stock market for big returns. You retire with what you've got, and if there is no Social Security, and you've made a mistake in the stock market and your employer took the pension money and ran, you've got nothing. Nothing at all to fall back on. Our mothers, our fathers, our brothers, our sisters, our sons and our daughters, all of us deserve better than that.

Don't let the short term gratification of a fleeting tax cut distract us from saving for our future. Before we consider cutting taxes, save Social Security first.

Mr. BORSKI. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in opposition to H.R. 4578, the so-called Save Social Security Act. This legislation is an assault on one of the most successful government programs in American history—the Social Security program.

H.R. 4578 would rob Social Security recipients of the very benefits that they earned through their hard work and dedication. This bill sets up a separate account for Social Security, and requires the Treasury Department to deposit only 90% of the currently projected surplus in that account. There are several problems with this bill. First, the bill does not protect the Social Security Trust Fund—it does not prevent these funds from being used for additional tax cuts or spending increases in the future. Secondly, it does not reserve the full amount of money that Social Security has accumulated. None of the projected surpluses should be touched until the long-term solvency of Social Security has been fully secured.

As the representative from the 20th oldest district in the nation, I have always let the thoughts and views of my senior constituency guide me through my legislative decisions. More than 113,000 individuals in my District rely on the benefits of Social Security. They depend on this sacred program on a daily basis and I have consequently worked my hardest to ensure the solvency of their program! Today was one of the most offensive attacks on the Social Security program that I have witnessed thus far in my 16 years of working in the House. The seniors in my district have asked me to vote against this fraud of a bill—it does not adequately protect their hard earned money.

I believe that the Social Security program must remain sacrosanct and excluded from budgetary gimmicks. Let us do what is right by reserving every penny of the Social Security Trust Fund for the people that contributed to its solvency. It is not our money to waste, but it is our money to protect. This Republican bill does not properly address the current issues facing Social Security. Instead of safeguarding current Social Security funds, these Members would rather jeopardize this remarkable program with a false plan to assure their existence.

As a true Representative of the Pennsylvania's Third District, I will do all I can to Save Social Security the right way! I suggest that all Members of this body do the same by concerning themselves will valid legislation that will focus on strengthening our current Social Security system that has been successful for more than 60 years. It has provided a sense of certainty for more than 160 million workers and their families. Let us Save Social Security First, not last.

Mr. COSTELLO. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in strong opposition to H.R. 4578, the "Save Social Security Act". The title of this legislation gives the impression that it will actually save Social Security when, in fact, the Republican leadership has called this legislation up for a vote to take away 10% of any budget surplus from Social Security. The passage of this bill is a slap in the face to the millions of Americans who have paid into Social Security their entire working lives.

This legislation is another attempt by the Republican-led Congress to undermine our safety-net programs. It is not fair to spend the projected surplus on tax cuts when Social Security is in need of shoring up for the upcoming baby-boom generation. Of the projected surplus of $1.6 Trillion, 98% is generated by payroll taxes for Social Security. If it wasn't for Social Security, the federal budget would have an estimated deficit of $137 Billion over the next five years.

Mr. Speaker, I believe we should solve the long-term Social Security Trust Fund solvency problems before we pay for tax cuts out of a surplus funded by Social Security. I support tax cuts for marriage penalty relief, self-employed health insurance deduction, education and child care tax credits, however, I believe it must be paid for through responsible fiscal planning.

I urge my colleagues to oppose this legislation and ensure Social Security benefits for generations to come.

Mr. SMITH of Michigan. Mr. Speaker, the "Protect Social Security Account" developed in H.R. 4578 should increase awareness of the Social Security problem. However, the legislation does nothing to solve the problem.

The bill requires the Secretary of Treasury to make annual nonnegotiable "IOUs" to this new account each fiscal year from 1998 to 2008. The new government debt owed to this "Protect Social Security Account" would equal 90% of the projected total unified budget surplus for each of those fiscal years.

In addition, the Treasury will make out IOUs to the Social Security Trust Fund for its annual surplus, as it has done in the past. The Social Security tax revenues surplus, which is the social security taxes in excess of benefit payments for that year, is a major part of any unified budget surplus. This means we are creating a $1.90 in debt for every dollar borrowed in those years that the unified budget surplus is greater than the Social Security surplus. Total government debt will increase faster than if the new account was not established. In other words, the increased debt to the Social Security trust fund will be about $80 billion for the 1998 fiscal year. Because the calculations for government IOUs into the "Protect Social Security Account" is 90% of the unified budget surplus in most years, there is double accounting for government indebtedness for the same money. That results in total debt going up faster than it otherwise would. The Congressional Budget Office (CBO) estimates that Congress and the President will have to increase the existing $5.95 trillion in debt ceiling two years earlier if this bill would become law 2001 instead of 2003. Ironically, the more unified budget surplus that is spent by government, the less debt subject to debt limit there would be.

There will never be any actual money that is going into this account, just more IOUs. I am voting for the Rangel substitute because it has the effect of investing the Social Security surplus in marketable bonds as does my bill, H.R. 4033. I am voting for H.R. 4578 in the hopes that a future Congress will pay back the debt in the "Protect Social Security Account" to help solve the Social Security problem. We should all recognize that by the year 2008 the general fund of the Treasury will owe $2.252 trillion to the Social Security Trust Fund. This does not include the money that will be owed to the new fund. Unless there are sufficient resources in the general fund of the Treasury to repay that borrowing, the ability to pay the promised Social Security benefits will be threatened.

The fact is, none of the rhetoric by Republicans or Democrats or the President that we should save the surplus to save Social Security does anything to fix Social Security. The legislation I introduced (H.R. 3082) has been scored by the Social Security actuaries to keep Social Security solvent.

Others that have done real work to save Social Security include Representatives STENHOLM, KOLBE, SANFORD, and PORTER, and Senators MOYNIHAN, KERREY (NE), GREGG, BREAUX, GRAMM, and DOMENICI. I applaud all of their efforts. I acknowledge the tremendous increase in awareness that the President has helped stimulate by announcing in his State of the Union address last February that we've got to save Social Security. As Chairman of the bipartisan task force on Social Security, I am setting our first goal to be a discussion of the real facts and the real problem of the current system.

Senator MOYNIHAN said during Social Security reform discussions in 1983, "Everyone is entitled to their own opinion. However, no one is entitled to his own set of the facts." If we can have honest bipartisan discussion of the issue, and if we can increase public understanding, then we can pass real Social Security reform legislation in 1999. That is important, because the longer we put off the resolution, the most drastic the changes will have to be.

Mr. HILL. Mr. Speaker, I am in full agreement with the goal of reducing taxes on hard-working American families. The Republican way of reducing taxes is by reducing spending and reducing government. That's why I voted earlier for a budget that reduced spending for these tax cuts.

But the President likes to say, from one side of his mouth, that he wants to save Social Security. Yet, from the other side of his mouth, he calls for billions of dollars of new spending from the Social Security Trust Fund.

Senate Democrats claim they want to save Social Security while proposing to spend Social Security taxes on increased spending.

And my own Republican leadership wants to cut taxes—offsetting the cuts with the Social Security Trust Fund.

On this issue, I say: A pox on all their houses.

I want tax cuts. I support these tax cuts. I just don't want them funded out of Social Security taxes.

I had hoped that the leadership would find a way to phase in tax cuts from the projected surplus in the general fund, but this plan does not do that.

When I was in business, we had good years and we had bad years. Sometimes we needed to borrow money to get through the lean times. But every businessman knows that you don't raid the employees' pension fund to meet payroll.

In the 40 years that Democrats controlled Congress they raided Social Security for other programs. It was wrong. It's still wrong. And that's why this measure is wrong today.

I'm not voting with the Democrats today. They can't wait for the chance to spend the Social Security Trust Fund on more government programs. But his vote today underscores the need to put this money into personal accounts for each and every American. Those accounts should be personalized with the name of an individual, not the name of Congress.

I will not support this legislation today. Not because I don't support the tax cuts, but because Montanans tell me the real path to tax reduction is to reduce the size of government.

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. Speaker, the budget surplus which will be obtained this year is the greatest achievement of common sense and foresight in decades. While much of the world around us flounders in economic chaos, the United States' economy continues to drive forward, largely due to this success.

Now we are casting to the wind the same common sense planning—and if I might add, conservative policies—which eliminated the budget deficit and created the budget surplus. Six weeks away from the election we are voting on tax cuts, many of which I admittedly support and would like to see enacted, even though we can not yet pay for them without taking money needed for saving Social Security.

The truth is that we only have a budget surplus today because a surplus exists in the Social Security Trust Fund. According to the Congressional Budget Office, 98% of the budget surplus from 1999 to 2008 will come from the surplus in the Social Security Trust Fund. Only 2% will come from non-Social Security sources. However, this surplus is only temporary. The hordes of retiring "Baby Boomers" will draw heavily on Social Security, and the Trust Fund will become bankrupt by 2032.

The Democratic Substitute to the Republican's so-called "Save Social Security Act" we are now considering makes a very simple proposal: we set aside 100% of the budget surplus in a special fund to be used solely for keeping the Social Security Trust Fund solvent until a long term solution can be found. The Republican bill, on the other hand, will take the surplus which really belongs to Social Security and use it for funding the tax cuts we will vote on tomorrow.

The Republican proposal risks Social Security and it risks America's future. What happens if the worldwide economic crises seriously affected American markets and the surplus turns out to be less than predicted? The result, I fear, will be less than welcome. We will be stuck with these new tax cuts, which I know this House will not have the political capital to repeal. We will return to the days of budget deficits, and our economy will be trapped in the same cycle of stagnant growth we thought we left behind when the last recession ended six years ago.

In recent years the improving economy has permitted the vast majority of Americans to cast aside their fears and look towards their future with renewed hope and newly minted dreams. I hope that either this House or the more sensible policy-makers in this city reject the risky political games we are playing and return to the common sense that has served us well to date. Let us save Social Security first and enact tax cuts when we can pay for them.

Mr. RAMSTAD. Mr. Speaker, I would like to dispel some of the misleading hyperbole the American people are being fed today. Americans are sick of political double talk. They want the truth—so here it is.

This surplus we are talking about here today—do you know where it came from? It came from you—your hard earned pay checks, your savings accounts, your investments and even the deaths of your family members and friends. It's not the government's money—it's yours!

You know what happens to your money when it gets to Washington? Well, for the last 40+ years, the Democratic majority spent it—spent well above it—and often wasted it. In fact, if it weren't for the Republican majority you elected, we wouldn't even be standing here today talking about a surplus or how to use the excess taxes you have sent us.

You deserve some of your money back. And, yes, your money—$1.4 trillion—should also go toward preserving and protecting Social Security. Both can be done.

Let me reassure you right now that under the bill before us today, fully 90% of your surplus goes into a "Protect Social Security Account." Some $1.4 trillion of your money is set aside until we pass legislation to ensure the long term solvency of Social Security.

And do you know what the impact on the Social Security Trust Fund will be from giving you back 10% of your money? None. Let me repeat that. None. The Social Security Trust Fund will not lose one dime by passing this legislation today and the tax bill tomorrow. Not a penny.

So, to recap the truth for Americans sick of all the political legalese and double talk: Passing this legislation gives you, the overtaxed

American, 10% of your money back. It secures 90% of your money in a new account to be used for preserving and protecting your Social Security program. Let's pass the "Save Social Security Act."

Ms. DELAURO. Mr. Speaker, Social Security is one of our Nation's greatest success stories. It is the financial bedrock for our country's elderly, and for all hard working American families who want to retire with some peace of mind. Two-thirds of our seniors depend on Social Security for more than half their retirement income.

But right now, Social Security is under attack: this bill would raid Social Security to pay for a tax bill. The Archer bill pays for its tax plan with money from the Social Security Trust Fund—money that Americans have invested for their retirements, money that the program needs for long-term survival. I believe in tax cuts, but I believe we must protect the Social Security Trust fund first. We cannot undermine our retirement security for the sake of ten cents per day today.

I urge my colleagues: don't be irresponsible. Protect our Social Security trust fund, and protect our retirement savings. Vote for the Rangel tax cut, which ensures the solvency of the Social Security trust fund. Oppose the Archer Social Security raid.

Mr. COYNE. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to this misguided legislation. It combines commendable tax cuts with an unacceptable funding mechanism. The bill would take money from the Social Security Trust Fund to pay for these tax cuts. I consider this a fatal flaw.

This bill is the legislative equivalent of the Trojan Horse. It contains a collection of tax cuts that Democrats would usually support. Most of the tax cuts contained in H.R. 4579 have, in fact, been proposed and supported by Democrats in the past. The marriage penalty provision is similar to one offered by Representative McDERMOTT during the Ways and Means Committee mark-up of the 1997 Taxpayer Relief Act—and rejected unanimously by the Republicans on the Committee. The same is true of the 100 percent deduction for health insurance for the self-employed. Similarly, I do not think that anyone is opposed to extending the expiring tax provisions contained in H.R. 4579—they are non-controversial, and most of us have voted to extend these provisions a number of times. The provision in the bill which would allow non-refundable credits against the alternative minimum tax is similar to a change proposed in legislation introduced recently by Representative NEAL. And the provision assisting military personnel who sell their homes after returning from temporary postings is similar to a change recommended by the Administration earlier this year.

The problem with this bill, of course, is not primarily with the proposed tax relief, but rather with the way that this tax relief would be paid for—with money from the Social Security Trust Fund.

The Federal Government is expected to collect $1.6 trillion more in revenues than it is projected to spend in outlays over the next ten years. That figure, however, hides the fact that the Federal operating budget—the budget excluding Social Security—is projected to run a surplus of only $31 billion over the next ten years, and that in fact it is not even expected to produce a significant surplus until the year 2006. The reason that CBO has projected a unified Federal budget surplus for fiscal year 1998 and the subsequent 5 years is that the Social Security trust fund is currently running a surplus of over $100 billion annually. Without the surplus in the Social Security trust fund, the Federal Government is actually projected to run a deficit of $137 billion over the next five years.

The point that my colleagues on the other side of the aisle forget or choose to ignore is that after 2010, first the unified Federal budget and then the Social Security Trust Fund begin to run huge deficits as the number of Social Security beneficiaries doubles from 40 million to 80 million. In fact, even counting the projected trust fund surpluses, outlays for Social Security are expected to exceed receipts by trillions of dollars over the next 75 years.

Moreover, there is no guarantee that the projected $1.6 trillion surplus is going to materialize at all. CBO has estimated that a recession next year could change the projected surplus of $520 billion over the next five years to a deficit of $44 billion. I think that, given the current global economic uncertainty, it would be wise for Congress to actually run a surplus before it spends it.

Mr. Speaker, we all support taxpayer relief. And I suspect that we all would agree on the need to preserve Social Security. The question before us today is whether we should reduce the amount of money in the Social Security Trust Fund before we have taken action to ensure the program's future solvency. I do not think that we should. Most experts agree that we will need the surplus—and then some—to keep Social Security solvent in the next century.

43 percent of retiree households in my congressional district depend on Social Security for all of their retirement income. That means that roughly 33,000 people are living on an average of $9,000 a year. The 45,000 retirees who have pensions or income from savings get by on an average yearly income of about $16,000 a year. We shouldn't risk the retirement security of millions of senior citizens in order to score political points in an election year. We don't have the right. Consequently, I urge my colleagues to resist the temptation to spend money from the Social Security Trust Fund to pay for tax cuts—no matter how meritorious those tax cuts might be—until we enact legislation that ensures the future security of Social Security. If we restore Social Security's financial health next year—and if it looks like we won't need all of the money in the trust fund to pay out benefits—then we might want to take a look at lowering the Social Security payroll tax rate. That might be the fairest tax cut financed by Social Security receipts. I do not think that such a situation is likely, but I would be pleased if it turned out to be the case. Short of such a remarkable turn of events, I urge my colleagues to keep their hands out of the Social Security Trust Fund.

Instead of this ill-advised bill, Congress should enact legislation before it adjourns that will wall off the Social Security Trust Fund surplus. Then, next year, this body can work to craft a long-term solution that will ensure the solvency of Social Security. If we follow such a course, Social Security will be able to continue paying out benefits for the foreseeable future.

I will support the Democratic alternative. The Democratic amendment to H.R. 4579 would allow all of the tax cuts contained in the original bill—but it would delay these tax cuts until the Social Security trustees certify that Social Security will be solvent for the next 75 years and OMB certifies that the Federal budget—excluding the Social Security trust fund surplus—is running a surplus and will continue to run a deficit for the following five years. The Democratic amendment to H.R. 4578 would take all of the surplus in the Social Security trust fund—100 percent of it, not merely 90 percent—and lock it away in an account at the Federal Reserve Bank of New York where it would earn interest at the market rate. By putting the money in this "lock box" account, Congress could ensure that it wouldn't be spent on other programs—as many of my Republican colleagues fear—or on tax cuts benefitting the well-to-do—as many of my Democratic colleagues fear. The difference between 90 percent and 100 percent of the trust fund surplus may sound insignificant at first blush, but once one realizes that 10 percent of the projected Social Security surplus amounts to over $160 billion, the importance of preserving this money for Social Security becomes clear. Diverting $160 billion from the Social Security program is not responsible. It is not reasonable. It is outrageous. It is nothing short of a raid on our children's future.

I urge my colleagues to join me in exercising restraint, foresight, and fiscal conservatism. Save the surplus—and preserve Social Security.

Mr. POSHARD. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to oppose this legislation. When I came to Congress 10 years ago, my foremost priority was to work towards balancing the Federal budget. As I prepare to leave this institution, I am very proud of the fact that this goal has been reached during my tenure. But reaching a balanced budget is only the first step. We must continue to pursue fiscally responsible policies to ensure that we can accomplish related objectives, such as maintaining a solvent Social Security program for today's seniors and future retirees, and saving our children from an increasing mountain of debt.

I am not opposed to tax cuts. I supported them in the Balanced Budget Act last year, and I have been a forceful advocate for some of the proposals us today, especially the 100% deductibility of health insurance costs for the self-employed. But this is not the time to be considering these measures. I fear this vote has political motivations, and the subject is too dear to me and critical to the country. We must be certain that Social Security is properly funded, that our parents, our friends, and our neighbors that rely on that program can continue to depend on it. Let us do the right thing here today, I urge my colleagues to preserve the Social Security trust fund for its intended purpose, and support the Rangel substitute.

Ms. McCARTHY of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to support the Rangel Democratic Amendment and oppose H.R. 4578. I strongly support the Democratic Amendment which would create an account at the Federal Reserve Bank for the entire Social Security surplus.

It is fiscally irresponsible for Congress to spend any of the anticipated surplus before we have addressed the long-term retirement needs of working men and women, or before the surplus has even materialized.

In order to claim a budget surplus, the majority will use money from the Social Security trust fund. We cannot let this happen. We must restore the $9 trillion in unfunded liability owed to individuals who have paid into this most successful government program all of their working lives.

Mr. RANGEL's Amendment would transfer 100% of any Social Security surpluses to the Federal Reserve Bank of New York to be held in trust for the Social Security system.

Congress should stand firm to ensure that Social Security will remain strong for future generations. I urge my colleagues to support the Democratic Amendment sponsored by the gentleman from New York, Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, we need to save Social Security first.

Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose H.R. 4578, which contains the Republicans' plan to save Social Security. I oppose it because it is a job incomplete.

It is not a coincidence that this bill is being brought to the floor at the end of the session, and immediately before the House will consider a Republican bill that spends a significant portion of the Social Security surplus on a tax cut.

This bill comes to the floor only because the Republicans must have some response ready for the millions of Americans that they plan on taking money from tomorrow, when we debate the Republican Tax bill. They want to be able to say that they voted to save 90% of the budget surplus to Social Security.

Ninety-percent sure sounds good. It sounds like a good score on an exam, but this is not an exam. This is the money of the American people. This is money that should all be put into a safe place, away from politicians, especially in election years.

Furthermore, this Republican plan does not really take the Social Security Trust Fund off-budget. This means that not even the 90% that they claim is safe, is truly safe. It is still reachable by Congress when the next election-cycle comes around. We need legislation that puts the money of the American people in a truly safe place, like a Federal Reserve bank.

Democrats, on the other hand, are committed to preserving all, that means 100%, of the budget surplus for Social Security. That is because we know that this money is not really a surplus. It is, rather, a debt. A debt that we owe to all of the Americans that have dutifully paid into this plan over their entire careers.

The Chairman says, "Let's be conservative." The trouble is the Chairman's proposal is not conservative enough. The most conservative thing to do is to take all of the surplus money and lock it away, until we know that Social Security is saved.

This is not money that we should be using to play election-year politics. I urge all of you to vote against this bill, and for the democratic substitute.

Mr. BERREUTER. Mr. Speaker, this Member rises today to express his support for H.R. 4578. This bill ensures that funds are saved for Social Security, while at the same time allowing taxpayers nationwide to benefit from a Federal income tax cut in H.R. 4579.

It is projected that we will have a $1.6 trillion surplus in the Federal budget. House Resolution 4578 would set aside 90% of the budget surplus, $1.4 trillion, to protect the Social Security system by depositing this amount into a new Treasury account entitled the "Protect Social Security Account." The Social Security system is a supplemental retirement benefit to recipients for their life of diligent service and dedication to their jobs, their families, and their community. Accordingly, H.R. 4578 will help stabilize the Social Security system from the threat of permanent insolvency. In turn, H.R. 4578 will help to ensure that the future inheritors of the Social Security system reap a harvest from the seeds of hard work and toil that they will sow as time progresses.

In closing, H.R. 4578 is certainly one important step forward in ensuring a sound Social Security system for future beneficiaries. This Member encourages a "yea" vote for H.R. 4578.

Mr. DAVIS of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I rise today against the Republican Social Security bill because it raids the Social Security Trust Fund in order to provide Republican tax cuts, six weeks before an election. These tax cuts are a short-term, one-shot use of the surplus.

Mr. Speaker, this is wrong. Those working-class Americans who have paid into the Social Security Trust Fund deserve to have Social Security for them.

Social Security has provided benefits to more than 160 million workers and their families since the program began in 1940. Without this vital program, half of our Nation's elderly would live in poverty. Two-thirds of our Nation's elderly depend on Social Security for one half or more of their income.

Make no mistake about it. The issue is not whether cutting taxes aimed for reduction should or should not be cut certain reductions might be beneficial. The heart of the matter is, it is unacceptable to finance the tax cut package with Social Security funds.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues on both sides of the aisle to stand up for the elderly and the working poor—preserve 100% of the surplus for Social Security. They have been there for us, let us not let them down and leave them behind now.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. All time for debate has expired.

It is now in order to consider the amendment numbered 1 printed in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD.

AMENDMENT NO. 1 IN THE NATURE OF A SUBSTITUTE OFFERED BY MR. RANGEL

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I offer an amendment in the nature of a substitute.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Clerk will designate the amendment in the nature of a substitute.

The text of the amendment in the nature of a substitute is as follows:

Amendment No. 1 in the nature of a substitute offered by Mr. RANGEL:

Strike all after the enacting clause and insert the following:

SECTION 1. RESERVATION OF SOCIAL SECURITY SURPLUSES SOLELY FOR SOCIAL SECURITY SYSTEM.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 201 of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 401) is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(n)(1) The Secretary of the Treasury, before the beginning of each fiscal year, shall estimate the amount of the Social Security surplus for such year. For purposes of this subsection, the term 'Social Security surplus' means the excess of the receipts in the Trust Funds during the fiscal year (including interest on obligations held in such funds) over the outlays from such funds during such year;

"(2) If the Secretary of the Treasury determines that there is a Social Security surplus for any fiscal year, such Secretary shall transfer during such year from the General fund of the Treasury an amount equal to the amount of the surplus to the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. Such transfer shall be made monthly on the basis of estimates by the Secretary of the Treasury of the portion of the surplus attributable to the month, and proper adjustments shall be made in amounts, subsequently transferred to the extent prior estimates were in excess of or less than amounts required to be transferred. Amounts transferred under this paragraph shall substitute for (and be in lieu of) equivalent amounts otherwise required to be transferred to the Trust Funds.

"(3) The Federal Reserve Bank of New York shall hold the amounts transferred under paragraph (2), and all income from investment thereof, in trust for the benefit of the Trust Funds. Amounts so held shall be invested in marketable obligations of the United States with maturities that the Managing Trustee determines are consistent with the requirements of the Trust Funds. Amounts held in trust under this paragraph (and earnings thereon) shall be treated as part of the balance of the Trust Funds.

"(4) If, at any time, any obligation acquired under paragraph (2) has a market value less than its acquisition cost by reason of a change in interest rates, the Federal Reserve Bank of New York may, at any time, present such obligation to the Secretary of the Treasury for redemption, notwithstanding the maturity date or any other requirement relating to such obligation, and the Secretary of the Treasury shall redeem such obligation for an amount that is not less than such acquisition cost.

"(5) Upon request by the Managing Trustee, the Federal Reserve Bank of New York shall transfer to the appropriate Trust Fund the amount determined by the Managing Trustee to be necessary to meet the obligations of such Fund.

"(6) All transfers to the Federal Reserve Bank of New York under paragraph (2) shall be treated as Federal outlays for all budgetary purposes of the United States Government, except that such transfers shall not be subject to section 252 of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985 and all transfers to the Trust Funds under paragraph (5) shall be treated as offsetting receipts".

(b) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendment made by subsection (a) shall apply to fiscal years beginning on or after October 1, 1998.

Amend the title so as to read: "A bill to reserve 100 percent of the social security surpluses solely for the Social Security System".

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to House Resolution 552, the gentleman from New York (Mr. RANGEL) and a Member opposed, each will control 30 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from New York (Mr. RANGEL).

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Earlier in the debate, somebody said the only difference between the bills is that I wanted 100 percent and the Republicans wanted 90 percent. That is not the only difference, because, in this substitute, we take that 100 percent, not just merely put it in a separate accounting system in the Social Security trust fund, as I once supported, but we take it away completely from the opportunity of politicians, Republican or Democrats, and lock it into the Federal Reserve Bank so that it cannot be touched.

But I would just like to say, with all of this display of currency on the floor, that we should recognize for those who have the $40, that the 40 bucks was owed to the Social Security trust fund. We have not used the money that has been collected for the trust fund. We have used it for other things.

So if Members want to say the only difference between Republicans and Democrats is they want a total commitment to the system and Republicans want a partial commitment, then we may be closer to the facts, because we say that after we fix Social Security first, then we would trigger the exciting and the ever-inviting tax cuts, as my colleagues in the majority have suggested.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. TRAFICANT).

(Mr. TRAFICANT asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. TRAFICANT. Mr. Speaker, I, for one, do not question the reasons or demean the intentions at all of the gentleman from Texas (Mr. ARCHER), the Republicans and the former speaker the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. KASICH). I think the gentleman from Texas (Mr. ARCHER) is a great chairman, and I think America is very fortunate to have the gentleman from Texas (Mr. ARCHER) and the gentleman from New York (Mr. RANGEL), two of the best.

I want to talk taxes today. I voted for the previous tax cuts. They made sense. Social Security is funded by its own tax. That tax is to ensure the solvency of Social Security. I philosophically and in my heart believe that not one of those pennies should be used for anything else.

Having said that, let us take a look at the situation in America today. I can remember from my devastated community, when the CEOs of the companies were so desperate to try and save their companies, they used the pension funds, maybe with good intentions. The economy slumped, and retirees lost their pensions, and Congress had to bail them out.

Let me caution Congress today about this so-called booming economy. This just may be a paper tiger. It seems to me if Wall Street sneezes, the world catches pneumonia and Social Security, once again, needs an ambulance.

The Archer plan is a good plan. The Rangel plan is a good plan. Today I am going to support the Rangel plan for one major reason: The Rangel plan is the safest and the most pragmatic for our country.

I will support the Archer plan. It is one of the best tax packages brought before this Congress, without a doubt. I will support it when you find the money elsewhere or after you have implemented the safeguards brought forth by the gentleman from New York (Mr. RANGEL).

I think we should leave the politics aside today. This is not Rotary. Republicans are not trying to rip us off. Democrats are not trying to stop a tax cut. We have a difference of philosophy on this and a difference of opinion.

I honestly believe there would be a budget deficit without the Social Security monies of surplus. Let us take care of Social Security. Let us make it solvent. Then let us go on to the Nation's business, to cut taxes or, if necessary, find that money elsewhere.

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

When I was first appointed to the Committee on Ways and Means in January of 1973, I took an immediate interest in Social Security. There was no subcommittee then, but I knew how vital it was, not just to current retirees but to future generations, the most important program the Federal Government has.

As a result of that, I was appointed by Ronald Reagan to the Social Security Commission in 1982. No one in this body recognizes more the importance of Social Security and how sacred it is. So let it be clear that there is a determination on my part and the part of the majority to protect, to guard, to reform and to save Social Security.

But what we are talking about today is a different issue. No one should be fooled about it. If I believed, as my friend from Ohio said, that this is the only safe way to move, I would not be here urging an alternative. But the Rangel scheme will not dedicate 100 percent of the surplus to Social Security. Why? Because surplus, in his definition, is only what is left over after all of the spending that is urged upon the Congress occurs in each year. It is an open door to pave the way for Democrats to increase government spending, reduce the surplus that is available in each year and, at the same time, expand the size of government and grow the bureaucracy, grow the power of Washington, as my friend, the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. KASICH) said.

Save 100 percent of the surplus for Social Security? How can they claim to support saving every penny when President Clinton is leading the charge to spend the surplus now? Extrapolated over a five-year period, the additional spending this year alone could well reach $100 billion of surplus that will not be there when they are through. The President has already spent $2.9 billion from the surplus to help the people in Bosnia. That was not an emergency. We knew ahead of time, for at least a year, that those moneys would have to be spent. Yet it was okay to spend the surplus on the people of Bosnia. And already this fall the President has asked Congress to spend $13 billion in additional surplus money on other government programs some claimed to be emergency, and yet clearly were planned in advance, known in advance and should have been paid for in advance.

Mr. Speaker, if it is acceptable for the Democrats to spend the surplus on the people of Bosnia, why do they oppose using it to give tax relief to the taxpayers of America who send it here in the first place? It is not our money. It is their money.

Do not be fooled. This substitute is a risky scheme to squander the surplus on more government while denying tax relief to husbands and wives, farmers and ranchers, senior citizens and small businesses.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Missouri (Mr. GEPHARDT) our minority leader.

(Mr. GEPHARDT asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. GEPHARDT. Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to vote for the Democratic substitute offered by the gentleman from New York (Mr. RANGEL) that will truly save the surplus for Social Security. I challenge my Republican colleagues to put the money where their mouths are. Join with Democrats in using all of the surplus to save Social Security first.

Republicans talk a big game in election years when it comes to protecting Social Security. Listening to their rhetoric today, one would have thought that they were the ones who came up with the idea of Social Security in the first place. They did not. Republicans fought it in the 1930s and they are fighting it again in the 1990s. They want to weaken it by eroding its financial stability. They want to starve Social Security so that it withers on the vine. That is exactly what the Republican bill does. It puts Social Security second. It raises and raids funds from the Social Security trust fund to further their ultimate goal, killing the system that lifts millions of our senior citizens out of poverty. This is the first step in their plan to transform Social Security from a guaranteed fundamental bedrock into a crapshoot in the markets. They are not really committed to saving Social Security.

All one has to do is take a look at the Republican bill today to see how weak their commitment to Social Security really is. If you are really committed to something, you stand 100 percent behind it. You do not go halfway in fighting for your bedrock values. You do not go almost all the way. You go all the way. But the Republicans' 90 percent solution does not really protect the crown jewel of our efforts, to make sure that seniors can live in respect and dignity no matter what. Republicans only want to throw Social Security a string instead of a lifeline. And Republicans only want to go the whole eight yards to save Social Security. In baseball, 90 percent of the way only gets you a pop-out on the warning track, not a home run. We want to knock this ball straight out of the park.

Democrats are 100 percent committed to Social Security. We are going to dedicate the entire surplus to saving Social Security, not just part of it, not just 90 percent of it. It is important that we stop these Republican raiders in their tracks, because this year they will steal 10 percent of the surplus from Social Security and next year they will come back and try to get more. The gentleman from Texas (Mr. ARCHER) has said so himself. "As long as there is a Republican majority," he said in a press conference, "we're going to have a tax cut every year." He said, "We need to take a stand now." Well, I think we need to take a stand now and show the American people that we will save all, 100 percent, of the surplus for Social Security.

When you have a jewel, you do not keep it on your kitchen table. You lock it up in a safe deposit box. That is exactly what we want to do with the surplus for Social Security. Our substitute puts the money under lock and key, at the Federal Reserve Bank, so that neither Republicans nor Democrats nor anyone will be able to get their hands on it.

Let us take the surplus away from the Republicans. Let us shore up the system and show the American people that we can save Social Security first.

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Louisiana (Mr. MCCRERY) another respected member of the Committee on Ways and Means.

Mr. MCCRERY. Mr. Speaker, much of the debate here today has been misleading, to say the least, including the remarks of the previous speaker.

Look. Democrats, I believe, do want to preserve Social Security. So do Republicans. There is no difference. We both want to preserve Social Security. The difference is that for 40 years of Democrat control, they ran a deficit. They spent more at the Federal level than we took in, mounting up a debt on which we had to pay interest and, of course, we could not use that money for Social Security or anything else. So if they had remained in control and continued 40 years of history, of spending more than they were taking in, the only solution to Social Security would have been to raise taxes. Thankfully Republicans gained control of the legislative branch 3½ years ago, and thanks to our fiscal policies getting government spending under control, we are now running a surplus. We are bringing more money into the Federal Government than we are spending for the first time in 30 something years. So, thanks to our policies, we now have an opportunity to save Social Security, to preserve Social Security that the Democrats want to do and that we want to do, but our way to do it is to use the surplus to finance a transition from the current Social Security program to one that will be smarter, use our money more wisely and even give people back more than they are getting now from the Social Security system.

If we take a look at the solutions that have been proposed, none of them spend the entire projected surplus for the next 10 years. They range anywhere from about $650 billion to $900 billion. So we want to use that money to transition to a new Social Security system that will give people more and at least preserve what they have got now. That should be the debate, and that will be the debate, I hope, over the next couple of years, how to preserve the Social Security system. What we have heard here today is a bunch of poppycock and I am tired of it.

Let us be honest. Republicans want to save Social Security, Democrats want to save Social Security. Thanks to our fiscal policies, we now have a chance to do that without raising taxes, and I am thankful for that. Dadgum.

Let me just speak for a minute about the substitute that we are debating now. If the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. TRAFICANT) is correct and if the gentleman from Missouri (Mr. GEPHARDT) is correct and we are really going to lock that money up in the Federal Reserve in New York, well, guess what? Under the wording of the Rangel substitute, we are not only going to lock up the unified budget surplus, we are going to lock up the Social Security surplus. That is what it says. So if the Social Security surplus is more than the unified budget surplus, which it is over the next five years, you are going to have to come up with some spending cuts to finance your plan. What are you going to cut, Medicare? Give me a break.

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Texas (Mr. STENHOLM), one of the strongest supporters of our Social Security system.

(Mr. STENHOLM asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. STENHOLM. Mr. Speaker, I am holding up 10 one-dollar bills. But as you can see, there are none there. Because we do not have a surplus to distribute as yet from anywhere. All of what we are talking about today is projected. Projected.

Let me remind all of us now the facts, because my colleague from Texas is a little sensitive about raiding, and I will not use that, because I agree with him, to a point. But when you have a projected surplus of $520 billion over the next five years, of which $657 billion of the $520 are Social Security trust funds, what else can you define the utilization of those funds other than misuse of Social Security trust fund?

Now, my colleague from Louisiana, I happen to agree with the tone of his comments a moment ago, because I do agree. I have been working with a lot of folks on his side of the aisle on the long term of Social Security. That is why I stand here today absolutely supporting the Rangel substitute and absolutely supporting not supporting the tax cut. Because anyone that has spent any time at all looking at what it is going to take to transcend into a new and survivable Social Security system knows there are transition costs up front that have to be paid for. I challenge anyone, and I would be glad to yield to anybody that would challenge me on anything that I have said thus far. Because anyone, and I know the chairman of the committee has worked on this and the gentleman from Kentucky (Mr. BUNNING) about to speak has worked on this and I believe he will agree. If we are going to solve the long-term problems of Social Security, we have got to have some transition costs. That is why I oppose a short-term political fix of a tax cut because I want to spend the money on Social Security. Because we cannot get from where we are to where we want to be unless we do that.

No one as yet has talked about the debt, $5.4 trillion, and we can point the fingers at what caused it. I am reminded when I point my finger, there are three pointing back at me. But no one also has talked about the $9 trillion unfunded liability of the Social Security system. That is why some of us are so opposed to a tax cut right now, 60 days before an election, because we want to start the day after the election working together in a bipartisan way with our colleagues to solve the long-term Social Security problem. That is why I am here. I do not want my remarks mischaracterized as some have done this morning on the rule. I want it to be perfectly clear why I oppose the tax cut today using Social Security trust funds, because no one can refute me when I say when the projected surplus over the next five years, that is projected, and look at the world economy and tell me that it may not happen.

The conservative thing for us to do is to bank the surplus of Social Security, reserve it for the future of Social Security, and reserve it for perhaps an economy that may not be as good next year as it is today.

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 5 minutes to the gentleman from Kentucky (Mr. BUNNING), the chairman of the Subcommittee on Social Security.

(Mr. BUNNING asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. BUNNING. I thank the gentleman for yielding time. Mr. Speaker, the Democratic alternative is not a good deal for Social Security. On the face of it, one might think that putting aside $1.6 trillion in excess FICA taxes seems better than the $1.4 trillion the GOP would reserve at 90 percent of the total budget surplus. But the amendment adds risks to Social Security that are totally unnecessary. The Democratic substitute sends all excess FICA reserves and receipts to the Federal Reserve Bank in New York City where the central bankers are to invest them in marketable securities.

The Fed's job is to control inflation and provide market liquidity, not invest Social Security funds. This is not the role of the Federal Reserve and only creates a conflict of interest.

When the Federal Reserve buys securities to keep financial markets steady, what will it do with the FICA receipts? Will the Fed's first priority first be to stabilize markets or getting the best deal for Social Security?

After all, investing FICA funds in marketable securities introduces a new risk, market risk from the changing prices of bonds, from which Social Security, under current Treasury investment practices, is spared. While the Treasury Secretary is ordered in this bill to make up the losses, the trackings of trillions of bonds would be so complex Social Security might not receive what it is due.

The Republican plan avoids all this by using the current investment procedures in special Treasury securities that have no price volatility.

For all the increased risk in complexities to Social Security, the bill still has the same budgetary outcome as current law. The surplus would still be on the Federal books and still considered Federal money available for Federal purposes according to the Congressional Budget Office. And if there is a budget surplus other than FICA receipts, is it the intention of the minority to give a tax break to the working Americans, as this Congress will do tomorrow in the tax bill, or spend it away?

Perhaps, however, the intent of the Democratic proposal is larger than what is written here. Is this the prelude, as some Democrats have proposed, of government bureaucrats investing Social Security funds in the private capital markets?

As my colleagues know, Fed Chairman Greenspan fears the interference of government ownership of American businesses and the financial and competitive penalties this could bring to workers and investors.

Private investment of Social Security funds is something we should debate as part of the Social Security reform, not a tax bill, and I, for one, want to take no step, no matter how innocuous it might seem now, to give government, not individuals, control over such enormous sums of money.

When the President spoke to us about reserving the surplus to save Social Security, I believe he meant all types of excess revenues, not just FICA receipts as in the Democratic bill. Under their amendment, if the surplus gets larger due to the historical rise in individual and business income taxes, not a penny of it will be saved for Social Security. The Republican bill captures every penny of this increase and could actually end up reserving greater amounts than the Democratic plan.

Finally, let us put this in perspective. Under current CBO projections, our bill reserves $1.4 trillion over 11 years, and the Democratic plan, $1.6 trillion. For no change in the bottom line, are we willing to have the system take on more risk, alter the income the funds receive and upset the important financial operations of the Federal Reserve? It is just not worth it.

The Democrat substitute introduces new risk for Social Security that we do not need. It creates uncertainty that we cannot justify. The Republican bill is straightforward, honest and safe. It sets aside $1.4 million to save Social Security, using tried and true methods.

Please stick with the Republican bill.

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3½ minutes to the gentleman from California (Mr. STARK), a member of the committee.

Mr. STARK. Mr. Speaker, I must say I am confused by some of the discussions here. I had assumed that the Republicans were pushing to privatize Social Security and invest in things like the long-term capital corporation on Wall Street, but they are sending conflicting messages. They have been for Social Security since 1973, but none of them were around when it came into being, voted for it, and now they want to privatize it, and all I have got to do this morning is convince my mother that her Social Security benefits will continue.

Mr. Speaker, the only thing I can tell her is to not vote Republican, because the record of the Republicans has been to dismantle Social Security since 1935 when they opposed it, and they still do.

But the real issue that we are here debating today is how we are going to pay for the tax cut that we are going to debate tomorrow. And the only way that the Republicans could pay for their tax cut that they want to bring up tomorrow is to endanger the Social Security moneys today. They have got to take 10 percent. Let us forget about the 90 percent, and let us assume that is safe. Let us assume that nobody is going to steal that money. But the 10 percent we are talking about is going out for a tax cut.

Now between now and tomorrow, with the way Republicans write bills in secret and pass them out of the Committee on Rules, they could increase that to 20 percent. Would not make any difference how we vote today, unless my colleagues support the substitute of the gentleman from New York who would lock away that money and take it out of the reach of these spending-crazed Republicans who would like to take this money and have a huge tax cut and increase the deficit even further than their 10 percent will do.

So let us try and not confuse the public with whether we are better off having the Federal Reserve buy government bonds, which are indeed supported by Federal Reserve activities so that they are better investments, or whether we should leave them in a lower interest rate account at the Treasury, which has a fixed maturity value. I think that is splitting hairs. The truth is, the Republican plan gives us no protection beyond today. They say they are going to save 90 percent, but there is nothing in their bill that prevents them from changing their mind the very next day and spending 20 percent instead of 10 percent. And there is nothing in their past history of actions that would give us any confidence that that is not exactly what they will do.

So what I am suggesting to my mom is that if she is worried about Social Security is to support the Rangel amendment which will limit the Republicans, at least, to only spending 10 percent for the tax cut that they want tomorrow, unlike the Democrats who would say, "Let's wait, eat your spinach first, and then get your dessert until there is a true surplus, and then we'll all support the tax bill."

So please support the Rangel substitute so that the seniors can be secure that their old age retirement will be there and that my mother's grandchildren can also be secure in the knowledge that when they pay their taxes out of each paycheck there will be a retirement plan for them as well.

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume simply to briefly comment on what some of the previous speakers have said.

Mr. Speaker, I believe that the gentleman from New York (Mr. RANGEL) is making a good-faith attempt to accomplish his purpose. His scheme, as designed in statutory language, will not do it, number one. And, number two, it will take an even greater risk with the very sacred Social Security funds because it will take those payroll taxes dedicated to Social Security and give them to the Federal Reserve, a Federal Reserve bank that is not accountable to the people, that is not accountable to the Congress, and that is a highly risky activity to take with these sacred funds.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. WELLER).

Mr. WELLER. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to the Rangel substitute, and I stand here in support of the Protect Social Security Account legislation offered by the gentleman from Texas (Mr. ARCHER) which sets aside $1.4 trillion for Social Security.

This is what this debate really is all about. Today we are asking a pretty basic question: Can we save Social Security and can we eliminate the marriage tax penalty at the same time? The gentleman from New York (Mr. RANGEL) says no; the gentleman from Texas (Mr. ARCHER) says yes, and he has offered a plan.

When I think of Social Security, I think of my mom and dad, I think of my Aunt Mary, my Aunt Eileen, my Uncle Jack, my Uncle Bob, all on Social Security, and when I think of the marriage tax penalty I think of my sister Pat and her husband who, like 28 million married working couples, suffer higher taxes just because they are married, and I think we all agree we need to do both. We need to save Social Security and eliminate the marriage tax penalty for married working couples.

What is, I think, a great victory about legislation offered by the gentleman from Texas (Mr. ARCHER) is that we are setting aside $1.4 trillion, which is more than twice what President Clinton said we should set aside back in January. The President said we should set aside the $600 billion surplus at that time. Today, we have the opportunity to set aside more than twice what the President called for, $1.4 trillion.

One clear message that I hear back home and that is, let us keep the politics out of Social Security. Let us be honest about it. We need to work together. Republicans and Democrats need to work together. We have an opportunity today to set aside $1.4 trillion to save Social Security. We also have an opportunity tomorrow to eliminate the marriage tax penalty for people like my sister Pat and her husband, 28 million married working couples who are punished under our Tax Code just because they are married.

Let us save Social Security. Let us eliminate the marriage tax penalty. Let us vote yes for Mr. ARCHER today. Let us vote yes for Mr. ARCHER tomorrow. Let us save Social Security. Let us eliminate the marriage tax penalty.

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. LEVIN) a member of the committee.

(Mr. LEVIN asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. Speaker, Point one:

Let us remember history, where the deficit came from. I heard one of our colleagues on the Committee on Ways and Means talk about it as if it came when the Democrats were running the show.

Most of the deficit occurred in the 1980s when there were Republican Presidents, and we appropriated no more than those Presidents asked for. And the two major deficit reduction bills before last year, in 1990 the majority of Republicans voted no, and in 1993 every single Republican voted no.

Secondly, the emergency argument is pure bootstrap. If it is not an emergency, do not include it within the bill. The Budget Act provides for emergency expenditures. It does not provide for raiding the Social Security fund, and we have to amend the Budget Act in order to do it.

This bill before us is nothing more than an accounting gimmick, a book-keeping contrivance that does nothing to protect Social Security. I support the Rangel substitute. Our colleagues are in a box on this, so they come up with a phony lockbox. Ours is a real one.

What it does, the Rangel substitute, it takes a hundred percent of the budget surplus each year and transfers it aside to the Federal Reserve Bank to be held in trust for Social Security. But the important point is we should not spend any of the budget surplus until we have first taken action to assure the long-term health of Social Security. Without the surplus in Social Security, there is no budget surplus this year. Without Social Security, the general fund of the Treasury will not post a genuine surplus of any size until 2006.

Look, this bill and its companion tomorrow divert 10 percent of the budget surplus, the Social Security surplus. When it comes to Social Security, my constituents and I think theirs say being a 90 percenter is not good enough.

I urge my colleagues to support the Rangel lockbox substitute. This is the time to make saving Social Security the first, not a second or third priority. We must not divert Social Security funds. Let us fix Social Security and then enact a tax cut for American families.

□ 1300

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume, simply to reiterate what I said earlier. I cannot believe that senior citizens in this country or the Association of Retired Persons could support this Rangel substitute to take greater risk with the sacred funds of the Social Security trust fund and put them in the hands of the Federal Reserve, particularly the Federal Reserve Bank that recently bailed out a losing hedge fund in order to save bankers and in order to try to reduce the threat of that, and used, of course, dollars within their control. This is highly risky. I do not know where it came from, we have not had hearings on it, but I am sure that ARP would not support this.

Mr. Speaker, I yield three minutes to the gentleman from Arizona (Mr. HAYWORTH).

Mr. HAYWORTH. Mr. Speaker, I thank my friend, the chairman of the committee, for yielding me time.

Mr. Speaker, to expound upon the comment just made by the distinguished chairman of the committee, we must rise in strong opposition to the Rangel substitute precisely because of its method of devising a so-called lockbox, because it does nothing to serve as stewards or protectors of Social Security. Oh, no, it gives the consideration to the central bankers. The Federal Reserve Bank of New York City. New York City? Why on earth would we devise this legislative sleight of hand?

We understand the desperation of those on the left. Not only intent on bankrupting the Nation fiscally, they are bankrupt and bereft of ideas. So this extension of the politics of fear is made manifest in the Rangel substitute. You see, Mr. Speaker, the left so mistrusts the American people with their own money that they will devise any scheme to put the government in the way of hard working people and their money.

There is another fatal flaw that we should point out, and I listened with great interest to the revisionist theory of my friend from Michigan who comes down with his tired old recitation of government spending, as if history occurs in a vacuum, about the 1980's, and we did not have our defenses fall into great disrepair and we did not confront a superpower intent on enslaving all the world; as if all that was brushed away with a sleight of hand, as if the world was not a dangerous place and it was not incumbent upon President Reagan and others to provide for the common defense.

But the spending question is very interesting here, because we had no less a personage than the President of the United States come to this chamber and stand in that podium for his State of the Union message and say to us all in sterling rhetoric that we should save every penny for Social Security.

Yet, Mr. Speaker, the facts are these: He has already taken $2.9 billion of that surplus to support a misadventure in Bosnia. Those are the facts. And the simple distinction is this: Do we allow the left, thankfully these days the minority, to continue to stand in the way of the American people and their money, in holding onto a small portion of their money through tax relief, or do we allow them to spend it and put the money in the hands of the central bankers?

Reject the Rangel substitute.

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I yield three minutes to the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. CARDIN), a member of the committee.

(Mr. CARDIN asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. CARDIN. Mr. Speaker, the bill before us has one effect and one effect only, and that is to allow us to vote on the tax cut bill tomorrow. It does not protect Social Security, it sets up an accounting gimmick. We should be honest with the American people as to the purpose of this bill.

There are no guaranteed projected surpluses, yet the tax bill we are going to be asked to vote on provides for permanent changes in our tax laws. There is no assurance that only 10 percent of the projected surplus will be used for a tax cut; it could be 20 percent, it could be 30 percent, it could be 100 percent.

The projected Social Security surplus today, that is, payroll taxes and interest, is about $1.5 trillion. But if you ask our actuaries how much money we should have in it to provide for a 75 year solvency of the Social Security system, they will tell you that we need $3.3 trillion, or twice what we have today. So the assumption that we are flush with money just is not true. We do not have enough money to deal with Social Security in the long term, and yet we are asked to vote on a tax bill.

We are going to have the first balanced budget in 30 years, and yet, as the President said, before we even have an opportunity to transfer from red ink to black ink on our accounting, there are those who want to start giving money away.

Let us be fiscally responsible. The tax cut that we voted last year was fully paid for under the budget rules. We did not have to waive the budget rules. Yet the bill we are being asked to vote on tomorrow will violate the budget rules and our discipline.

We talk about emergency spending. Emergency spending is not budgeted. One-time-only emergency spending is consistent under our budget rules. Ninety-eight percent of the budget surplus projected during the next 10 years comes as a result of our Social Security system. Let me put it differently. Without the Social Security system, we would not have any budget surplus. We would not be able to consider a tax bill. No one can dispute that.

So let us be honest: If it were not for Social Security, we would not have a budget surplus and we would not be considering a tax bill tomorrow.

This bill claims to protect 90 percent of the funds for Social Security. It does not do that. If we did not pass any bill, 100 percent of the funds would be in the Treasury, preserved, for preserving Social Security first. The Rangel substitute protects 100 percent of the funds until we have resolved the Social Security problem. It is the right bill to vote on.

I urge my colleagues to support the substitute, so that we can really protect Social Security first and use the surplus monies that have been generated as a result of our Social Security system to resolve the problems of Social Security first, before we consider a tax cut.

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield two minutes to the gentleman from California (Mr. THOMAS), a member of the Committee on Ways and Means.

(Mr. THOMAS asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. THOMAS. Mr. Speaker, it is always dangerous around here to read legislation that you are looking at, but if you were to look at the substitute that the gentleman from New York is offering, it says on the first page, line 15, "If the Secretary of the Treasury determines that there is a Social Security surplus for any fiscal year, such Secretary shall transfer"—transfer—"during such year from the general fund of the Treasury an amount equal to the surplus to the Federal Reserve Bank of New York."

Transfer. If there is a surplus, take the money and transfer it to the Federal Reserve Bank. The Social Security surplus is to be transferred.

I would ask my colleague, the gentleman from New York, if he is going to transfer Social Security surplus monies, and we have been talking about the trust fund involving billions and trillions of dollars in terms of obligations. The Congressional Budget Office, is the facility that we use to estimate the cost of legislation, therefore I would ask the gentleman from New York, does he have a cost estimate of this transfer?

Mr. RANGEL. If the gentleman will yield, I will tell him how this works.

Mr. THOMAS. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman have a cost estimate? Yes or no? I am asking a question. If the gentleman has a response, I would like to hear it. I have very few seconds left here. Does the gentleman have an estimate, yes or no?

Mr. RANGEL. It does not respond to a yes or no answer.

Mr. THOMAS. It does not respond to a yes or no answer. I will tell the gentleman why, because the Congressional Budget Office said this has no budgetary consequence. It is an intergovernmental transfer. The gentleman's argument is they are saving the Social Security trust fund by shipping off, according to the Treasury's recommendation, an amount equal to the Social Security surplus to New York City to a Federal Reserve Bank, and that they are lockboxing, saving Social Security, removing the money so it cannot be spent and sending it to New York City. And the Congressional Budget Office, the agency we use to determine the costs of these actions, says there is no cost. There is no cost because it is an intergovernmental transfer.

This is hogwash, vote no.

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I yield three minutes to the gentlewoman from Florida (Mrs. THURMAN), a member of the committee.

Mrs. THURMAN. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding me time.

Mr. Speaker, a few months ago I actually thought that the Congress was going to address the Social Security shortfall in a bipartisan manner. Well, I guess we are not going to see that. I want to tell you that when I came to Congress, I told my constituents that I was going to put our house in order by reducing the deficit, providing tax relief and saving Social Security.

Well, guess what? We have reduced the deficit, and, last year, we gave tax relief, $95 billion over five years. And do you know what? We gave tax relief that we paid for, the right way, without using the surplus.

In my six years, I have rarely seen a bill so inaccurately titled, "Protect Social Security Account Bill." Let us get something absolutely straight: What they intend to do is take 10 percent of the total budget surplus, which is nearly all due to the contributions that American workers have invested in Social Security, and use it to fund tax cuts. In return, they will reserve 90 percent of the budget surplus.

This is simply irresponsible. Congress does not own the trust fund. The American people, who have paid the taxes into the trust fund, own the trust fund, all of it. Not 90 percent, not 95 percent, not 99 percent, the American people own 100 percent of it. So when you tell the American people that you propose to reserve 90 percent of the surplus, you are in fact robbing them. That is wrong.

I and my democratic colleagues have committed to save Social Security first. We believe that reserving the entire budget surplus until we have resolved the shortfall will have positive results for the entire economy, far outweighing any election year tax cuts.

Let me remind my colleagues: March 5th, before the Committee on the Budget, be cautious about spending it, Greenspan said, adding that the best way to ensure continued economic expansion would be to put the Federal budget into "significant surplus." Doing so, he said, would encourage better saving habits among Americans. Greater savings would promote lower interest rates for borrowers and spur productivity, enhancing investments by business.

Think what that would mean for working Americans who have mortgages, credit card bills and college loans. And to my friends with farmers, certainly they would appreciate that.

Mr. Speaker, the old tax-and-spend days are over. I have not been here for 40 years. This is a new Congress. By supporting the Rangel substitute we can finish a process we started in 1993 and uphold our commitment to the American people.

My constituents have told me time and again, take Social Security off budget. Quit spending the Social Security surplus. The Rangel substitute would save Social Security by setting aside 100 percent of the trust fund. Let us vote for the Rangel substitute.

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield one minute the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN), the respected chairman of the Subcommittee on Foreign Operations, Export Financing and Related Programs of the Committee on Appropriations.

(Mr. CALLAHAN asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Speaker, for the benefit of our television audience and the people in the gallery, we are not today going to convince a single Member of Congress of the rights or wrong or merits or demerits of this issue. But keep in mind, I have something that I think both sides will agree with, which we need some bipartisan agreement on here.

The American people watching this today, and especially senior citizens, are going to be deluged in the next couple of weeks with letters from organizations here in Washington and outside Washington telling them that Social Security is endangered, and it is going to be filled with a lot of misinformation.

The bottom line, usually the postscript, is going to say, send $15 or $25 or $50, and let us save Social Security. We in Congress will work on Social Security. It will be saved. It will be solvent, but there is no need for anyone listening to send one dime to any organization in order to save Social Security. Rely on your Member of Congress.

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentlewoman from Florida (Mrs. MEEK).

Ms. MEEK of Florida. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding time to me.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of the Rangel substitute. I am a senior citizen. I am speaking on behalf of those who come after me, those who will not have the opportunity to share in the resources of the Social Security Act.

When I came to Congress, I served on the Committee on the Budget under the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. KASICH). We talked about the budget agreement. There is a budget agreement. So what the Republicans are doing, Mr. Speaker, they are breaking their promise to the American public. The American people do not like broken promises. They have heard them too many times.

Social Security is extremely important to all of us. It is extremely important to senior citizens. When Members go back to their districts and walk the byways and trailways of this country, every American will tell us, leave Social Security alone. What this Rangel substitute does is it puts it aside so we as politicians can leave it alone for a while and leave it there, where it purports to be from the very beginning.

By their actions, it appears to me that over the years, and I have been here longer than a lot of people, the Republicans do not seem to like Social Security. They have used every kind of methodology to make it look remiss. They have tried their very best to show that it is failing and it should be put aside, or to privatize it.

I am here to say to the American public, on behalf of this country, let us stick to our word. This bill is too risky. It takes too many promises that they cannot submit. Some of us may not even be here when this comes up. I say, take the Rangel substitute and turn down the Archer.

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from South Carolina (Mr. SANFORD).

Mr. SANFORD. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding time to me.

Mr. Speaker, I admire the intention of my colleague, the gentleman from New York (Mr. RANGEL) on this proposal, but I would respectfully ask that my colleagues reject it. I would say that for four different reasons.

I would say, first of all, that the notion here is that this time it will be different. How many times have we heard that in Washington, D.C., this time it will be different? In other words, what we have been doing in Washington is borrowing against trust fund balances for the last 30 years, and what is proposed with this super-duper trust fund, if you will, is that this time it will be different. What people back home tell me is that they do not buy into the idea that this time things will be different.

Two, I think it offers false hope. If we look at what the trustees have said, the trustees would say, whether this proposal went through or not, Social Security would begin to run shortfalls in about 15 years, and it would be out of money, unable to pay its obligations, in about 30 years. That would not change with this.

Thirdly, I would say that it moves us in the wrong direction. We are going to go in one of two directions in this debate, over the long run, on Social Security. We are going to either move towards greater personal control of one's savings, which I think is the real way we keep politicians' hands off our money, or we are going to move toward collective investment.

I think there is nothing more dangerous than the idea of collective investment. This sets up the mechanism for collective investment, wherein $40 billion a year could go into the private sector. What people back home who care about limiting the size and scope of government tell me is that that is not a good idea.

For these reasons I would ask that we reject the Rangel proposal.

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentlewoman from Connecticut (Ms. DELAUBRO).

Ms. DELAUBRO. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from New York for yielding time to me.

Mr. Speaker, Social Security is one of our Nation's greatest success stories. It really is financial bedrock for our country's elderly, for hardworking American families who want to retire with some peace of mind. I think it is important to note that two-thirds of our seniors depend on Social Security for more than half of their retirement income. But in fact, Social Security is under attack. This bill would raid Social Security to pay for a tax bill.

I believe in tax cuts. Too many parents today sit at their kitchen tables trying to figure out how to pay their bills. They are raising their children, they are working harder to making ends meet. I also believe when they sit there that they have a certain relief knowing that Social Security will be there when they retire. The American public overwhelmingly wants to make sure that the Social Security trust fund is there to pay for Social Security and nothing else, not tax cuts today that jeopardize Social Security tomorrow.

Do not take my word for it. Martha Phillips, with the conservative Concord Coalition: "Policymakers who are lining up to spend those so-called budget surpluses should keep in mind that the money they are talking about consists entirely of Social Security's annual trust fund surpluses."

Steve Moore of the Cato Institute, another conservative organization: "The solution is simple: Formally wall off Social Security from the rest of the budget to prevent continued thievery from the trust fund."

Vote for the Rangel tax cut proposal. It says, let us not raid Social Security to pay for tax cuts. We can have our tax cuts when Social Security is safe and secure for the future.

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Texas (Mr. EDWARDS).

Mr. EDWARDS. Mr. Speaker, if I robbed a bank of 10 percent of its cash or its revenues, I seriously doubt the police and judge would accept my excuse that, Officer, Judge, I was really trying to save the bank. Yet, incredibly, that is what my Republican colleagues are doing today. They are saying, we just want to take 10 percent out of Social Security taxes that should be used to protect Social Security, and use that money for election-year promises and gimmicks.

Mr. Speaker, a judge would never believe my excuse as a bank robber. I do not think the American senior citizens are going to believe this explanation of the bill today. The fact is, the American people will have to choose today, who do they trust better to protect Social Security, Democrats or Republicans.

In my brief time, I would only point out that the number two ranking Republican leader in this House, the gentleman from Texas (Mr. ARMEY), said on September 28 of 1994, "I would never have created Social Security."

I think the American people will answer the question today. That answer will be, resoundingly, we trust the Democrats to protect our Social Security retirement.

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I would simply say, in response to the gentleman who just spoke, it is a good question, whom will senior citizens trust, the Treasury of the United States or the Federal Reserve Bank of New York?

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from North Dakota (Mr. POMEROY).

Mr. POMEROY. Mr. Speaker, on the issue before us, this Congress stands at a very important crossroads: Do we go down the easy path of dissipating the Social Security surplus on election year gimmicks like this proposed tax cut, or do we brace ourselves for the tough march that lies ahead to secure Social Security, to address the long-term solvency problem in Social Security so it will work as well for our grandchildren as it has worked for our parents and grandparents? It is a critical question.

Dissipating Social Security trust funds makes our problem worse. We already have bills before this session that would require someone to work until they are 70 years old before they would get their Social Security payment, or that would raise the tax on Social Security, making wage-earners pay even more into Social Security. Both of these measures are to fill the solvency hole we already have.

Mr. Speaker, a tax cut on the Social Security surplus would only make the problem worse. The question before us is one most of us have never faced before, the first surplus we have seen in 30 years. Let us hold the Social Security surplus for Social Security. Pass the Rangel substitute.

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as she may consume to the gentlewoman from Texas (Ms. JACKSON-LEE).

(Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas asked and was given permission to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas. Mr. Speaker, in order to save Social Security and instill trust, I rise to support the Rangel amendment.

Mr. Speaker, I strongly support the Democratic amendment. Only by transferring 100% of any Social Security Trust Fund surpluses to the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, can we look our constituents in the eye and say, "Yes, you can trust in us. We have protected your future, your children's future, and your grandchildren's future."

The Republican bill appears to save 90% of the budget surplus, leaving 10% to Congressional discretion. Although this figure seems fair at first, I do not believe that we should have the discretion to use 1% of our citizens' futures, much less 10%.

I fear that stealing 10% from the Social Security will create a dangerous precedent. What will stop Congress from taking out a higher percentage of the surplus in subsequent years? I may be 10% this year, but it could be 50% within two or three years. We should not give Congress free reign over this money.

Worse yet, it does not appear that the Republican plan protects the remaining 90% of the budget surplus. Unlike the Democratic amendment that places the surpluses in the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, the Republican bill does not ensure that the Social Security surplus is off-budget. In other words, Congress may still choose to delve into these funds when the next election comes around. This approach is simply unfair to the American public, and it deceives our citizens into thinking that their futures are secure.

We must put these funds in a lock box where political maneuvering cannot reach them. By placing 100% of the surplus in the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, the Democratic amendment would properly lock away this valuable resource.

Moreover, the Republican measure relies upon the spending of $200 billion of the surplus, money that may not exist. As recently as last month, we did not have a surplus. The Republicans rely solely upon a projected surplus, and the Republicans even admit that their projections may be erroneous. Our constituents, our citizens, deserve better treatment than this. What kind of message do we send when we attempt to spend what we do not have?

Even if we had a surplus, who are we to spend this money? It is not for us; it is for our retiring citizens. The money found in the surplus comes from payroll contributions. The money should be returned to the people who originally invested it.

The Republican measure endangers the future of Social Security itself, not just the people who rely upon this fund. It is well-known that Social Security will face a fiscal crisis early in the next century as the baby boomer generation retires. Too many of our citizens drink from this well, and the Republican bill would allow politicians to spill this precious resource, drying up the sole reservoir for those who truly need it.

Please do not think that I am against tax cuts. I strongly favor "fiscally responsible" tax relief. Democrats have proposed and voted for many tax cuts this year. The bipartisan 1997 Tax Cut bill included almost $300 billion in tax cuts over a ten-year period, and many democrats support even greater tax relief for the middle-class than was contemplated by that bill.

I just believe that tax cuts should be based upon sound reasoning. Haphazard legislation such as the Republican bill simply does not fulfill this notion of fiscally responsible tax relief.

Instead, I strongly support sounder approaches such as this Democratic amendment. I also support approaches such as the Democratic amendment to H.R. 4579 that delays tax cuts until we know for sure that the Social Security Trust fund will be available to our citizens for years to come. This idea is the true embodiment of fiscally responsible tax relief.

I urge my colleagues to vote for this amendment. It is the only way we can ensure that our American citizens have a financial future as they reach their golden years.

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from New Jersey, Mr. MENENDEZ.

(Mr. MENENDEZ asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. MENENDEZ. Mr. Speaker, I heard a Republican colleague earlier defend the Republican bill by saying, "in this case, less is more." Only in Washington would someone say "less is more" with a straight face, that less protection is more security. But I am glad that at least we have one Republican on the record who admits that their bill in fact does less. It does less to protect Social Security, it does less to protect our seniors, and it puts aside less of the surplus. Less in this case is not more.

The Democratic bill saves 100 percent of the budget surplus for Social Security, because seniors put 100 percent into their contributions over years and years of work. They did not put 90 percent in, they did not put 95 percent in, they put 100 percent in. That is what we should protect, not a penny less.

Republicans should be ashamed to come down here to the floor and convince seniors that less is more. Our seniors know that less is not more, that less protection is not more security. They know who is on their side. They know it is the Democratic plan. Let us pass the Rangel substitute.

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1/2 minute to the gentlewoman from North Carolina (Mrs. CLAYTON).

(Mrs. CLAYTON asked and was given permission to revise and extend her remarks.)

Mrs. CLAYTON. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding time to me.

Mr. Speaker, Social Security is the most important program that we have that is working. It makes the difference between the elderly living in poverty, and to convince them that taking 10 percent of their safety net, that they are helping them, they do not buy that.

I would say to the Members, if they really want to help Social Security, they would put 100 percent in. Support the Rangel substitute. That is the only way we can convince the American seniors that we are sincere.

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I yield the balance of our time to the gentleman from California (Mr. FAZIO).

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. THORNBERRY). The gentleman from California (Mr. FAZIO) is recognized for 1 minute.

Mr. FAZIO of California. Mr. Speaker, as we look to the next Congress, the one that will fix the Social Security system for the out years, the baby boomers, we need to maintain every dime we can so that we do not end up forcing people to work longer or live longer to benefit from the same Social Security system that those that preceded them have.

We also need to think about this election year tax cut in another context. The average working family, paying the most regressive tax on income that we have, the FICA tax, would be, in effect, asked to take their taxes and transfer them to the proposed beneficiaries of this Republican election year tax cut. We are therefore asking our working families to take their hard-earned dollars to provide tax breaks for others.

However valuable they may be, however worthy they may be, those tax breaks must wait for the day when we have a surplus in the general fund, and that, Mr. Speaker, is 5 or 6 years away. To go for the cotton candy of a tax cut in an election year out of the hides of working American families is unconscionable.

This Congress should support the Rangel substitute and avoid doing it.

Mr. Speaker, this Republican misses the point of what Americans really want.

We do not want to take money out of the Social Security Trust Fund for purposes other than Social Security.

The American people pay Social Security taxes and expect that money to go to Social Security.

Democrats believe that any future surplus should go to insuring the solvency of Social Security.

So, why now are we specifying that only 90% of any surplus should go to saving Social Security and 10% can go elsewhere?

Let's look at numbers.

If in fiscal year 1999 we have an $80 billion Social Security Trust Fund surplus and a $37 billion general fund deficit, why should $8 billion of the surplus for that year go somewhere other than to Social Security?

Over the next 10 years, we'll need over $1.55 trillion to pay the future beneficiaries of the Social Security system—the elderly; the children, widows and widowers receiving survivor benefits; and the disabled—not prop up our budget.

We need all 100%—not just 90%—of future budget surpluses to ensure that this anti-poverty program continues beyond 2032.

Let's be fiscally responsible and use the Social Security Trust Fund for who it was intended—the elderly, disabled and children—not to provide tax cuts.

□ 1330

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield the balance of my time to the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. GINGRICH), the Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Mr. GINGRICH. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Texas (Chairman ARCHER), my friend, for yielding me this time.

Mr. Speaker, I must say, during the time I was on the floor, I listened to a series of Members with amazement. The distinguished gentleman from New York (Mr. RANGEL), the ranking member on the Committee on Ways and Means, had an opportunity recently to vote on the question of spending part of the surplus, and he voted "yes." He would spend part of the surplus. This is House vote number 430 on September 15. He voted to spend part of the surplus, but it was on government, not the taxpayers.

The gentleman from California who just spoke had a chance to vote on that day. He voted "yes" to spend part of the surplus, but it was on government, not the taxpayers.

I will say the gentlewoman from North Carolina (Mrs. CLAYTON) did not vote "yes." She did not happen to vote that particular day. But the gentlewoman from Texas (Ms. JACKSON-LEE) voted "yes" to spend part of the surplus, but on government, not on the taxpayers.

The gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. MENENDEZ), who spoke a few minutes ago, voted "yes" to spend part of the surplus, but on government, not on the taxpayers. And the gentlewoman from Connecticut (Ms. DELAUR) who spoke voted "yes" to spend part of the surplus, but on government, not on the taxpayer.

Every person but one who just finished this debate on the other side voted to spend part of the surplus on September 15 on government.

The Clinton administration has sent up a proposal, in between fund-raising trips, and they sent up a proposal that said, spend money on Bosnia, but not the taxpayers. They said, spend money for the government to fix Y2K, but do not let the taxpayers have money to fix their own commuters. They said, spend money on Africa, but not the taxpayers.

Again and again and again the liberal Democrats get up, and I will bet that between now and the time we leave there are several votes where liberal Democrats vote "yes" to government spending out of the surplus, because if it is government money, that is okay. But now this idea of letting the taxpayers have some of that, that is dangerous. Then they would not be dependent on government. Then power would not be in Washington. Then they would not need the bureaucrats.

Now, they raise this phony issue about Social Security. And it is phony on three grounds. It is phony, first of all, because the fact is we are setting aside more money for Social Security than the President requested in January. Now, that is a fact and the gentleman knows it. The gentleman knows when the President stood up here in January he was talking about a surplus whose total was around $650 billion. This proposal sets aside more money, 60 percent more money, than the President requested.

Second, the gentleman knows that when asked as a result of the tax bill being considered by the committee today, will there be any impact on the monies in the Social Security trust fund, the Clinton administration's Deputy Commissioner for Social Security said, "no," there is no impact to the trust fund from this particular vote.

But the other part I have to say to my good friend, to suggest, as his substitute does, that instead of keeping the money in the U.S. Treasury we send it to the New York Federal Reserve Bank, I just had the numbers run on the last great crisis in the price of treasuries which was 1973. Over the period we are considering, we would put $750 billion in the New York Reserve Bank. That money would be of a floating value of the nature of money held in the New York Reserve Bank.

In the 1973 oil crisis, U.S. treasuries declined 20 percent in value. That would be $150 billion lost in the value of the notes held by the New York Federal Reserve Bank. So, I cannot believe my good friend from New York really wants to risk losing $150 billion in Social Security value by putting this money in notes that would have a floating value.

So, I would understand if at some point before we get to a vote the gentleman wants to withdraw his substitute. Because I cannot imagine that he wants his colleagues to vote for a proposal to put at risk all of the excess FICA tax money by putting it in notes that would be of a floating value.

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. GINGRICH. I yield to the gentleman from New York briefly.

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, because these Treasury notes, these notes that will be in the Federal Reserve are always redeemable, they are not at risk. And if they ever became at risk in the Federal Reserve Bank, it would mean the Republic would be bankrupt.

Mr. GINGRICH. Mr. Speaker, reclaiming my time, let me say to the gentleman from New York, and I am not the expert that he is on much of this, but I am assured by the experts, and I am sure later if he would like to check with the folks that the gentleman from Texas (Mr. ARCHER) has assembled on this, there is a big difference between the New York Reserve Bank holding the notes where they do change and fluctuate in value and the rest of the system.

Mr. Speaker, let me just wrap up for a minute. Let me just say we have a surplus because we have consistently worked through welfare reform, through controlling spending, through cutting taxes, to encourage economic growth.

We have proposed to set aside over a trillion dollars. My good friends on the left in the 40 years they were in charge of the House set aside zero. Let me make it clear. All of our good friends who are complaining today, during the 40 years they were in charge set aside zero for Social Security.

We are setting aside today over a trillion dollars, 60 percent more than President Clinton asked for in January. And we are setting it aside in the safest possible Treasury notes held by the U.S. Treasury, not put at risk in New York City.

My other point is very straightforward. All of our friends on the left are going to vote to spend part of the surplus on government. All of our friends on the left but one of those who voted on September 15, all but one voted to spend money on government out of the surplus.

The only time they start to yell about the surplus is if the money is going back to the taxpayer, because from their standpoint that is dangerous since that means the money is not available for bureaucracy.

Let me note what the bill offered by the gentleman from Texas (Chairman ARCHER) does. It begins to phase out the marriage tax, so we are not punishing people when they get married. It accelerates lifting the amounts Americans can earn over the age of 65 without being punished, so we are not punishing senior citizens.

It goes immediately to a million dollar exclusion for the death tax to save family farms and small businesses. It has a savings proposal that helps 10 million senior citizens by eliminating the tax on the first $200 of interest and dividends.

It allows small business owners who are self-employed to buy health insurance with the same tax break as big corporations, which helps people buy health insurance and helps children have health coverage. And, finally, it eliminates the Federal tax on local school boards, so local school boards have $1.4 billion more for local school construction, something my good friend from New York has said he favors. Here is a chance to have those local school boards have $1.4 billion more at home to build schools without any new Federal bureaucrat, any new Federal red tape, any new Federal regulation.

Mr. Speaker, these are the kinds of positive tax cuts that help the American family, help senior citizens, help farmers, help small businesses and help local schools. It is done within a framework based on welfare reform, controlling spending and economic growth through tax cuts that has allowed us in 3½ years to move from a projected $3,100 trillion deficit to a projected $1.6 trillion surplus.

We can say to the American people for the first time in their lifetime that we are prepared to set real money aside from a real surplus. None of our Democratic friends who are complaining can say that. We are simply saying to the Democrats, if they vote against the taxpayer having the surplus, then they ought to vote against the government having the surplus. But it is wrong to increase spending on Bosnia, to increase spending in Africa, to increase spending on government commutes, to increase spending on government programs, and then say to the taxpayer that they are not good enough to get their own money back. We need to keep it in Washington for the Washington bureaucrats.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to vote against the substitute, vote in favor of protecting Social Security in a real way by setting aside over a trillion dollars in the surplus.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the amendment in the nature of a substitute offered by the gentleman from New York (Mr. RANGEL).

The question was taken; and the Speaker pro tempore announced that the noes appeared to have it.

PROVIDING FOR CONSIDERATION OF H.R. 2621, RECIPROCAL TRADE AGREEMENT AUTHORITIES ACT OF 1997

Mr. DREIER. Mr. Speaker, by direction of the Committee on Rules, I call up House Resolution 553 and ask for its immediate consideration.

The Clerk read the resolution, as follows:

H. RES. 553

Resolved, That upon the adoption of this resolution it shall be in order without intervention of any point of order to consider in the House the bill (H.R. 2621) to extend trade authorities procedures with respect to reciprocal trade agreements, and for other purposes. The bill shall be considered as read for amendment. The amendment in the nature of a substitute recommended by the Committee on Ways and Means now printed in the bill, modified by the amendments printed in the report of the Committee on Rules accompanying this resolution, shall be considered as adopted. All points of order against the bill, as amended, are waived. The previous question shall be considered as ordered on the bill, as amended, to final passage without intervening motion except: (1) two hours of debate on the bill, as amended, which shall be equally divided and controlled by the chairman and ranking minority member of the Committee on Ways and Means; and (2) one motion to recommit with or without instructions.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. THORNBERY). The gentleman from California (Mr. DREIER) is recognized for 1 hour.

Mr. DREIER. Mr. Speaker, for purposes of debate only, I yield the customary 30 minutes to the gentleman from Dallas, Texas (Mr. FROST), and pending that I yield myself such time as I may consume. During consideration of this resolution, all time yielded is for the purpose of debate only.

(Mr. DREIER asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks and include extraneous material.)

Mr. DREIER. Mr. Speaker, the global economy is a reality. One of the facts of American life in 1998 is that those of us who are here are all impacted by economic conditions that are out there, out in the big wide world.

Singapore and Moscow may seem a long way from a kitchen table in Temple City, California, but when the couple sitting around it see their retirement savings hurt, when stock markets start falling in Asia, it hits very close to home. Sao Paulo or South Africa may be on the other side of the world from Peoria, Illinois, but when we cannot ship tractors from here to there cheaper than they can be built over there, workers in America's heartland get hurt. Geneva, Switzerland, may seem a long way from Topeka, Kansas, but if the United States is not able to lead the World Trade Organization negotiations on agriculture when they start next year because the U.S. Trade Representative is not armed with fast track, family farmers are going to see their livelihood damaged.

Finally, working families in every town in America enjoy the best selection of products at the very best prices giving them the highest standard of living possible because we trade freely with people across the globe. That fact is at the heart of why the American economy works.

This rule makes in order H.R. 2621, fast track legislation reported last year by the Committee on Ways and Means with very strong bipartisan support. As has been the case in past years, this is a closed rule. It provides for 2 hours of general debate divided equally between the chairman and ranking member of the Committee on Ways and Means. The rule provides that the amendment in the nature of a substitute recommended by the Committee on Ways and Means now printed in the bill modified by the amendments printed in the report of the Committee on Rules accompanying this resolution shall be considered as adopted. The rule waives all points of order against the bill, as amended, and provides for one motion to recommit with or without instructions.

Now, Mr. Speaker, American families cannot afford for the President and the Congress to hide from trade policy. This debate is about the future. Will America lead the global economy into the 21st century, or will we sit and wait to see what kind of rules, trade rules, that the French, Australian, Brazilian and Indian negotiators think up?

Debating trade policy is never easy in this House, the greatest institution of democracy the world has ever known. Election day is always too close. Divisions between interest groups are always too deep. Emotions from people who believe trade has done them wrong are always running too high.

Well, today, Mr. Speaker, is the day to step up to the plate. I believe that when America leads Americans win. If we continue to lead the international economy, we have the best chance to control our destiny and bring about a future of hope and prosperity.

The alternatives, whether in the form of the stagnant pleas for protectionism or the siren calls that next week, next month or next year are really the right time to debate this issue really appeal only to fear, fear of foreign workers, fear of foreign products, fear of losing, but most of all, Mr. Speaker, fear of the future.

International markets are watching how the United States will respond to the challenges confronting the world economy. Eyes and ears are following this debate in every capital city in every financial market around the world. But they are not the audience that I care most about. Instead I hope that working families including the rank and file union members in cities and towns across America understand what is at stake here.

Every mother needs to know that her ability to shop for the best products at the best prices from food and clothes to toys and televisions will be directly impacted by the outcome of this debate. Every American worker needs to understand that the ability to compete in export markets and sell American products abroad will be directly impacted by the fate of this fast track bill.

Mr. Speaker, the 21st Century demands some things from us. We need to educate and train our students and workers to be the best; we need to invest in tomorrow's technologies today; we need a Federal Government that is effective and efficient; we need private sector companies to create good jobs at good wages; and we need to make sure that international trade rules are written with American interests at heart.

Mr. Speaker, the President called fast track one of his top legislative priorities when he stood right here in this chamber and delivered his State of the Union address. Today is the day to do the right thing for America, and to enact what it is the President asked for.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I thank my colleague, the gentleman from California (Mr. DREIER), for yielding me the customary half-hour.

Mr. Speaker, the bill for which this rule provides consideration is just as bad as it was last November. In fact, besides a few little nips and tucks here and there, it is exactly the same bill. Last year that bill did not have enough votes to be brought to the floor, and today my Republican colleagues know that this bill will fail too.

Since it is doomed from the start, Mr. Speaker, it is a fair question to ask, why it is on the floor today? Since it is not going anywhere, since it is going to fail, it is reasonable to ask, why we are spending precious legislative time doing this measure?

Mr. Speaker, I suspect that the only reason that the Republican leadership is bringing this up today is because they want to try and embarrass the President. There is no other reason to bring it up.

Let me say that President Clinton has not asked for fast track negotiating authority this year. He has said he will wait for it next year, but he does not want it brought up at this time. Even without this authority, the President has already negotiated some 200 new trade deals, so this is simply not something we need to be doing at this time. The common wisdom is that this bill will fail, and, with its failure, highlight some of the erosion of support for the President.

Mr. Speaker, when, not if, this bill fails, it will mean absolutely nothing, other than it is a bad bill. It was a bad bill last November, and its appearance on the floor today is for nothing other than partisan show.

It has no worker protections, no environmental protections, and no protections for human rights. It will open American markets to goods and services from countries with lax environmental and worker protections. In doing so, it will cost Americans their jobs, and, in far too many cases, it will cost Americans their health.

There is a tragic aspect of what is happening today. Because of the cynicism of the Republican tactics, some Democrats who support the concept of fast track will vote "no" today. The result will be that fast track will fail by a larger margin than would have been true had the vote been taken last year, and the size of the defeat will make it more difficult for the two sides to come together with a compromise solution next spring.

Let me be very clear on that point: The Republican majority is trading short-term political gain for long-term political loss. By their very act of forcing a vote today, they significantly lessen the chances that people of goodwill in both parties may be able to arrive at a satisfactory solution next year. Business community supporters of fast track should be furious that their supposed friends on the other side of the aisle have sold them down the river for short-term partisan gain.

I urge my colleagues to oppose this bill. It is a sham. The bill is a sham, and the American people deserve some sincere legislation from their Congress.

I also ask my colleagues to oppose the previous question. If the previous question is defeated, I will offer an amendment to make in order the McKinney amendment to establish a corporate code of conduct as a principal trade negotiating objective and the Peterson amendment expanding the Committee on Agriculture's jurisdiction with respect to trade agreements.

Vote no on the previous question, vote no on the resolution, vote no on the bill. Let us put this partisan nonsense out of the way and get on with the business of the people.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. DREIER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, as I prepare to yield to my friend the gentleman from Bloomfield Hills, Michigan, (Mr. KNOLLENBERG), I would simply like to say the politicization on this issue is taking place by Members who are for fast track and have made a decision to vote against fast track. I think that itself is a real tragedy.

Mr. Speaker, I yield two minutes to my friend, the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. KNOLLENBERG).

Mr. KNOLLENBERG. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to express my strong support for this rule, and I thank the gentleman from California (Mr. DREIER) for yielding me this time.

Mr. Speaker, this legislation gives the office of the President the authority that it needs to make sure the U.S. is speaking with one voice during trade negotiations. A vote for fast track is not a vote for any trade agreement. Any future agreement will be subject to full Congressional scrutiny. It requires the President to consult with Congress before and during negotiations. Also, in the end, Congress gets an up or down vote. If we have any reservations at all with any specific trade agreement, we can simply vote it down.

If the United States wants to continue its leadership in the global economy, and I think we do, we must take aggressive steps to expand markets for all of our products throughout the world. This will create more jobs for American workers. In all, over 11 million jobs are supported right now by exports. These jobs pay, believe it or not, 15 percent or more on average. Fast track is crucial to ensure that American business, workers and communities continue to reap the benefits from an expanded market opportunity.

American workers are the best in the world. Their creativity, productivity and work ethic is unmatched throughout the globe. Free trade agreements are about giving those workers more, not less, opportunity, and putting the unemployed back on the job.

Fast track gives us the tools we need to negotiate these agreements and tear down those barriers to trade and investment. It opens foreign markets and creates new consumers for American products. That is good for American business, and it is even better for the American worker.

Do not let our workers be left behind. Support this rule. Support fast track.

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, I yield two minutes to the gentleman from New York (Mr. RANGEL).

(Mr. RANGEL asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I had thought that my Republican colleagues wanted to go into this election based on their legislative record, having changed the Washington National Airport to Ronald Reagan Airport. I thought you could go and win with that. But it looks like on the eve of the election you are coming back with substantive legislation that, even though you know you cannot win with it, that obviously there is some point to be made, and that is probably why we saw the raid on Social Security, coupled with the tax cut. And, even though it is a loser, who would have thought that you would deliberately come back to the floor with fast track, knowing that you have got another loser?

There are certain things that we cannot do in a partisan way. Medicare reform, Social Security reform and trade agreements, they have to be bipartisan. But now that you refuse to include certain protections for the workers and for human rights and for the environment, and the President would like to work and to fashion a fast track bill that does not embarrass us with our trading partners, does not embarrass us with our business community, you insist on bringing this up before the election, not caring how many Republicans or Democrats get hurt by having to vote for a bill that is far from perfect.

It would seem to me that if we are concerned about giving the President that authority, the first thing we should do is ask the President, does he want it at this time? It seems to me that if you want the support of labor, you would sit at the table and see whether labor and management can work out something that makes it easier for us to move forward with this legislation. But if all you want to do is embarrass Democrats, always remember that as you throw mud at Democrats, some Republicans too are going to get splattered.

Mr. DREIER. Mr. Speaker, I yield two minutes to the gentlewoman from Bellevue, Washington (Ms. DUNN), a very valued member of the Subcommittee on Trade, Ms. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I thank the soon-to-be chairman of the Committee on Rules for yielding me time.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of the rule and of H.R. 2621. The world is a much different place today than it was when this House last considered fast track negotiating authority over six years ago. Capitalism has spread to every corner of the earth and once-undeveloped countries have flourished under the economic freedoms this system provides to us.

Nevertheless, a global economic downturn that began over 15 months ago is severely impacting many of these countries and is harming our ability to export goods. In Washington State alone, our combined exports to Southeast Asia are down 35 percent over last year. Consumer spending will help drive these economies out of recession, so we must make sure that our products are available to them. Our failure to negotiate trade agreements with other countries will only assure that agreements are made that exclude the United States.

Since 1992, in Latin America and Asia alone, our competitors have negotiated

20 free trade agreements that exclude the United States. Chile, for example, has a trade deal with every major economy in this hemisphere except us, giving each of our competitors an 11 percent tariff advantage, costing our citizens extra taxes on imported goods and costing our American workers jobs.

The world is not waiting for the United States. If we do not renew trade negotiating authority, we are closing the door on American workers and on American consumers. Clearly the ability to freely trade goods and services between nations is essential to achieving a long-term economic objective of the United States.

Self-interest alone would dictate that we pass this bill. As the world's lone remaining superpower, however, we must not act solely out of self-interest. These are turbulent times in many blossoming democracies, and many are crying out for the one thing the United States can provide better than anybody, and that is leadership. We must not shrink from this challenge.

For the sake of American workers and American consumers and the defense of free trade and economic freedom, I urge my colleagues to vote for this bill and support this rule.

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, I yield four minutes to the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. BONIOR).

Mr. BONIOR. Mr. Speaker, I thank my colleague for yielding me time.

Mr. Speaker, as we debate this fast track today, I cannot help but ask, why did the Speaker insist on bringing this up, when he knows it is going to fail? Even the Republican leadership admits that this bill does not have the votes to pass. It is identical to the bill that was pulled from the floor last year, except now it even has fewer votes.

I want to pause here for a second to commend my colleague, the gentleman from California (Mr. MATSUI). He has made the point and he has made it very forcefully that our trade policy is too important to be used as a political football. With America's trade deficit higher than ever, we should be thinking of new ways, new ideas on trade; not rewarming yesterday's leftovers.

I had a meeting several months ago with Charlene Barshefsky, who is our Trade Representative, and she said, "I don't know what is happening or what you are doing," and she was speaking to me in the generic sense, "but," she said, "our trade representatives from all over the world that I meet with now are beginning to talk about the issues that you and others have raised, the issues of the environment, the issues of labor rights and human rights. It is not something that is just coming from the majority in this body. It is coming now from the grassroots, whether it is in Canada, whether it is in Western Europe, Latin America, and," she said, "it is even coming from Asia."

America's trade policies should reflect this new thinking. If the Republican leadership was truly serious about passing fast track, they would sit down with us and they would develop a new approach based on these values.

Our trade policy is not working. After five years of NAFTA the results are in: It is bad for everyone except for big corporations. After the fast track bill was pulled last year, I got on a bus with several of my colleagues and we went to the south, and then we went to the west. We went to see the farm country and we went to see the people who worked in our factories.

In Atlanta, Georgia, I met a woman by the name of Annie Harris. She worked almost 30 years for AT&T, making phones, making about $13.50 an hour. That was before AT&T laid her off and moved her factory to Mexico. She now works for a Target Store for $7.50 an hour. She sells the same phones she used to make, except the prices went up on them.

She is not alone. NAFTA is hurting hundreds of thousands of people on both sides of the border.

We also went to Mexico. I know met with people like Rosa Maria Gonzales, who works at a modern factory assembling circuit boards. She makes 59 cents an hour, 59 cents an hour. She lives in a cardboard shack next to a sewage canal. She lives in a shack made out of the cardboard that she helps package the circuit boards in.

This is the grim harvest of NAFTA. Yet the Republican fast track supporters want everybody to ignore all this. They want us to repeat the mistakes of the past.

We say no. We can do and have to do much better than that. This is not a debate, as they may say, about free trade versus protectionism. That debate ended a long time ago. This is a debate about our future. It is about American leadership. It is about our prosperity.

America needs a new trade policy based upon our democratic values that our mothers, our fathers, and our grandfathers fought so valiantly for: the right to organize, the right to work, the right to collective bargaining, the right to a decent wage, to clean air, clean water. Our trade policy betrays those issues and those values.

We need a new trade policy that harnesses the power of markets to lift standards abroad, not tear them down here at home. We stand ready to make that happen, because we believe in a better future. This fast track is not the way to that future. This fast track drags America backwards. Do not vote for this Trojan horse designed to divide and distract. It will not work. Vote no.

Mr. DREIER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I would like to quote President Clinton on July 23, just a few weeks ago, when he said, "I would support voting on fast track whenever we think we can pass it." Mr. Speaker, it is very clear that if a majority of the Members of this House were to do the right thing, we could pass it today.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to my friend, the gentleman from Terrace Park, Ohio (Mr. PORTMAN).

Mr. PORTMAN. Mr. Speaker, I thank my friend, the gentleman from California, for yielding time to me.

I would like to say to the gentleman who just spoke, this is not a debate today about trade policy. If he wants to talk about trade policy, he ought to talk to President Clinton about what kind of multilateral agreements he might want to negotiate with foreign countries. This is about giving the President the ability to enter into those agreements.

This is so straightforward. I cannot believe this Congress on both sides of the aisle is not going to allow this administration, on behalf of our country, to negotiate trade agreements with countries that are entering into agreements with other trading blocs and, thus, we are losing markets.

The way it currently stands, if we do not have this trading authority, we will not be able to enter into extremely important multilateral agreements that have to do with the future of the U.S. economy. Over one-third of our growth is directly related to exports. We have the freest country in the world in terms of trade. Other countries have higher barriers. It is very simple. We want to knock those barriers down.

Look at this chart. Here are some negotiations coming up within the next year that the United States will not be able to participate in because this Congress will not give this administration the ability to enter into these negotiations with some sort of credibility, with some sort of authority. If Congress in the end decides the agreements they reach are not agreements we can support, we can always vote those agreements down, but let us give them the ability to get in there and fight for America.

Latin American trade negotiations, a $300 billion, import market. WTO negotiations next year in Geneva on agriculture. What could be more important for the U.S. economy, particularly at this point when our agriculture community in this country is suffering so much? WTO government procurement negotiations, a $1 trillion global market. We are not going to be able to get in there and negotiate on behalf of the United States. WTO services negotiations. Finally, there is the Asia-Pacific negotiations. This chart is an indication of the number of dollars, trillions of dollars, involved in these negotiations.

Mr. Speaker, I think this is a no-brainer. I urge my colleagues to put politics aside, allow America to regain its place as a leader in this world with regard to trade, and support fast track.

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. KUCINICH).

Mr. KUCINICH. Mr. Speaker, the North American Free Trade Agreement, NAFTA, was the trade agreement that made it easier for employers in America to close plants here and reopen them in Mexico. NAFTA gave leverage to companies to threaten plant closures, since American workers are competing for their jobs with Mexican workers, whose wages are one-tenth of our wages because their labor unions are brutally repressed.

NAFTA gave license to companies to pollute all they want, since Mexican environmental laws are rarely enforced, and NAFTA gave unprecedented powers to corporations to sue governments for damages when they try to pass tighter environmental laws.

Since NAFTA, America's trade surplus with Mexico has turned into a trade deficit. Fast track expands NAFTA and will expand the defects which NAFTA creates.

NAFTA defects include low NAFTA partner wages. What does fast track legislation do to remedy the defect? Nothing for Americans.

NAFTA defect: increased import of contaminated food. What does the fast track legislation do to remedy that defect? Nothing for Americans.

NAFTA defect: Trade deficit growth. What does the fast track legislation do to remedy that defect? Nothing for Americans.

NAFTA defect: pressure to lower U.S. wages. What does the fast track legislation do to remedy that defect? Nothing for Americans.

NAFTA defect: employer threatens to move to NAFTA partner country. No action for Americans with this legislation, nothing for Americans.

There is nothing for Americans in fast track except closed plants, lost jobs, lower wages, and trade deficit growth. The bill, this fast track bill, closes plants on a fast track. It cuts jobs on a fast track. It increases the trade deficit on a fast track.

Fast track is a fast move to expand NAFTA and worsen the problems NAFTA has created. Vote no on the rule. Vote no on fast track.

Mr. DREIER. Mr. Speaker, I am very proud to yield 2 minutes to my friend, the gentleman from Morristown, New Jersey (Mr. FRELINGHUYSEN), one of the great champions of the cause of free trade.

Mr. FRELINGHUYSEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of this rule and fast track legislation authorization for the President.

First, this rule and this bill are in every way about jobs: job preservation, job expansion, and job creation. Just about every sector of our economy, and most particularly my home State of New Jersey, is or will be dependent on foreign markets. The passage of this agreement is all about present and future jobs and keeping men and women across America working and supporting their families. It is all about protecting our standard of living, our future standard of living, and doing so as soon as possible.

While fast track is important to our Nation, it is important to my State, where trade provides an enormous boost for diverse New Jersey industries. New Jersey is the ninth largest exporter among 50 States, at $22.4 billion in goods and exports. Over 13 percent of the private sector in my State are related directly or indirectly to international trade and investments.

New Jersey is home to a majority of our Nation's pharmaceutical industries. These workers are counting on these international trade agreements and our participation. It is also home to businesses which lead our Nation's telecommunications and electronic industries, as well as to biotechnology, aerospace, chemical and food manufacturing. The future of these companies and their workers in my State, large and small, and their ability to retain and promote jobs is directly related to the passage of this bill.

It would be inconceivable that all of us would not support this rule and this bill.

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. LEVIN).

(Mr. LEVIN asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. Speaker, why in the world are we bringing up this bill when it is sure to fail? Mr. Speaker, this is too important an issue to sacrifice long-term considerations for any short-term political advantage. Trade issues do deserve better than this.

This is not a question of whether we want and need more international trade. We do. That is why I worked actively to help shape the Uruguay Round, and voted for it. The question is, more international trade under what conditions?

There is little controversy about granting fast track for WTO negotiations on services, information technologies, agriculture or, probably, for that matter, Chile.

I say, by the way, to my good friend, the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. PORTMAN), we can start negotiations in these matters with or without fast track, as was true of the Uruguay Round. The main issue underlying the fast track controversy is how to respond to the burgeoning trade with industrializing nations, Brazil, India, China, Mexico. Our trade with these nations has exploded in the last 5 years from one-third to almost one-half of our imports. These Nations have very different rules regarding environment, labor markets, State subsidies, et cetera. What will be the rules of competition with these nations?

The fast track proposal before us limits the ability of the President to negotiate on these items. It limits it. Unlike for any other previous President, it sets up restrictions like "directly related", and says it is okay if we would require Nations to maintain present standards, but we can negotiate to improve them.

The Kyoto agreement is opposed, and I think correctly, because it would give industrializing nations a free ride on global warming. Why tie the hands of the President to press other environmental issues and labor market issues in trade negotiations?

We can do better than this fast track bill, much better. When it comes up today, vote no.

Mr. DREIER. Mr. Speaker, I am very proud to yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Pontiac, Illinois (Mr. EWING), a great champion of our Nation's farmers,

Mr. EWING. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding time to me.

Mr. Speaker, the vote we are about to cast on granting fast track authority is one of the most important this Congress will take before we adjourn. With current international economic turmoil, it is absolutely essential that the United States show strong leadership and commitment to international trade and to emerging global markets.

Over the past 10 years, our economy has prospered as a result of the increase in world trade. If we reject fast track, Congress would prevent the U.S. from having the negotiating authority to knock down trade barriers that hinder opportunities to expand our markets abroad. No sector would be hurt more by defeating fast track than American agriculture. Our farmers depend on foreign markets for a significant portion of their income.

Not only does international trade benefit our farmers, but it benefits all the industries connected with agriculture. Government estimates show that exports have created more than 3.5 million new jobs since 1990, and that is nearly 30 percent of the jobs created in this decade. These are quality jobs which pay about 15 percent higher wages than the average.

Since fast track authority expired in 1995, there have been 20-plus trade agreements negotiated in the Western Hemisphere alone. These agreements were negotiated by some of our biggest trading partners while the United States sat on the sidelines and watched as these countries enhanced their own competitiveness at our expense.

The next round of WTO liberalization talks are scheduled to begin in 1999. The issue of liberalizing of agricultural policy is being pushed to the top of the agenda. The American farmer would be the clear winner of any agreement that eliminates or reduces tariffs.

For the American farmer, for all of business, I urge a positive vote on the rule on fast track.

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Vermont (Mr. SANDERS).

Mr. SANDERS. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding time to me.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to the rule and in opposition to giving the President fast track negotiating authority.

Mr. Speaker, we have had 4 years to analyze the results of NAFTA, a trade deal negotiated under fast track, 4 years to watch our trade deficit skyrocket, workers' wages decline, and jobs leave the United States by the hundreds of thousands.

From 1993 to 1997, under NAFTA, a $1.7 billion trade surplus with Mexico has been turned into a $14.5 billion trade deficit. We went from a surplus to a deficit. During the debate over NAFTA, the multinational corporations who told us how great this policy would be predicted that NAFTA would create 200,000 jobs by 1995. Instead, we lost 400,000 jobs by 1997.

□ 1500

Further, NAFTA is being used as a corporate tool to threaten workers and to lower wages. According to a study done at Cornell University, 62 percent of corporations in America have used NAFTA or similar agreements to drive down wages and benefits.

This Cornell study also found that U.S. companies used the threat of moving their companies to Mexico more frequently now than before NAFTA was enacted. These are some of the great results of NAFTA.

Mr. Speaker, last year I went to Mexico, along with the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. BONIOR) and the gentleman from Oregon (Mr. DEFAZIO) to see what was going on there in the wake of the NAFTA agreement. I saw with my own eyes the horrendous pollution caused by the maquiladora companies in the area, pollution which is hurting the Mexicans as well as Americans along the border. Let us vote this agreement down. Let us kill it.

Mr. DREIER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to my good friend, the gentleman from Huntington Beach, California (Mr. ROHRABACHER).

Mr. ROHRABACHER. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of the rule, but I am opposed to fast track authority. I have long supported free and fair trade among free people. However, I adamantly oppose to giving fast track authority to the President so he can put anything he wishes into legislation implementing a trade agreement, and place it before the Congress for an up-or-down vote.

This authority lends itself to abuse. The last time we awarded the President fast track authority, this President betrayed our trust. He included in the GATT implementation legislation a provision that dramatically changed our patent system, and this change was not mandated by the GATT agreement treaty.

Mr. Speaker, for 4 years this body has spent considerable time and effort trying to undo what fast track did to us the last time. Knowing good and well that Congress would have only one up-or-down vote and take the package as a whole or leave it, the President just decided to throw this provision into fast track, or into that implementing legislation.

With fast track authority, we can expect that implementation legislation in the future for future trade pacts will be buried with time bombs that will sabotage our economy or change substantive law in our country, things that we might even take for granted.

One of the provisions of fast track gives the President the right to offset any decrease in revenue that is put forward by a trade agreement. Does that mean that the President can have a tax increase or a "revenue raiser" as they claim? Sure. Sure, that is exactly what it means.

In the future, we should be far less generous in terms of our giving away our authority in Congress, especially giving the President more authority. We should be less generous in giving him the authority to make international trade agreements, in contrast to what we have heard this morning.

Mr. Speaker, the idea of a global economy has been used to take authority out of the hands of the people elected by the American people and giving it to unelected government officials, even foreigners.

I urge my colleagues to vote against fast track and for the rule.

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Minnesota (Mr. PETERSON).

Mr. PETERSON of Minnesota. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Texas (Mr. FROST) for yielding me this time.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in strong opposition to this rule. This is a closed rule that is not going to allow any amendments or improvements to this process that could have, in my opinion, increased support for this bill.

Yesterday, I presented an amendment before the Committee on Rules that would have made this a better situation, but because of this rule, it will not be considered.

Mr. Speaker, the amendment that I drafted would provide tremendous benefits for our Nation's farmers in future trade negotiations by moving the Committee on Agriculture and agriculture to the table in our international trade agreements.

The Committee on Agriculture in the House and the Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry in the Senate would be given enhanced authority and jurisdiction for agricultural trade. The amendment would allow these agriculture committees the opportunity to approve further fast track authority or to disallow further authority if the process or consultation are flawed or weak.

At this time, these committees have no authority to stop or continue the process. In fact, until a recent agreement with the Committee on Ways and Means was reached, there was not even language allowing the Committee on Agriculture to be consulted.

The U.S. is a major player in the world market. In fact international trade is absolutely critical to the future success of our farmers. However, those of us from farm country, and those of us who have set out to protect American agriculture on the committee, have no methods to safeguard farmers' interests during the trade talks.

In the last couple of trade agreements, in the GATT agreement, we gave access to the multinationals in banking and insurance and a lot of those kinds of issues. In exchange, we let the European farmers keep subsidies that are more than my people get from their entire crop.

In the NAFTA agreement that we agreed to, we opened up the borders. But in the case of their supply management systems in dairy and poultry and eggs, we allowed them to keep their system and we cannot export dairy into their country. That is the kind of problems that those of us in agriculture are concerned about.

I believe that the fast track mechanism is outdated and a flawed tool that cannot adequately protect our farmers. The fast track authority that was originally granted was used for the Tokyo Round. This was the entire Tokyo Round. It is 50 pages.

Then we had the NAFTA. This is one-third of the NAFTA agreement. We changed all kinds of United States laws through this process.

This is the GATT agreement. This is one sixth of the GATT agreement. I submit that we have to have another process where we can bring more people in, especially in the agriculture area, so that we can have a look at these laws that are changed in our jurisdiction, that we can make sure that these agreements are going to protect our farmers, and that we are going to come back with agreements that are going to be good for American agriculture and, therefore, good for the country.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to defeat this rule and defeat this fast track vote.

Mr. DREIER. Mr. Speaker, I first would like to inquire how much time is remaining on both sides.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. THORNBERRY). The gentleman from California (Mr. DREIER) has 11½ minutes remaining, and the gentleman from Texas (Mr. FROST) has 10½ minutes remaining.

Mr. DREIER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Alpine, California (Mr. HUNTER), my very good friend, my classmate who came with us in the class of 1980, and we both agree strongly on the importance of passage of this rule.

Mr. HUNTER. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from California, my good colleague who came in with me in 1980 and somehow went wrong, but he is my great friend.

Mr. Speaker, one of the first rules in business is one does not give financial power to bad businessmen. The negotiators on the Clinton trade team are bad businessmen. That is, they have a bad record.

NAFTA took us from a $3 billion surplus in trade over Mexico to an annual $15 billion loss. It took us to an increased trade loss with China that brings us close to a $40 billion annual trade loss.

The trade agreement with Japan under the Clinton administration has broken down. The Clinton team consists of trade losers. Do not give power to trade losers. Not this President, not this time.

Mr. TAYLOR of Mississippi. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. HUNTER. I yield to the gentleman from Mississippi.

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Mississippi (Mr. TAYLOR).

Mr. TAYLOR of Mississippi. Mr. Speaker, article 1, Section 8 of the United States Constitution, in particular clause 3, says that Congress shall have the power to regulate commerce with foreign nations.

As of today, there are about 55 Members of this Congress who have asked the President to resign. I am one of them. There are a number of others who think there ought to be a formal board of inquiry as far as impeachment brought before the House.

My question is how can the same people who are asking the President to resign turn around and give their constitutionally mandated authority to regulate commerce between nations to that same person?

I am not going to do that. This is my job. I do not want the President's job. I want him to do his job. But the Founding Fathers gave Congress the power to regulate commerce between nations, and I am not going to vote to give it away.

Mr. Speaker, I encourage my colleagues to vote against the rule and I encourage them to vote against the bill.

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2½ minutes to the gentleman from New York (Mr. ENGEL).

Mr. ENGEL. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Texas (Mr. FROST) for yielding me this time.

Mr. Speaker, I oppose the fast track bill before the House today. If fast track were to become the law of the land, the President could negotiate trade agreements that Congress is not allowed to amend, as the gentleman from Mississippi (Mr. TAYLOR) pointed out. That means the main force for protecting American workers' and consumers' interest would be eliminated.

Therefore, unless the fast track rules under which a trade agreement is negotiated contain adequate protections for labor and the environment, I must vote against the deal. Unfortunately, that is the case today. In fact this rule will not even allow amendments to protect workers' rights, human rights, and the environment. Therefore, I will vote against both the rule and the bill and urge my colleagues to do likewise.

Unlimited fast track procedures also brought us NAFTA, which I believe has been a failure. The fast track NAFTA deal with Mexico and Canada in 1993 is a perfect example of what happens when we rush into agreements that do not take into consideration the concerns of workers and consumers. Ever since NAFTA became law, America has lost more than 400,000 jobs as corporations move production to Mexico and Canada.

Employers are using the threat of plant closures to drive wages down as well. People who found new employment after their jobs moved to Mexico took an average pay cut of $4,400 a year. Air and water pollution along the U.S.-Mexico border has become significantly worse since we have NAFTA, while the amount of hazardous waste crossing the border increased 30 percent in 1995, the last year in which we have statistics.

Increased agricultural imports and inadequate border inspections have increased the threat of unsafe food in our supermarkets and unsafe trucks on our highways.

Mr. Speaker, this is the legacy of NAFTA and fast track. When we move too fast, we make mistakes. America has negotiated hundreds of successful trade agreements without fast track authority. Given NAFTA's failure, why rush into more unlimited fast track trade deals?

Congress should vote for the right track, not the poorly drafted fast track.

I urge my colleagues to oppose fast track. Even the President, who supports basic fast track, is opposed to this. So, we ought to vote this down. We ought not to be for election time gimmicks. We ought to do what is right for the American people.

Again, I urge my colleagues to vote for the right track, not this poorly drafted fast track. Defeat the rule and defeat the bill.

Mr. DREIER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Staten Island, New York (Mr. FOSSELLA), my dynamic and eloquent friend.

Mr. FOSSELLA. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from California (Mr. DREIER) for yielding me this time.

Mr. Speaker, I think at this point just let me note that the power under this legislation is granted to not an individual, but the office of a presidency. And the gentleman from Mississippi (Mr. TAYLOR), my good friend, acknowledges Congress still maintains its right as vested in the United States Constitution, because at the end of the day we have the right to vote "yes" or "no" on the underlying legislation.

The reality is that throughout our Nation's history there are people who look inward constantly to create jobs and those who look outward to determine that there are no limits to America's horizons. And we demonstrate time and time again, the hard-working people that I represent, that we can trade freely and fairly throughout this world and create wealth, not just for the people of this country but throughout this great world of ours.

The reality is that we are talking about free and fair trade. Not looking inward, but looking outward. The people on Staten Island that I represent go to work every single day with no limits to their horizons. I say let us continue that growth.

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Texas (Mr. DOGETT).

Mr. DOGETT. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Texas (Mr. FROST) for yielding me this time.

Mr. Speaker, in Central Texas, international trade has meant more good, high-paying jobs, not fewer. I personally believe that we gain from more international commerce, by building bridges, not erecting barriers. To do that, the President does need reasonable authority to expand international commerce. But the vote that we are having today is not about more international commerce, it is about more domestic politics.

Mr. Speaker, is it not ludicrous, indeed bizarre, that the same House Republicans that on Monday were releasing a videotape and complaining about an abuse of power by this President have waited all the way to Friday to say that we must have a vote today about giving that same person more power?

This is not about more power for President Clinton, really. It is about more votes for NEWT GINGRICH, and that is the last thing that America needs.

We do need a bipartisan coalition for trade in this country. It ought to be trade that recognizes that some of the concerns that have been advanced about working conditions, about environmental concerns are very real, and there is a way to address those at the same time that we seek more international commerce.

But today is not the day to do that. What we have here is not really a vote about fast track, perhaps fast track in name only. This is really only a sidebar. It is wrong, and this measure ought to be voted down.

Mr. DREIER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Dallas, Texas (Mr. SESSIONS), a champion of free trade.

Mr. SESSIONS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of fast track.

I find it very amazing that my colleagues and friends, including those from Texas, blame this on politics. I will tell my colleagues who I blame it on. I blame it on people like the Texas Farm Bureau and the Texas and Southwest Cattle Raisers who have asked me and told me point blank, it is the most important vote that could take place in the remainder of this session. They are for opening markets and creating jobs. They are for American export businesses. They recognize that 96 percent of the consumers in the world live outside the United States. Lastly, they realize that 30 percent of the growth of the markets that they have come directly from overseas markets.

Mr. Speaker, I will tell my colleagues, I do not blame this on NEWT GINGRICH. I blame this on the Texas Farm Bureau, the Texas and Southwest Cattle Raisers and 75 other people who are in the agribusiness.

I will vote yes with them.

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. PALLONE).

Mr. PALLONE. Mr. Speaker, this debate on fast track is not about whether or not the United States should be participating in the global economy, because we all agree on that. It is about how we are going to participate in that economy.

Are we going to allow multinational corporations to bargain down the environmental protection standards of nations around the world in the name of economic competitiveness? Are we going to allow our own strong environmental and health laws and regulations to be knocked down as barriers to trade?

I urge my colleagues to consider our experience with NAFTA. Thanks to NAFTA and the environmental side agreement to NAFTA, we now have more factories along the heavily polluted U.S.-Mexican border dumping an even greater amount of hazardous waste, mostly illegally. Risks to the health and safety of American working families are increasing as food imports rise while the number of inspections plummet. These environmental and public health problems are the result of inadequate free trade agreements that create pressure on neighboring governments to relax environmental regulations in an effort to lure manufacturers across the borders, allowing these companies to profit by polluting and abusing natural resources.

I urge my colleagues, do not be fooled again. We already were fooled once with NAFTA. We need a trade policy that opens markets while at the same time setting high health, environmental and labor standards.

I urge my colleagues to vote no both on the rule, because it is essentially unfair, not allowing other amendments, and also to vote no on fast track. Let us not make the same mistake again.

Mr. DREIER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from the Woodlands, Texas (Mr. BRADY), another champion of free trade.

Mr. BRADY of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I fully support this bill and this rule.

I come from a State that has benefited from fast track and from international trade. One out of every three new jobs created in Texas are as a result of international trade because of NAFTA, even with its imperfections. We have tens of thousands of new jobs that Texas families now enjoy because we are willing to compete.

I did not move to Washington. I live in Texas and just commute each week. On my drive to the airport and back to my district, I see and go by dairies and farms and small businesses and large companies where there are Texas workers, American families who are enjoying the American dream, putting their kids in school, saving for college, purchasing a home because they believe in the American principle of free, fair, competition.

Ninety-six percent of all the world's consumers live outside of America. They all cannot buy as much as we do today because they are growing fast. Other countries are competing for them. I want our American companies out there competing today for that market and those sales, because it is not our jobs that we are looking at, it is our children's jobs and our children's children's jobs that depend upon our competing today internationally.

I golf twice a year, whether I need to or not. My friends who golf more often and like to wage a friendly bet tell me that the outcome of those friendly bets are often determined on the first tee, when the rules are drawn up and the strokes are given.

In international trade today, America is not on that first economic tee. The strokes are not coming to American companies. The rules do not favor fair treatment for our companies. We are losing jobs because of it.

Let us not practice partisan politics. Let us not pit the President against the Republicans. I think jobs for our workers, for our farmers, for our small businesses ought to take precedence over partisan politics, which is being encouraged today.

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from Georgia (Ms. MCKINNEY).

Ms. MCKINNEY. Mr. Speaker, free trade for corporations or fair trade for people? I vote for the people every time.

Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose this rule because, as with all trade agreements that come before this House, it lacks a very important component, a minimum code of conduct by which American companies should abide.

Most Americans know the story of sweatshops in Latin America and Southeast Asia, but do Americans know about Guess Jeans? Guess was cited for violation of wage and hour laws in the United States. Not surprisingly, it has now moved 40 percent of its manufacturing to Mexico and South America, thereby escaping union organizers and Department of Labor oversight. Ironically, they have subsequently run an advertising campaign that claims that their jeans are 100 percent sweatshop free.

Or do Americans know about accounting audit reports of Nike that were uncovered by TRAC, the Transnational Research and Action Center? Manufacturers of Nike products are paying wages of less than $2 per day in factories in China and Vietnam. But only because of public pressure and bad press, Nike has promised to do better. Adoption of our code of conduct will assure that they do better.

Unfortunately, U.S. companies are engaging in even grosser abuses as they operate free from the deterrence of media, public scrutiny or U.S. law.

I urge my colleagues to oppose this rule and accept my amendment which establishes a code of conduct for American corporations. Otherwise, we will have to live with the fact that the shoes on our feet and the blue jeans on our bodies might just be made from the sweat of children living in squalor.

Mr. DREIER. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Ocala, Florida (Mr. STEARNS).

(Mr. STEARNS asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. STEARNS. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of the rule.

Mr. Speaker, the proponents of fast-track wrap their arguments around a banner of false logic and false promises. Granting any President fast-track authority clearly violates the constitutional responsibilities of Congress. Article I, Section 8 explicitly states that, "The Congress shall have Power . . . to regulate Commerce with foreign nations."

While the United States has entered into thousands of trade agreements in our history, only five have received fast-track authority. The Clinton administration itself has negotiated over 200 trade agreements while in office without fast-track trade authority. Just NAFTA and the Uruguay Round of GATT had fast track authority.

Any Administration can and should negotiate bilateral and multilateral trade agreements with the advice and consent of Congress. That is the Constitution!

The United States is the "Mother of all Markets." Every nation on earth wants access to our markets. If gaining access requires the involvement of Congress in negotiating trade agreements, then every nation must accept our rule of law.

Let us be honest with each other. There have been some real devastating aspects of the previous fast-track, which brought us NAFTA, especially as it affected my home state of Florida.

The Florida tomato industry has lost over $750 million since the beginning of NAFTA. Import of tomatoes from Mexico has surged by 71% under NAFTA, putting hundreds of farmers out of work and losing thousands of farm related jobs, and no relief has ever been granted by this Administration.

These losses in exports are directly tied to the unfair trading practices that have been waged against Florida's farmers. Mexico has dumped tomatoes and other winter vegetables on the U.S. market. The Department of Commerce recognizes that Mexican tomatoes were dumped, but the Administration has never done anything about it.

The Administration made promises to protect agriculture against unfair trading practices with the last fast-track bill. They never fulfilled those promises and now they are offering new promises to protect agriculture.

Don't believe any of the latest claims that fast-track will protect our agricultural industries. This Administration lied before, they are lying now, and they will lie tomorrow!

Mr. Speaker, I also would like to include a letter from the Florida Farm Bureau Federation dealing with this legislation:

FLORIDA FARM BUREAU FEDERATION,
Gainesville, FL, September 25, 1998.

Hon. CLIFFORD STEARNS,
House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

DEAR REPRESENTATIVE STEARNS: After having reviewed the provisions that have been added to H.R. 2621, the Fast Track bill, we thought that it would be important for Florida Farm Bureau to let you know we are still opposed.

While these provisions are a beginning, they do not answer our concerns. Until these concerns are met, we cannot support Fast Track. We urge you to oppose H.R. 2621.

Sincerely,

CARL B. LOOP, Jr.,
President.

Mr. DREIER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Stillwater, Oklahoma (Mr. WATKINS), a hard-working member of the Committee on Ways and Means.

(Mr. WATKINS asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. Speaker, Fact: 96 percent of the consumers live outside the United States. Are we fearful of competing for that market?

I want to make sure we do everything we can for our children and for our citizens to penetrate those markets by selling United States products and agriculture commodities.

It was Franklin Delano Roosevelt who said, we have nothing to fear but fear itself. If we are fearful of entering those markets, we are surely to shrink. We are surely to sell the future of our children down the drain, and we will become a second-class economy.

One year from this December, just 15 months from now the World Trade Organization will meet to negotiate international agriculture trade agreements. Are we going to send our negotiators there with one arm or maybe both arms tied behind us? I fear the fact we are not going to give or arm our negotiators with the opportunity to enter trade agreements to sell agriculture commodities at a time when we are hurting worse on the American farm than any time since the Great Depression.

That is the reason why in this bill, let there be no mistake, I have placed the toughest language to assist in our agriculture negotiations that we have ever had. In fact, we establish in this bill a chief negotiator for agriculture with ambassador status, because I want someone around the table, whether it is in Geneva or wherever, negotiating for the farmers and ranchers of this country.

Are we going to give to our negotiators the opportunity to negotiate trade agreements for our citizens? I am going to vote yes for fast track because I want to build a future for our children and our grandchildren. They have no choice. They will have to compete in a global economy. Many of us can back away and say, well, that may not affect us. But I could not face your children or my children and grandchildren without trying to give them the best opportunity possible to compete in this global economy.

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. DREIER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Tucson, Arizona (Mr. KOLBE), a great champion of trade, one of our hardest workers and one of the most thoughtful Members of the House.

Mr. KOLBE. Mr. Speaker, I do rise in support of this rule and for the legislation granting fast track authority to the President.

Mr. Speaker, it is a sad day to have to listen to many of the speeches that we have heard here today. The fear that some members have for America's future, their fear about America being able to compete in the world. Do they have so little confidence in America that they do not think that American workers and American citizens can compete in this world?

We have been hearing a lot about how NAFTA is the source of our problem. Maybe NASTA explains why our unemployment rate is at an all-time low. Maybe it explains why we have created so many jobs in this world, more than 6 million jobs created since 1994. We heard about 400,000 lost jobs. How about the 6 million that have been created?

Maybe we should attribute all of those to the creation of NAFTA. The fact of the matter is, we have had a tremendous surge in exports over the last several years. Look at this chart, at how exports have grown 3,000 percent over the last 35 years. That has created jobs for American workers who produce those exports that have gone overseas. We are the beneficiary of growing exports. And just in the last 12 years, look at the increase in the gross domestic product of this country attributable to trade—$500 billion. That would not have been there otherwise if we had not had foreign trade.

So why do we need fast track now? Because there is much that remains to be done. There are many things that we need, to have negotiating authority for this President to be able to attempt to reduce the 100 percent tariff that Indonesia has on American automobiles, to eliminate the European Union's 25 percent tax on our trucks and try to get those down, and Brazil's inordinate tax on computers. Next year we are going to begin negotiations on agriculture. We are the world's largest agricultural exporter. We need to have this authority so that we can sit at that table with the rest of the world while they talk about it and so that we can reduce those tariffs for the United States. We need fast track authority, as President Clinton himself has said.

I urge my colleagues to vote for this rule and for fast track authority.

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. KLINK).

Mr. KLINK. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding time to me. For those who may not have been here back in 1993 when we were negotiating with each other as to whether or not we should pass the NAFTA agreement which was negotiated under fast track authority, I would remind my colleagues that in that year, we had a $1.7 billion trade surplus with Mexico. That has turned into a $17 billion trade deficit. The economists across this country tell us that each billion dollars represents between 116,000 jobs and 120,000 jobs. Do the mathematics and find out whether or not NAFTA negotiated under fast track authority has been good for us. In fact, now our trade deficit combined with our NAFTA trade partners, Canada and Mexico, is $31 billion.

How many jobs would we be able to create if we had fair trade rather than fast track free trade? The point is that we here in Congress in 1993 knew there were things about the NAFTA agreement that we wanted to change. We wanted protection for labor. We wanted environmental riders. We were told, "Well, you can get these side agreements." You can blow your nose with those side agreements. They do not carry the impact of law. They have not been enforced.

What this argument is about today is whether or not we in Congress have the required amount of guts to say to the Administration, "We as the elected Members of Congress, we as the elected representatives of the people want something to say." Fast track is the wrong track. The rule should be voted down and so should the bill.

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to vote "no" on the previous question. If the previous question is defeated, I will offer an amendment to make in order the McKinney amendment to establish a corporate code of conduct and the Peterson amendment to expand the role of the Committee on Agriculture in reviewing trade matters.

I urge my colleagues to postpone debate on this issue. There is no chance to pass it today. We should not sacrifice long-term, bipartisan cooperation on fast track for short-term political gain.

Mr. Speaker, the text of the amendment to be offered if the previous question is defeated is as follows:

Mr. DREIER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. THORNBERRY). The gentleman from California is recognized for 1 minute.

Mr. DREIER. Mr. Speaker, no matter what you think about the President, no matter what you think about the U.S.-Canada trade agreement and its impact on Northern Plains farmers and ranchers, no matter what you think about the North American Free Trade Agreement and its impact on Florida's tomato farmers, no matter what you think about the impact of economic development on farmers in Mexico, dolphins, sea turtles or the Amazon rain forest, there is just one question that we must ask ourselves today: Are the American people better off if America is at the table when countries make new trade deals? Should we be at the table when the nations of the world sit down at the WTO to negotiate new trade rules for agriculture, services and intellectual property? Or when the countries of Latin America entertain offers for preferential access to their growing markets? Or when the countries of Asia talk about ways to rebound from their economic crisis?

Obviously, Mr. Speaker, we are much better off if we, the world's only complete superpower, are at the table for trade negotiations. The world will not stop to wait for us if we simply miss the bus. We will be the losers, Mr. Speaker.

We have got to pass this rule and pass fast track so, as President Clinton said on July 23, we can have these votes and put it together. We can have bipartisan support for a very important policy.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time, and I move the previous question on the resolution.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on ordering the previous question.

The question was taken; and the Speaker pro tempore announced that the ayes appeared to have it.

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, I object to the vote on the ground that a quorum is not present and make the point of order that a quorum is not present.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Evidently a quorum is not present.

The Sergeant at Arms will notify absent Members.

Pursuant to clause 5 of rule XV, the Chair will reduce to a minimum of 5 minutes the period of time within which a vote by electronic device, if ordered, will be taken on the question of agreeing to the resolution.

The vote was taken by electronic device, and there were—yeas 230, nays 193, not voting 11, as follows:

RECIPROCAL TRADE AGREEMENT AUTHORITIES ACT OF 1997

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, pursuant to House Resolution 553, I call up the bill (H.R. 2621) to extend trade authorities procedures with respect to reciprocal trade agreements, and for other purposes, and ask for its immediate consideration.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to House Resolution 553, the bill is considered read for amendment.

The text of H.R. 2621 is as follows:

H.R. 2621

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

TITLE I—TRADE AUTHORITIES PROCEDURES

SEC. 101. SHORT TITLE.

This title may be cited as the "Reciprocal Trade Agreement Authorities Act of 1997".

SEC. 102. TRADE NEGOTIATING OBJECTIVES.

(a) OVERALL TRADE NEGOTIATING OBJECTIVES.—The overall trade negotiating objectives of the United States for agreements subject to the provisions of section 103 are—

- (1) to obtain more open, equitable, and reciprocal market access;
- (2) to obtain the reduction or elimination of barriers and distortions that are directly related to trade and that decrease market opportunities for United States exports or otherwise distort United States trade;
- (3) to further strengthen the system of international trading disciplines and procedures, including dispute settlement; and

(4) to foster economic growth, raise living standards, and promote full employment in the United States and to enhance the global economy.

(b) PRINCIPAL TRADE NEGOTIATING OBJECTIVES.—

(1) TRADE BARRIERS AND DISTORTIONS.—The principal negotiating objectives of the United States regarding trade barriers and other trade distortions are—

(A) to expand competitive market opportunities for United States exports and to obtain fairer and more open conditions of trade by reducing or eliminating tariff and nontariff barriers and policies and practices of foreign governments directly related to trade that decrease market opportunities for United States exports or otherwise distort United States trade; and

(B) to obtain reciprocal tariff and nontariff barrier elimination agreements, with particular attention to those tariff categories covered in section 111(b) of the Uruguay Round Agreements Act (19 U.S.C. 3521(b)).

(2) TRADE IN SERVICES.—The principal negotiating objective of the United States regarding trade in services is to reduce or eliminate barriers to international trade in services, including regulatory and other barriers that deny national treatment and unreasonably restrict the establishment and operations of service suppliers.

(3) FOREIGN INVESTMENT.—The principal negotiating objective of the United States regarding foreign investment is to reduce or eliminate artificial or trade-distorting barriers to trade related foreign investment by—

(A) reducing or eliminating exceptions to the principle of national treatment;

(B) freeing the transfer of funds relating to investments;

(C) reducing or eliminating performance requirements and other unreasonable barriers to the establishment and operation of investments;

(D) seeking to establish standards for expropriation and compensation for expropriation, consistent with United States legal principles and practice; and

(E) providing meaningful procedures for resolving investment disputes.

(4) INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY.—The principal negotiating objectives of the United States regarding trade-related intellectual property are—

(A) to further promote adequate and effective protection of intellectual property rights, including through—

(i)(I) ensuring accelerated and full implementation of the Agreement on Trade-Related Aspects of Intellectual Property Rights referred to in section 101(d)(15) of the Uruguay Round Agreements Act (19 U.S.C. 3511(d)(15)),

(II) achieving improvements in the standards of that Agreement, particularly with respect to United States industries whose products are subject to the lengthiest transition periods for full compliance by developing countries with that Agreement; and

(III) ensuring that the provisions of any multilateral or bilateral trade agreement entered into by the United States provide protection at least as strong as the protection afforded by chapter 17 of the North American Free Trade Agreement and the annexes thereto;

(ii) providing strong protection for new and emerging technologies and new methods of transmitting and distributing products embodying intellectual property;

(iii) preventing or eliminating discrimination with respect to matters affecting the availability, acquisition, scope, maintenance, use, and enforcement of intellectual property rights; and

(iv) providing strong enforcement of intellectual property rights, including through accessible, expeditious, and effective civil, administrative, and criminal enforcement mechanisms; and

(B) to secure fair, equitable, and non-discriminatory market access opportunities for United States persons that rely upon intellectual property protection.

(5) TRANSPARENCY.—The principal negotiating objective of the United States with respect to transparency is to obtain broader application of the principle of transparency through—

(A) increased and more timely public access to information regarding trade issues and the activities of international trade institutions; and

(B) increased openness of dispute settlement proceedings, including under the World Trade Organization.

(6) RECIPROCAL TRADE IN AGRICULTURE.—The principal negotiating objective of the United States with respect to agriculture is to obtain competitive opportunities for United States exports in foreign markets substantially equivalent to the competitive opportunities afforded foreign exports in United States markets and to achieve fairer and more open conditions of trade in bulk and value-added commodities by—

(A) reducing or eliminating, by a date certain, tariffs or other charges that decrease market opportunities for United States exports—

(i) giving priority to those products that are subject to significantly higher tariffs or subsidy regimes of major producing countries; and

(ii) providing reasonable adjustment periods for United States import-sensitive products;

(B) reducing or eliminating subsidies that decrease market opportunities for United States exports or unfairly distort agriculture markets to the detriment of the United States;

(C) developing, strengthening, and clarifying rules and effective dispute settlement mechanisms to eliminate practices that unfairly decrease United States market access opportunities or distort agricultural markets to the detriment of the United States, particularly with respect to import-sensitive products, including—

(i) unfair or trade-distorting activities of state trading enterprises and other administrative mechanisms;

(ii) unjustified trade restrictions or commercial requirements affecting new technologies, including biotechnology;

(iii) unjustified sanitary or phytosanitary restrictions, including those not based on sound science in contravention of the Uruguay Round Agreements;

(iv) other unjustified technical barriers to trade; and

(v) restrictive rules in the administration of tariff rate quotas;

(D) improving import relief mechanisms to recognize the unique characteristics of perishable agriculture;

(E) taking into account whether a party to the negotiations has failed to adhere to the provisions of already existing trade agreements with the United States or has circumvented obligations under those agreements;

(F) taking into account whether a product is subject to market distortions by reason of a failure of a major producing country to adhere to the provisions of already existing trade agreements with the United States or by the circumvention by that country of its obligations under those agreements; and

(G) otherwise ensuring that countries that accede to the World Trade Organization have made meaningful market liberalization commitments in agriculture.

(7) LABOR, THE ENVIRONMENT, AND OTHER MATTERS.—The principal negotiating objective of the United States regarding labor, the environment, and other matters is to address the following aspects of foreign government policies and practices regarding labor, the environment, and other matters that are directly related to trade:

(A) To ensure that foreign labor, environmental, health, or safety policies and practices do not arbitrarily or unjustifiably discriminate or serve as disguised barriers to trade.

(B) To ensure that foreign governments do not derogate from or waive existing domestic environmental, health, safety, or labor measures, including measures that deter exploitative child labor, as an encouragement to gain competitive advantage in international trade or investment. Nothing in this subparagraph is intended to address changes to a country's laws that are non-discriminatory and consistent with sound macroeconomic development.

(8) WTO EXTENDED NEGOTIATIONS.—The principal negotiating objectives of the United States regarding trade in financial services are those set forth in section 135(a) of the Uruguay Round Agreements Act (19 U.S.C. 3555(a)), regarding trade in civil aircraft are those set forth in section 135(c) of that Act, and regarding rules of origin are the conclusion of an agreement described in section 132 of that Act (19 U.S.C. 3552).

(C) INTERNATIONAL ECONOMIC POLICY OBJECTIVES.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The President should take into account the relationship between trade agreements and other important priorities of the United States and seek to ensure that the trade agreements entered into by the United States complement and reinforce other policy goals. The United States priorities in this area include—

(A) seeking to ensure that trade and environmental policies are mutually supportive;

(B) seeking to protect and preserve the environment and enhance the international means for doing so, while optimizing the use of the world's resources;

(C) promoting the respect for worker rights and the rights of children and an understanding of the relationship between trade and worker rights, particularly by working with the International Labor Organization to encourage the observance and enforcing of core labor standards, including exploitative child labor; and

(D) supplementing and strengthening standards for protection of intellectual property under conventions administered by international organizations other than the World Trade Organization, expanding the conventions to cover new and emerging technologies, and eliminating discrimination and unreasonable exceptions or preconditions to such protection.

(2) APPLICABILITY OF TRADE AUTHORITIES PROCEDURES.—Nothing in this subsection shall be construed to authorize the use of the trade authorities procedures described in section 103 to modify United States law.

(d) GUIDANCE FOR NEGOTIATORS.—

(1) DOMESTIC OBJECTIVES.—In pursuing the negotiating objectives described in subsection (b), the negotiators on behalf of the United States shall take into account United States domestic objectives, including the protection of health and safety, essential security, environmental, consumer, and employment opportunity interests, and the law and regulations related thereto.

(2) CONSULTATIONS WITH CONGRESSIONAL ADVISERS AND ENFORCEMENT OF THE TRADE LAWS.—In the course of negotiations conducted under this title, the United States Trade Representative shall—

(A) consult closely and on a timely basis with, and keep fully apprised of the negotiations, the congressional advisers on trade policy and negotiations appointed under section 161 of the Trade Act of 1974; and

(B) take into account the need for the United States to retain the ability to enforce rigorously its trade laws in order to ensure that United States workers, agricultural producers, and firms can compete on fair terms and enjoy the benefits of reciprocal trade concessions.

(e) ADHERENCE TO OBLIGATIONS UNDER URUGUAY ROUND AGREEMENTS.—In determining whether to enter into negotiations with a particular country, the President shall take into account the extent to which that country has implemented, or has accelerated the implementation of, its obligations under the Uruguay Round Agreements.

SEC. 103. TRADE AGREEMENTS AUTHORITY.

(a) AGREEMENTS REGARDING TARIFF BARRIERS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Whenever the President determines that one or more existing duties or other import restrictions of any foreign country or the United States are unduly burdening and restricting the foreign trade of the United States and that the purposes, policies, and objectives of this title will be promoted thereby, the President—

(A) may enter into trade agreements with foreign countries before—

(i) October 1, 2001, or

(ii) October 1, 2005, if trade authorities procedures are extended under subsection (c), and

(B) may, subject to paragraphs (2) and (3), proclaim—

(i) such modification or continuance of any existing duty, or

(ii) such continuance of existing duty-free or excise treatment, as the President determines to be required or appropriate to carry out any such trade agreement. The President shall notify the Congress of the President's intention to enter into an agreement under this subsection.

(2) LIMITATIONS.—No proclamation may be made under paragraph (1) that—

(A) reduces any rate of duty (other than a rate of duty that does not exceed 5 percent ad valorem on the date of the enactment of this Act) to a rate of duty which is less than 50 percent of the rate of such duty that applies on such date of enactment; or

(B) reduces the rate of duty on an article to take effect on a date that is more than 10 years after the first reduction that is proclaimed to carry out a trade agreement with respect to such article.

(3) AGGREGATE REDUCTION; EXEMPTION FROM STAGING.—

(A) AGGREGATE REDUCTION.—Except as provided in subparagraph (B), the aggregate reduction in the rate of duty on any article which is in effect on any day pursuant to a trade agreement entered into under paragraph (1) shall not exceed the aggregate reduction which would have been in effect on such day if—

(i) a reduction of 3 percent ad valorem or a reduction of one-tenth of the total reduction, whichever is greater, had taken effect on the effective date of the first reduction proclaimed under paragraph (1) to carry out such agreement with respect to such article; and

(ii) a reduction equal to the amount applicable under clause (i) had taken effect at 1-year intervals after the effective date of such first reduction.

(B) EXEMPTION FROM STAGING.—No staging is required under subparagraph (A) with respect to a duty reduction that is proclaimed under paragraph (1) for an article of a kind that is not produced in the United States. The United States International Trade Commission shall advise the President of the identity of articles that may be exempted from staging under this subparagraph.

(4) ROUNDING.—If the President determines that such action will simplify the computation of reductions under paragraph (3), the President may round an annual reduction by an amount equal to the lesser of—

(A) the difference between the reduction without regard to this paragraph and the next lower whole number; or

(B) one-half of 1 percent ad valorem.

(5) OTHER LIMITATIONS.—A rate of duty reduction that may not be proclaimed by reason of paragraph (2) may take effect only if a provision authorizing such reduction is included within an implementing bill provided for under section 105 and that bill is enacted into law.

(6) OTHER TARIFF MODIFICATIONS.—Notwithstanding paragraphs (1)(B) and (2) through (5), and subject to the consultation and layover requirements of section 115 of the Uruguay Round Agreements Act, the President may proclaim the modification of any duty or staged rate reduction of any duty set forth in Schedule XX, as defined in section 2(5) of that Act, if the United States agrees to such modification or staged rate reduction in a negotiation for the reciprocal elimination or harmonization of duties under the auspices of the World Trade Organization or as part of an interim agreement leading to the formation of a regional free-trade area.

(b) AGREEMENTS REGARDING TARIFF AND NONTARIFF BARRIERS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—(A) Whenever the President determines that—

(i) one or more existing duties or any other import restriction of any foreign country or the United States or any other barrier to, or other distortion of, international trade unduly burdens or restricts the foreign trade of the United States or adversely affects the United States economy, or

(ii) the imposition of any such barrier or distortion is likely to result in such a burden, restriction, or effect, and that the purposes, policies, and objectives of this title will be promoted thereby, the President may enter into a trade agreement described in subparagraph (B) during the period described in subparagraph (C).

(B) The President may enter into a trade agreement under subparagraph (A) with foreign countries providing for—

(i) the reduction or elimination of a duty, restriction, barrier, or other distortion described in subparagraph (A), or

(ii) the prohibition of, or limitation on the imposition of, such barrier or other distortion.

(C) The President may enter into a trade agreement under this paragraph before—

(i) October 1, 2001, or

(ii) October 1, 2005, if trade authorities procedures are extended under subsection (c).

(2) CONDITIONS.—A trade agreement may be entered into under this subsection only if such agreement makes progress in meeting the applicable objectives described in section 102 and the President satisfies the conditions set forth in section 104.

(3) BILLS QUALIFYING FOR TRADE AUTHORITIES PROCEDURES.—The provisions of section 151 of the Trade Act of 1974 (in this title referred to as "trade authorities procedures") apply to a bill of either House of Congress consisting only of—

(A) a provision approving a trade agreement entered into under this subsection and approving the statement of administrative action, if any, proposed to implement such trade agreement.

(B) provisions directly related to the principal trade negotiating objectives set forth in section 102(b) achieved in such trade agreement, if those provisions are necessary for the operation or implementation of United States rights or obligations under such trade agreement.

(C) provisions that define and clarify, or provisions that are related to, the operation or effect of the provisions of the trade agreement.

(D) provisions to provide adjustment assistance to workers and firms adversely affected by trade, and

(E) provisions necessary for purposes of complying with section 252 of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985 in implementing the trade agreement, to the same extent as such section 151 applies to implementing bills under that section. A bill to which this subparagraph applies shall hereafter in this title be referred to as an "implementing bill".

(c) EXTENSION DISAPPROVAL PROCESS FOR CONGRESSIONAL TRADE AUTHORITIES PROCEDURES.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Except as provided in section 105(b)—

(A) the trade authorities procedures apply to implementing bills submitted with respect to trade agreements entered into under subsection (b) before October 1, 2001; and

(B) the trade authorities procedures shall be extended to implementing bills submitted with respect to trade agreements entered into under subsection (b) after September 30, 2001, and before October 1, 2005, if (and only if)

(i) the President requests such extension under paragraph (2); and

(ii) neither House of the Congress adopts an extension disapproval resolution under paragraph (5) before October 1, 2001.

(2) REPORT TO CONGRESS BY THE PRESIDENT.—If the President is of the opinion that the trade authorities procedures should be extended to implementing bills described in paragraph (1)(B), the President shall submit to the Congress, not later than July 1, 2001, a written report that contains a request for such extension, together with—

(A) a description of all trade agreements that have been negotiated under subsection (b) and the anticipated schedule for submitting such agreements to the Congress for approval;

(B) a description of the progress that has been made in negotiations to achieve the purposes, policies, and objectives of this title, and a statement that such progress justifies the continuation of negotiations; and

(C) a statement of the reasons why the extension is needed to complete the negotiations.

(3) REPORT TO CONGRESS BY THE ADVISORY COMMITTEE.—The President shall promptly inform the Advisory Committee for Trade Policy and Negotiations established under section 135 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 U.S.C. 2155) of the President's decision to submit a report to the Congress under paragraph (2). The Advisory Committee shall submit to the Congress as soon as practicable, but not later than August 1, 2001, a written report that contains—

TITLE I—TRADE AUTHORITIES PROCEDURES

SEC. 101. SHORT TITLE AND FINDINGS.

(a) SHORT TITLE.—The Act may be cited as the ‘‘Reciprocal Trade Agreement Authorities Act of 1998’’.

(b) FINDINGS.—The Congress makes the following findings:

(1) The expansion of international trade is vital to the national security of the United States. Trade is critical to the economic growth and strength of the United States and to its leadership in the world. Stable trading relationships promote security and prosperity. Trade agreements today serve the same purposes that security pacts played during the Cold War, binding nations together through a series of mutual rights and obligations. Leadership by the United States in international trade fosters open markets, democracy, and peace throughout the world.

(2) The national security of the United States depends on its economic security, which in turn is founded upon a vibrant and growing industrial base. Trade expansion has been the engine of economic growth. Trade agreements maximize opportunities for the critical sectors and building blocks of the economy of the United States, such as information technology, telecommunications and other leading technologies, basic industries, capital equipment, medical equipment, services, agriculture, environmental technology, and intellectual property. Trade will create new opportunities for the United States and preserve the unparalleled strength of the United States in economic, political, and military affairs. The United States, secured by expanding trade and economic opportunities, will meet the challenges of the twenty-first century.

(3) CONSULTATION BEFORE AGREEMENT INITIALED.—In the course of negotiations conducted under this Act, the United States Trade Representative shall—

(A) consult closely and on a timely basis (including immediately before initiating an agreement) with, and keep fully apprised of the negotiations, the congressional advisers for trade policy and negotiations appointed under section 161 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 U.S.C. 2211), the Committee on Ways and Means of the House of Representatives, and the Committee on Finance of the Senate; and

SEC. 103. TRADE AGREEMENTS AUTHORITY.

(a) AGREEMENTS REGARDING TARIFF BARRIERS.—

(I) IN GENERAL.—Whenever the President determines that one or more existing duties or other import restrictions of any foreign country or the United States are unduly burdening and restricting the foreign trade of the United States and that the purposes, policies, and objectives of this title will be promoted thereby, the President—

(A) may enter into trade agreements with foreign countries before—

(i) October 1, 2001, or

(ii) October 1, 2005, if trade authorities procedures are extended under subsection (c), and

(B) may, subject to paragraphs (2) and (3), proclaim—

(i) such modification or continuance of any existing duty,

(ii) such continuance of existing duty-free or excise treatment, or

(iii) such additional duties,

as the President determines to be required or appropriate to carry out any such trade agreement.

The President shall notify the Congress of the President's intention to enter into an agreement under this subsection.

(2) LIMITATIONS.—No proclamation may be made under paragraph (1) that—

(A) reduces any rate of duty (other than a rate of duty that does not exceed 5 percent ad valorem on the date of the enactment of this Act) to a rate of duty which is less than 50 percent of the rate of such duty that applies on such date of enactment;

(B) notwithstanding any other provision of this Act, reduces the rate of duty below that applicable under the Uruguay Round Agreements, on any agricultural product which was the subject of tariff reductions by the United States as a result of the Uruguay Round Agreements, for which the rate of duty, pursuant to such Agreements, was reduced on January 1, 1995, to a rate which was not less than 97.5 percent of the rate of duty that applied to such article on December 31, 1994; or

(C) increases any rate of duty above the rate that applied on January 1, 1996.

(3) AGGREGATE REDUCTION; EXEMPTION FROM STAGING.—

(A) AGGREGATE REDUCTION.—Except as provided in subparagraph (B), the aggregate reduction in the rate of duty on any article which is in effect on any day pursuant to a trade agreement entered into under paragraph (1) shall not exceed the aggregate reduction which would have been in effect on such day if—

(i) a reduction of 3 percent ad valorem or a reduction of one-tenth of the total reduction, whichever is greater, had taken effect on the effective date of the first reduction proclaimed under paragraph (1) to carry out such agreement with respect to such article; and

(ii) a reduction equal to the amount applicable under clause (i) had taken effect at 1-year intervals after the effective date of such first reduction.

(B) EXEMPTION FROM STAGING.—No staging is required under subparagraph (A) with respect to a duty reduction that is proclaimed under paragraph (1) for an article of a kind that is not produced in the United States. The United States International Trade Commission shall advise the President of the identity of articles that may be exempted from staging under this subparagraph.

(4) ROUNDING.—If the President determines that such action will simplify the computation of reductions under paragraph (3), the President may round an annual reduction by an amount equal to the lesser of—

(A) the difference between the reduction without regard to this paragraph and the next lower whole number; or

(B) one-half of 1 percent ad valorem.

(5) OTHER LIMITATIONS.—A rate of duty reduction that may not be proclaimed by reason of paragraph (2) may take effect only if a provision authorizing such reduction is included within an implementing bill provided for under section 105 and that bill is enacted into law.

(6) OTHER TARIFF MODIFICATIONS.—Notwithstanding paragraphs (1)(B) and (2) through (5), and subject to the consultation and layover requirements of section 115 of the Uruguay Round Agreements Act, the President may proclaim the modification of any duty or staged rate reduction of any duty set forth in Schedule XX, as defined in section 2(5) of that Act, if the United States agrees to such modification or staged rate reduction in a negotiation for the reciprocal elimination or harmonization of duties under the auspices of the World Trade Organization or as part of an interim agreement leading to the formation of a regional free-trade area.

(b) AGREEMENTS REGARDING TARIFF AND NON-TARIFF BARRIERS.—

(I) IN GENERAL.—(A) Whenever the President determines that—

(i) one or more existing duties or any other import restriction of any foreign country or the United States or any other barrier to, or other distortion of, international trade unduly burdens or restricts the foreign trade of the United States or adversely affects the United States economy, or

(ii) the imposition of any such barrier or distortion is likely to result in such a burden, restriction, or effect, and that the purposes, policies, and objectives of this title will be promoted thereby, the President may enter into a trade agreement described in subparagraph (B) during the period described in subparagraph (C).

(B) The President may enter into a trade agreement under subparagraph (A) with foreign countries providing for—

(i) the reduction or elimination of a duty, restriction, barrier, or other distortion described in subparagraph (A), or

(ii) the prohibition of, or limitation on the imposition of, such barrier or other distortion.

(C) The President may enter into a trade agreement under this paragraph before—

(i) October 1, 2001, or

(ii) October 1, 2005, if trade authorities procedures are extended under subsection (c).

(2) CONDITIONS.—A trade agreement may be entered into under this subsection only if such agreement makes progress in meeting the applicable objectives described in section 102 and the President satisfies the conditions set forth in section 104.

(3) BILLS QUALIFYING FOR TRADE AUTHORITIES PROCEDURES.—The provisions of section 151 of the Trade Act of 1974 (in this title referred to as "trade authorities procedures") apply to a bill of either House of Congress consisting only of—

(D) provisions to provide adjustment assistance to workers and firms adversely affected by trade, and

(E) provisions necessary for purposes of complying with section 252 of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985 in implementing the trade agreement, to the same extent as such section 151 applies to implementing bills under that section. A bill to which this paragraph applies shall hereafter in this title be referred to as an "implementing bill".

(C) EXTENSION DISAPPROVAL PROCESS FOR CONGRESSIONAL TRADE AUTHORITIES PROCEDURES.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Except as provided in section 105(b)—

(B) a description of the progress that has been made in negotiations to achieve the purposes, policies, and objectives of this title, and a statement that such progress justifies the continuation of negotiations; and

(C) a statement of the reasons why the extension is needed to complete the negotiations.

(3) REPORT TO CONGRESS BY THE ADVISORY COMMITTEE.—The President shall promptly inform the Advisory Committee for Trade Policy and Negotiations established under section 135 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 U.S.C. 2155) of the President's decision to submit a report to the Congress under paragraph (2). The Advisory Committee shall submit to the Congress as soon as practicable, but not later than August 1, 2001, a written report that contains—

(A) its views regarding the progress that has been made in negotiations to achieve the purposes, policies, and objectives of this title; and

(B) a statement of its views, and the reasons therefor, regarding whether the extension requested under paragraph (2) should be approved or disapproved.

(4) REPORTS MAY BE CLASSIFIED.—The reports submitted to the Congress under paragraphs (2) and (3), or any portion of such reports, may be classified to the extent the President determines appropriate.

(5) EXTENSION DISAPPROVAL RESOLUTIONS.—

(A) For purposes of paragraph (1), the term "extension disapproval resolution" means a resolution of either House of the Congress, the sole matter after the resolving clause of which is as follows: "That the ___ disapproves the request of the President for the extension, under section 103(c)(1)(B)(i) of the Reciprocal Trade Agreement Authorities Act of 1998, of the trade authorities procedures under that Act to any implementing bill submitted with respect to any trade agreement entered into under section 103(b) of that Act after September 30, 2001.", with the blank space being filled with the name of the resolving House of the Congress.

(B) Extension disapproval resolutions—

(i) may be introduced in either House of the Congress by any member of such House; and

(ii) shall be referred, in the House of Representatives, to the Committee on Ways and Means and, in addition, to the Committee on Rules.

(C) The provisions of sections 152(d) and (e) of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 U.S.C. 2192(d) and (e)) (relating to the floor consideration of certain resolutions in the House and Senate) apply to extension disapproval resolutions.

(D) It is not in order for—

(i) the Senate to consider any extension disapproval resolution not reported by the Committee on Finance;

(ii) the House of Representatives to consider any extension disapproval resolution not reported by the Committee on Ways and Means and, in addition, by the Committee on Rules; or

(iii) either House of the Congress to consider an extension disapproval resolution after September 30, 2001.

(d) COMMENCEMENT OF NEGOTIATIONS.—In order to contribute to the continued economic expansion of the United States, the President shall commence negotiations covering tariff and nontariff barriers affecting any industry, product, or service sector, and to expand existing sectoral agreements to countries that are not parties to those agreements, in cases where the President determines that such negotiations are feasible and timely and would benefit the United States. Such sectors, include agriculture, commercial services, intellectual property rights, industrial and capital goods, government procurement, information technology products, environmental technology and services, medical equipment and services, civil aircraft, and infrastructure products.

SEC. 104. CONSULTATIONS AND ASSESSMENT.

(a) NOTICE AND CONSULTATION BEFORE NEGOTIATION.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The President, with respect to any agreement that is subject to the provisions of section 103(b), shall—

(A) provide, at least 90 calendar days before initiating negotiations, written notice to the Congress of the President's intention to enter into the negotiations and set forth therein the date the President intends to initiate such negotiations, the specific United States objectives for the negotiations, and whether the President intends to seek an agreement, or changes to an existing agreement; and

(B) before and after submission of the notice, consult regarding the negotiations with the Committee on Finance of the Senate and the Committee on Ways and Means of the House of Representatives and such other committees of the House and Senate as the President deems appropriate.

(2) CONSULTATIONS REGARDING NEGOTIATIONS ON CERTAIN OBJECTIVES.—

(A) CONSULTATION.—In addition to the requirements set forth in paragraph (1), before initiating negotiations with respect to a trade agreement subject to section 103(b) where the subject matter of such negotiations is directly related to the principal trade negotiating objectives set forth in section 102(b)(1) or section 102(b)(7), the President shall consult with the Committee on Ways and Means of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Finance of the Senate and with the appropriate advisory groups established under section 135 of the Trade Act of 1974 with respect to such negotiations.

(B) SCOPE.—The consultations described in subparagraph (A) shall concern the manner in which the negotiation will address the objective of reducing or eliminating a specific tariff or nontariff barrier or foreign government policy or practice directly related to trade that decreases market opportunities for United States exports or otherwise distorts United States trade.

(3) NEGOTIATIONS REGARDING AGRICULTURE.—

(A) Before initiating negotiations the subject matter of which is directly related to the subject matter under section 102(b)(6)(A)(i) with any country, the President shall assess whether United States tariffs on agriculture products that were bound under the Uruguay Round Agreements are lower than the tariffs bound by that country. In addition, the President shall consider whether the tariff levels bound and applied throughout the world with respect to imports from the United States are higher than United States tariffs and whether the negotiation provides an opportunity to address any such disparity. The President shall consult with the Committee on Ways and Means and the Committee on Agriculture of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Finance and the Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry of the Senate concerning the results of the assessment, whether it is appropriate for the United States to agree to further tariff reductions based on the conclusions reached in the assessment, and how all applicable negotiating objectives will be met.

(B) Before initiating negotiations to reduce United States tariffs on agricultural products which the President determines to be import sensitive, the President shall consult with the Committee on Ways and Means and the Committee on Agriculture of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Finance and the Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry of the Senate concerning such tariff reductions. The consultations shall include an assessment of the impact of any tariff reduction on the United States industry producing the product and whether adjustment periods should be provided to the industry. The President, with the advice of the International Trade Commission, shall determine which agricultural products are import sensitive.

(C) Before initiating negotiations with regard to agriculture, the United States Trade Representative shall—

(i) identify those agricultural products subject to tariff reductions by the United States as a result of the Uruguay Round Agreements, for which the rate of duty was reduced on January 1, 1995, to a rate which was not less than 97.5

percent of the rate of duty that applied to such article on December 31, 1994;

(ii) consult with the Committee on Ways and Means and the Committee on Agriculture of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Finance and the Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry of the Senate concerning whether any further tariff reductions on the products identified under clause (i) should be appropriate, taking into account the impact of any such tariff reduction on the United States industry producing the product;

(iii) request that the International Trade Commission prepare an assessment of the probable economic effects of the tariff reduction on the United States industry producing the product and on the United States economy as a whole; and

(iv) upon complying with clauses (i), (ii), and (iii), notify the Committee on Ways and Means and the Committee on Agriculture of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Finance and the Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry of the Senate those products identified in clause (i) for which the Trade Representative intends to seek further tariff liberalization in the negotiations.

(D) If, after negotiations described in subparagraph (C) are commenced—

(i) the United States Trade Representative identifies any additional agriculture product described in subparagraph (C)(i) for tariff reductions which were not the subject of a notification under subparagraph (C)(iv), or

(ii) any additional agricultural product described in subparagraph (C)(i) is the subject of a request for tariff reductions by a party to the negotiations, the Trade Representative shall notify the committees referred to in subparagraph (C)(iv) as soon as practicable of those products.

(1) CONSULTATION.—Before entering into any trade agreement under section 103(b), the President shall consult with—

(A) the Committee on Ways and Means of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Finance of the Senate; and

(2) SCOPE.—The consultation described in paragraph (1) shall include consultation with respect to—

(A) the nature of the agreement;

(B) how and to what extent the agreement will achieve the applicable purposes, policies, and objectives of this title; and

(d) ADVISORY COMMITTEE REPORTS.—The report required under section 135(e)(1) of the Trade Act of 1974 regarding any trade agreement entered into under section 103(a) or (b) of this Act shall be provided to the President, the Congress, and the United States Trade Representative not later than 30 days after the date on which the President notifies the Congress under section 103(a)(1) or 105(a)(1)(A) of the President's intention to enter into the agreement.

(d) ITC ASSESSMENT.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The President, at least 90 calendar days before the day on which the President enters into a trade agreement under section 103(b), shall provide the International Trade Commission (referred to in this subsection as the "Commission") with the details of the agreement as it exists at that time and request the Commission to prepare and submit an assessment of the agreement as described in paragraph (2). Between the time the President makes the request under this paragraph and the time the Commission submits the assessment, the President shall keep the Commission current with respect to the details of the agreement.

(2) ITC ASSESSMENT.—Not later than 90 calendar days after the President enters into the agreement, the Commission shall submit to the President and Congress a report assessing the likely impact of the agreement on the United States economy as a whole and on specific industry sectors, including the impact the agreement will have on the gross domestic product, exports, and imports, aggregate employment and employment opportunities, the production, employment, and the competitive position of industries likely to be significantly affected by the agreement, and the interests of United States consumers.

(3) REVIEW OF EMPIRICAL LITERATURE.—In preparing the assessment, the Commission shall review available economic assessments regarding the agreement, including literature regarding any substantially equivalent proposed agreement, and shall provide in its assessment a description of the analyses used and conclusions drawn in such literature, and a discussion of areas of consensus and divergence between the various analyses and conclusions, including those of the Commission regarding the agreement.

(III) how the agreement serves the interests of United States commerce; and

(IV) how the implementing bill meets the standards set forth in section 103(b)(3).

(3) RECIPROCAL BENEFITS.—In order to ensure that a foreign country that is not a party to a trade agreement entered into under section 103(b) does not receive benefits under the agreement unless the country is also subject to the obligations under the agreement, the implementing bill submitted with respect to the agreement shall provide that the benefits and obligations under the agreement apply only to the parties to the agreement, if such application is consistent with the terms of the agreement. The implementing bill may also provide that the benefits and obligations under the agreement do not apply uniformly to all parties to the agreement, if such application is consistent with the terms of the agreement.

(B) LIMITATIONS ON TRADE AUTHORITIES PROCEDURES.—

(1) FOR LACK OF NOTICE OR CONSULTATIONS.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—The trade authorities procedures shall not apply to any implementing bill submitted with respect to a trade agreement entered into under section 103(b) if during the 60-day period beginning on the date that one House of Congress agrees to a procedural disapproval resolution for lack of notice or consultations with respect to that trade agreement, the other House separately agrees to a procedural disapproval resolution with respect to that agreement.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous matter on H.R. 2621.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Texas?

There was no objection.

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, this could be a fulcrum moment in America’s future. This is an unusually fragile time for economies throughout the world, the likes of which we have not seen for generations.

There are only a few things that we in America can do to increase our ability to be a bulwark against decaying economies around the world and prevent their ultimately enveloping us. One thing we can do is demonstrate a clear commitment to resist the suggestiveness of protectionism, protectionism which could drag the whole world into depression.

This legislation grants the administration the authority to negotiate trade agreements and bring them back to Congress for an up or down vote. Historically it has been bipartisan, and it represents a key component to preserving our economy and helping the rest of the world for years to come.

Trade has been and will always be the force that drives our economic engine. Trade benefits everyone, workers, businesses and consumers. If we are to stay on the right economic road, we should not halt the process of opening foreign markets. We must not.

To the President’s credit, his policy on trade has been very, very good. It has helped us to continue to keep a growing economy. He deserves credit for that. But it is sad that, today, the administration is withholding its support for this bill, support that was so active last year. It is sad that his strength in the past of resisting the pressures of organized labor have now come into play today, and we cannot afford to lose one month, six months or a year until we do one of the few things that we can do to help America and the world.

The U.S. is the world’s largest exporting country, with exports nearing the $1 trillion mark. This economic boom has translated into approximately 11.5 million U.S. jobs which pay on average 15 percent more than non-trade related jobs. Many Americans do not know that they have a trade-related job, but it affects 11.5 million jobs.

We have been able to achieve these impressive results because we have been aggressive in expanding overseas markets. To sustain our growth and prosperity, we must continue to tap into the growing economies around the world, and we must remember that 19 out of 20 potential customers in the world do not live in this country. As a result, negotiating trade agreements that reduce tariff and non-tariff barriers to our products and our services is a win-win proposition.

Our average tariffs are already very, very low, less than 3 percent, but most of our trading partners have much, much higher tariffs: Chile, 11 percent, Argentina, 10 percent, Australia, 9 percent, Thailand, 26 percent. What do we have to fear? We have far less risk to go down from under 3 percent than we have to gain by reducing tariffs that are three, four and five times higher than ours.

Because we export more products and services than any country in the world, reducing foreign tariffs means huge savings for our industries and our workers. But, Mr. Speaker, unfortunately, we are at a standstill. Without fast track, our failure to participate in shaping the global trading system will allow our competitors to negotiate preferential trade agreements and form strategic relationships that exclude us. And that is why I say, again, we should not wait another month or six months before we act on this vital legislation.

Each month we lose is a loss for America. Since 1992 our competitors have negotiated 20 free trade agreements that exclude us in Latin America and Asia alone. We are losing orders for our products over and over again in Chile and other countries, and those orders are going to Canada and they are going to Mexico and they are going to other countries for export. The European union is negotiating in a trade agreement with Latin America that will keep us out. We can no longer afford to stand idly by.

So the legislation we consider today gives the President the authority he needs to move ahead in negotiating these vital trade agreements, and it does so without undermining Congress’ constitutional role.

Congress must under this bill be consulted before, during and after trade negotiations. For farmers and ranchers, who derive 30 percent of their income for exports, this bill puts the Committee on Agriculture, in addition to the Committee on Ways and Means, in a position to review all proposed agreements before they are signed.

The U.S. has everything to gain by passing fast track. We have everything to lose if we fail. The choices before us are stark: We can approve this legislation and sow the seeds of hope, growth and prosperity, or we can yield to the forces of fear, protectionism and short-sightedness and cast this opportunity aside, potentially undermining the economies of the world, with America being irresistibly potentially included in that undermining.

Mr. Speaker, I hope we will support future prosperity. Support fast track, and vote for this bill.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to this bill. I certainly agree with most of the things that the distinguished chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means has said, that if this great Nation is going to continue to grow and maintain our economic advantage, we have to remove all of the barriers to trade.

Trade is the one thing that our Nation excels in, and we have to make certain that we remain competitive. A piece of legislation like fast track or trade, as I said earlier, or taxes or Social Security, cannot be a pre-election gimmick, but it has to be, indeed, a bipartisan effort, where people who have honest differences of opinion but still want our Nation to maintain its leadership in trade sit down and work out those differences.

We cannot afford to allow the world marketplace as it relates to labor to set the standards for the United States of America. We cannot pick a country that has the lowest labor wages, no benefits, no health benefits, and allow industries in our cities around the United States to close and go there to take advantage of that particular economic advantage.

No, we must be able to say that when we trade, Americans are going to be the beneficiaries; not just those in the high-tech jobs, but those in the lower skilled jobs have to be protected as well.

I believe that our president, as other presidents, should have the right to negotiate trade contracts, and it should not be the House or the Senate that is going to dot every "i" or cross every "t". But when it comes to Americans losing their jobs, losing their pensions, losing their homes, merely because business has gone, we should be able to tell the president, you do not negotiate any treaty or contract without protecting American workers, without protecting the environment, without protecting human rights. We cannot let the free marketplace dictate the principles we believe in as a country.

So I believe that when the president is ready to sit down with us, Republicans and Democrats, we can work out fast track. Nobody is against it because it gives the President authority. People oppose it because it does not spell out the human rights and the rights of workers, which is just as much a part of our prosperity as it is to see that the stock market has improved as a result of the stability that the President has brought.

I do not know why these matters are brought up on the eve of elections. I do not know who we want to embarrass. I do not know why we just entertain vetoes. This thing is just too important to allow it to be treated in a partisan way.

For that reason, I do not know why it is on the calendar now. I have no idea what the politics is behind it. You certainly cannot have something like this be approved without bipartisan support. You certainly need the leader of the free world and the President of the United States working with you. But I suspect you have taken some poll somewhere and you think this gives you an advantage someplace come November.

I hope that you are not right, but I still believe that you should not be taking legislation like Social Security, tax cuts, and God knows what else you are going to try to do before we get out of here, and try to negotiate these things just before an election. It is important for the country, but it is important for Americans, Democrats and Republicans, it is important for the President, and I hope that soon we will be able to work a little more closely together.

Mr. Speaker, I yield the balance of my time to the gentleman from California (Mr. MATSUI), the ranking member of the Subcommittee on Trade, and ask unanimous consent that he be permitted to yield blocks of time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. HASTINGS of Washington). Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from New York?

There was no objection.

Mr. CRANE. Mr. Speaker, I yield three minutes to the distinguished gentleman from Oregon (Mr. SMITH).

□ 1615

Mr. SMITH of Oregon. Mr. Speaker, I thank the distinguished gentleman for yielding time to me.

Mr. Speaker, I continue to hear this question, why, why now? Why not next year? I should not have to remind members of the Committee on Ways and Means that next year we have a chance to revisit the Uruguay Round, 1999. There are many, many problems that we have in trade around the world. I should not have to advise the Committee on Ways and Means members of what they are, but let me just tick them off.

We have lost, in agriculture, 30 percent of our markets in Asia. We have been excommunicated from markets in the European Union. We have difficulty with phytosanitary problems getting into Japan, and all of that in the face of disasters in this country for agriculture, of floods, of droughts, and of course, of lost revenues to the tune of some $9 billion.

If there was ever a time that we ought to be reaching out for markets, it is now, it seems to me, especially in the face of the Uruguay Round. Without fast track, we do not have tools to sit down at the table and to discuss these problems that I have just identified around the world.

I can tell the Members, having traveled halfway around the world with my Committee on Agriculture, that the rest of the countries are smiling and chortling at us. I just left a representative from New Zealand who said, "You mean you do not have fast track? You are not going to trade? You are not going to be involved? We thought we were allies. We are going to go into the Uruguay Round without you having fast track and the tools to trade?" He was smiling at us.

The facts are that this agreement is unlike any other that we have ever looked at. It is not like NAFTA, it is not like GATT. It is different because, especially in agriculture, for the first time in history, by the way, and I thank the gentleman from Texas (Mr. ARCHER) and the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. CRANE) of the Committee on Ways and Means for allowing agriculture to be included, not only in the consultation process, as the agreements move along, but before anything is finally penned, the Committee on Agriculture gets a chance to look at every word of the agreement. If it is no good for agriculture, it cannot pass. If agriculture opposes any agreement, it cannot pass this body. For the first time, we have generated an opportunity for agriculture to be at the table when we negotiate agreements. It is outstandingly important that we do that.

I think this is almost humorous, except it is true. This side does not want to give their president fast track. Our side wants to give their president fast track authority. I think the point remains that really no president negotiates trade agreements.

We are a Nation. We are a Nation and a leader in trade. We should be a leader in fast track. Giving this president authority is what I want to do, because I know that trade agreements can be looked at, can be consulted by Congress as we move along, so that gives me safety and that gives me comfort, because I know it will be done properly.

Please, please understand, this is the most important vote for agriculture that we will have in many, many years. Understand, this is the time we stand up for trade.

Mr. MATSUI. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to yield 10 minutes of my time to the gentleman from Washington (Mr. McDERMOTT), a member of the Committee on Ways and Means, in support of the bill, and that he in turn be permitted to control that time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. HASTINGS of Washington). Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California?

There was no objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Washington (Mr. McDERMOTT) will control 10 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from California (Mr. MATSUI).

Mr. MATSUI. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I rise in opposition to H.R. 2621, reluctantly, Mr. Speaker. Today's exercise in this legislation soils our national trade policy with the mud of partisan politics. It shows a disdain for the legislative process, and it threatens to disrupt international markets and quite possibly our national economy.

I would first like to make absolutely clear that I support granting the President fast track negotiating authority that he needs to enter into trade agreements. Fast track authority is essential to maintain U.S. economic leadership by opening foreign markets to American agriculture, manufactured goods and services. I supported it in 1988, I supported it last year, I intend to support it in the future. But I will not, however, support it today.

This debate, Mr. Speaker, is not about fast track. This debate is about partisan politics. The fast track bill that we are considering today is not scheduled and will not pass in the Chamber of this House, but it is, rather, an attempt to embarrass members of my party. I will tell the Members, I will not participate in any effort to do damage or defeat any of my colleagues by using trade policy as a tool.

When the Republican leadership decided to bring fast track up in the waning days of this Congress, there was little attempt to disguise the motivations, the political motivations, behind it. In fact, the chairman of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee was quoted in the Washington Post on July 20, 1998, specifically naming one of my Democratic colleagues, with the clear threat to use this vote against him in the upcoming election.

In addition, Willard Workman, a senior official of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, suggested that he would rather see fast track brought up to lose, which it will, so that he could make an issue out of it in the November election. It is personally surprising to me that one of the Nation's premier business lobbying organizations would display such a reckless attitude about fast track for the sake of perceived partisan advantage.

As I said, however, today is not about passing fast track. We all know that. This bill is virtually identical to the one that was shelved last year. Since then, there has been absolutely no effort to refashion this legislation.

Many of us, including the President, worked very hard last year to pass it, but we could not muster the bipartisan support needed. The sensible and rational thing to do, if we want to pass it, would be to make changes to add additional support. But that simply has not happened. If the Republican leadership sincerely wanted to pass this bill, it would have made the necessary changes to broaden the base of support on the floor of the House.

Our colleagues have modified this bill to take care of agriculture, or at least perceived to take care of agriculture. There has really been no effort to reach out to Members in other areas of this legislation. For example, there has been no discussion on labor and the environment, about language that would implement and expand the implementation if the bill is finally passed, or other bipartisan changes that could get a majority for a good fast track bill.

In fact, this bill under consideration actually limits the President's negotiating authority, compared to the bill that President Reagan and President Bush had, which had flexibility, the law that expired.

While political points may be scored to defeat fast track on the floor today, Mr. Speaker, it will have serious and negative consequences. When coupled with our failure to pass MFN funding, funding for the United Nations, and loose talk about impeachment, this body sends a dangerous message to investors in the markets in Asia, Russia, and Latin America. A signal such as the defeat of fast track today is further evidence that the U.S., or at least this Congress, is not serious about international leadership.

Just as significantly, what happens here also sends a new signal that American trade policy is used for partisan advantage, and that strong bipartisanship in the area of free and international trade no longer exists.

I will tell the Members, we all know that the votes are not there for passage of this legislation. This is brought up only for partisan advantage. That is not the way to use trade policy in America.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. CRANE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, in response to our distinguished minority leader on the Subcommittee on Trade, I would remind him that there are important contents in the Archer amendment to H.R. 2621. They deal not just with agriculture.

There is one, for example, that insists that the President, with respect to any trade agreement implemented under trade authorities procedures, submit to Congress a report describing the extent to which the parties to that trade agreement have in effect laws governing exploitative child labor.

There is a new provision on agriculture, a special 301 procedure for identifying in a report trade barriers and countries that deny fair and equitable market access, and that impose unjustified sanitary and phytosanitary standards against U.S. agricultural products.

One month after the report is issued, USTR would be required to identify priority foreign countries against which it would initiate section 301 unfair trade practice investigations, resulting in possible trade sanctions against the offending country.

It also requires that the President establish a task force to review conditions along the U.S.-Mexico border relating to housing, labor, the environment, and other relevant issues.

Mr. Speaker, I would remind my colleagues on the other side of the aisle of a statement that was made in this Chamber back in January. "We all know in every way in life change is not always easy, but we have to decide whether we are going to try to hold it back and hide from it or reap its benefits. Remember the big picture here. While we have been entering into hundreds of new trade agreements, we have been creating millions of new jobs. So this year we will forge new partnerships with Latin America, Asia, and Europe, and we should pass the new African Trade Act. It has bipartisan support. I also renew my request for the fast track negotiating authority necessary to open more new markets and create more new jobs, which every president has had for two decades."

That was President Clinton in his State of the Union message here.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to our distinguished colleague, the gentleman from Texas (Mr. DELAY).

Mr. DeLAY. Mr. Speaker, fast track would pass tonight if the President would honor his commitments and get his party to vote for it. Who said, "I will also renew my request for the fast track negotiating authority necessary to open new markets and create more new jobs, which every president has had for two decades?" Who has traveled across the world promising to support fast track?

Who said in Santiago, Chile, earlier this year, that "The benefits for American workers and companies and consumers for expanding trade should make, in my judgment, a clear case for fast track authority. I will continue to work hard with Congress to build support for fast track"? Bill Clinton.

President Clinton was once the strongest supporter of fast track. Now, for political reasons, he has withdrawn that support. It is troubling that Bill Clinton has already concluded that he does not have the strength to win this vote, and it is astounding that he has withdrawn his support for this measure. I think that is a shame. I believe that every president must have the tools to do the job.

Our workers need trade agreements that create jobs for Americans. Our businesses need them so they can sell their products overseas. Our consumers need them so they can spend more money on their family and less money on border taxes.

The only way we can get these trade agreements is to give the President fast track authority. It is a shame that so many Democrats have played politics with trade. It is sad that so many Democrats have relied on the politics of fear and isolation. It is a scandal that the President has misled the American people about his commitment to support fast track, when negotiating trade agreements is one of his most important responsibilities.

A vote against fast track is not only a vote of no confidence in this President, it is also a vote of no confidence in the world economy. A vote for fast track is a vote for free trade and continued engagement with our trade partners. I ask Members to vote for fast track.

Mr. MATSUI. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I just hope that the gentleman from Illinois has picked up some votes with the major changes he made in the legislation. I suspect not, but I just hope he picked up a few votes, because he gave up so much.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from California (Mr. FAZIO).

Mr. FAZIO of California. Mr. Speaker, regrettably, I, too, rise to say I cannot vote in favor of fast track today. Many of my colleagues know that the gentleman from California (Mr. MATSUI), the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. HOYER), a number of us, helped lead the effort to gain support among Democratic Members in order to win a fair and bipartisan fast track proposal in the past.

Unlike some, my support for strong and fair trade policies for this country has not changed when the person in the White House has changed. It has been consistent under both Republican and Democratic Presidents.

We rallied the troops last year because we knew the necessity to grant the President fast track authority. Fair and timely fast track ensures, in my view, a continuation of United States engagement and leadership on the international scale that it must be.

But I must say that, unfortunately, today the timing of this vote has little to do with granting the President fast track authority or reasserting American primacy in international markets. It has to do instead, I am afraid to say, with politics. It is not fair, it is not timely, and I think it lays the predicate for further defeats, if we are not careful, when we have all our forces coming together to bring fast track to a successful conclusion in the next Congress.

Mr. Speaker, I think the International Monetary Fund issue is where this Congress should concentrate its fire. We have seen a lack of leadership in this House on this issue, and we do have in the world monetary system a sickness we have got to address. I hope that this majority, during the next several weeks, will find within itself the ability to put at the top of the list of priorities fully funding that agency, with the reforms that have been worked out in the House Committee on Banking and Financial Services.

But until we find that kind of consensus on IMF, a meaningless, politically driven vote today on fast track, which I fear has never had a chance of succeeding, does nothing but set back the cause that we have all been associated with in the past.

I am sad to take the position I do. I look forward to the day when we can put a coalition together with some modifications in this that broaden the base of support for fast track in place and pass it, but it is not going to be today.

Mr. CRANE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

One more quote, Mr. Speaker, to our distinguished colleagues across the aisle. "In the last 5 years we have led the way in opening new markets with 240 trade agreements that remove foreign barriers to products bearing the proud stamp, 'Made in the U.S.A.'," Mr. TRAFICANT. Today record high exports account for fully one-third of our economic growth. I want to keep them going, because that is the way to keep America growing and to advance a safer, more stable world." President William Clinton in this Chamber in January of this year.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from Connecticut (Mrs. JOHNSON), our distinguished colleague on the Committee on Ways and Means.

Mrs. JOHNSON of Connecticut. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of this bill, and I regret that my colleagues on the other side of the aisle keep talking about this as political.

The truth is the last time we had this vote, the Democrats were only able to mobilize about 40 votes in support of giving the President the authority he needs to be at the table to negotiate markets for American-made goods. The fact is that, as a party, they do not believe that America's standard of living depends on selling American-made goods into other people's markets.

Yet, our growth in recent years is directly the result of our success in ever-growing foreign markets. Indeed, foreign trade creates jobs. Foreign trade raises our standard of living. And this vote is simply about this Nation's interest, the national interest, in being at the negotiating table so that we can negotiate access for American-made goods into foreign markets.

Because it is merely about selling, merely about selling our goods to others, it is about jobs. It is about standard of living. Ninety-five percent of the customers in the world are outside of America. And while we have dabbled, while Congress has not been able to give the President authority he has traditionally had, Canada has negotiated 10 percent tariff cuts on their goods into the Chilean market and we have lost customers.

Last year, Europe sold more goods into South America than they ever have in history; and for the first time in history, they sold more goods into that market than the United States did because they have been at that table negotiating agreements to reduce tariffs on European goods. So they have taken customers from American manufacturers, now in droves.

Yes, not being at the table costs jobs, closes us out of markets. Being there is our future and our children's future. Vote "yes" on fast track authority.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of H.R. 2621, which would continue the 20-year history of granting the president the authority to negotiate trade agreements that then must be approved or rejected by Congress. With 95 percent of the world's consumers living outside our borders, we need to take advantage of new markets in which to sell our goods. America has the greatest workforce in the world, but to give our workers opportunity and security, we need to give them the chance to sell their products overseas.

My home state of Connecticut is an excellent example of how the global economy is transforming domestic markets. 124,000 jobs in Connecticut accounted for the approximately $8 billion of goods our state exported last year. Had fast track been in place, those numbers would have been even higher, because additional markets would be open to us. Instead, because we have not been at the table and a part of agreements that has been negotiated, we are losing customers to competitors in other countries. Why? Simply because they are at the negotiating table and have made trade agreements that exclude us.

In 1993, the year before NAFTA went into effect, Connecticut exports to Canada totaled $1.4 billion. This number grew to $1.8 billion in 1997—a 28 percent increase. Exports to Mexico have increased from $336 million to $530 million over that same period—a 57 percent increase. Increased exports, means increased numbers of jobs. And export-related jobs pay on average 13 to 17 percent more.

Connecticut companies like the toy manufacturer Lego have seen exports rise at tremendous rates—Lego's exports to Mexico have increased by 300% since 1995. Their main competitors from China do not have the benefits of tariff reductions that the U.S. negotiated under NAFTA, giving Lego the competitive advantage in that market.

Exports account for a third of America's economic growth. Business' ability to create jobs at home depends increasingly on raw ability to sell goods in foreign markets. And yet, how much we sell in other markets depends on our ability to negotiate trade agreements reducing tariff barriers to those markets. If we continue to let other nations forge trade agreements without us, they will continue to take customers from us and to take market share that will be very hard to win back.

We must restore the Presidents' power to be a negotiating force in shaping the international markets of the future. Without fast track authority, we are simply not at the negotiating table and countries are reluctant to negotiate, knowing that Congress could demand unilateral changes to any negotiated trade agreement at a later date. Let's not tie our negotiators' hand by denying them traditional authority because it makes hammering out international agreements—already an extremely difficult process—virtually impossible.

I also want to make my colleagues aware that this legislation reauthorizes the Trade Adjustment Assistance (TAA) program which will expire on September 30th. This necessary and important program assists American workers and firms who have been adversely affected by import competition. TAA plays a vital role in protecting working families, retaining a skilled and productive workforce, and allowing domestic companies the opportunity to adjust to foreign competition. It is a unique public-private sector partnership that saves and creates jobs.

The global economy will grow at three times the rate of the U.S. economy. A vote for fast track today is a vote of confidence in our workers and a vote for America's future. I urge my colleagues to support H.R. 2621.

Mr. McDERMOTT. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Tennessee (Mr. TANNER).

(Mr. TANNER asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. TANNER. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Washington (Mr. McDERMOTT) for yielding me this time.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of the fast track authority, as imperfect as it may be. I will relate why. I think this may well be one of the most important issues we face as a Nation since the end of the Cold War.

During this century, most of the standing that this country has enjoyed in the world was really defined by military alliances. During the Cold War, it was who was on whose side, either the East, U.S.S.R. or the West, the United States. I believe in the next century the Nation's standing in the world will be judged primarily by trading alliances. I think in this global economy which we are definitely in we have to remain engaged.

It is not a hard question. If one believes, as I do, that we can grow more food in this country than we can consume, we can make more stuff than we can buy and sell to each other, we must have some means by which we sell this to somebody else, or it is an economic fact of capitalism that whoever is engaged in that surplus production is going to lose their job. That is not a political argument. That is an economic fact of capitalism.

Now, I regret very, very much that this bill is up today. We, some of us on our side of the aisle, worked our heads off last November to try to get the votes to pass this. I think we were within three or four votes when the bill was pulled. I have not seen, quite frankly, the same effort applied to bring this bill to the floor today.

As I said, I think this is one of the most important votes this Congress will take since the end of the Cold War, and I regret very deeply and very much the circumstances under which we are considering it.

Nevertheless, I intend to support it, because I think it is that important to the country. I hope after it fails today, which I assume that it will, that we can get together and do something for the country, not our political agendas.

Mr. CRANE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself 30 seconds.

Mr. Speaker, I have another quote for everyone that, interestingly enough, is germane to our current situation in the Florida Keys. "And I think we should say to all the people we are trying to represent here that preparing for a far-off storm that may reach our shores is far wiser than ignoring the thunder until the clouds are just overhead."

That was a reference to some of the economic problems with our trading partners in Asia, and again part of the State of the Union message by President Clinton in this body in January of this year.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the distinguished gentleman from New York (Mr. HOUGHTON).

(Mr. HOUGHTON asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. HOUGHTON. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of fast track. I was not ready for the vote the last time, because I thought that there were some things that we could do as far as protection of our jobs, as far as the environment, but I voted on it. It may not be the appropriate time now. I do not know when an appropriate time is.

But I will tell my colleagues the thing that I worry about. This is not just an intellectual discussion here in this Chamber. We are living in a real world, and the world is passing us by, particularly now with the emphasis of the Asian flu.

I have taken groups down to Chile, to Argentina, to Mexico, to other parts of the world, all privately sponsored, and the one thing they ask is, "When are you going to give the President the authority to negotiate with us, not just on a bilateral but a multilateral basis?"

Mr. Speaker, I think it is so important that we do that. Time is important. It is not just an intellectual argument or a legal argument. It is an argument that has to do with business expansion. And countries and institutions and industries are passing us by, and I think it is very important we look at that.

Another thing I think is important we look at is separate the two economic issues. People say we have to protect our jobs. Therefore, we cannot have fast track. But protecting our jobs, there are things we can do through 301, super 301, section 201 of the Trade Act.

But to protect our jobs by not allowing our salesmen to go out and sell our products is crazy. Ninety-six percent of the customers of this world are outside of this country. We have got to reach them. Time is against us. We must pass this legislation.

Mr. MATSUI. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2½ minutes to the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. HOYER).

Mr. HOYER. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from California (Mr. MATSUI) for yielding me this time, a gentleman who has been one of the great leaders on this issue on our side of the aisle.

Mr. Speaker, I rise as someone who supported NAFTA, who supported GATT, who has voted for fast track, and who was one of the 42 Democrats ready to vote for fast track, which was not brought to the floor just about a year ago.

I rise as someone who is going to vote "no." I rise lamenting the fact that this issue has been so politicized, an issue that the chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means rightfully said is critical to this country.

There has been no bipartisan discussion on fast track this year as there was last. I rise in opposition to this being brought to the floor because I think it hurts this effort; it does not help it. The gentleman from Texas (Mr. DELAY), the majority whip, came to the floor and intimated that Bill Clinton, the President of the United States, had withdrawn his support. President Clinton has shown more courage on trade than any president under whom I have served or with whom I have served.

This issue should not go forward now. Why? Because it is critical that we pass fast track. And I am going to support it next year. I will tell my friends, I am voting "no" now, and next year I will be asking a lot of "noes" to vote "yes." I think that may get us to a majority. I am not sure, because my colleagues on the Republican side of the aisle have put this in the context of putting at risk this issue 5 weeks before an election for political purposes solely. That is the only reason this bill is on this floor right now.

The chairman said we ought to resist the seductiveness of protectionism. I agree with that. Let me repeat. The chairman said it is a shame that we do not resist the seductiveness of protectionism. I agree with that. Let me also say it is a shame that we have not resisted the seductiveness of political advantage in bringing this bill to this floor this day.

There is no one on this floor who believes this bill is going to pass today. Not one. Not on the Republican side and not on our side. And even if it did, there is no one on this floor that believes that it could get through the United States Senate. So the only thing that the Republicans are doing is perhaps making it more difficult for us in February or March of next year, in a bipartisan way, coming together on behalf of America, not on behalf of Republicans or Democrats but on behalf of a more competitive, economically vibrant America, to pass this legislation to empower our President to negotiate.

Mr. Speaker, I hope others will join me in voting "no" today and "yes" next year when we have an opportunity to pass this legislation.

Mr. CRANE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the distinguished gentleman from Ohio (Mr. PORTMAN).

Mr. PORTMAN. Mr. Speaker, this is a bizarre debate today. I guess the bottom line is, if you are for fast track, you think this legislation as presented to the House today makes sense, vote for it. Then we can pass this thing. If all the Members who have come up here and said that they are for free trade truly are for free trade and are sincere about it, we can pass this thing.

This is a bizarre debate in another respect. For years Ronald Reagan and George Bush got fast track authority from a Democrat Congress. They went out and they negotiated agreements that were in the interest of this country. Now we have a situation where President Clinton is coming before a Congress that is dominated by Republicans, and the Republicans are willing to give him fast track authority to negotiate on behalf of our country to open up foreign markets. Yet the Democrats are not giving it to their own President. It has only lapsed twice in history, in 1988 and again in 1993. This is the longest lapse in duration by far.

It has been 6 years since this President has had full fast track authority. We need to provide it. Thirty percent of our growth in our economy is directly related to exports. We have the freest market in the world. We need to knock down the barriers in these other countries. We have a whole slew of multilateral agreements that are being negotiated over the next couple of years. We have to be at the table.

The fact is, we are not going to be taken seriously either by individual countries in our negotiations on a bilateral basis or by the rest of the world on our multilateral negotiations unless the President has the authority under fast track to bring an agreement to this Congress for an up or down vote.

Remember, we retain our right to turn down any agreement we do not like. So this is not even about specific trade policy issues. This is about allowing the American economy to move forward. We cannot stick our heads in the sand. We are living in a global economy. We need to have America out there as a leader in that global economy to make it a freer economy, to help with regard to jobs and exports in this country.

I urge my colleagues, forget the politics. Forget the Republicans and the Democrats. Do what is in your heart. If you really believe in free trade, vote for fast track today.

Mr. MATSUI. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentlewoman from Ohio (Ms. KAPTUR).

Ms. KAPTUR. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding me the time.

Just this week Levi Strauss announced the layoff of 6,395 U.S. workers at 11 plants. Kodak has announced plans to lay off up to 14,000 workers, and hundreds of workers at Huffy Bicycle in Celina, Ohio have just gotten the pink slip.

By voting no on extending fast track authority today, this House has the opportunity to redefine U.S. trade negotiating policy from one which gives away the store to one which establishes an international trade regime of fair and reciprocal trade with our trade competitors.

Just look at the evidence on agriculture. The consultation provisions included in this bill have no practical effect. They mean nothing. Just with our NAFTA trading partners on this continent, what had been a surplus has now turned into a $2 billion negative balance, adversely impacting our agricultural trade sector. Existing trade agreements adversely affect U.S. farmers by lack of inspection on food safety, surges in agriculture imports, an inadequate trade dispute resolution system, and no way to hedge currency fluctuations.

Overall since the Trade Act of 1974, where fast track was first approved, our trade deficit has moved from $9 billion to $220 billion.

Vote no on fast track. Stand up for the U.S. standard of living.

By voting no on every Fast Track authority today, the House has the opportunity to redefine U.S. trade negotiating policy—from one which gives away the store—to one that establishes an international trade regime of fair and reciprocal trade agreements between our nation and our trading competitors.

Look at the evidence on agriculture provisions: The consultation provisions in the modifications made to H.R. 2621 in regard to agriculture issues have no practical effect. Just with our NAFTA trading partners, what has been a surplus imports rose by $3 billion and exports by only $1 billion—a $2 billion negative impact on our agricultural trade balance. Take the Florida tomato industry, for instance. In 1991, Florida had 300 tomato producers. In 1995, there were only 75.

The problems existing trade agreements have created that adversely affect U.S. farmers include: Lack of inspection of food imports; Surges in agricultural imports; An inadequate trade dispute resolution system; and Currency fluctuations.

Overall, since the Trade Act of 1974, implementation of fast track, the U.S. has suffered a negative merchandise trade balance. From $9 billion in 1976 to an estimated $220 billion in 1998.

The problem is not trade but our trade policy. Our trade policy serves the needs of nominally American multinational corporations whose business visions and plans are global in scope and which maintain no national allegiance. Our trade policy has failed America's small businesses families, America's working families, and America's consumers.

When a multinational conglomerate moves a factory overseas, the local grocery doesn't go with it. The auto parts store loses its customers. Small supplier companies lost their customer. American small business hurts. Real wages for American working people have fallen since 1973. Consumers pay as much for an Arrow shirt made in Thailand as for the same shirt made in the U.S.

Fast Track is not required for good trade agreements. It is required to get bad trade deals through Congress.

This Administration has negotiated 220 plus trade agreements without fast track. The fast track bill we consider today actually puts limits on the President's negotiating options rather than giving him a free hand to negotiate.

Our trade balance with MERCOSUR countries has steadily improved since 1990 (from -$3.2 billion to +$9.2 billion in 1996) without a free trade agreement. MERCOSUR countries have an average tariff of 14%.

China is touted as the great new market for American exports. The average annual income in China is $2,200. China has many tariffs on consumer goods of 40% or higher. Imports to China have to survive an obstacle course of non-tariff barriers including import regulations that are not even published. China demands technology transfers to accompany the importation of high-value-added goods in order to develop domestic competition.

NAFTA's promises have proved illusory. Our trade surplus with Mexico has become a $16 billion trade deficit. NAFTA has eliminated 400,000 job opportunities in the U.S. The labor and environmental side agreements have provided toothless and unworkable. Just this week Levi Strauss announced the layoff of 6,395 workers at 11 plants and Kodak has announced plans to lay off up to 14,000 U.S. workers; 100's at Huffy Bicycle in Celina, Ohio.

NAFTA has failed Mexico. The Mexican standard of living has been cut by 50%. Maquiladoras have increased not decreased and their employees live in squalor. Most U.S. exports to Mexico turn around and come back as imports. The Mexican market for U.S. exports has been a disappointment.

The solution is a U.S. trade policy that demands reciprocal treatment of labor and environmental issues on a par with market access and tariff issues.

Vote no on fast track!!!

Mr. CRANE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I would simply like to remind all of the colleagues in this Chamber that the gentlewoman's concern about that escalation of our imports is not an invalid one. As we all know, yesterday we vastly increased the import of skilled labor because we lack labor in this country to meet all of the job requests.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. BEREUTER).

(Mr. BEREUTER asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. BEREUTER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in strong support of fast track negotiating authority.

Today's vote is quite likely to be the most important vote of the 105th Congress, and it could not come at a more important time. Forty percent of the world's economy is in recession. The Asian financial crisis has spread from Thailand to Indonesia, to Korea, to Russia, and it now stands on Brazil's doorstep. If Brazil succumbs to this crisis, Argentina, Mexico and the United States are not far behind.

With many countries retreating from their promises of trade liberalization and financial modernization, this is a crucial moment for the world's economy and for world growth. A setback for fast track in the 105th Congress, be it last year or this year, is a setback for United States leadership for trade liberalization. It is a setback for the appropriate and necessary trend toward the establishment of market-oriented economies throughout the world.

Mr. Speaker, as one who also supports fundamental reexamination and reform of the international financial architecture, I believe that fast track negotiating authority for the executive branch is very much relatedly of paramount importance in this time of global financial crisis and perhaps a slide toward global recession. The ability of the United States executive branch to initiate and conclude bilateral regional and global trade agreements is absolutely crucial for worldwide economic growth.

I believe that the President of the United States and a majority of Members here understand that. Protectionists in this country want to make this fast track vote a referendum on international trade, on GATT and NAFTA. This Member says, let it be a fair reform under fair rules, a fair referendum.

I urge my colleagues to support fast track legislation for the President.

Mr. McDERMOTT. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Texas (Mr. BENTSEN).

(Mr. BENTSEN asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. BENTSEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of the fast track legislation. I supported it last year. I think it is the right thing to do. I think the future of our economy is directly tied to trade.

But I think it is a mistake to take this bill up today. The chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means talked about the delicate markets that we face right now. Everybody knows this bill is going to fail. So here we have a situation where the House of Representatives is going to vote down fast track trading authority. We have been incapable of mustering support for the IMF recapitalization. We look like we are probably doing away with the fiscal responsibility that started just a few years ago through the highway bill and through the tax bill. So as the world financial situation worsens and starts to affect us, America appears to be turning inward, at least if we look at the House of Representatives. I think that is a terrible mistake.

The gentleman from Texas (Mr. DELAY), my colleague, and the chairman of the Subcommittee on Trade quoted the President in his State of the Union address he gave earlier this year. They did not quote the part where he talked about the IMF. And the fact is, you all cannot get it out of your own conference. The votes are here to pass the IMF bill between our side and your side, but you cannot get it out of the political debate in your own conference.

The fact that we are having this vote today, it is not about trade. It is not about good policy, although I think fast track is good policy. It is about politics. That is what it has come down to. Maybe that is the way end of sessions are. It is all about politics. We are going into an election.

The problem is, the people out in the country are looking at this and they are looking at the House and they are saying, they cannot do anything. They are a paralyzed body. But even worse, the markets around the world look at it and say, they cannot do anything. The United States is paralyzed. And that just undermines confidence and increases contagion further throughout the world.

Who pays for that? The American worker that we are all talking about today.

It is a real shame that the House is taking this up when they know it is going to fail. It is going to make the United States look bad. I will vote for it, but I think it is a big mistake.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of this legislation to grant the President fast-track authority to negotiate international trade agreements because I believe that expanded trade is good for our economy and good for American workers. However, I strongly disagree with the majority's decision to play politics with this issue by scheduling this vote today when it is clear the votes are not there to pass this bill. This decision undermines this nation's long history of bipartisanship on trade issues, poisons the long-term prospects for such legislation, and in the short-term risks further destabilizing world markets already experiencing the greatest instability and weakness in 50 years. The decision to hold this vote today puts partisan politics ahead of international leadership, to the detriment of our own economy and the world economy.

Let me be clear. I strongly support extending fast-track authority to the President. In anticipation of last year's vote, and after discussion with constituents, including labor and industry, as well as government officials and economic and trade experts, I announced that I would vote in support of the fast-track legislation. I did so because I believe that expanded trade, through agreements that reduce foreign trade barriers and open new markets for American products, is vital to growing our economy, raising our standard of living, and creating high-skilled, high-wage jobs. However, I announced my support only after having secured from the President a commitment to significantly expand our nation's trade adjustment assistance programs to help those who are hurt by trade. While I believe that trade helps our economy as a whole, we must recognize that some industries and some workers are hurt by trade, and we need to put in place a comprehensive trade policy that seeks to maximize the benefits and minimize the harm. I remain strongly committed to an economic policy that includes free and fair trade that reduces foreign trade barriers to American products, while ensuring that all Americans share in the benefits of trade through trade adjustment assistance and retraining programs.

While I agree philosophically with the intent of this legislation, I believe it is short-sighted and dangerous for the majority to hold this vote today. Global markets are looking to the United States for stability and guidance as global financial markets move through this difficult era. As Federal Reserve Chairman Alan Greenspan noted in his testimony to the House Banking Committee on Wednesday, world leaders, including the U.S. Congress, must pay very close attention to the potential harm of the global financial crisis to their own countries. In a time when we see contagion in Asia, a collapse of the Russian economy and the economic turmoil in Latin America, we simply cannot take our vote on fast-track lightly.

By voting on this bill today, which has no chance for passage, this body is taking a very irresponsible action that places short-term political goals ahead of assuring global markets of our nation's commitment to financial security and free markets. The end result of this politically motivated effort will only make passage of fast-track even less likely during the next Congress. While I will vote "yes" on final passage, it is only with the most reluctance and hesitation.

Mr. CRANE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Florida (Mr. SHAW), our distinguished colleague on the Committee on Ways and Means.

Mr. SHAW. Mr. Speaker, I thank the chairman for yielding me the time to speak on this most important piece of legislation.

So much has been said on both sides, by Members on both sides of this issue and on both sides of the aisle, about what is happening in the world economy today. And some of those things, when you really zero in on them, are rather frightening.

All this legislation does is to give the President the authority to go to the bargaining table to work out some type of a trade agreement, free trade agreement. And then, with the expectation and the knowledge and the fact that that particular treaty has to come back to this body and to the Senate for ratification. We in no way empower the President to do anything. We simply give him the guarantee of an up-or-down vote on whatever he might negotiate.

Now, for most of the Members that would seem so logical, but politics has gotten into this thing in an incredible way and an incredibly bad way. The unions are out there negotiating or trying to lean on their Members to vote against the fast track authority, when the fact is and the bottom line is that the higher-level jobs stay here in the United States, and those are the type of jobs that these unions want to attract to the United States. I never could understand that exact reasoning.

I think most important, even if you are not a free trader, the rest of the world is becoming a free trader. We are not there. The rest of the world is moving ahead. We are standing still in a protectionist situation. This is what this is all about.

If we were able to pass fast track within the next hour, hour and a half, that would probably be one of the most important votes that we could take in this session of the Congress that show that we are moving ahead. How can the strongest, largest economy that has ever been on the face of this earth be afraid of free trade?

We are the world's greatest exporter, the largest exporter in the world. Our jobs depend upon it. With all of the problems that are going on in the other economies, let us pull together and pass fast track today. Let us give the President the authority that he needs to move us ahead in the world economy.

Mr. MATSUI. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume, just to mention to the gentleman, if you want to pass fast track, all you have to do is get the law that expired in 1994, which we passed in 1988, put it on the floor, and you will probably have 250 votes. But you do not want to do that because you really do not want this bill to pass. You want to use it for partisan advantage.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Oregon (Mr. BLUMENAUER).

Mr. BLUMENAUER. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding me the time.

This is a sad moment for me because I came to Congress believing in enhancing the United States role in a global economy. I represent a State which has prospered mightily from trade. I have enjoyed working with my colleagues the gentleman from California (Mr. MATSUI), the gentleman from New York (Mr. RANGEL) and with members on the other side of the aisle like the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. CRANE), the gentleman from California (Mr. DREIER) and the gentleman from Arizona (Mr. KOLBE) in the development of a bipartisan trade policy.

Last year I was part of an effort, and we came close, there were maybe 210 Members who were willing to vote. But because we were not quite close enough, the Republican Speaker and the administration pulled it back.

Now, in an increasingly partisan atmosphere, the Republican leadership has recklessly endangered our progress and will produce not just fewer Democrats, there will be fewer Republicans that will vote for this bill than we claim to have had last year.

It will undercut our progress on environment and labor. It is a blatant partisan effort that will freeze some of the positions on both sides of the aisle. It toys with Members who really do care about this issue. And by producing today fewer Republicans, fewer Democrats, we are going to send a negative economic signal both at home and abroad.

Most sadly, it shatters the bipartisan trade leadership efforts that Members have worked so hard on on this floor.

I will personally work to restore that bipartisan coalition, work to build bridges, listen to and deal with the legitimate concerns Members have. But this failure that is going to occur today does not underscore the weakness of this President. It talks about the recklessness of the Republican leadership that is not going to be able to produce the same amount of votes that they claimed last year. I am not going to dignify this political act with a yes vote. I will vote present, and I urge others to do similar or vote against it.

I thank the gentleman for yielding me the time.

Mr. CRANE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume to remind our distinguished ranking minority member that there was obviously something substantive in this bill when he voted for it in committee. I am sorry that the gentleman changed his position with the passage of time, because we need that kind of important bipartisan support.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to our distinguished colleague, the gentleman from Minnesota (Mr. RAMSTAD).

Mr. RAMSTAD. Mr. Speaker, I thank the distinguished chairman for yielding the time to me.

Mr. Speaker, if ever we needed to put statesmanship ahead of partisanship, it is here and now. We can move forward, remaining engaged in the global marketplace, or we can turn backward and isolate ourselves, driving a stake into our economy and saying goodbye to thousands of lost jobs.

As has been said before, the world economy will move forward with or without us. Our trading partners will continue to negotiate and enter into new trade agreements which grow their businesses and create new jobs in their countries.

Look at the last 20 major trade agreements enacted in this hemisphere since fast track expired. Where is the United States? Left out of all 20 major agreements. Around the world, believe me, Mr. Speaker, major exporting nations are hoping that Congress votes down fast track authority tonight.

Our competitors win if the world's largest economy is excluded from trade negotiations, pure and simple. As a Minnesotan and a member of the Subcommittee on Trade, I have seen firsthand the value of exports and increased trade to U.S. workers. My State of Minnesota is the 12th largest exporting State. The Twin Cities, which includes the Third Congressional District, is the eighth largest metropolitan area in terms of exporting in the Nation. Eight percent of Minnesota's gross State product is exported to other nations. Minnesota's exports over the last five years have grown 150 percent. Jobs have increased 25 percent.

But, Mr. Speaker, we cannot sit still. We must pass fast track to continue to grow our economy. Farmers in Minnesota and the rest of the Nation need the expanding markets in Latin America and Asia. Our high-tech manufacturers need them. Intellectual property needs them. Fast track is needed to break down the barriers to those critical markets.

The gentleman from New York (Mr. HOUGHTON) told us that 96 percent of the world's consumers live outside the United States. We cannot ignore them. Let us not leave America's workers, farmers, consumers and businesses behind. Let us put statesmanship ahead of partisanship. Let us pass fast track and keep America competitive.

Mr. MATSUI. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume. I just might mention to the chair of the subcommittee that we did not even bring this bill to the committee nor subcommittee. We just brought it right to the floor because you were so anxious to make a political point.

I might add also last week in Congress Daily AM, "One senior Republican aide appeared to view the bill as a loser, indicating that the leadership's decision to press is based upon political calculations. 'The decision to do it is to show business who is in the camp of business and who is in the camp of labor.'"

That is a great way to pass legislation. You know this bill is not going to pass. All this rhetoric about how we really need fast track is just that. It is rhetoric. This is not a debating society. This is to pass good legislation. But you are incapable of doing it because you folks do not know how to compromise. We passed NAFTA. We passed GATT. We passed the MFN China. You cannot pass legislation, because you just do not know how to compromise and make deals. That is the problem. You like to just talk about it.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from California (Mr. BECERRA).

Mr. BECERRA. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding me this time. I would agree with everyone who has said that we need free trade. I would agree with everyone who says that we need to give the President fast track authority to negotiate free trade agreements. But we need free trade that offers fair treatment for America's workers and offers protection of our environment. And we need a bill to vote on for fast track authority that is not encumbered by politics.

Everyone here, as has been said before, knows that this bill is not going to pass. If you believe it will, then you should stand up here and say that you are willing to put your month's paycheck behind that. Yet we are five days away from the end of this fiscal year. On day six, we would have to shut the doors of government down because we do not yet have a budget in place to allow us to operate the government for the next fiscal year beginning October 1. Were it not for a short-term, stop-gap, emergency continuing resolution that passed this House that allows us to operate until October 9, we would be preparing to close all of the doors of government down, from our parks to our Defense Department to our Department of Justice, in five days.

Today we are taking time to discuss fast track authority when we know it will fail, when we are five days away from closing down the end of the fiscal year and only one of the 13 appropriations bills that we need to have a full budget for the next fiscal year has been sent to the President for his signature. Why are we doing this? We know what is going to happen. October 9 will come and we still will not have those 12 other appropriation bills passed. We are not doing our work. We know this will not pass. It is clear six weeks away from an election, a point is to be made.

That point could have been made without jeopardizing the future of free trade for this country, of good fast track authority for the President.

It is unfortunate that politics again has taken over this House and has doomed what should otherwise be a good opportunity to have free trade authority and fast track authority for this President.

Mr. CRANE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume. I would remind our colleagues that job relocation has always been a component of trade. Because of NAFTA, the Department of Labor estimated that we did lose 125,000 jobs, but only 10,000 of those people took advantage of the NAFTA retraining benefits. That was over the span of three years. We create more than 125,000 jobs every two weeks. We have been, primarily because of the advancement of free trade.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the distinguished gentleman from Michigan (Mr. CAMP).

(Mr. CAMP asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. CAMP. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding me this time. I would say to my colleagues from rural districts, this fast track bill has some of the most important pro-agricultural language in any bill you will vote on this year. A vote for fast track is a vote for United States farm families.

A provision in our fast track bill not included in any other version that has passed the House before in the 1980s or any other time, Special 301 for agriculture, requires the Trade Representative to place a much higher focus on our Nation's farmers every year, initiating cases against those countries with barriers to U.S. agricultural products. There is no doubt about it, our farmers are hurting this year. Why? Part of it is weather. In my own congressional district we have had half the rain of a normal year. But a lot of it also has to do with international conditions. South American countries had a bumper crop this year, pushing worldwide crop prices down. The Asian economic crisis pushed prices down further, because Asian demand has plummeted. The lack of demand is cutting U.S. agricultural exports by $2 billion or more, according to USDA estimates.

But we need to be able to tell our farmers in 1998, "We're going to help you, we're going to help you increase your share in international markets when a strong dollar or weak demand are working against us. We are going to help you get good prices and a fair farm income."

Trade is one of the most important tools we have to increase farm income. Last year our farmers exported $57 billion in agricultural products. With a $21 billion trade surplus last year, farmers made the largest dent in our trade deficit of any industry. Special 301 for agriculture helps address trade barriers. Under Special 301, when the U.S. Trade Representative makes their annual report on trade barriers, they must identify as priority countries those nations whose agricultural trade barriers have the most harmful impact on U.S. agricultural products. After identifying those countries, USTR is required to negotiate removal of the discriminatory barriers. If negotiations are unsuccessful, the U.S. can take retaliatory action under 301.

I am pleased to have worked on this provision with the gentleman from Minnesota (Mr. GUTKNECHT). I urge support of the bill.

Mr. MATSUI. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Texas (Mr. EDWARDS).

Mr. EDWARDS. Mr. Speaker, as a Democratic supporter of fast track, I say here today that the Republican leadership of this House has killed the possibility of fast track's passage for years to come.

Let us be clear about what has happened and let us be honest about what has happened. Republicans have enough votes right now today to pass fast track without one single Democratic vote. You know that and I know that. But you also know you cannot do that, because there are a lot of Republicans not supporting fast track. So what you have done basically is to say, "We can't pass it on our own," and then you gleefully let your leaders go out and say this is a great vote to have right before the election because it will give Democrats grief, and then you make no real effort to put together a bipartisan bill, and then have the audacity to have some Members come to the well of this House and blame the defeat of this on Democrats. I would say that is disingenuous.

I want fast track to pass. I think it is the right thing to do. But I hope that every American farmer and rancher and every American business that understands the importance of fast track knows that the Republican leadership today is putting the nail of death into the coffin of fast track's passage.

Mr. CRANE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume. One more quote:

"As we enter the 21st century, the global economy requires us to seek opportunity, not just at home but in all of the markets of the world. We must shape this global economy, not shrink from it."

That again is President William Clinton in this Chamber in January of this year.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. DAVIS).

Mr. DAVIS of Virginia. Mr. Speaker, this is not a bipartisan bill? This is a bill that just a few months ago the President would have signed and many of you voted for it in committee and would vote for it.

I am really disappointed in some of my colleagues on the other side of the aisle. What I hear them saying is they are more concerned about protecting some of their Members from a controversial vote that splits their coalition than in passing fast track. Frankly as one of the Republicans who voted for IMF funding over objections from some of my leadership, I do not think it is statesmanship, I do not think it is the right direction for the country, and I do not think you are giving cover to anybody by voting "no" on this or fooling anybody.

But meantime, the world goes on. Dozens of treaties are being negotiated around the world between countries while America simply sits on the sidelines. Chile, the fastest growing economy in the western hemisphere, has new trade agreements with every country in the western hemisphere except for Cuba and the United States. Their markets now buy more from European countries than from the United States because we have not been able to sit down and negotiate agreements with them because we sit idly by in the House waiting for, I guess what people on the other side would wait for an opportune time, which I gather now is sometime after the election when they believe their coalition is not split.

Our experience with amendable trade agreements goes way back to Smoot-Hawley and shows that it does not work. We need fast track legislation. This is the longest expiration that we have had in history. With 95, 96 percent of world consumers living outside the United States, it is important that the surpluses that we have in this country, whether it is computers, whether it is food and agricultural products, that we be able to sell these at a fair price and penetrate other markets. Without this, we cannot move on.

A "no" vote today just kisses this off to six months or a year from now. In the meantime, American consumers suffer by paying higher prices and American exporters lose jobs.

Mr. MATSUI. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Minnesota (Mr. OBERSTAR).

Mr. OBERSTAR. I thank the gentleman for yielding me this time. Mr. Speaker, we in Minnesota and Michigan's iron ore and mining industry and the lower lake steel mills must never forget the harsh lessons of the 1970s and 1980s. We paid a terrible price for unfair trading practices in steel and iron ore. We lost 330,000 jobs in the basic steel industry in America, a 57 percent reduction in jobs, 450 plants closed, nearly 10,000 jobs permanently lost in Minnesota's iron ore, mining and taconite industry due to subsidized imports of steel from Japan, Korea, Europe and Brazil.

Our domestic industry since then has modernized, spent $50 billion in new plant and equipment, producing the highest quality steel in the world. Our productivity stands at four man-hours per ton. Our plants give the best quality steel at the lowest cost. Yet steel imports have surged in May, June and July this year, 113 percent up from Japan, 90 percent up from Korea, 32 percent up from Russia, Ukraine and others. From Latin America and the Caribbean, imports stand at 4.7 million tons for the first seven months of this year alone. We are on a pace toward 36 million tons of steel imports in America, 26 percent of domestic consumption. Layoffs are already happening in basic steel and in the iron ore mining industry in Minnesota and Michigan.

I say no fast track in the face of unfairly traded steel, dumped in the U.S. market at subsidized prices with the label "Japanese steel at Russian prices imported from Latin America."

Mr. CRANE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. MANZULLO).

Mr. MANZULLO. Mr. Speaker, they get up at the crack of dawn and they work 18 hours a day. They take care of their animals. They cultivate their crops. They repair the roofs of their barns that have been torn off by savage winds. They are preparing to go into the field, to cultivate the corn, to harvest it, to sell it. Harvest time is the time to pass fast track. Because without fast track, American farmers have lost 78 million bushels of corn in sales to Chile and three other Latin American countries to the Argentinians. Because Argentina has an agreement with those four Latin American countries and we do not.

□ 1715

Let us talk about the people. Let us talk about the farmers who are directly suffering as a result of the President's failure to lead the Nation in adopting fast track. They are the ones that are suffering. Them. The ones who work all those hours. And to the men and women at the Neon plant in Chrysler, they could not sell 4000 Neons to Chile. Mexico sold those Neons to Chile because Mexico has a free trade agreement with Chile and the United States does not. Four thousand automobiles could have been manufactured in this country, and they were not because we do not have fast track.

Mr. Speaker, it is the people that count.

Mr. McDERMOTT. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2½ minutes to the gentleman from Iowa (Mr. BOSWELL).

(Mr. BOSWELL asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. BOSWELL. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for the opportunity to come and speak this afternoon, and I welcome the opportunity to finally see a vote on fast track. I deplore the games that have been played with American farmers and others who depend on trade.

Since last summer I have fought to include child labor provisions in the fast track legislation. Like many of my colleagues, I have lived outside the country for 9 years of my life, and I have seen firsthand some of the miserable conditions, some of the rotten conditions under which some children have to work. As the one true leader of the world stage, I believe the United States must be concerned about those who are least able to protect themselves, the children.

Mr. Speaker, I have worked with the administration and leaders from both sides of the aisle to have fast track legislation that will consider child labor in countries with which we negotiate under fast track. This bill make an important first step in this direction. As of last night, and I thank my colleagues, as of last night the bill requires the President to focus on the laws governing the exploitative labor and submit to this body a report on the Nation's child labor laws.

I might share with my colleagues that the amendment that I had tried to bring before this body did much the same thing. It said a country which we would deal with would have a standard for child labor, and, second, that they would not force their own standard, not saying what it would be. I think this accomplishes much the same thing.

So, Mr. Speaker, I claim that partial victory and I feel very good. Last year I worked very closely with the administration to support my child labor language, and the President did support my efforts and agreed to my language, and I have a letter here that affirms that, that precedes the fact that we made this effort.

This fast track bill gives farmers a fair shake in fast track negotiations. The legislation requires the trade representative to identify countries that deny fair and equitable market access to U.S. agricultural products. Also, before entering into negotiations that reduce United States tariffs on agricultural products the President must consult with the agricultural committees of the House and Senate. Involving the ag committee is a very good addition to the process.

Make no mistake, fast track is an important part of the long solution for the world economy. What our agricultural community needs in the short term is to fully fund the IMF. I have always supported fast track, and I have always supported provisions that contemplate child labor. Today I declare a partial win and am pleased to vote for fast track. Both of these are important measures.

Mr. CRANE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to our distinguished colleague, the gentleman from California (Mr. CALVERT).

Mr. CALVERT. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of fast track trade legislation.

For the last several years the majority in Congress has eliminated the deficit, produced tax relief for the first time in 16 years and reformed welfare. The result has been a strong American economy. And Congress today has its role to play again. We cannot allow the current global economic crisis to slow U.S. economic growth any further.

By denying the President the ability to negotiate fast track trade agreements we are hurting the long term prosperity of our country. We in Congress must send a strong and clear signal to our citizens and the world that we are willing to make the tough decisions today to secure prosperity for our children.

Mr. Speaker, I urge all my colleagues to support fast track legislation. It is the right thing to do. As was mentioned, 95 percent of the customers are outside of the United States. Keep our country strong, support fast track.

Mr. MATSUI. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to yield 2 additional minutes to the gentleman from Washington (Mr. McDermott) who is a member of the Committee on Ways and Means and that he in turn be permitted to control that time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. HASTINGS of Washington). Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California?

There was no objection.

Mr. MATSUI. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. DAVIS).

(Mr. DAVIS of Illinois asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. DAVIS of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, the American people oppose fast track by a 2-to-1 margin because they see existing trade agreements that do not do enough to protect living standards or to keep our food, air and water safe. Some Members of this body feel that because we are in an economic boom like we have never seen before that the American people should support fast track to give our industries an even stronger economic boost. But while the rich of America are enjoying the good times of economic prosperity, I am constantly reminded in my district that there are no good times to be poor, but some times are worse than others.

Now we understand the question is not whether we should trade. Of course we should. There is no turning back from our global economy. But we also must understand that how we trade makes a big difference.

Mr. Speaker, I heard an old African proverb that says when elephants fight it is only the grass that gets trampled. Do not let this fast track further trample the lives of every day people. I ask that we vote against fast track and vote to save decent jobs for the American people.

Mr. CRANE. Mr. Speaker, I yield a minute and a half to our distinguished colleague, the gentleman from Minnesota (Mr. GUTKNECHT).

Mr. GUTKNECHT. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding this time to me.

Mr. Speaker, I just want to say that some of the debate I have heard so far today on the floor of the House is almost embarrassing. We have literally heard Members say:

I would have voted for this bill 6 months ago, and I will vote for it in January, but I cannot vote for it now.

Mr. Speaker, it almost gives hypocrisy a bad name even here in Washington.

This is a very important vote, and as some of my colleagues have already pointed out, many of our farmers are in the middle of the harvest right now, and, frankly, we need to make sure that that harvest has a market.

As my colleagues know, a lot of people have criticized the farm bill and they say farmers are going broke today. Well, of course they are. We have lost $5 billion worth of exports. Trade was at record high back in 1996, and so was farm income, and it is no coincidence. Exports have dropped, and so has farm income. We cannot eat all that we produce here in the United States. Trade is critically important to us, and I want to call attention to something that the gentleman from Iowa (Mr. BOSWELL) said just a minute ago and the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. CAMP) said earlier as well:

This bill has in it super 301 language so that our government is now going to be responsible for enforcing the trade agreements that we have. Heretofore we have required that the trade groups have actually had to enforce them.

In the end, Members, this is a debate between those who believe that America can compete in a world marketplace and those who believe that America cannot. I, for one, am not willing to give up on America's farmers or America's workers because I believe that America can and will and must compete in a world marketplace.

Mr. McDERMOTT. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentleman from Texas (Mr. STENHOLM).

(Mr. STENHOLM asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. STENHOLM. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of fast track legislation. Fast track authority will ensure that the agricultural trade success story does not reach an untimely end and that we maintain our position as a leader in the global economy.

But it is not the esoteric language of economics and trade ratios that motivate me on this issue. It is people and especially the people of west Texas who I am privileged to represent. My farmers and ranchers are hurting, and so are all the people who have business related to agriculture. In the absence of recent trade progress, my constituents have lost ground and see their incomes decrease by 30 percent. They need a ray of hope that markets will soon open up and allow them to keep and expand jobs and care for their families.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 2621 would renew the authority necessary to renegotiate new trade agreements aimed at achieving these objectives.

To those who oppose this legislation, that is all we are talking about is sending our negotiators back to the table.

To the Republican leadership I say that I sincerely hope in the process of making the judgment to bring this bill to the floor; today they have done everything in their power to make sure this measure succeeds. If this was a reckless gamble on their part, I fear the message that failure will send to our trading partners around the world.

To my colleagues on the Democratic side of the aisle who support free trade but have been frustrated about the process, let me say I understand their frustration, but it is time to put people above politics. Our constituents who need jobs, who need opportunities, look at our partisan squabbling as just so much childishness. Adults are expected to know that there comes a time when it does not matter who is at fault. They just have to take the circumstances they have been given and try to do what is right.

Mr. Speaker, I appeal to my friends on both sides of the aisle to vote yes for fast track.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of fast-track legislation on behalf of the farmers and ranchers and other producers of America. This legislation is far more important than any short-term political gain or benefit to either side.

U.S. agricultural trade is a great success story. Our agricultural exports have increased nearly $20 billion since 1990 to $57.1 billion in 1997. Sixty percent of this expansion was due to the rising volume of high-value exports, such as beef, poultry meat, and horticultural products. Bulk commodities, especially grains and soybeans, accounted for the rest of the expansion as both volume and prices rose in 1995–1996. How did this tremendous growth occur? Because of the trade agreements negotiated under previous fast-track authority.

Fast-track authority will ensure that the agricultural trade success story does not reach an untimely end, and that we maintain our position as a leader in the global economy. Future export prospects for U.S. agricultural products depend, in large part, on our ability to maintain and expand market access, ensure fair competition, and further level the international playing field for U.S. producers and exporters.

But it's not the esoteric language of economics and trade ratios that motivate me on this issue; it's people, and especially the people of west Texas whom I am privileged to represent. We have heard a lot today from folks on the other side of this issue about workers and jobs and what trade agreements mean for them. That is my concern precisely. My farmers and ranchers are hurting, and so are all of the people who have businesses related to agriculture. In the absence of recent trade progress, my constituents have lost ground and seen their incomes decrease by 30 percent. They need a ray of hope that markets will soon open up, allowing them to keep and expand their jobs and care for their families.

H.R. 2621 would renew the authority necessary to negotiate new trade agreements aimed at achieving these objectives. Any trade agreement reached under fast track would still require congressional approval. Fast track legislation simply says that we give our negotiators the authority they need to be at the table in upcoming trade negotiations in the World Trade Organization, Latin America, Asia, and elsewhere. Without fast-track authority, the U.S. will miss an important opportunity to help write the rules that will govern trade in the 21st century. Our farmers and ranchers, as well as other business exporters, will be left out in the cold.

To the Republican leadership I say that I sincerely hope in the process of making the judgment to bring this bill to a vote today, you have done everything in your power to make sure this measure succeeds. If this was a reckless gamble on your part, I fear the message that failure will send to our trading partners around the world.

To my colleagues on the Democratic side of the aisle who support free trade but have been frustrated about the process by which this bill has come to the floor, I say that I understand your frustration. But it's time to put people above politics. Our constituents who need jobs, who need opportunities, look at our partisan squabbling as just so much childishness. Adults are expected to know that there comes a time when it doesn't matter who is at fault—you just have to take the circumstances you've been given and try to do what's right.

Regardless of what you think about how we got to where we are today, we are past the point of arguing about whether this is the right time to vote on fast track. The time is here; the bill is before us. We must make a choice.

I appeal to my friends on my own side of the aisle to rise above the circumstances into which we were thrust and reaffirm our commitment to the hard-working men and women of our districts who count on us to keep their best interests at heart.

I ask all Members to put politics aside and pass this legislation. Vote for the American farmer and rancher, the small business man and woman. Vote yes for fast track.

Mr. CRANE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to our distinguished colleague, the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. BARRETT).

Mr. BARRETT of Nebraska. Mr. Speaker, I obviously rise in support of H.R. 2621.

Mr. Speaker, I know that everyone is aware of the economic distress out there on our farms and our ranches. Fast track, of course, is one of the much needed responses to that situation.

This fall, if we fail to pass it and if we adjourn without having extended fast track, if the legislation does fail, I think the finger of blame can be directed, of course, straight at the White House for failing to rally the number of Democrat votes needed to pass.

Agriculture is dependent on its export markets, and it is the responsibility of Congress and the administration to make sure that those markets are maintained and expanded. We need lower foreign tariffs, we need to stop the use of foreign trading enterprises to block or underbid our U.S. ag exports, and of course we need fast track to get this done.

For those who argue an imperiled Bill Clinton should not be granted fast track authority, they might be looking at the trade issue with blinders on. It will be the trade experts at the table, not the President, and if history is any gauge, the next round of GATT will not be completed for years. Bill Clinton will be out of the picture by then.

This could be a good day for agriculture and other industries dependent on exports, and I hope it is. I hope enough Members muster the courage to ignore the pleadings of labor unions and protectionists who want us to live in the past ignoring the global marketplace and limiting future economic growth. U.S. businesses and industry cannot survive without fully participating in the global marketplace, and of course we need fast track to negotiate that full and fair participation.

I urge my colleagues to support H.R. 2621.

Mr. MATSUI. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. BROWN).

Mr. BROWN of Ohio. Mr. Speaker, the message we send to the world today by voting no on fast track is crystal clear. The primary focus of the next generation of trade policies will be in support of worker rights, strong environmental laws and solid food safety regulations.

□ 1730

Future trade agreements coming from this Congress will mean better wages in developing countries, and improved environment, better food safety and increased workers' rights. Existing trade agreements have all too often eroded our living standards, undermined clean air and water laws, and continued to depress wages from workers all over the world, from Nike workers in Indonesia, to GM workers in Mexico, to metal workers in Lorraine, Ohio.

Vote no on fast track.

Mr. CRANE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentleman from Kansas (Mr. RYUN).

Mr. RYUN. Mr. Speaker, while the majority of Americans are enjoying an unprecedented level of economic prosperity, natural disasters and low farm commodity prices are hurting farmers nationwide.

I have seen firsthand the devastating effects facing farmers in my state. The farmers near LeRoy, Kansas, must sell their wheat, milo, corn and soybeans at record low prices, primarily because export markets for these products have been shut out. Farmers simply cannot survive under these conditions.

The correlation between fast track authority and the recent decline in farm prices is unmistakable. When U.S. presidents have had fast track authority, commodity prices have remained stable. However, prices have sharply declined for these products since 1996 when fast track authority expired.

Approval of fast track is a vital step in relieving the burden that has fallen so heavily on the backs of American farm families. It is wrong. It is absolutely wrong for us to prevent our hard-working farmers from earning a living and feeding their families while they allow us to feed our own.

Mr. Speaker, I encourage my colleagues on both sides of the aisle and the President to stand up for American farmers and approve fast track authority.

Mr. MATSUI. Mr. Speaker, I yield one minute to the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. KLINK).

Mr. KLINK. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding me time.

Mr. Speaker, I cannot believe what I am hearing: If we do not have fast track authority, we cannot negotiate a trade agreement. Yet dozens upon dozens of trade agreements have been negotiated by this administration without fast track authority, including a giant international telecom agreement. That is the fact of the matter.

The question here is whether we as Members of Congress have a say in what is done. And I have to go back to NAFTA, because there were many of us in this chamber that had concerns about the environmental measures, about the labor law measures, about the fact that increased drugs would come here. We wanted to insert language into the agreement. We could not do that. We were concerned about the violence and the assassinations in Mexico and wanted to put some language in to deal with that. We wanted to deal with the problem of their indigenous population. Right after NAFTA passed, they had a revolution. We did not have an opportunity to deal with that.

The question is whether we here in Congress want to have a say or whether we just want to have an up or down vote on every trade agreement.

Do not give up what is your duty. We as Members of Congress are to have a say in the commerce of this Nation. Fast track flushes that away.

Mr. CRANE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the distinguished gentleman from California (Mr. CUNNINGHAM).

Mr. CUNNINGHAM. Mr. Speaker, I would like to commend the gentleman from Texas (Mr. STENHOLM). I think of all the debate today, that he was very rational. He asked both sides to take a look at this and come together, instead of the partisanship from either side. I laud the gentleman.

I was undecided. I have been treed, I have been lobbied, but never threatened, because I said I did not know if I was going to vote for this bill, and I came here today to listen, and I am appalled.

I would tell my friend from California, I am appalled, because when we sit down, the thing we talk about that we hate the most about this job is the partisanship at times. And I want to tell you, this debate has sickened most of us on this floor, that when you want to talk about an issue and you are well rehearsed in unison partisan attacks on the Republicans, it sickens this debate.

I grew up in Missouri. I have friends that have farms that are having to work second and third jobs just to hang onto their farms. I have got ranchers in California from whom you can buy a cow for about $500, about one-third of the value that it should be. They are dying.

The most important thing that I hear today is that this is the most important vote that we can cast in this body for our farmers and our ranchers and our small business people. But yet we would rather stay up here and say the Republicans are only doing this to embarrass the President.

This gentleman is not doing that. I came to this floor to listen to an honest debate, and I am sorry and saddened by the debate that has taken place today.

Mr. MATSUI. Mr. Speaker, I yield one minute to the gentleman from Rhode Island (Mr. KENNEDY).

Mr. KENNEDY of Rhode Island. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the gentleman for yielding me this time.

Mr. Speaker, I want to say to my colleagues in this House that I had the opportunity this past year to go down to Reynosa, Mexico. I went into the maquiladora section. I went to several maquiladora sections. I went in unannounced to factories and introduced myself to the workers. Most of the workers were women, most of them were 14 and 15 years old. Most of them, I would say 90 percent of them, worked six days a week, and at the end of the week they had $47 to take home. I went to neighborhood after neighborhood, and all I saw were mud floors. No indoor plumbing.

So I say to myself, it is fine to talk about this global economy and the need for trade, but the fact of the matter is, as Martin Luther King said, we are all going to be affected by the same web of mutuality. If we do not insist on standards for our brothers and sisters in Mexico, believe me, we are the next ones on the chopping blocks.

In my state of Rhode Island, we have already seen our workers lose jobs and benefits because of the depressing aspect that NAFTA has had on our workers' conditions here in this country. Vote no on fast track authority. Let the Congress decide how to enforce the status.

Mr. CRANE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I would say to my colleague that in my lifetime as a child before World War II, I was child labor at the farm. We got paid 10 cents an hour, worked 10 hours a day to make a dollar, six days a week, and we were ecstatic. We had no indoor plumbing and had no electricity either. But we made a tremendous transition upward nationwide from that time. That was in the State of Indiana, I might remind the gentleman too.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. UPTON).

Mr. UPTON. Mr. Speaker, what is fast track? Fast track allows the President to negotiate trade agreements with other countries. Does Congress lose its right to approve those treaties, those agreements? No, they do not. Absolutely not. This body, this Congress, will then vote yes or no based on the merits of the trade agreement that may be negotiated.

I would like to think that every Republican and every Democrat in this body does in fact care about jobs. Let me tell you about some of the jobs in Michigan, an exporter, by the way, to the tune of $38 billion in exports last year.

I visited a multinational company recently that showed me a letter from their general manager down in Chile. That letter talked about the importance of Chile's market, their leadership, the gateway to a very important market in the world. That general manager in that letter asked that the Michigan company stop sending goods manufactured in Michigan and change to their facility in Canada.

Why? Well, Canada, thanks to their free trade agreement, their strategy, their trade agreements they have been able to reach because they had fast track, do not have to pay tariffs on their goods going down to Chile. That is right. That same good produced in Canada has an automatic 11 percent discount compared to the same product manufactured in Michigan. We cannot do that. Why? We do not have fast track. This bill allows that to happen.

We see this happening time and time again across the country. Without fast track, there are incentives in fact for companies to send their manufactured goods from other countries.

Mr. McDERMOTT. Mr. Speaker, I yield two minutes to the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. SAWYER).

(Mr. SAWYER asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. SAWYER. Mr. Speaker, the chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means got it exactly right. This is a very fragile time. And while I am inclined to support this bill, that fragility makes this measure at this time a foolhardy exercise that could greatly damage our economic strength in the world.

Make no mistake about it: American prosperity depends on the success of our trading arrangements. Today the world's balance of power is defined less in military terms than it is as a matter of economic strength. Trade negotiations are as important to our economic future as the Soviet arms talks were to our national security in an earlier era. But subjecting fast-track legislation to certain defeat today is not only bad politics, it is bad and dangerous policy. It sends a reckless message to securities markets everywhere.

Our inability to work out an orderly agreement for trade negotiating authority can do real damage in real time to already fragile markets, including our own, and to economies around the world. Moreover, it damages the worthwhile goals of people on both sides of the measure before us. It works toward no constructive resolution of legitimate concerns over labor and environmental standards that are within our grasp.

Negotiating authority is important because our prosperity is tied to market opening global trade, and I believe we must move forward. But playing reckless politics with this issue is a dangerous exercise, and those who brought it to the floor will bear the burden for its defeat and whatever consequences it has throughout the world.

Mr. CRANE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to pass on another quote two to our colleagues this evening. "I think we should seek to advance worker and environmental standards around the world. I have made it abundantly clear that it should be part of our trade agenda. But we cannot influence other countries' decisions if we send them a message that we are backing away from trade with them."

Again, President Clinton in January of this year in this chamber.

Mr. Speaker, I yield one minute to the gentleman from Washington (Mr. NETHERCUTT).

Mr. NETHERCUTT. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding me time.

Mr. Speaker, if American agriculture does not grow, it will die. That is what Secretary Glickman has said, and he is absolutely right.

The reason I am supporting this fast track bill is because it has the tremendous potential for our agriculture exports to grow and prevent American agriculture from suffering more than it already has this year.

This bill has an agriculture component that allows an ag trade representative to sit at the table at all trade negotiations and to report back to Congress the effort that such negotiations have on agriculture. We in Congress get to vote on these final trade bills. We get to vote no if they are no good, and I would not hesitate to vote no. I trust my friends on the left would not either.

What is interesting is we have heard today people say, let us fund IMF with $18 billion. What is surprising is those proponents would trust a non-American entity with an $18 billion sort of unstructured commitment, but not trust the President of the United States or this administration to negotiate a trade bill.

If you support agriculture, vote for fast track.

Mr. MATSUI. Mr. Speaker, I yield two minutes to the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. TRAFICANT).

(Mr. TRAFICANT asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. TRAFICANT. Mr. Speaker, this is not a free trade bill. This is not even a trade bill. This is a process bill, an accelerated process on how we are going to handle the trade agreement. And, once again, Congress is going to turn the powers over to the White House.

So I have a couple questions. The first one is, if our policy on trade is so good, why do we not follow the Constitution and have the Senate ratify it with a two-thirds vote? And another question, maybe a street question: If our trade policy is so good, why does China not do it? Why does Japan not do it? I want you to think about that.

You know, it really gets to me when we talk about all of this. China is building missiles with American dollars, Japan is building schools with American dollars, Mexico is building factories with American dollars. America is building prisons and passing out training vouchers.

Now, I have heard all of this about all these great jobs you are producing. We are shipping jobs overseas and we are not even keeping score.

So I just want to say this to the Congress: An America that buys much more than they sell year in and year out is an America that is facing economic and military disaster.

If this policy is so good, let two-thirds of the United States Senate ratify it and let it earn its merits through the constitutional process.

I would just like to say one other thing. Even a flea market charges table space. American policies are subsidizing foreign workers and American policies are downsizing American workers. Members can give me all the statistics on jobs they want, but we are flipping a lot of hamburgers in America. People are worried sick about their jobs.

Mr. CRANE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to remind my colleague, again, the gentleman from I think it is Poland, Ohio (Mr. TRAFICANT), I would like to remind him that we have been at full employment for now 3 years in a row, and that the fastest growing component of our national economy has been trade. It has been the most productive. That is what we are putting at risk when we contemplate terminating international trade agreements.

I would remind my colleague also that the Constitution says that on trade issues we are the ultimate judge. Under fast track, we are still the ultimate judge. We make the input all along the way, we look at the final product, and then we vote it up or down, so it is exclusively within our jurisdiction. I would urge the gentleman to reconsider his misguided policy.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to my distinguished colleague, the gentleman from Arizona (Mr. KOLBE).

Mr. KOLBE. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding time to me.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to respond to a few of the arguments that I have been listening to in this debate today. One, of course, that we have heard over and over again is about how trade and trade agreements are going to drive down incomes, they are going to drive down wages.

It is ironic that argument should be raised today. Here on the front page of the Washington Post, 'Poverty rate fell, incomes rose in 1997. Income for the typical American household rose at a rate nearly twice that of inflation in 1997, and income and poverty figures returned to the levels that the Nation hasn't seen before the last recession," more than a decade ago.

So it is just false. We have had a 3,000 percent increase in trade over the last 35 years, a tremendous increase in the last 7 to 10 years. It is absolutely false to say that income levels are falling, that jobs are being lost. How can they argue that jobs are being lost when 6 million jobs have been created in the last few years, and unemployment is at the lowest possible rate? We have to be putting our heads in the sand, imagining things, to say that employment has been lost.

The second argument I want to raise is one we have heard a lot of on the floor the last several years, why we need to provide the funding for the IMF. I happen to believe that is important. I do think part of our world responsibilities is to have this funding to maintain stability in currencies.

However, I would like to ask my colleagues who urge us to vote for IMF, and then turn around and vote against fast track, how do they think these countries are ever going to generate the economy, the wherewithal, to repay the loans they get from the IMF? Or do they just believe there should be international welfare, that we should shell this money out, but those countries are never going to be able to have the income in order to make the repayments to the International Monetary Fund? It is another phony argument.

Finally, there is the political argument that somehow this is just being done for political reasons. There is politics that are being played. This President said last year he was for IMF, or for fast track. He said in his State of the Union speech this January he was for it. Now he is against it, but next January he will be for it again. If he was not off raising funds today, if he was here in the United States campaigning, if he was here in Washington campaigning for this, we might be able to pass this today.

I urge my colleagues to vote for this. Vote for America. Vote for our future. Vote for fast track.

Mr. MATSUI. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I might just point out to the gentleman, my very dear friend from Arizona, that the President does not oppose fast track. The President advised the gentleman's membership in the early summer of this year that the votes were not there. He knew the votes were not there. The votes are not going to happen. They will not have 218 votes. The President was right about this.

We are bringing this up for no reason at all except for political advantage. The gentleman saw the quotes in the newspapers from various Members, including the chairman of the Republican Campaign Committee.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from the State of Oregon (Mr. DEFAZIO).

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding time to me.

Mr. Speaker, I have heard some interesting things. I guess we could call it election year hyperbole. Somehow this legislation, fast track, is going to be the salvation of our failing family farms. Can they hang on for 5 or 10 years until the next hypothetical trade agreements brought forward under fast track? I don't think so.

Guess what, the last two agreements that came forward under fast track screwed the farmers in America. They were promised the world, but when it came down to whether the banking sector or the aerospace sector or the computer sector got favorable treatment in those agreements, and something had to be traded off, what got traded off? Agriculture.

This is about a process that includes plausible deniability. That means there are a lot of people here who do not want to take responsibility for what is happening in America. They can say, you know, I had concerns about NAFTA. I knew there were problems with some parts of NAFTA. I knew there were problems with labor agreements, they were kind of weak, and we lost a lot of jobs there, and wages have gone down on both sides of the border. Yes, I had some real concerns about those environmental provisions. I really did not think they would clean up the border, which is one of the largest and fastest growing hazardous waste sites in the world. But I had to vote up or down, and I could not sacrifice 2 years of secret negotiations, and we will fix those things later.

That is what we hear every time an agreement comes forward under fast track. Are Members going to blow up three years of careful secret negotiations, just because they have a minor concern about their farmers or about the environment or about American workers? No. The herd here most times said, gee, I would have liked to do something, but I could not. Why could they not? Because they gave away that authority at the beginning.

Do not give away that authority ever again. Have Members not learned from our past mistakes? Can we not learn from a $200 billion a year trade deficit? Can we not learn from a race to the bottom in terms of wages and the environment?

If we cannot learn, then hopefully the election year shenanigans here, this will help family farms, it is not going to do a damned thing for family farms, and the Members know that.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. HASTINGS of Washington). The Chair will remind Members they should avoid profanity.

Mr. CRANE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentlewoman from Maryland (Mrs. MORELLA).

(Mrs. MORELLA asked and was given permission to revise and extend her remarks.)

Mrs. MORELLA. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of the bill. I do not know why all this rhetoric, because this legislation is, at its essence, a simple and straightforward proposition.

The bill would give the President the authority to have a straight up or down vote on legislation implementing the trade agreements which he negotiates. It is the same authority which previous Congresses have granted to every U.S. president, Republicans and Democrats, since 1974.

Presidents need this authority in order to assure their negotiating partners that a deal is a deal. Why would anyone negotiate with someone who could not stand by the deal to which they agreed? Why would a national leader invest enormous time, energy, and prestige in a negotiating process in which the other party kept coming back to renegotiate the deal?

I just want to point out that in the last 10 years, about 70 percent of U.S. economic growth has been generated by the exporter of goods and services. In my own State of Maryland, our exports to Mexico, just as an example, have increased by 82 percent since the passage of the NAFTA. Overall, Maryland's exports have increased by almost 130 percent since 1987.

Expanded trade has opened markets, created opportunities for exporters, created jobs, strengthened the State economy, and raised the living standards for all Marylanders and throughout the country. We are not even debating a trade agreement, we are only proposing to allow the President an up or down vote on whatever deal he may reach.

Fast track authorization will give the President the opportunity to negotiate the strongest and most beneficial agreement possible. If Members do not like the agreement, we can vote against it. But to deny the President fast track authority is to prejudge and agree before it is made.

Mr. MATSUI. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Minnesota (Mr. MINGE).

Mr. MINGE. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from California for yielding time to me.

Mr. Speaker, I am troubled by the circumstances in which fast track is coming up this afternoon. I am afraid that we are bringing this agreement up at this time, not so much to promote fast track as to promote wedge issues, and to claim that it is going to accomplish things going far beyond what it actually can accomplish in the short term.

I represent an agricultural area. I recognize the importance of trade. But I would also like to remind my colleagues that we just finished dealing with the International Monetary Fund. What happened? A very modest increase in funding, far below what the President requested, and no up or down vote on the actual $18 billion that are needed for IMF.

Perhaps even more important than something that is long-term or an intermediate term advantage opportunity for agriculture is what are we doing in the short term. We ought to be bringing that up for a vote this afternoon. We need to respond to the agricultural crisis that confronts America, and do it promptly.

Mr. CRANE. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as she may consume to the gentlewoman from Connecticut (Mrs. JOHNSON) for a brief colloquy.

Mrs. JOHNSON of Connecticut. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask for clarification by the chairman of a provision which concerns negotiating objectives for trade in civil aircraft.

Is it the chairman's understanding that H.R. 2621 explicitly retains the legislated negotiating objectives contained in the Uruguay Round Agreements Act and the accompanying Statement of Administrative Action for trade in civil aircraft?

Mr. CRANE. Mr. Speaker, will the gentlewoman yield?

Mrs. JOHNSON of Connecticut. I yield to the gentleman from Illinois.

Mr. CRANE. Mr. Speaker, that is my understanding.

Mrs. JOHNSON of Connecticut. Then, I would ask the chairman, shall the USTR understand that such intent is confirmed in legislation, and ensure that the legislated objectives will continue to constitute the principal U.S. negotiating objectives in future negotiations?

Mr. CRANE. That is correct.

Mrs. JOHNSON of Connecticut. Mr. Speaker, I thank the chairman for his support of this provision, which is necessary for the continuing international competitiveness of aerospace companies and the jobs they support.

Mr. CRANE. I thank the gentlewoman.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to our distinguished colleague, the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. BARTLETT).

(Mr. BARTLETT of Maryland asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. BARTLETT of Maryland. Mr. Speaker, I am strongly supportive of expanded free and open trade, but this bill is not the way to get there. It is unconstitutional. I have here a press release from the U.S. Chamber of Commerce to the media in my district, chastising me for not supporting this bill. They make my point. Listen.

"* * * noted that with fast track, negotiators would be able to close deals." The President and his negotiators closed the deal. Where is the Congress? We would become merely a rubber stamp, clearly in violation of the Constitution.

I am all for free and expanded trade. This is not the way to get there, at the expense of our Constitution. If we do not understand it, the U.S. Chamber understands it. The President and his negotiators would close the deal.

Mr. MATSUI. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from Indiana (Mr. ROEMER).

(Mr. ROEMER asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. ROEMER. Mr. Speaker, thank my good friend, the gentleman from California (Mr. MATSUI) for yielding time to me.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today on the floor, recognizing the importance of trade and growth in our economy, and rise as a free trader. I have supported GATT, I have supported normal trade with China, I have supported the Caribbean Basin Initiative. I have also supported African trade.

But I also rise, Mr. Speaker, as a fair trader. These initiatives were both free, to get into new markets, and fair. This proposal, fast track, is more of NAFTA. It is free trade, but it is not fair to our working people, to the people with families and jobs, particularly in the Midwest.

NAFTA lost Hoosiers 17,000 jobs. NAFTA created a $40 billion deficit between the U.S. and Mexico when we had a surplus before, and fast track is more of NAFTA.

Let us defeat this bill, but let us work together in a bipartisan way for growth and trade. Let us work on improving education and training for displaced workers. Let us work on trade fairness, and let us work on trade enforcement and implementation.

Trade is important. Trade should be bipartisan. But trade has to be fair. This program will not be fair to working Hoosiers, it will not be fair to families, and it will not be good for America.

I encourage my colleagues to defeat fast track.

Mr. CRANE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from California (Mr. HUNTER).

Mr. HUNTER. Mr. Speaker, I have a graph here that shows the G7, that is the big nations of the world, the big western democracies and their net exports to Mexico before and after NAFTA. That includes the United States.

We call this chart "Find the dummies," because it is apparent that, after NAFTA, every one of the big nations, Canada, France, Germany, Italy, UK and Japan, all continue to do well with Mexico with respect to trade, except the United States. The United States immediately fell into an enduring $15 billion trade deficit.

The first rule of business is one does not give their money to poor business managers. The Clinton trade team consists of poor business managers.

Not this President, not this time.

Mr. MATSUI. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from California (Ms. PELOSI).

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, as we all know, fast track authority will establish the framework for our trade relationship for the next 10 years. As such, it is critical to the importance that this accord places on the environment.

Therefore, I reluctantly oppose this bill, because it limits the administration's ability to address concerns regarding protection of the environment and bilateral regional and other trade agreements.

To the extent that the environment is mentioned at all in the pending legislation, it is in a restrictive way. San Francisco, the city which I represent, is a city which is built on trade and continues to thrive on it. We appreciate the value of free trade. We also understand that the environment and the economy are inextricably linked. We believe that the environment must be central to any fast track legislation.

My colleagues have mentioned that other presidents have had this authority. Indeed, I have voted for it in the past. Under previous fast track authority, the President had the discretion both to negotiate and to include in trade bills that were brought to Congress under fast track environmental, labor and human rights terms that the President deemed appropriate. That the President deemed appropriate. This bill removes the "appropriate" standard.

The legislation passed by the House Committee on Ways and Means also limits the discretion of the negotiators to achieve results only on matters that are directly related to trade.

One important aspect of addressing global environmental degradation is through attention to production process methods. If we are to slow environmental damage, we must deal with the way items are produced as well as with consumption. Will production process methods be included under the administration's interpretation of "directly related to trade"?

In addition, there are many other reasons why, and I will submit that with my full statement, but, in addition, unless we give the environment more value by including it in fast track, we are squandering the comparative value U.S. business has in leading the world in the development of production environmental technologies. To ignore the connection between the environment and the economy is to be on the wrong side of the future.

I urge my colleagues to vote "no."

Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to H.R. 2621, the Fast Track legislation before the House today. I am disappointed that the Republican leadership has chosen to bring before the House a failed fast track proposal which does not address pressing issues in the global economy. Fast track authority will establish the framework of our trade relations for the next ten years. As such, it is a defining moment for the importance we accord the environment. This fast track bill would relegate this important issue to secondary status in trade agreements and would only ensure that it remains of secondary status as we move into the next century.

Not one of the concerns raised about this fast track proposal last year has been remedied in the bill before us today. This fast track bill limits the Administration's ability to address concerns regarding protection of the environment in bilateral, regional, and other trade agreements. To the extent that the environment is mentioned in the pending legislation, it is in a restrictive way.

San Francisco, which I represent, is a city which was built on trade and continues to thrive on it. We appreciate the value of free trade. We also understand that the environment and the economy are inextricably linked. We believe that the environment must be central to any fast track legislation.

Under previous fast track authority, the President had the discretion both to negotiate and to include in trade bills that were brought to Congress under fast track environmental, labor or human rights terms that the President deemed "appropriate." H.R. 2621 removes the "appropriate" standard and the Administration's discretion is limited to making the language necessary only for the operation or implementation of the trade agreement. The Administration would now be precluded from achieving more than allowed under the legislation and prevented from having those provisions considered under fast track.

The legislation passed by the House Ways and Means Committee also limits the discretion of the negotiators to achieve results only on matters that are "directly related to trade." Serious questions are already being raised about how "directly related to trade" will be defined. It is my understanding that there is no legislative history to define this phrase.

One important aspect of addressing global environmental degradation is through attention to production process methods. If we are to slow environmental damage, we must deal with the way items are produced, as well as with consumption. Will production process methods be included under the Administration's interpretation of "directly related to trade"?

Serious questions have also been raised about the implications of language in H.R. 2621 purportedly designed to ensure that foreign governments do not waive their existing domestic environmental, health, safety or labor measures in order to give themselves a competitive edge. The language in the bill unfortunately precludes action to encourage strengthening such standards. Perhaps of even more immediate harm, however, is that it does not address a government's failure to enforce existing standards. In addition, H.R. 2621 only addresses foreign governmental policies and practices. Private sector actions to limit environmental protection are not addressed. Finally, countries with no existing environmental standards fall completely outside this provision.

My constituents and I are also concerned with the consequences of a provision in the fast track bill which would essentially allow derogation or waiver of existing domestic laws if such actions are "consistent with sound macroeconomic development." Under this provision, it appears that countries could indeed lower their environmental standards to gain a competitive edge, as long as this action is consistent with their macroeconomic development.

As many of our Republican colleagues have recently expressed concern about the lack of transparency in the functioning of the International Monetary Fund (IMF), I believe they should be supportive of promoting transparency in the functioning of the World Trade Organization (WTO). While "transparency" is appropriately one of the negotiating objectives outlined in the legislation, it is essential that procedural transparency be expanded to the WTO both in the trade negotiation process and in the dispute settlement process. Benchmarks must be established by which transparency can be gauged. There must be expanded access to documents by those who are interested in the dispute settlement process. And, we must insist on ensuring the ability of non-governmental groups to participate.

I would also note my concern that while we are promoting transparency in other countries, the fast track legislation takes a step back from transparency in this country by granting the President new authority to allow for the classification of trade reports when deemed appropriate, rather than employing previous language allowing classification only when necessary to protect national security or trade secrets.

Environmental issues in the global economy have very real consequences not only for people in the developing world, but also for people here in the United States. Concerns about the quality of the air we breathe and the water we drink have now been compounded in the public eye by concerns about the safety of the food which we eat. As international trade is increasingly the norm, we must ensure the right to safeguard American consumers in international trade agreements. Standards worldwide should be elevated; we cannot encourage a "race to the bottom". In addition, unless we give the environment more value by including it in fast track, we are squandering the comparative value U.S. business has in leading the world in the development and production of environmental technology.

H.R. 2621 is not the appropriate tool which to enter trade negotiations for the Twenty-First Century. I urge my colleagues to vote no on this flawed bill.

Mr. CRANE. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MATSUI. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Florida (Mr. STEARNS).

(Mr. STEARNS asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks and to include extraneous material.)

Mr. STEARNS. Mr. Speaker, I reluctantly rise to oppose fast track, and I want to thank the gentleman from California (Mr. MATSUI) for yielding me this time.

Mr. Speaker, the Florida Fruit and Vegetable Association has basically come out against the fast track vote we are having here tonight. Earlier, I was on the House Floor with the Florida Farm Bureau Federation, where they also opposed this fast track vote.

Farmers in my district are still opposed to the authority that we are proposing tonight to give to the President with fast track, regardless of the last-minute deals, because of the failure of this administration to live up to their promises from the last fast track authority.

For example, my tomato growers have written that, "The President could have taken real steps to fix the problems for Florida's tomato growers and other winter or seasonal vegetable growers associated with the failures of the NAFTA agreement, yet nothing has happened."

Mr. Speaker, President Clinton even wrote to Congress before NAFTA was approved to state that he "was permanently committed to ensuring NAFTA was enforceable and effective to protect the U.S. vegetable industry against price-based import surges from Mexico."

Mr. Speaker, despite these promises, the administration has failed to protect the winter vegetable industry; and, in fact, the onslaught of vegetables coming into Florida has hurt our industry terribly.

For these reasons, and for the reasons outlined in the two letters I put in the RECORD, I oppose fast track at this time.

Mr. Speaker, I submit the following letter for the RECORD:

FLORIDA FRUIT &
VEGETABLE ASSOCIATION,
Orlando, FL, September 25, 1998.
Hon. CLIFF STEARNS,
U.S. House of Representatives,
Washington, DC.

DEAR CONGRESSMAN STEARNS: This is to advise you on behalf of the Florida Fruit and Vegetable Association and its membership that we continue to be opposed to the enactment of fast-track legislation. Our opposition is based on continuing concerns over current and potential trade agreements on import-sensitive agricultural products, the inadequacy of import relief remedies, country of origin labeling, and other issues. We accordingly ask you to vote "no" when the fast-track bill comes to the House floor later today.

We greatly appreciate your on-going support of Florida agriculture.

Sincerely,

MICHAEL J. STUART,
President.

Mr. MATSUI. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. PASCRELL).

Mr. PASCRELL. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from California (Mr. MATSUI) for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, I rise to discuss a matter which is of great importance to my district and the Nation as a whole. This measure before us should be defeated. It seeks to extend fast track authority for 4 years. As such, it sets our national trade policy as we approach and then enter the 21st century.

No one doubts the fact that we live in a global economy. No one doubts that if we are to retain our preeminent position in the world we must lead from a position of economic strength.

For me, global leadership in the arena of international trade means that fair trade should not be subordinated to the notion of free trade. There is very little reciprocity in our trade agreements. We must trade with other nations on an equal footing.

Mr. Speaker, with such an horrific Asian economy, those goods are going to be flooding our markets in the next 2 months, 3 months, 2 years. The ships are coming into San Francisco ports now full with foreign goods. They are leaving half filled with our goods. They will leave with a quarter filled by the time this Asian crisis really hits our shores. This is the worst time to have fast track.

The proponents of fast track argue that we need it based on what they perceive as the successful NAFTA policy. They point to the creation of 311,000 jobs. I take exception to this figure and cite an alternative one which states we have lost 600,000 jobs because of NAFTA.

Now is not the time for fast track. Fast track is about jobs. It is about time that we stopped exporting our jobs. It is time that we protect our jobs. And it is time that we had fair trade agreements instead of the ones that have been placed before us.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to defeat fast track resoundingly. It is not enough if we just slam it down with a few votes. We need total victory here, because we need a fair trade policy.

Mr. MATSUI. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentlewoman from Connecticut (Ms. DELAURO).

Ms. DELAURO. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to fast track. Today's legislation could be an opportunity to make a new beginning, to define a progressive role in trade for the next century for America. But this bill does not do this. It is a step backward.

We are not divided here today on the benefits of free trade. We embrace it. We are divided on how to best achieve it to compete in the global economy. I believe this fast track proposal turns its back on hard-working Americans. It will not defend small business owners and workers from the threat to their security posed by our trading partners' cheap labor and low standards. It does precious little to move away from the pattern of lost jobs, reduced labor, and lower living standards seen under NAFTA.

American families are struggling every single day to make ends meet. America has the opportunity and the responsibility to ensure that American values define the international market and that our citizens build solid futures.

Let us show that the Congress of the United States cares about and understands America's hopes and fears for the future. Vote "no" on fast track.

Mr. MATSUI. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Indiana (Mr. VISCLOSEKY).

(Mr. VISCLOSEKY asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. VISCLOSEKY. Mr. Speaker, I also want to express my appreciation to the gentleman from California (Mr. MATSUI) for yielding me the time.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to fast track, given the experience historically we have had with NAFTA. We have had 124,000 jobs certified as having been lost because of NAFTA.

I would remind my colleagues the math works out to 72 workers a day since the inception of NAFTA have lost their jobs. Before the end of business today, 72 more American citizens are going to be certified as having lost their job because of NAFTA.

I rise in strong opposition to fast track.

But in fairness to the other side, there are potentially some reasons why Members might want to vote for it. The average real hourly wage in 1973 was $12 an hour. In 1997, it was $12.28, about 1 penny a year increase. If Members think that is enough for the American workers they represent, maybe they do want to vote for fast track.

If Members think that every household in America ought to have two workers for what one worker could provide in 1950, then fast track is for them. Thirty percent of American households in 1950 had one worker. Today, 53 percent need two workers.

If Members think it is a good idea to have a trade deficit with Mexico and other countries instead of trade surpluses, this is the thing for them. In 1993, we had a trade surplus with Mexico of $1.7 billion. Today, our deficit is $14.5 billion.

If Members think we ought to not have a strong steel industry in America, fast track is for them. We had a 100,000 ton steel surplus with Mexico in 1993. We have a 2.2 million ton deficit today.

Health care, if Members do not think workers need health care benefits or pensions or need a job, fast track is for them. I grew up in a neighborhood, I grew up in an America believing that the next generation should be better off. That is what we should be about. Those are the negotiations we ought to undertake to make sure that every American worker, every worker worldwide, has an improved standard of living.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today to voice my vehement opposition to Fast Track legislation. The last president to have Fast Track used it to give us the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA). Since January 1, 1994, when NAFTA went into effect, our country has lost 124,000 jobs as a result of NAFTA. That breaks down to a loss of 72 jobs each day. 72 American citizens each day watch their jobs move out of this country and out of their communities. Before we leave tonight, an additional 72 Americans will be unemployed.

But its not just a problem of losing jobs. America's workers are seeing a sharp decline in their quality of life thanks to NAFTA and unfair trade. If you don't care about workers' quality of life, then vote for Fast Track.

The average real hourly wage for working Americans in 1973 was $12.00 per hour. In 1997, the average real hourly wage for working Americans was $12.28 per hour. That is an increase of one penny per year. One extra penny to pay bills, buy shoes for your children and put food on the table. If your family can survive on an annual raise of one extra cent per hour, then Fast Track is for you.

30% of American households in 1950 had two people working outside the home. Today, 53% of all families have two incomes. Two Americans today must work to make the equivalent of one income in 1950. If you believe that two adults in every household should have to work in order to support a family, then Fast Track is for you.

Our neighbor to the South, Mexico, is one of our largest trading partners. In the fiscal year prior to NAFTA, FY 1993, the U.S. had a trade surplus of $1.7 billion with Mexico. In FY 1997, the U.S. had a $14.5 billion trade deficit with Mexico. If you think that we ought to increase our trade deficits with other nations, then Fast Track is for you.

In 1993, The American steel industry saw a trade surplus with Mexico of 100,000 tons of steel. In 1997, the steel industry saw a trade deficit with Mexico of 2.2 million tons. If you think that we need to put the American steel industry out of business, laying off hundreds of thousands of U.S. steelworkers, then Fast Track is for you.

Because of jobs lost to NAFTA, many of our citizens have had to take lower-paying jobs with no benefits and no pensions. If you think that our citizens are not entitled to have a job that provides health benefits for themselves and their children, then vote for Fast Track. If you think that the hard working men and women of this country do not deserve a pension for their retirement years, then, yes, Fast Track is for you.

If it is fine with you that at the end of this day, at the end of this debate, 72 more people will be without work and unable to provide for their families, then vote for Fast Track. If you can live with the fact that you have sent American industry to foreign lands to make a profit without regard to workers' safety, human rights or the environment, then please, vote for Fast Track.

The American Dream has always promised that the next generation would have a better life, not a lower standard of living. American workers should not have to lower their standard of living just to compete with foreign workers who make $3.00 a day. If you want to sacrifice the American Dream for the working people of our nation, then vote for Fast Track.

I can't do that. I can't support raising hourly wages by a penny a year. I can't support forcing more and more households to rely on two incomes. I can't support turning trade surpluses into deficits. I can't support denying health insurance and pensions to workers. I can't support undercutting worker safety, human rights or the environment. I can't support sacrificing the American Dream for the workers of America. I cannot and will not support Fast Track.

Mr. CRANE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the distinguished gentleman from Iowa (Mr. LATHAM).

Mr. LATHAM. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in strong support for fast track. As a representative from the State of Iowa, the importance of this to everyone in agriculture cannot be overestimated.

It is imperative that we have fast track. There are trade agreements going on today, negotiations that are going on around the world, and we are not at the table because we have not seen fit to trust this administration to give the authority to make agreements. We have got to be at the table with these agreements. It is essential for long-term growth.

I am very saddened today to see people who, as a matter of principle in the past, have supported fast track but today have decided they are going to play a shell game and let somebody else off the hook, let them vote "yes", because they are going to cover them and vote "no."

This is for the interest of the entire country. We have to pass fast track for agriculture, for the rest of trade in this world, and for this country for jobs here, for economic prosperity. We have to do it, and we have to do it today.

Mr. MATSUI. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. CARDIN).

□ 1815

Mr. CARDIN. Mr. Speaker, I had hoped that we were going to have a real debate on fast track where we would have a chance to reach a fair compromise on the issue. Instead we are going through a political exercise. That is regrettable.

In today's world, fast track should give the President the ability to negotiate international standards on labor and environment. But, no, this legislation restricts the President's ability to negotiate international standards on labor and environment. Negotiating strong international standards on environmental and labor issues will help American manufacturers, producers and farmers. It makes no sense to restrict the President's negotiating ability in this area unless you want to help foreign companies with cheap labor and poor environmental records.

For this reason, Mr. Speaker, I must oppose the fast track legislation that we have today. I would hope that in the future, there will be a real effort by the Republican leadership to work on a fast track bill that could pass this House, that will give the appropriate authority to the President.

Mr. CRANE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2½ minutes to the gentleman from California (Mr. DREIER).

Mr. DREIER. Mr. Speaker, there is never a good time for a good trade bill. There is always a filing date or an election or the prospect of some other political development taking place. There is always an excuse not to proceed with a good trade bill.

I had the great privilege last fall to travel with the President throughout South America. The President stood up in country after country and talked about the fact that one of his top priorities was to get fast track negotiating authority through so that we could, in fact, embark on these very important trade agreements.

Mr. Speaker, this is a bipartisan bill. It was reported out of the Committee on Ways and Means with a very strong bipartisan vote. It was worked on long and hard by the President of the United States last fall as we moved towards that November 13 vote. And as has been said time and time again, the President, in his State of the Union message, talked about it being a priority this year and, on July 23, said that he believed that the Congress should vote on fast track when we can get the votes for the bill.

Now, with that strong bipartisan spirit here, I am convinced that there is a very strong will to implement fast track negotiating authority and to pass this measure. But what are our priorities? We continually hear Members talk about the fact that it is a top priority, Democrats and Republicans alike, many Democrats with whom I have been privileged to work over the past several years on this issue. But what are the priorities?

There are political priorities. There are political interests with which we are having to contend. There are partisan interests, and there are special interests. Quite frankly, we have special interests on our side, too. This is not an easy vote. We have got the Buchananites, Ross Perot. There are people who are opposed to this. But we have a responsibility to place the national interest ahead of those political interests, ahead of those partisan interests and ahead of those special interests.

Mr. Speaker, it is very, very important that we move ahead, because we are having this vote as we look at the serious problem that exists in the Pacific Rim. We are not going to find a perfect time to do it, but it seems to me that this is the right time because the right time is today.

Cast a vote in favor of fast track so that we can do this for American workers and American consumers and the global economy.

Mr. CRANE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent for an additional 5 minutes for a special bipartisan purpose.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. HASTINGS of Washington). Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Illinois?

There was no objection.

Mr. CRANE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume, and I yield to the distinguished and talented service of Mary Jane Wignot. She has served on the professional staff of our Committee on Ways and Means during development of landmark trade legislation, such as the Omnibus Trade and Competitiveness Act of 1988 and the implementing bills for NAFTA and the Uruguay Round agreements.

There are few individuals in this country who know more and have contributed more to the development of U.S. trade policy than Mary Jane Wignot. Her wise counsel and drafting skills have been absolutely essential to the success of these historic bipartisan initiatives. I want to salute her and wish her all the best as she returns to her home town of Boston to continue her career.

I yield to the gentleman from New York (Mr. RANGEL).

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding to me.

I, too, pay tribute to a remarkable individual that took the reins after one of our Members left, but she has given 24 years of her life to this committee and to her work and in every policy-making issue concerning trade, she was there from the negotiations of the Kennedy and Tokyo rounds and the formulation of the Trade Act of 1974.

She has worked on the trade agreements of 1979, the Omnibus Trade and Competition Act of 1988, and the NAFTA and Uruguay Round implementing bills in her capacity with the committee. These are the many projects, some of the many projects on which Mary Jane has brought her intellectual ability and sound judgment to bear.

Her devotion to excellence has epitomized the finest in bipartisan tradition that has characterized trade making policy over the last 20 years. At the end of this session she will retire, but we still know that she will be missed. To say that she will be missed is a gross understatement. We owe so much to her dedication and the fact that she has worked well with Republicans and Democrats. She has enjoyed her job and we all, staff and Members, have truly enjoyed working with her.

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Let me add my comments about the service that Mary Jane Wignot has had in helping our committee work through so many trade issues for so many years. I think from almost the first time that I can remember trade deliberation on the Committee on Ways and Means, I looked out at the witness table and there Mary Jane was. And she always gave professional information that was always, at least in my memory, accurate, and helped us get through many, many trade issues over the years.

It is people who are so dedicated, who work such long hours and who do so on a nonpartisan, professional basis that make this Congress a truly enjoyable and fulfilling place to serve.

So, Mary Jane, I wish you well. We are losing a great resource when you leave. But I know that you will go on to help some other organization or many other people the rest of your life. Good luck.

Mr. MATSUI. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I just have to say that Mary Jane Wignot has been on the Committee on Ways and Means staff now since 1974, 24 years, but before that, many Members do not know this, but there was an office called the Special Trade Representative's office, and she actually virtually opened that office in 1964 with, believe it or not, the former Secretary of State; at that time he was the special trade representative, Christian Herter. That goes back an awful long ways in most of our memories.

There are so many nuggets, jewels on this Capitol Hill. She is a Vassar graduate, cum laude. She was graduated from the London School of Economics at the University of London, Columbia University in New York, the International School of International Affairs. She is really just an outstanding individual, and she has toiled in Washington for 34 years, 24 years on the Committee on Ways and Means. She served with Chairman Mills, Chairman Ullman, Chairman Rostenkowski, and Chairman Archer.

I would say that her loss to all of us and our committee and perhaps even in this body will probably be one of the major losses we have, probably more than all of the Members in this institution, because she is the institutional memory. She is the one who helped develop international trade policy in America for the last 30 years.

So, Mary Jane, we love you, and we are going to miss you a lot.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair advises Members that the gentleman from Texas (Mr. ARCHER) has 4½ minutes remaining; the gentleman from California (Mr. MATSUI) has 4½ minutes remaining; and the gentleman from Washington (Mr. McDERMOTT) has 2¼ minutes remaining.

Mr. McDERMOTT. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time.

Mr. Speaker, I have served 15 years in the State legislature and 10 years in the United States Congress, and this is a sad day because it is the most amateurish, inept legislative effort I have ever seen to try and pass a tough piece of legislation. There is no question that the Republicans have poisoned the fast track debate with partisan politics that will do honor to Ken Starr.

If the Republicans were serious about promoting America's global leadership and stabilizing the global economy, they would have replenished the International Monetary Fund months ago. Instead, the future of America's commitment to the IMF remains unclear to this day and so does the future of the international economy.

It would be easy for me to vote no today, to reject this vote for what it is, a political game to be debated on a day of pure partisanship. However, I feel strongly that collectively we have to rise above the partisan games of the majority and do the right thing for our Nation's economy.

This Congress simply should not play games with an issue that is difficult enough to pass without petty politics. So I will rise above the Speaker's games and support the promotion of the American export economy, but I am deeply disheartened that this bill will fail today because the Republicans have allowed political avarice to damage support for what must be a bipartisan issue. You have made the future passage of this bill infinitely more difficult by bringing it out this way and ramming it. You know you have not got the votes.

I learned in the State legislature 25 years ago, if you do not have the votes, do not come to the floor with it, because you will never get it passed if you keep doing that kind of thing.

This is a bad day for the United States economy. You should not do this kind of thing without consulting and building the broad base that trade should have in this country.

This is not a partisan issue. It is not Republican. It is not Democrat. You have to work together when you are dealing in the international arena. I sat at the table at the State dinner in Brazilia and had Brazilians say to me, boy, we are glad you have not passed fast track because we want your President weak. Now, that is not what we want, whether that President is a Democrat or a Republican.

I voted for every piece of free trade legislation. We have to, if we are going to be a strong country.

Mr. MATSUI. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from California (Mr. FARR.).

(Mr. FARR of California asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. FARR of California. Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to vote no on this bill.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today to discuss a very important issue: fast track authority.

Fast track has been the subject of much debate and discussion, not just inside the Beltway but across the country. In my own district, many of my constituents have told me that they will benefit from new trade agreements reached with fast track; others have said that fast track ignores important global issues such as labor standards or environmental pollution.

"Fast Track" sounds simple. Just give the President the authority to negotiate a trade treaty agreement and bring the end product back to Congress for an up or down vote. Sounds logical, doesn't it?

But it's not that simple. Here's the reason why: Political battles are won by listening to, and acting on, the concerns of those who have a vote in the outcome. I have one vote. My constituents want me to use it wisely, looking out for the best interests of the Central Coast of California. They want me to think globally and act locally.

Acting locally means protecting existing American jobs—local jobs dependent on reciprocal export markets for American products and goods. When you think about it, our economic future in agriculture and tourism depends on a healthy local economy.

Look at agriculture. The Central Coast has been a world leader in specialty crops and one of our strongest specialty crops have been fresh cut flowers. The flower and foliage industry in California ranks number one in the United States with $702 million in sales in 1996, holding a 22% share of the U.S. market. But we're losing nurseries and jobs to foreign imports. Colombian flowers that are allowed into the United States without any tariff are our biggest competition. No other flower growing country has that privilege.

The President has done nothing to right the wrongs created by the 1991 Andean Trade Pact, which put Central Coast flower growers at a severe disadvantage to Colombian fresh flower imports. The President has the legal authority to stop the closure of American nurseries that raise fresh cut flowers. But he is not using that authority because he is listening to the State Department, rather than American workers.

So why should the President be given more authority to make more deals for more South American imports when he doesn't protect American interests under existing law?

I support free trade. But free trade can't exist unless it is based on fairness. Fair trade means making deals for the United States that do not put our working men and women, our manufacturers and producers, and our quality of life at risk.

Chile is a beautiful country. I have traveled there and met with political, labor and business interests. They import three times more U.S. goods than they export, with the exception of agriculture. Making Chile a full trading partner with Canada, U.S. and Mexico will only jeopardize more American jobs in the fresh cut flower industry, in addition to our fishing and wine industries on the Central Coast.

So I will continue to oppose Fast Track unless we can see the following: (1) Lift the "free entry" of Colombian flowers to the U.S. marketplace. Treat Colombian flowers as all other flower imports are treated, with equal tariffs; and (2) protect the environmental and labor safeguards as strong as banking and security safeguards.

Some people would say that my "no" vote on fast track is inconsistent with, or contradictory to, my "yes" vote on NAFTA four years ago. I disagree.

Four years ago, the NAFTA vote was on legislation implementing a trade agreement negotiated by the President under fast track authority. This year's vote will not be on implementing a trade agreement but on renewing the power of the President to negotiate such agreements.

When NAFTA was voted on, the fast track authority granted to the President did not contain instructions to him to include in the trade agreement provisions relating to the rights of laborers or meeting certain environmental standards. Knowing these issues were a concern to many members of Congress, the President negotiated sidebar agreements to supplement the underlying document. With these sidebars in place, I was convinced NAFTA would, in the long run, be a good thing for the United States. The underlying agreement would open up new markets to our producers and the added-on sidebars would help drive our trade partners to stronger labor and environmental protections.

Although I must oppose the fast track legislation before Congress today, I have and will continue to support free trade. I will continue to examine each trade agreement reached with fast track authority on its individual merits, keeping in mind the need to think globally but act locally to protect American jobs on the Central Coast.

Mr. EVANS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in opposition to granting fast track negotiating authority. I oppose this legislation because of the adverse effects that the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA), which was negotiated under "fast track" authority, has had upon working American families.

There is no question that NAFTA's track record has had an adverse effect on U.S. wages. This country has lost over a quarter of a million jobs. In my home state of Illinois, 23 companies have moved to Mexico as a result of NAFTA. Instead of the old, failed "fast track", we need a trade negotiating authority that gives the President the tools to negotiate trade agreements that reflect the wishes of most Americans—fair, responsible trade that protects the environment, working families and public health.

We have must to lose with this vote. U.S. taxpayers have invested billions to establish and maintain one of the safest food supplies in the world. Yet we undermine consumer protection by allowing foods to be imported from countries where health and safety standards either do not exist or are not enforced. Under NAFTA, food imports from Mexico and Canada have dramatically overburdened the Food and Drug Administration's ability to adequately inspect food imports. More and more we hear of illnesses caused from foreign foods. We need to make international bodies and foreign governments with weaker standards accountable if we are to protect the health of all Americans. Granting fast track authority will only threaten the safety of our food supply.

As a representative from the Corn Belt, I understand our farmers are struggling through tough times with commodity prices that are the lowest they've been in years. However, trade negotiations take years. Our farmers need immediate relief. We should be looking at ways to put money in their pockets where they most need it and ways to help our trading partners get back on their economic feet. Fast track is not the cure-all to the farm crisis, it is, at the moment, a distraction.

Without labor, food safety, and environmental provisions in the fast track legislation, we have no guarantee that these issues will ever be addressed. I am not willing to risk the health and safety of my constituents on an authority that cannot safeguard their well-being. Let fix the problems we have with unfair trade negotiations; let not add to them. I urge all my colleagues to vote no on fast track.

Mr. BERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise in reluctant opposition to fast track. Last year I strongly supported a similar fast track proposal, and I continue to believe that the fast track mechanism is necessary to ensure that new trade agreements don't become loaded up with special interest provisions in the normal legislative process.

But I simply cannot support legislation that is being brought to the House floor for blatantly political purposes, to divide Democrats less than two months before an election. And I do not think it is appropriate to tie the President's hands at the negotiating table—to a much greater extent than Democratic Congresses tied the hands of President's Reagan and Bush—when the Administration is not involved in the process.

It's clear that the Republican majority is not serious about passing this bill. Last year, members from both parties worked together to generate for fast track. This year, the majority made no effort to collaborate with the minority. This unwillingness to approach Democratic supporters of fast track exposes the Republican majority's true motivations—to score political points, not to pass the legislation.

It is irresponsible to bring up fast track knowing that it's going to fail. This will make it even more difficult to pass next year, and send an unfortunate signal to the international community that the United States does not want to remain engaged in the global economy. Such a signal couldn't come at a worse time, given the financial turmoil in Russia and parts of Asia.

International trade is clearly good for the American economy. Since 1992, almost 40 percent of our nation's total economic growth has been the direct result in international trade. Companies involved in exporting have expanded employment nearly 20 percent faster than firms serving only domestic markets, and jobs related to exports pay about 15 percent above the national average. New trade agreements—completed with fast track authority—would extend the benefits of trade to even more workers, consumers and companies.

But our trade policy—like foreign policy in general—must be based on bipartisan cooperation and consensus, not partisan politics. For that reason—and that reason alone—I intend to oppose this fast track legislation.

Mr. STARK. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in opposition to H.R. 2621, a bill to allow fast track procedures for trade agreements. NAFTA is a recent example of why Congress should not approve this fast track authority.

NAFTA proves that trade agreements do not necessarily benefit all workers. Our experience with NAFTA demonstrates that "side agreements" are not enforceable and labor, the environment and public safety are all at risk. Large corporations benefit from trade agreements like NAFTA. NAFTA enables these companies to exploit our most valuable resources for their own bottom line. For these reasons, I vehemently oppose granting fast track negotiating authority to the president.

In any trade agreement, the people deserve to know—and have us debate—the terms of trade expansion. I am not satisfied that the terms before us in this fast track authority are satisfactory and I am certain that the benefit doesn't go to the workers in my district.

Estimates show that the number of jobs foregone in the U.S. because of NAFTA-induced imports is over 400,000. In my home state of California, 38,406 jobs were lost directly because of NAFTA, according to a narrow Commerce Department formula. This is nearly 10 percent of the total U.S. jobs lost because of NAFTA. Workers in California qualify for a significant portion of the Trade Adjustment Assistance (TAA)—California is one of the top six states where the most workers are certified for TAA.

Multinational corporations export not only products but also business operations cross the border; they exploit Mexican workers for a fraction of the United States labor costs. American workers lose decent paying jobs. Mexican workers get work with subsistence wages. The corporations benefit at the expense of human labor.

There are 981,302 Mexicans working in abhorrent conditions in Maquiladoras, making an average wage of $30-$35 for a 48 hour week as a direct result of NAFTA. These workers live in shacks made of cardboard and wood. I cannot grant a fast track trade negotiating authority if fair labor practices will not be protected.

The environmental loses through NAFTA as well. The Administration promised greater environmental protections along the border regions where industry was expected to grow as a result of NAFTA. Well, we have experienced greater industry growth along the Southern borders, but as far as environmental protection goes, it was just another promise broken.

Hazardous waste coming into the United States increased 30 percent in 1995. In that same year, well water in U.S. border communities had sulfate concentrations of nearly twice what is considered safe for drinking water. Not only does the U.S. laborer lose through NAFTA, but so does the vulnerable child and grandparent who drinks polluted well water.

NAFTA does not ensure inspection standards for produce, agriculture and livestock. NAFTA has crippled border inspections and the U.S. does not have the manpower to inspect everything that comes across its borders. Frozen fruit imports have increased by 45 percent and frozen vegetable by 31 percent since NAFTA, but there has been no increase in inspection.

A 1997 GAO report shows that commercial passenger vehicles from Mexico are not being inspected regularly. The ones that have been inspected have been placed out of service for serious safety violations such as steering or brake problems, according to the Federal Highway Administration. Fifty-four percent of the commercial passenger vehicles that pass through our southern borders do so through California. These unsafe vehicles are endangering the passengers as well as the safety of those on the streets and highways of California.

Negotiating authority with the right terms—allowing US workers to share in the benefit and promoting economic growth in environmentally sound ways worldwide—is my bottom line. Without that before us, I will vote "no" on the Reciprocal Trade Agreement Authorities Act of 1997.

Mr. PAUL. Mr. Speaker, today, the House is asked to vote to approve H.R. 2621, a fast-track procedure under which international agreements might be approved as far into the future as October 1, 2005. The "fast track" procedure requires the President to submit draft international agreements, implementing legislation, and a statement of administrative action for congressional approval. Amendments to the legislation in Congress are not permitted once the bill is introduced and committee and floor action votes may consist only of "yes" or "no" votes on any potential agreement as it is introduced.

The fast-track procedure bill, in addition to creating an extra-constitutional procedure by which international agreements become ratified, sets general international economic policy objectives, re-authorizes "Trade Adjustment Assistance" welfare for workers who lose their jobs and for businesses which fail, and creates a new permanent position of Chief Agriculture Negotiator within the office of the United States Trade representative. The bill would reestablish the President's extra-constitutional "executive authority" to negotiate "side agreements" such as those dealing with environmental and labor issues. Lastly, the bill "pays" the government's "cost" of free trade by increasing taxes on a number of businesses which recently benefitted by a favorable judgment in federal tax court.

The Constitution clearly allows for international agreements and clearly specifies the means by which they are to be accomplished. Treaties, quite clearly are to be negotiated by the President with advice and consent of the Senate and can only become effective upon being ratified by a two-thirds majority of the Senate. The Constitution, however, does not expressly confer authority to make international agreements other than by treaties and, of course, the tenth amendment specifies that "powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States, respectively, or to the people." To ignore or allow the one branch of the federal government to delegate its powers to others destroys the liberty-protecting ability inherent to the Constitutional separation of powers.

Congress does have, amongst its enumerated powers, regulation of commerce with foreign nations. Imposing import tariffs, quotas, and embargoes, however economically detrimental to the macro economy of the United States, are, at least, amongst powers delegated to Congress by Article I of the Constitution. Regulating commerce, of course, refers to enacting domestic laws which effect voluntary exchanges between trading partners who happen to be citizens of different governments. International agreements between the governments of those trading partners cannot be construed to escape the stringent treaty ratification process established by the document's framers just by suggesting Congress has the power to enact domestic regulation regarding foreign commerce. If this were an allowable justification for bypassing the constitutionally-mandated treaty process, Article I Congressional powers would almost completely undermine the necessity for the Constitutionally-mandated treaty process. Treaties regarding everything from international monetary policy to military policy would suddenly become "ripe" for the "treaty-making" power of the President and Congress. Instead, a bright line process exists whereby entering into agreements with foreign nations under which the U.S. government will do "X" if the government of Ruritania does "Y" must be understood to constitute an international agreement and, as such, require the more restrictive treaty process.

Moreover, because international courts regard "treaties" and "agreements" as equally binding on signatory governments, a stronger case is made that they must be made subject to the same constitutional process. Insofar as H.R. 2621 ignores the lack of a congressional role in the international treaty process and instead attempts to make Congress an integral part of a procedure for which it lacks any constitutional authority, this bill can be opposed on constitutional grounds alone.

Even if the procedure advocated by the bill were able to survive what should always be the Congressman's initial threshold of constitutionality, the bill contains provisions which will likely continue our country down the ugly path of internationally-engineered, "managed trade" rather than that of free trade. As explained by economist Murray N. Rothbard:

[G]enuine free trade doesn't require a treaty (or its deformed cousin, a 'trade agreement'; NAFTA is called an agreement so it can avoid the constitutional requirement of approval by two-thirds of the Senate). If the establishment truly wants free trade, all it has to do is to repeal our numerous tariffs, import quotas, anti-dumping laws, and other American-imposed restrictions of free trade. No foreign policy or foreign maneuvering is necessary.

In truth, the bipartisan establishment's fanfare of "free trade" fosters the opposite of genuine freedom of exchange. Whereas genuine free traders examine free markets from the perspective of the consumer (each individual), the mercantilist examines trade from the perspective of the power elite; in other words, from the perspective of the big business in concert with big government. Genuine free traders consider exports a means of paying for imports, in the same way that goods in general are produced in order to be sold to consumers. But the mercantilists want to privilege the government business elite at the expense of all consumers, be they domestic or foreign.

Fast track is merely a procedure under which the United States can more quickly integrate and cartelize government in order to entrench the interventionist mixed economy. In Europe, this process culminated in the Maastricht Treaty, the attempt to impose a single currency and central bank and force relatively free economies to ratchet up their regulatory and welfare states. In the United States, it has instead taken the form of transferring legislative and judicial authority from states and localities and to the executive branch of the federal government. Thus, agreements negotiated under fast track authority (like NAFTA) are, in essence, the same alluring means by which the socialist Eurocrats have tried to get Europeans to surrender to the super-stateism of the European community. And just as Brussels has forced low-tax European countries to raise their taxes to the European average or to expand their respective welfare states in the name of "fairness," a "level playing field," and "upward harmonization," so too will the international trade governors and commissions be empowered to "upwardly harmonize," internationalize, and otherwise usurp laws of American state governments.

The harmonization language in last year's FDA reform bill constitutes a perfect example. Harmonization language in this bill has the Health and Human Services Secretary negotiating multilateral and bilateral international agreements to unify regulations in this country with those of others. The bill removes from the state governments the right to exercise their police powers under the tenth amendment to the constitution and, at the same time, creates or corporatist power elite board of directors to review medical devices and drugs for approval. This board, of course, is to be made up of "objective" industry experts appointed by national governments. Instead of the "national" variety, known as the Interstate Commerce Act of 1887 (enacted for the "good reason" of protecting railroad consumers from exploitative railroad freight rates, only to be staffed by railroad attorneys who then used their positions to line the pockets of their respective railroads), we now have the same sham imposed upon worldwide consumers on an international scale soon to be staffed by heads of multilateral pharmaceutical corporations.

Lastly, critics of the bill convincingly argue that language within H.R. 2621 regarding "Foreign Investment" would establish new rights for foreign investors and corporations and new obligations for the United States. H.R. 2621 attempts to eliminate artificial or trade-distorting barriers to trade-related foreign investment by reducing or eliminating exceptions to the principle of national treatment; free the transfer of funds relating to investments; reduce or eliminate performance requirements and other unreasonable barriers to the establishment and operation of investments; seeks to establish standards for expropriation and compensation for expropriation, consistent with United States legal principles and practice; and provide meaningful procedures for resolving investment disputes. It is argued that H.R. 2621 will congressionally activate the nearly completed Multilateral Agreement on Investment which covers 29 countries and forbids countries from regulating investment or capital flows and would establish new rights for foreign investors and corporations and new obligations for the United States. The MAI requires governments to pay investors for any action that directly or indirectly has an equivalent effect of expropriation. The MAI would be enforceable through international tribunals similar to those of the World Trade Organization without the due process protections of the United States.

Because H.R. 2621 enacts an unconstitutional foreign policy procedure, furthers our nation down the internationally-managed (rather than free trade) path, sets general international economic policy objectives, re-authorizes "Trade Adjustment Assistance" welfare for workers who lose their jobs and for businesses which fail, potentially undermines U.S. sovereignty through MAI, and preserves the President's executive authority to negotiate "side agreements." As such, I must oppose the bill.

Ms. DEGETTE. Mr. Speaker, after close review of this legislation, I have decided to oppose the "Reciprocal Trade Agreement Authorities Act" otherwise known as fast track trading authority. This proposal includes environmental, labor, and food safety standards as merely negotiating objectives, without any accompanying legislation or side agreements that directly address these issues. My greatest concern is that the health and safety of American families will be jeopardized in future trade accords if these issues are not made a much higher priority.

I believe that free trade is good for our economy. There are, however, certain precautions that need to be taken to ensure that free trade agreements do not undermine other principles that our country holds dear, such as a clean environment. One of the potential problems with trade agreements is that they create pressure on neighboring governments to relax environmental regulations in an effort to lure manufacturers across borders, thereby allowing these companies to profit by polluting and abusing natural resources. Congress must also make sure that there are sufficient labor protections when we make our trade agreements so that we can protect against multinational corporations moving production to other countries with lower labor costs. Lastly, we need to make sure that our trade agreements do not compromise our food safety standards. This is a real threat, particularly to our children who are often more severely affected by contaminated food than adults.

I am a proponent of free trade; I am as even stronger proponent of fair trade. Our priority should be to forge a sound trade policy that helps, not hurts, the working people of this country. While we address our concerns, we can still achieve strong free trade accords. The Executive branch has negotiated hundreds of agreements without the benefit of fast track, and will continue to do so if fast track authority is not renewed.

In my view, the administration's latest set of initiatives to protect labor and environmental issues in trade agreements are insufficient. If these issues are truly a priority, I believe the administration would have worked more aggressively to include them earlier on, instead of presenting a few feeble objectives in the eleventh hour of this debate. The new initiatives to make World Trade Organization activities, such as the settlement of international trade disputes, more open to the public, and to issue reports on worker conditions in other countries might prove valuable but they certainly do not offer enforceable protections. We must insist on negotiating authority that ensures trade pacts contain enforceable food safety, environmental, and labor provisions.

What we need is a concrete strategy to improve workers' rights and protect the environment in developing countries, while at the same time negotiating effective trade agreements. I do not believe that this version of fast track meets these vital goals.

Mr. LIPINSKI. Mr. Speaker, free trade advocates say that NAFTA has nothing to do with fast track. That's not true. NAFTA has everything to do with fast track.

NAFTA was negotiated under fast track, and look at what NAFTA has brought us. The evidence is clear. America has lost hundreds of thousands of jobs. And not only has it brought us a $16 billion trade deficit with Mexico, it's brought us lower wages, weaker consumer protections, and a dirtier environment. It's rolled back all of the advances we made this century and brought us back to the 19th century. Instead of leading us into the 21st century, it's dragging us down. That isn't sound public policy, no matter how you look at it.

Free trade advocates say that the economy is booming. That may be statistically accurate, but let's take a closer look at what NAFTA has meant for American working families. Although the U.S. economy grew at a robust 4 percent in 1994 and productivity increased by about 2 percent, American workers did not share in these gains. The wages of American workers have continued to fall since NAFTA was implemented. In NAFTA's first year, American workers saw the sharpest one year drop of their real hourly wages. The real median wage fell by over 2 percent, continuing a 20 year downward trend.

The evidence shows that not only did we lose American jobs, the American working men and women have seen a reduction in their wages as well. So what does NAFTA mean for American workers? The evidence shows NAFTA means stagnant incomes and falling wages for working Americans. Face the facts.

If we cut through the economic rhetoric that the free trade advocates use to cloud the debate on fast track and NAFTA, the question we have before us is actually quite simple—do we want to sacrifice American jobs at the altar of free trade? For myself, the answer is very simple—no.

That's why I opposed NAFTA. That's why I opposed fast track back in 1991, and that's why I am so strongly opposed to this fast track bill.

Free trade advocates want the American people to believe that those of us who oppose fast track are ignorant of the new international economy and are pursuing an "America-last" strategy. They think we are protectionists, as if it were some kind of dirty word. Well, if trying to protect American jobs, the American standard of living and American working families makes me a protectionist, then I will gladly wear that label.

The majority of Americans want fair trade. The majority of Americans don't want fast track stripped of labor and environmental protections. When I'm back home in the Third Congressional District of Illinois, every working man and woman tells me that they don't want fast track. They don't want any more NAFTAs. They're tired of exporting American jobs instead of American products. Perhaps if some folks were to spend more time talking to Main Street instead of Wall Street, they would hear the same thing. Some folks seem to have lost sight of the fact that we work for the American people.

In reality though, this isn't a debate between so-called "protectionism" and free trade. It's a debate to shape America's future in the global economy, and to make the global economy work for us—not the other way around.

Mr. Speaker, this fast track legislation just won't work. It's just going to give us more NAFTAs. Instead of leading us into the 21st century, this fast track legislation will pull us back. Instead of rebuilding the American dream for working families, it will tear it down. That's why I am so strongly opposed to this bill. I will vote "no" on fast track, and I strongly urge all of my colleagues to do the same. Let us listen to Main Street, not Wall Street, because it's the working men and women of America that makes America so strong.

Mr. BERRY. Mr. Speaker, I rise today as a proponent of expanded trade opportunities for Americans. I support renewal of traditional trading authority for the President, and I will vote today in favor of H.R. 2621.

My vote today should not be an indication that I agree with the process that led us to vote at this time. In fact, I strongly disagree with the timing of this vote. I disagree with those Members who claim that we are voting on fast track today solely because fast track is a good idea. If the majority party wanted to pass fast track we could have voted on it last November; or January, February, March, or any other date before now. Likewise, we could vote on this next spring when we all return. The timing of this vote will jeopardize this much needed legislation from eventually passage.

I have worked for a long time and very hard for passage of fast track. I have colleagues on both sides of the aisle who are committed to expanding international trade, and they too have worked tirelessly for fast track. But today, some of these champions of trade are compelled to vote "no" on this crucial bill—not because it is a bad bill, but because of its terrible timing. People are playing politics with the global economy, and I find that shameful. At this precarious time we should be more prudent. The timing of this vote sends a signal to the world's economies that the United States is not ready to engage them in the marketplace. The timing of this vote sends them a message that we are preparing to move to a protectionist stance and that we are willing to stifle global economic growth.

I am prepared to vote "yes" on this critical legislation because I am so strongly committed to expanding trade opportunities for Americans. I only wish that the leaders of the majority party were prepared to show an equal commitment to this principle—and less of a willingness to play politics with our future.

Ms. BROWN of Florida. Mr. Speaker, I am very concerned about this Fast Track legislation. The way I see it, NAFTA has eroded 100 years of U.S. workers fighting for safety rights, worker protection, and fair wages and hours. There can be no serious global trade legislation without protection for workers and for the environment. For instance, we need to know that rain forests will not be destroyed or that women and children will not suffer from increased poverty and a violation of human rights.

And I need to know that Florida farmers will not suffer. What has NAFTA done for Florida? No oranges from Florida have gone to Mexico; however Mexican tomatoes have flooded the U.S. market.

We now have a history with NAFTA. We have lost good jobs. Corporations move and unemployed workers left behind get jobs paying less. The skilled jobs that once moved black workers into the middle class are gone and cities have lost an important tax base. At the same time, workers in rural America are suffering.

This is wrong. All citizens must be lifted with the economic tide—we are all in the same boat. I will work to see that we all can do better in this new global economy. I am especially concerned about our working men and women. Our workers want answers to important questions:

- (1) How will American workers integrate into the global community?
- (2) Where will corporate investment be made?
- (3) How will global trade affect the balance of power between worker and management?
- (4) How will global trade affect our rural farmers and the global environment?

Our workers deserve reasonable answers to these questions.

Ms. HARMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of the pending measure granting the President fast track consideration of trade agreements he negotiates with our foreign trading partners.

As many of my colleagues know, despite pressure from the Administration, former President Carter, and many of my business constituents, I voted against NAFTA. But fast track is not NAFTA. But fast track is not NAFTA. Indeed, as I explained to a business audience in my district last fall, fast track is not a debate over NAFTA or whether what is negotiated will even resemble NAFTA.

I can appreciate the concern that the fast track process may result in a trade agreement certain interests can't support and perhaps can't defeat. But I am more concerned that the lack of fast track authority will mean that even good trade agreements cannot be negotiated because our trading partners will not want Congress to amend them.

I represent California's 36th Congressional District—which I call the aerospace center of the universe. Over the course of the last decade, the district has seen thousands of defense-dependent jobs disappear. But the local economy has rebounded—rebounded by diversifying and applying the high technology skills of South Bay workers to solving transportation problems, to cleaning up the environment, to developing advanced communications satellites and the infrastructure and software to support them, and to making advances in medical technologies adapted from Cold War programs.

Future growth, indeed the continued existence of these industries, depends on finding foreign markets. Diversification and access to foreign markets are the strategy for saving the defense industrial base that won the Cold War. Without trade, this industrial base would be far weaker today, and fewer high skilled workers would be employed. Most important, our ability to ramp up in times when our nation's security is threatened would be gravely jeopardized.

Trade benefits the non-defense sectors in my district as well: from toys to wet suits to automobiles. Most of our growth in manufacturing and service jobs in the last decade is trade-related.

Mr. Speaker, creating trade opportunities is an integral part of keeping a strong defense production base at home and for keeping a strong local economy vibrant. Fast track is an essential tool in this effort.

I urge my colleagues to support this important measure.

Mr. FAWELL. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H.R. 2621 and the extension of Fast Track trade negotiating authority. Study after study has shown that free trade benefits America by increasing exports, creating higher wage jobs, giving U.S. consumers more choice and lower prices, and keeping U.S. industries competitive. Since its original enactment in 1974, each president has benefitted from fast track authority, and has used this negotiating tool to advance U.S. economic and foreign policy interests. Without fast track, U.S. trade negotiators are put in the position of negotiating a treaty and then having it altered by the "535 Secretaries of State" residing in the Capitol. These alterations often make the agreement unacceptable to the other parties. For this reason, the U.S. has not been a party to over 20 free trade agreements which have been negotiated since fast track authority lapsed in 1994.

The partnership created under fast track between the president and Congress, enhances our ability to shape the rules of international trade and lead on multilateral initiatives that benefit U.S. businesses and workers through our entry into trade agreements. Without free trade, our ability to influence nations in other areas of critical interest to the United States, including human rights, the environment, and drug trafficking would be diminished. To influence these nations, we need to increase contact and trade, we cannot turn inward. Clearly, we need to reinstate fast track authority to restore our presence worldwide. Only with this authority can America retain and strengthen its trade status and its leverage with foreign nations to influence their labor, environmental, and other policies.

In addition, fast track helps American businesses and workers. Tariff rates in the United States are already among the lowest in the world. Fast track authority will give the president the ability to negotiate trade agreements with other nations, to lower their tariff rates. This will greatly increase the number of American goods that can be exported to these foreign nations. Treaties negotiated under fast track procedures will break down trade barriers and expand our exports, creating American jobs and providing a more secure economic future for America. You can be assured, Mr. Speaker, that while we debate the merits of fast track authority, Canada, Japan, and the countries of the European Union are negotiating free trade agreements with America's trading partners.

Our nation should be able to take full advantage of the advances which free trade status and fast track authority offer. I urge my colleagues to support H.R. 2621, and reinstate fast track authority for workers, for business, for America.

Mr. COYNE. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to this legislation.

I oppose H.R. 2621 because I think that it would produce trade agreements that contain inadequate labor and environmental protections. I believe that trade agreements negotiated under the terms of this fast track authorization bill would destroy U.S. jobs and drive down American workers' wages.

Mr. Speaker, the United States is a world leader in terms of military power, diplomatic influence, economic vitality, technological innovation, and popular culture. As the richest and most powerful nation on earth, the United States enjoys a unique position of leadership—and provides us with the ability and opportunity to influence countries around the globe.

This country must be a leader in terms of worker rights and environmental standards as well. Our labor and environmental standards have a positive influence on labor and environmental laws and regulations around the world. We can and should promote labor rights, workplace safety, and environmental stewardship in developing nations. By doing so we help both American workers and foreign ones. Moreover, failure to do so places our workers and their employers at a competitive disadvantage in the global marketplace. Consequently, I strongly believe that any trade agreements that we reach with developing countries should promote worker rights and environmental protection in those countries.

I believe that responsible trade agreements can benefit this nation and its workers, and that giving the President carefully crafted "fast track" negotiating authority can promote such agreements. Consequently, in considering this legislation reauthorizing the administration's fast track negotiating authority, my decision on whether to support or oppose this fast track bill has been based upon the legislation's treatment of labor and environmental issues. I have concluded that this bill does not provide that adequate labor protections and environmental standards will be included in trade agreements negotiated under its fast track authority. Consequently I oppose this legislation.

I urge my colleagues to vote against this fast track legislation, and to work with me to develop fast track legislation that does a better job of promoting America's trade interests.

Mr. COSTELLO. Mr. Speaker, today, the Republican leadership is up to their old tricks again. Their plan to consider fast track trade authority not trivializes this important debate. The Republican leadership is playing a game with electoral politics—creating political havoc prior to the mid-term elections. We should be focusing on passing the appropriations bills and addressing health care legislation and education issues and true Social Security reform. We should put this bill away until we are ready to include binding provisions and enforcement mechanisms to protect worker rights, food safety and the environment.

I oppose this fast track legislation. When we considered granting the President fast track trade authority last year, I was opposed to that plan. Today, I have the same reservations. Presumably, one of the main reasons for fast track authority is to expand the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA). NAFTA has cost hundreds of thousands of American jobs and failed to improve environmental conditions along the U.S.—Mexican border. I did not support NAFTA then, and I will not support expanding it now.

NAFTA resulted in a loss of almost 17,000 jobs in Illinois and 420,000 jobs nationwide. U.S. workers who found new employment after their jobs moved to Mexico took an average pay cut of $4,400. Unfortunately, this proposal will result in more disastrous impacts on U.S. workers. Workers will have reduced bargaining power under this agreement as employers use threats of moving jobs to lower wage-paying nations in order to lower worker contract demands. This fact track legislation provides absolutely no protection for American workers.

Further, this proposal fails to address necessary environmental standards. Since the passage of NAFTA, the degradation of the environment along our border with Mexico has escalated. By not requiring other nations to increase their environmental standards, we are putting American products, which are subject to stronger environmental rules, at a disadvantage in the competitive marketplace.

I am also concerned about food safety. Food-borne illness is on the rise around the world in part because of the "globalization" of the food supply. Imported food is over three times more likely to be contaminated with illegal pesticide residues than food grown in the U.S. Stronger pro-consumer language in any fast track legislation would correct this oversight, however, the provisions of this fast track bill would greatly restrict the United States' ability to protect the public from unsafe food. I am not convinced that this bill provides adequate consumer protections that we, as consumers, expect and should demand.

I also believe that trade agreements should be subject to moral and ethical standards. There are 1.3 billion people around the world living on less than $1 a day. This fast track legislation does not include provisions to reduce child labor or decrease poverty and inequity throughout the developing world. U.S. trade policies and negotiations should seek to change this unfortunate reality.

This is not the right fast track legislation; it is irresponsible to bring this bill up now. We put our credibility with our trading partners at risk because this fast track bill does not have the support of the majority of this Congress. Trade policy and its domestic and international consequences is too important to be used as a political football.

The bottom line is that this bill fails to address human rights, food safety, environmental regulations, or protect American workers. I cannot support this bill, and I urge my colleagues to vote no on fast track.

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in opposition to a measure that would trade away my right to represent the interest of my constituents. This fast track legislation would place a straight jacket upon my ability to advocate for the people of Minnesota without the minimal safeguards that address key issues of concern. Let me be clear, I am for trade, but I am not in favor of surrendering and limiting the opportunity to influence trade agreements the United States administration appointees shape. The Constitution in fact preserves our role in the Congress to shape trade agreements, and this fast track measure takes the wrong track in surrender of such congressional role to the Administration and bureaucrats.

I am especially concerned that this legislation today is being used as a political pawn by the Republican majority. Trade policies, and our role in shaping those policies, are much too important to be thrown away merely on the basis of eve-of-the-election politics. We should stop the rush for fast track, and open this floor for real debate on the role of our country in the global economy.

Despite what you may hear from proponents of this legislation, trade expansion will not die without fast track negotiating authority. Of the 200 plus trade pacts this Administration has made over the past six years, all but two were considered without fast track procedures. 198 agreements didn't need such power. This is essentially the same fast track legislation that was opposed last year by labor, consumer, and environmental groups. No matter how you repackage it, fast track in this form is a bad deal for Americans. Our job in Congress is to represent our constituents, not to shift our power and limit our voice on key trade agreements, especially as our global economics become more integrated.

I understand the benefits of trade on our national and local economies. However, we need to use our economic leverage and market power to ensure that the rights and interests of our farmers, workers, environment and public health are advanced in our trade agreements. These are the very elements which have contributed in shaping one of the greatest economies in the world. Why should we lower the standards and protections that provide the foundation of our economy and U.S. prosperity? Trade pacts today have too often been the Trojan horse which undermines progress in these emerging areas of environmental policy, worker rights, health and safety standards.

I fear that new trade agreements without a prerequisite to address these specific concerns will just represent a high tide which carries American jobs to foreign shores and creates a lower common denominator. Some will capitalize on the growth of the emerging global economy and the expansion of trade, no matter the human indignity upon which it rests, and others will be displaced by downsizing, new technology, and offshore production. I, therefore, will not negotiate away my ability to advocate for my constituents' interests, jobs, wages, and livelihoods. My rejection of this process isn't the end of the issue, but rather a vote for Congress to insist upon a new negotiation framework and reclaim its proper role—a direct role in the trade agreements that will determine the policy and economic interface between the United States and our trade partners.

We have the ability and the responsibility to guide and set our economic and trade policy, keeping in mind the core values that have sustained our nation as the world's most successful economy; the basic human rights, social justice, safety and health, worker rights and the safeguarding of the environment. For that reason, I oppose this fast track legislation, and encourage my colleagues to do the same. It isn't a solution but the wrong track—a detour on the economic policy path to a sound global economy.

Mr. SKAGGS. Mr. Speaker, a year ago, when I announced my decision to support fast track trade negotiating authority, I told my constituents that I was supporting it because I believe strongly that good jobs depend on expanded trade—especially for a state like Colorado that is a leader in high tech and agricultural exports.

Over my twelve years in Congress, I have talked with workers, farmers, managers, and CEOs whose jobs depend on being able to sell their goods overseas. To expand U.S. exports we must make trade agreements to open foreign markets to the goods and services produced by Colorado's and America's workers.

One-third of our economic growth in recent years has come from exports. Our economy is in the eighth year of a steady expansion, with low inflation, and unemployment at such low levels that economists consider it to be "full" employment. I am convinced that the long-term health of our economy depends on continuing to lower barriers to our exports and expand opportunities to sell our goods.

For the United States to retreat from the policy of trade liberalization, which has been a major source of worldwide economic growth since the end of World War II, would have enormous consequences for this country and for the rest of the world.

What is essential in the long-run is a sustainable, centrist, bipartisan, and reliable coalition for a progressive trade policy. Playing political games with this issue won't succeed in the short-run—few believe there are enough votes to pass this measure today. But far worse, pushing today's vote on Fast Track will cause positions to harden and so will diminish the chances of achieving a centrist consensus on trade over the long-run. And trade policy simply has to be bipartisan if it is to be effective or reliable.

Sadly, the Republican leadership seems more interested in scoring pre-election political points in making real improvements in the world trading environment. If they really wanted to sustain a bipartisan coalition in support of a progressive trade policy, they would not be bringing Fast Track up today.

A Republican aide is quoted as saying that the decision to bring this to a vote, regardless of its chance of passage, was "to show business who is in the camp of business, and who is in the camp of labor." That's the sort of maneuver that severely damages the prospects for a national consensus on trade.

I can't vote for Fast Track today, because I choose not to be part of an effort to manipulate this important issue for partisan advantage a few weeks before the election. I will vote "present" to protest this cynical treatment of an issue that is so important to America's continued prosperity.

Mr. DICKS. Mr. Speaker, I am very disappointed with the reasons that the leadership has brought this legislation to the floor this afternoon. Both sides of this debate—and both parties—know very well that there are not enough votes to pass this bill today, a bill that I believe is extremely important for the future of our country. Rather, this legislation is being used as a political tool with the sole purpose of trying to embarrass the President. I believe that this is wrong, and I think that the leadership on the other side should have worked with the Administration in good faith to gain the votes to pass this bill instead of using such an important and inflammatory political issue simply for partisan gain.

Despite the actions of the other side, I support reextending fast track negotiating authority to the President for certain trade agreements. I believe that this authority is necessary to ensure that the United States remains a global leader on free trade, and to enable the President to continue to work to open foreign markets to American goods.

Trade is critical to Washington state, which is our nation's leader in per capita goods exports. In fact, one in every four jobs in my state is directly or indirectly dependent on exports—almost 740,000 people—and this figure is expected to increase to one in three by 2005.

These are not low wage service jobs that have been generated from the growth of trade in my state. These are high-wage jobs—jobs that pay 46 percent more than the overall state average. We are talking about thousands of union Machinists making airplanes at the Boeing Company, we are talking about software developers at Microsoft, we are talking about mill workers that fabricate aluminum at Kaiser, chip makers at Intel, and workers at Weyerhaeuser that produce lumber and wood products for export.

Trade is not just important to big companies; in my state, there are many more small businesses than big ones that depend on international trade. There are many small companies that supply machine and airplane parts that go into the aircraft that we sell overseas, thousands of farmers that grow apples and wheat, and countless small, family-owned mills that process timber and sell the products in Asian and other overseas markets.

Fast track negotiating authority is critical to the continued prosperity of the Pacific Northwest. A second Information Technology Agreement, one of the Fast Track priorities of this Administration, is important for the many high tech companies in the Puget Sound area. Further negotiations on intellectual property, a principal negotiating objective of the bill, will also help these companies to fight software piracy, which costs the industry billions of dollars each year. Future agricultural agreements will also help open markets for Washington's farmers.

Many Fast track opponents are arguing that the only reason for considering this bill at all is to enable the President to expand NAFTA to Chile and beyond. In actuality, negotiating a comprehensive trade agreement with Chile—a more economically developed country than Mexico—is only a small part of the Administration's trade agenda. This agenda also includes expanding current trade agreements to achieve reduced foreign tariffs on U.S. high technology products and services (some of which currently exceed 30 percent), greater protection of American intellectual property, improved access to foreign government procurement activities, and elimination of barriers against U.S. agricultural products. With 30 percent of our recent economic growth tied to exports, and these export-related jobs paying between 13 to 16 percent more than the average national wage, it is imperative that we actively pursue trade agreements that open foreign markets to America's products and services. It is important not to forget that more than 95 percent of the world's population lives outside the United States.

Mr. Speaker, despite my dissatisfaction with the reasons for which this legislation is under consideration today, I will vote in favor of the bill. In my judgment, fast track negotiating authority is too important to my district, my state, and my country for me not to support it.

Mr. CUMMINGS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of the United States Congress and in opposition to fast track.

I am going to be brief because what I have to say is straight forward: fast track may have been right in the past, but it is clearly wrong for the present and wrong for the future.

There was a time when international trade agreements were little more than the terrain of bean-counters: the fees applied to the importing and exporting of goods.

Today, however, these agreements have expanded well beyond bean-counting, and even beyond trade into the realm of finance and investment.

Such agreements directly impact the meat and potatoes of what our work in Congress is all about: worker rights, the environment, economic equality, human rights, food safety, even health care and education spending.

Therefore, we, the Members of Congress, must have a voice in the direction of these international agreements.

I did not become a United States Representative to act as a rubber stamp.

Rather, I came here to represent my constituents by using my voice to debate and to amend as I see fit legislation that has a direct bearing on their lives.

And, to those among us who argue that the United States needs fast track to participate in the international global economy—I ask for one, just one example from the last four years during which time we did not have fast track that the United States has not had a seat at the table in an international trade, investment or finance negotiation? Anyone? I thought not. Because there are no examples. We have never been kept from the table and we will not be left out in the future.

For all these reasons, Mr. Speaker, I continue my opposition to fast track by voting against this bill.

Mr. KLECKZA. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to express my strong opposition to giving fast track trade negotiating authority to the president. Not only is this bill a bad deal for working men and women, but it prevents Congress from doing its job.

Let me start out by saying that I am very concerned that we are even having this debate today. The Republican leadership has brought this bill to the floor with little interest in promoting a sensible trade policy for our nation. Instead, the bill before us today has the sole intent of embarrassing President Clinton and forcing Democrats to cast a tough political vote before an election.

Last year, fast track was pulled from the House calendar because there were not enough votes for passage. Since that time, no effort has been made to address the concerns of those who opposed fast track. The Republican leadership tinkered around the edges to add a few more provisions to make the vote even more difficult for some members, but nothing of substance. No protections for our environment. No protections for workplace safety. No protections for hardworking Americans and their families.

I must remind my colleagues that the Constitution of the United States gives Congress the power to regulate commerce with foreign nations. Since 1974, however, the House and Senate have abdicated this responsibility by giving the president trade negotiating authority that limits congressional input. This culminated in the failed North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA).

The legacy of NAFTA is the growing number of American companies heading south of the border to take advantage of low wages and non-existent workplace safety and environmental standards. Two years ago, Johnson Controls, located in my congressional district, said they were closing a valve plant and taking 200 jobs with them to Mexico. Companies such as Fruit of the Loom and Sara Lee have joined Johnson Controls in abandoning thousands of their workers in search of lower costs in Mexico.

Even worse, companies are using the threat of relocating in Mexico in order to force their loyal employees to accept cuts in pay and benefits. To top it off, many workers are being required to work longer hours in order to meet the production demands of corporate CEOs. A commission created under a side agreement of NAFTA conducted a study that showed these threats were carried out three times more often under NAFTA than in the past. This lack of bargaining power has prevented American workers from enjoying the benefits of the recent period of economic prosperity.

Many say the recent economic expansion has been, in part, a result of the recent trade policies of our nation. While that may be true, it is a fact that American workers have not enjoyed the benefits that should come with economic prosperity. From 1993 to 1996, real median wages fell 4.1 percent. My state of Wisconsin has been hit particularly hard—recent Census data shows Wisconsin was only one of four states where household income did not grow over the past year. In fact, the median income in Wisconsin dropped almost $1,800—or 4.2 percent—last year. The reason: the quality of jobs, measured by wages, has deteriorated.

America should also be concerned about what recent trade agreements have done to the environment. The proponents of fast track point out that we are in a global economy and need this authority to avoid being left out. But what they fail to realize that when we choose to ignore environmental standards in trade negotiations, we are putting our own health and safety at risk.

Instead of debating this partisan sham of a trade bill, the House of Representatives should be doing its job. We must defeat this legislation and reassert our constitutional duty to debate, amend, and then approve trade proposals that are in the best interest of working families.

Mr. FRELINGHUYSEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in strong support of H.R. 2621, known as “fast track” authorization for the President to negotiate international trade agreements. Congress must pass this legislation today for several reasons—it will open markets and create jobs, it is the right policy for American export businesses, and it is about leadership.

H.R. 2621 will give the U.S. an edge by opening up overseas markets to our products and services. Over 96 percent of the world's consumers live outside of the U.S. and fast track will ensure some of America's most important industries market access and future economic expansion.

I hear from countless businesses and their employees that fast track is the right policy for American Export Businesses. There is virtually no question that exports have contributed immensely to America's increasing economic vitality and stature throughout the world.

America leads the world in net exports. Last year, American exports of goods and services totaled more than $933 billion—14 percent of total world trade. More than 11 million U.S. jobs are export-related, including 1 in 5 manufacturing jobs, which pay an average of 13–16 percent above the national average.

Thirdly, fast track is about leadership. We are the world's global leader in trade and our action today is both symbolic and substantive. You can't lead the world towards democratic ideals and free markets if you remove yourself from the trade process. We need to be involved on all continents, and right now we are shutting ourselves out of too many overseas markets.

Similarly, our country cannot be an advocate for global environmental protection and the improvement of labor conditions and wages if we are not at the table to lead in these efforts.

Finally, I would like to express my disappointment over the President's personal involvement during this debate today. Over the past year, he and members of his Administration, including the Vice-President, the Secretary of State, and the Treasury Secretary, have been quoted repeatedly about the urgency of passage of fast track. In this regard, I would like to quote Secretary of State Madeline Albright's July 24, 1997 speech to the Pacific Council and Los Angeles World Affairs Council. She said,

American prestige is not divisible. If we want our views and interests respected, we cannot sit on the sidelines with towels over our heads while others seize the opportunities presented by the global marketplace. That is why, from a foreign policy perspective, I consider fast track to be among our highest legislative priorities.

I commend the leadership of the House for bringing this bill to the floor today, despite the lack of support by the President and his Administration, because they understand the importance of this bill for our country.

Mr. Speaker and colleagues, I urge the passage of this legislation. It is inconceivable that we would not act today to assure a brighter future and a better standard of living for our children and grandchildren and their futures.

Mr. DAVIS of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, when the United States enters into trade agreements, the objective should be to advance the standard of living for working families in our country and abroad.

Just like the average family in Illinois' 7th Congressional District. They are impacted by this trade agreement whether they like it or not. My hope is for them. They want what you and I want—to provide, to the best of their ability, for their loved ones.

My hope is for the people in the district, so that they can obtain a Living Wage, a wage that allows workers to lead a dignified life while working in a safe and healthy environment—an environment that respects their needs as a worker and a human being. Their struggles and desires are not so different from yours and mine. They want to put clothes on their children's back, they want to put food on the table, have access to reliable transportation, live in adequate housing and be able to obtain affordable child care for their children. Their issues need to be taken into account and be an active part of this debate. We need to engage the people in this debate—for we are playing with their livelihoods.

I hope for a trade agreement that will help to broaden our economy, help eradicate poverty, while bringing jobs and a decent quality of life to all of those involved. However, based upon recent reports, NAFTA as a trade agreement and trade model, has not met its promises. Thus, I believe that any standard of trade, based on the NAFTA model, will further threaten the standard of living for working families, not only in the USA but in other countries as well. Therefore, I am opposed to HR 2621, Fast Track.

“Free traders” often state that those opposed to NAFTA-based agreements—like fast track, need to “get with the times”—Often asserting that we are opposed to this treaty out of fear for the future. I pronounce that this is just simply not the truth. I welcome healthy change and look forward to supporting a treaty that will serve in the best interest of small businesses, workers and the environment in this country, as well as all those involved.

Mr. Speaker, I know that when we start placing people before profits; placing democratic safeguards before raw political gain; placing the well-being of our land ahead of the fiscal bottom line of a limited number of business concerns and protecting our inhabitants from irresponsible development—then the future will be hopeful for those ordinary folks both here and in places like Mexico.

Instead of fast-track, we need an agreement that increases our purchasing power, that improves living standards for all, and that proposes constructive solutions to pressing development and social problems, and that enhances healthy commerce throughout the region.

"Fast track" proponents continue to argue that jobs are being created, but they cannot back up their claims.

Studies show that 65% of laid off U.S. workers end up in lower paying jobs. The vast majority of new jobs in the United States are now in low paying sectors of the economy. The U.S. Department of Labor's forecast of job growth over the next ten years shows the greatest increase in cashiers, janitors, retail sales clerks and waiters and waitresses.

The Administration argues that they need "fast track" authority to negotiate trade agreements, but this just isn't so. By their own admission, only 2, out of over 200 trade agreements negotiated while in office, have been negotiated under "fast-track" authority. Working families are better served by public debate over trade agreements, not backroom deals cut by policy players that can only be voted up or down.

Fast-tracking is an issue of democracy. There is no adequate time to debate. Thus, members are forced to circumvent on their duty to vote.

Finally, given the negative effects that NAFTA has had on workers both here and across the continent, using a region known as the Maquiladora, as point-in-case. The area is an environmental and health disaster area called a "cesspool of infectious diseases" by the American Medical Association. Residents on both sides of the border suffer from alarming rates of hepatitis, chronic diarrhea and tuberculosis. Contamination by toxic industrial wastes and chemicals has been linked to the clusters of cancer, rare birth defects and immunological diseases on both sides of the border in 1995.

This is a tragic example of the types of human costs that can be experienced when linked to rapid industrialization without any human rights standards. Yes, we need jobs and a solid economy, but, I ask my colleagues, at what cost and at the expense of whom? We need to seek equitable trade across borders, we cannot think of what is only good for U.S. citizens. We need enforceable workers' rights provisions and standards for all parties in trade agreements. This is fair trade.

To honestly analyze this "agreement," we must understand not only what NAFTA is, but more importantly what it is not. NAFTA did not create substantially more free trade with Mexico, it did not create higher paying jobs for rank and file workers—on either side of the Rio Grande, it did not ensure the development of Mexico, and it side-steps critical social, environmental and economic issues. NAFTA is the absence of wage and labor rights, and responsible environmental regulations.

I say that NAFTA is more about Wall St. than about Roosevelt Road in my district where businesses thrive and employ many working-class families.

What can we learn from this debate? One strategy that seems abundantly clear is that we must work together to introduce and pass legislation that seeks to defend the rights and improve the quality of life for all working people across borders. People in my district—and beyond—need good, decent-paying jobs with a liveable wage as well as a workplace that has an atmosphere of safety and respect for all.

With a new effort afoot to spearhead international trading blocks, we must respond by allowing aggressive organizing to take place in the workplace, and create an atmosphere that welcomes the advocating of social change that safeguards workers, communities and the environment. To ask for less is to consign all of us to a spiral of economic decay and growing human misery that undercuts the humanity and well-being of all people of the America.

Mr. Speaker, I close today, by submitting to you that our struggle is linked to the struggle of poor and oppressed people throughout the world and their economic liberation protects our economic development. I look forward to supporting a treaty that will help small business prosper, a treaty that gives everybody the same break that the current treaty reserves for only the most powerful players at the table. We need a fair trade agreement that includes all who have a right and need to trade.

Good trade is good for people in the 7th Congressional District of Illinois, the city of Chicago as well as the people in the USA and Mexico. A higher wage means more purchasing power which means a stronger economy.

Mr. CONYERS. I am opposed to this bill to grant "fast track" negotiating authority to the president. The failed record of the North American Trade Agreement should have taught this body that it is time for us to remake our trade policy. NAFTA has hurt workers in America, increased poverty in Mexico and accelerated environmental destruction along the border.

The NAFTA disaster demonstrates not that we shouldn't be making trade agreements, but that we need a fully participatory policy making process that protects the interests of consumers, workers and the environment. That process should put Congress, a body devoted to responsiveness to people back home, at the center of the trade debate.

In my own state, NAFTA has been devastating to the auto industry. In 1997, the trade deficit with Mexico was $13.9 billion for autos and automobile parts alone! This figure is expected to go up a bit this year because from January through July of 1998, the trade deficit was $8.7 billion, compared to $8.3 billion for the same period last year. And keep in mind that before NAFTA, in 1993, the United States only had a $3.6 billion overall deficit with Mexico.

I visited the low-wage maquiladora factories in Mexico in 1993. All the foreign-owned corporations told us that this business sector would shrink. Instead it has increased by half since NAFTA. This means that polluted corridor along the US border is growing uncontrollably and NAFTA's weak environmental protections give us almost no redress.

So Americans are not better off and Mexicans are not better off. According to Mexico's National Autonomous University, the number of people living in extreme poverty has gone up from 31 percent in 1993 to 50 percent in 1996. This is not a fair deal for anyone except the greedy few who have profited from slashing American jobs and suppressing American wages.

I know we can negotiate a better trade agreement. But the first step is to keep Congress and the American people involved by rejecting the failed fast-track approach to trade. I urge a "no" vote on this bill.

Mr. WEYGAND. Mr. Speaker, today we are scheduled to vote on whether to grant fast-track authority to the President. I believe that, as written, we cannot ensure that U.S. citizens and citizens of other countries will get the safeguards they deserve therefore, I will be voting against granting the president fast-track authority and urge my colleagues to do the same.

Mr. Speaker, in the United States we have a great deal of environmental, worker and consumer safeguards that make our standard of living among the highest in the world. We have worked very hard at building a nation where people can live with assurances that their food has been inspected, their roads are relatively free of unsafe vehicles, their air and water are clean and they can earn a livable wage. Why should U.S. citizens or any other citizen of any nation not be guaranteed the continuation of those same benefits? Why should U.S. standards be compromised?

One of the purposes of trade agreements should be to better both or all trading partners. Our goal should be to raise the standard of living for everyone. Weak standards should be strengthened, strong standards should not be weakened. As we have seen with NAFTA, not including certain safeguards in the text of a trade agreement itself will result in a lower standard of living.

Because we cannot look into a crystal ball to find out how a trade agreement will turn out we must ensure that environmental, consumer and worker safeguards are included, up-front. Including these provisions in the fast-track bill will ensure that high standards are part of the negotiations and will not be sacrificed.

I fully understand the importance of entering into trade agreements to make sure that the U.S. is not left behind in this global economy. Expanding export opportunities is critical to the continued economic development of Rhode Island's economy and I will work to continue to create and expand those opportunities without giving up our standard of living. I am in favor of fair and equitable trade, but not at the expense of jobs and our families. We should trade goods, not export jobs.

I believe that this fast track is the wrong track. It quiets the American people's voice in their government. This Fast-Track does not defend workers and consumers and therefore is a hindrance to fair trade, rather than a boon.

I believe we can have free and fair trade, trade that benefits American workers and consumers and defends the environment. I believe we can have agreement that will result in higher wages, cleaner air and greater consumer safeguards. This bill will not yield those desired results. Again, I urge my colleagues to vote against this bill.

Mr. DELAHUNT. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong opposition to the bill.

This debate is not about "free trade" versus "protectionism"—though that is how proponents of the fast track proposal often characterize it. It is not about "engagement" versus "isolationism." Or "leadership" versus "retreat."

What this debate is about is whether the most powerful nation on the planet will help create a global economic system in which everyone has a fair share of the wealth.

Or whether we will continue to pursue trade policies that magnify existing inequities. That favor huge multinationals and "agribusiness" combines over locally-owned enterprises and family farms. That encourage American companies to go where they won't be hampered by fair labor standards, consumer protection laws and environmental regulations.

This legislation failed last year and it deserves to fail again. Because the working people of America understand what it will mean for them. For their families. And their communities. They have seen what NAFTA has brought them, and they are not about to allow the Congress to repeat that costly mistake.

NAFTA may have generated record profits for some large corporations. But those profits have come at the expense of workers whose jobs moved south. And farmers who couldn't compete with cheap Mexican wages. And consumers forced to buy potentially unsafe produce.

Nor are the consequences of NAFTA confined to our side of the border. On a recent trip to Mexico, I saw what NAFTA has meant for the people of that country. Factory workers denied decent working conditions and the right to organize. Agricultural laborers exposed to chemicals banned in the United States. Thousands of subsistence farmers forced off their land to make room for giant export producers.

To help address these concerns, I have joined with a number of my colleagues in this House, the Mexican Congress and the Parliament of Canada, in an agreement to establish a Tri-National Commission. The Commission will meet every few months, beginning early next year, to examine the effects of NAFTA in all three countries, and to look at better alternatives.

We have been warned that if we fail to approve the bill, we will be shut out while other countries reach agreements. That, I submit, is an appeal to fear and weakness that ill befits a strong and confident nation. A nation with the strongest economy in the world.

We should not negotiate because we are afraid we will be left out. Rather, we should negotiate in the secure knowledge that our trading partners need the American market at least as much as we need theirs. That a great nation need not accept what others decree, but can work with them to reshape the structure of international trade.

If we fail to do this—if we do nothing to address the growing gulf between the haves and have nots—if we continue to enter into agreements which codify the inequities of the current trading system—we will have much to answer for.

I urge my colleagues to stand with working men and women everywhere in just saying "no."

Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong opposition to this once-failed "Fast Track" trade authority legislation that the Republican leadership has chosen to bring to the floor.

Our urban centers and rural communities nationwide have suffered greatly from the corporate flight and job loss promoted and encouraged by NAFTA. Wages for manufacturing workers have been depressed by brutal global competition with terribly exploited workers overseas. And the violent turmoil in the world's financial markets threaten to ruin the economies of many developing nations.

But, in these uncertain financial times, the Republicans are using this bill for their partisan purposes and ignoring the danger signs, throwing protections for American workers and families out the window.

But they should not, and will not, pass this bill. They still have no real protections for American workers who face the loss of their jobs overseas. Environmental concerns continue to be ignored.

And, despite all the Republican rhetoric about being tough on drugs, this legislation does nothing to stop the increase of the flow of drugs into the U.S.

Loosening the rules of trade, without building in any safeguards against drug trafficking, has meant a virtual explosion of the flow of cocaine, heroin and other narcotics into the U.S. In November 1997 I called for the addition of specific, core language in trade agreements that addressed drug trafficking. I published a report "Drug Trafficking on the Fast Track" that documented the dramatic increase in drug trafficking that came as a result of NAFTA.

And this week's New York Times highlighted these dangers reporting that the brother of Mexico's former President Carlos Salinas, "assumed control over practically all drug shipments through Mexico." He used government trucks and railroad cars to ship tons of narcotics into the United States using influence and bribery to buy protection from the nation's army and police force.

So we negotiated a free trade treaty having absolutely no drug trafficking protections built in, with a government that was literally directing the flow of cocaine and narcotics into the United States.

We cannot repeat the mistakes of the past.

We cannot sign trade treaties with governments who are involved in, or complicit with, drug cartels and international drug trafficking. Until we address this issue, and protect the rights of American workers, we should reject this legislation.

We need a fair trade agreement that protects American families. I urge my colleagues to vote no on this fast track legislation.

[From the New York Times, Sept. 19, 1998]

SALINAS BROTHER IS TIED BY SWISS TO DRUG TRADE

(By Tim Golden)

MEXICO CITY.—After a nearly three-year inquiry into drug corruption in Mexico, Swiss police investigators have concluded that a brother of former President Carlos Salinas de Gortari played a central role in Mexico's cocaine trade, raking in huge bribes to protect the flow of drugs into the United States.

In a secret 369-page report, the investigators assert that Salinas's elder brother, Raúl, used his wide influence in the administration to organize an elaborate network of protection for drug smugglers. He also channeled drug money to his brother's presidential campaign, the report alleges.

"When Carlo Salinas de Gortari became President of Mexico in 1988, Raúl Salinas de Gortari assumed control over practically all drug shipments through Mexico," the report states. "Through his influence and bribes paid with drug money, officials of the army and the police supported and protected the flourishing drug business."

From a low-profile position in the administration's food-distribution agency, the report states, Raúl Salinas commandeered Government trucks and railroad cars to haul cocaine north, skimming payoffs that the Swiss estimate at upwards of $500 million. On what some of his reputed former associates referred to as "green light days," he arranged for drug loads to transit Mexico without concern that they might be checked by the army, the coast guard or the federal police.

A partial copy of the report was obtained by The New York Times. It appears to be based largely on interviews with nearly 90 former drug traffickers, reputed Salinas associates and other witnesses, most of them unidentified.

Swiss officials said they expected the report to be the basis for their Government's seizure in the coming weeks of more than $130 million that Raúl Salinas deposited in Swiss banks.

Lawyers for Salinas dismissed the report Friday as the slanderous product of a Swiss crusade to confiscate what they insisted was a fortune that their client earned by legitimate means.

"The report is absolutely false," Salinas's lead attorney, Eduardo Luengo Creel, said in an interview. "It contains statements, assertions and situations that do not correspond to the facts. It is a police report. It does not have the validity of an evaluation by an investigating judge."

"We do not even know who these people are," Luengo said of the many confidential informants listed in the document, which Salinas's lawyers received two months ago. "To accuse someone with anonymous witnesses is unconstitutional in any country."

The document states that Swiss investigators were unable to determine conclusively what involvement the former President, his father and other family members might have had in the purportedly illicit activities of Raúl Salinas.

Some family members, it implies, were among a group of people around Raúl Salinas who were implicated in criminal activities. It based that finding on witnesses it described as "principally credible" but did not identify.

The report says the investigators did not look further into the matter because the people mentioned were irrelevant to their inquiry into whether Salinas's Swiss funds came from illegal activities.

Nonetheless, the report adds, somewhat obliquely. "We have to seriously question the probability that a person with as much power as the President of Mexico for years did not learn about criminal activities of this extent, even if his brother was heavily involved." Carlos Salinas has been living recently in Europe.

The Swiss report is by far the most exhaustive assessment to date of Raúl Salinas's reported dealings with the Mexican underworld.

It is clearly a prosecutorial document, one that cites Salinas's own version of events mostly to show how it appears to contradict other facts. Because the Swiss seizure of Salinas's assets would be a civil court action, the report also aims at a considerably lower threshold of proof than would be required in a criminal case.

Raúl Salinas was widely rumored to have grown rich on dubious business dealings during his brother's presidency, but the accusations were almost never public or specific. Shortly after Carlos Salinas's term ended, in December 1994, his chosen successor, Ernesto Zedillo, shattered a long Mexico tradition of impunity for presidential families by authorizing Raúl Salinas's arrest on charges that he ordered the murder of a leader of the governing party who was his former brother-in-law.

In the tiny maximum-security prison cell where Salinas has spent the last three and a half years, he has been struck by wave after wave of new allegations. Federal prosecutors in New York are pressing ahead with a criminal investigation into the possibility that he may have laundered illicit funds through his accounts at Citibank headquarters in New York. And after a series of reversals in their murder case, Mexican officials say they are close to announcing new corruption charges against him.

Much of the Swiss evidence seems to come from witnesses who are identified only by pseudonyms like "Ludmilla" and "Juan," and whose credibility is difficult to judge.

Some claimed they had arranged the protection of drug shipments with Salinas directly. Others, including bodyguards, chauffeurs and secretaries, said they had attended meetings at which they saw Salinas receive suitcases full of cash from smugglers. Still others, including an American drug enforcement agent, testified to matters they had learned about second-hand.

As the true names of several of the witnesses have leaked out over the course of the Swiss investigation, Salinas's lawyers have attacked their accounts. But even when the informants are convicted criminals, the report often asserts reasons why their claims are credible.

Legal experts in Switzerland and the United States predicted that the confidentiality of the sources arrayed against Salinas might well prove a weak point in the Government's case. If a seizure is ordered and lawyers for Salinas challenge it in court, as they insist they will, the judge who evaluates the case will have access to the witnesses' identities but the lawyers will not.

In contrast to law enforcement officials in the United States who have studied Mexican drug corruption for years, the small team of Swiss federal police investigators had virtually no background in the subject. But since their arrest of Salinas's third wife, Paulina Castañón, as she tried to retrieve phony passports with her husband's picture from a Swiss safe-deposit box in November 1995, the Swiss detectives managed to scour American court files and jail cells for anyone who might claim a link to their target.

In at least a few such cases, United States law-enforcement officials have acknowledged, those informants had been ignored or misused by prosecutors in the United States until the Swiss sought them out. The Swiss report also cites some confidential witnesses who are described as people who once worked or socialized around Salinas, and it contains what two American investigators described as a meticulous analysis of his financial dealings.

"For us, what they have would be a triable case," said a United States law-enforcement official who is familiar with the Swiss evidence. "It wouldn't be a slam-dunk, but you could definitely take it to court."

For the family of a former President who was once celebrated as the bold architect of a new relationship between Mexico and the United States—the man who championed the North American Free Trade Agreement and brought to power a new generation of Ivy League-educated technocrats—the report paints a devastating portrait.

Quoting unidentified former associates of the family, the report contends that both Raúl and Carlos were "introduced" to the drug trade in the late 1970's by their father, Raúl Salinas Lozano, a former Government minister. It did not make clear what that introduction involved.

"Raúl Salinas Lozano, with his political influence, would have preferred Raúl at the head of the Government in Mexico," it continues, quoting an informant close to the family to present a dark new twist on an old story of brotherly ambition. "But because Raúl Salinas de Gortari's infamous earlier life would not have permitted him to hold a high-level government position, the father decided to support his son Carlos instead."

Long before Carlos Salinas began to make his name in the mid-1980's as Mexico's young, Harvard-trained Budget Minister, the report suggests, his father had built a friendship with one of the legendary figures of Mexico's north-border drug trade, Juan N. Guerra. Such a relationship has been reported in the past, and angrily denied by Raúl Salinas Lozano.

The eldest son of the one-time border Senator—Salinas Lozano was a dominant figure in the politics of his home state of Nuevo León—and a nephew of the trafficker Juan García Ábrego, inherited the connection, the report contends.

Quoting a series of former drug traffickers, the Swiss investigators state that Raúl Salinas began arranging protection for both García Ábrego and traffickers of the Medellín cartel in Colombia even before his brother became President.

One of those traffickers, identified as "Giuseppe," appears to be José Manuel Ramos, a former high-level Medellín cocaine distributor who operated out of northern Mexico and Texas until his arrest in 1990. Three American law-enforcement officials familiar with his case described Ramos, who remains in prison, as highly credible.

Both Ramos and his wife, Luz Salazar, (the "Ludmilla" of the report) referred the Swiss detectives to payment ledgers and other documents that had been seized at the time of their arrest. According to the report, the documents helped to corroborate that from 1987 to 1989, they paid Salinas $28.7 million on behalf of their boss, José Gonzalo Rodríguez Gacha.

Another convicted trafficker who gushes with information about Raúl Salinas, Marco Enrique Torres, has weaker bona fides.

While the report notes some corroboration of Torres's account by an F.B.I. agent who pursued his case, Orlando Muñoz, it fails to note Salinas's denials that he ever knew Torres. Nor does it raise questions about the more improbable parts of his tale of a long criminal friendship between a mid-level drug smuggler and a member of the Mexican political aristocracy.

Once Carlos Salinas became President at the end of 1988, the report states, his brother's power to assure the safe northward passage of drugs grew sharply.

Mr. MATSUI. Mr. Speaker, I yield the balance of my time to the gentleman from Missouri (Mr. GEPHARDT), the Democratic leader.

(Mr. GEPHARDT asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. GEPHARDT. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to this bill and ask Members on both sides of the aisle to oppose this bill.

I have voted for and worked on fast track bills in the past. I worked on a bill with then President Bush that we passed back in the late 1980s. I believe in trade, and I believe in trade agreements. I believe in opening markets. I believe in free trade agreements.

This is not a partisan issue. It is an issue on which I think people of like minds have to come together to prepare an architecture so that the free trade treaties that come from the fast track authority will succeed in opening up more trade and, most importantly, in increasing the compatibility between the countries that are engaging in trade.

□ 1830

To take NAFTA, for an example, it is a free trade treaty between countries that have very different standards of living, very different attempts at enforcing their basic laws. We now know that the problems that have come from NAFTA have been caused because we did not get in NAFTA the kind of enforcement provisions, with teeth, that would allow all the parties to get the other parties to the agreement to properly enforce their labor and environmental laws. We tried to get that in the treaty and at the end everyone said, "Well, we can't get it." I vowed from that moment that if we had another fast track, and I thought and knew we should and would, that I would try to get in it provisions that would say definitely that any treaty that would come from that fast track would have to have proper provisions in it, with teeth, that would get the labor and environmental and other laws in the signatories to the treaty to properly enforce their laws.

Now, why is this important? If you go to Mexico today on the border, you will find the most modern plants in the world. In fact, there are double the number of plants than there were before NAFTA and double the number of jobs. In many ways that is good. That is what we hoped would happen. But if you examine further and you go in the villages where the workers live next to the plants that are modern, as modern as anything in the United States, you will find workers living in abject poverty. They live literally in the cardboard boxes that carry the goods out of the plants. The labor laws in Mexico are better than ours. They are just not enforced. If you speak with the workers and you ask why do you not join an independent union or why do you not bargain for better wages, they laugh at you. And they say, "We have no ability to do that." They live next to open sewage ditches. Their children have hepatitis. Half the children cannot go to school because the workers do not earn enough money to send their children to school.

If this is the future of free trade in the world economy, then we have no future. If it is a race to the bottom because we do not insist on standards in trade, then we have let down everybody in the United States and we have let down everybody in the world. Surely we can do better than this.

I believe if we work from this day forward, because I do not think this fast track will pass, we can work to a bipartisan fast track that will give the President the fast track authority that he wants, that has the proper conditions in it so we can construct the right architecture in the world so that free trade is also fair trade, it is trade with standards, it is trade that raises the standards in the world and not lowering everybody's standards to the lowest common denominator. Now, surely we can do this.

The fast track we have tonight not only does not allow us to have those kinds of provisions in free trade treaties, it specifically says we cannot take up those matters in free trade negotiations. It is the opposite of what we need. We are the leader in the world. We are the one that has to help bring this infrastructure, this architecture to the world.

What you are voting on tonight is a very imperfect instrument that will not get us where we need to be. We can do better than this. Vote this fast track down. Let us come back next year in a bipartisan way, honestly and decently, and put together a piece of legislation that will allow America to lead the world to a higher standard of living and to the benefits of trade for all the people of the world.

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield the balance of my time to the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. GINGRICH) the Speaker of the House of Representatives.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. HASTINGS of Washington). The gentleman from Georgia is recognized for 4½ minutes.

Mr. GINGRICH. Mr. Speaker, let me say that I agree with the gentleman from Missouri that this is an imperfect instrument and that this is a difficult time. On the other hand, we were told a year ago it was the wrong time to vote. That was not an election year. Now we are told this year, it is the wrong time to vote. This is an election year.

Now, since under our Constitution the House is elected every two years, if it is not right to vote in the year before the election and it is not right to vote in the year of the election, the correct answer from some of our friends on the left is that there is never a time to vote, because they do not want to expand markets. And I understand that. But we need to understand just how historic this moment is. And Members are going to have to live with their conscience for a long time if they vote "no."

We have entered the first deflation since the Great Depression, from Malaysia and Thailand, to Indonesia, to South Korea, to Japan, to Russia, now to Brazil, we see all over this planet people whose economies are shaky, whose currencies are shaky and they are looking for leadership. The choice for them is very simple: Do they move into the world market which since World War II has so dramatically increased the wealth of the entire world, including the United States? Or do they move towards autarchy and protectionism and beggaring their neighbors and all of the policies which under Smoot-Hawley led to the Great Depression? It is that simple. And you get to vote in a few minutes to send a signal to the entire world because the entire world is watching.

My friend from Washington State said the Brazilians hope we defeat it. He is right. The Brazilians want us to defeat fast track because they are creating a common market in South America and they do not want American exports and they know that if we do not have fast track, corporations are going to build new plants in Brazil and new plants in Argentina and take the jobs out of the U.S. because they are going to go behind that barrier. The European Common Market wants you to vote "no." The European Common Market knows that for the first time since World War II, they are selling more to Argentina and more to Brazil than the United States. So the European Common Market hopes you will vote "no." That is the goal they have, make sure the American President stays impotent.

You say we are playing politics? It is the American President, William Clinton, who sent up the request for fast track, and who this year talked about how bitterly, that is his word, bitterly he regretted the defeat of fast track last year in his own caucus. We did not bring it up last year because we were told it was impossible because your unions would not let you vote.

Well, most of you do not have an opponent now. Most of you do not have an excuse now. This is a vote of conscience. You can vote "no," and when you vote "no," particularly those of you who have said for years you were free traders, you tell us who is playing politics: The people who vote their conscience, the people who vote for history, the people who send the signal to the world that we actually believe and vote for free trade? Or those of you who were for free trade until it became inconvenient for the Democratic Party?

You were for free trade until the unions told you, not this time, not on this bill, not last year, not this year. And you think the unions are going to tell you next year, oh, that is fine, GEPHARDT and GORE can be for free trade in 1999, because after all, there will not be a presidential nomination, the unions will not care.

Let us be honest. The fact is the Democratic Party is wedded to protectionism and it is willing to give away Latin America to the Europeans, it is willing to allow the Brazilians to create a common market that excludes America, it is willing to have the world market grow without us and if necessary it is willing to send the signal to Asia, go ahead and withdraw from the world market. And for what gain?

Now, you will say, "Well, it hurts America." Today's Washington Post, Poverty Rate Fell, Incomes Rose in 1997. This is the great damage of NAFTA. Poverty is going down, incomes are going up, we have the lowest unemployment rate in 30 years, the lowest inflation rate in 30 years, the lowest housing mortgage rate since 1967, because we have had the guts to compete in the world market, because our companies have grown leaner and tougher and smarter, because our farmers export, our small businesses export. 108,000 of the 113,000 exporters are small businesses. But that is not good enough. More jobs for Americans, more wealth.

You think you are going to convince the Mexicans to establish a higher standard of child labor when you do not trade with them? You think you are going to convince El Salvador to create a higher standard of wealth when you do not trade with them? The fact is this administration could introduce a proposed child labor agreement with Mexico anytime it wants to. They could come up next week and introduce it as a freestanding bill and make it be heard on its merits. But that is an excuse.

You know what the real issue is here. The real issue is, your union will not let you vote for free trade and you are willing to send a signal to the entire world at a time when a major firm was bailed out yesterday for $3.5 billion, an American firm, not a Japanese, not a Korean, not an Indonesian, an American firm, and in the middle of this level of instability, you yell partisan politics and then you vote partisan against your own rhetoric?

I am not going to embarrass my colleagues by reading into the RECORD what they said, what their President has said, what the Vice President has said. Because when they go out of the country, they are for fast track. The fact is this year, the President said he is for fast track. This year the Vice President said he is for fast track. It is sad to see the partisan politics of the unions and the Democratic Party and yes, this may go down, but if this goes down and we end up in a steep worldwide recession, some of us will have had the comfort of knowing, we cast the right vote, we sent the right signal, and we tried to sustain what has worked for 50 years and not let the world slide back to what failed in the Great Depression.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to House Resolution 553, the previous question is ordered on the bill, as amended.

The question is on engrossment and third reading of the bill.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed and read a third time, and was read the third time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the passage of the bill.

The question was taken; and the Speaker pro tempore announced that the ayes appeared to have it.

RECORDED VOTE

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I demand a recorded vote.

A recorded vote was ordered.

The vote was taken by electronic device, and there were—ayes 180, noes 243, answered “present” 3, not voting 9, as follows:

FURTHER MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE

A Further message from the Senate by Mr. Lundregan, one of its clerks, announced that the Senate has passed without amendment a bill of the House of the following title:

H.R. 4382. An act to amend the Public Health Service Act to revise and extend the program for mammography quality standards.

The message also announced that the Senate agrees to the report of the Committee of Conference on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses on the amendment of the Senate to the bill (H.R. 4112) “An Act making appropriations for the Legislative Branch for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1999, and for other purposes.”.

MAKING IN ORDER LIMITED DEBATE AND POSTPONEMENT OF FURTHER CONSIDERATION OF H.R. 4579, TAXPAYER RELIEF ACT OF 1998

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that during consideration of H.R. 4579, pursuant to House Resolution 552, notwithstanding the order of the previous question, it may be in order after 30 minutes of the 60 minutes provided for initial debate on the bill, as amended pursuant to the rule, for the Chair then to postpone further consideration of the bill until the following legislative day, on which consideration may resume at a time designated by the Speaker.

The intent is that we would do 30 minutes of debate on the tax bill tonight, then rise, and after a Journal vote tomorrow morning take up the remaining 30 minutes of general debate time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from New York?

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, reserving the right to object, I will not object, but I would like to take this time to ask my friend, why is it that he only requested 30 minutes when there is a total of 2 hours debate on this bill?

In view of the fact that so many Members would want to return to their home districts, especially this time of the political year, it would seem to me that if we started debate now, we could be out of here by 9 o'clock this evening. I am wondering, why are we just debating for 30 minutes? Why can we not just take up the bill and move on from there?

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. RANGEL. Further reserving the right to object, I yield to the gentleman from New York.

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, as the gentleman knows, this was agreed to by the Republican and the Democrat leadership. We have to make sure the appropriators are going to get our work done. It is very, very difficult. We will go along with this.

Mr. RANGEL. I am glad that the gentleman gave that lengthy explanation there, because I thought for a minute he did not have any reason why we were doing this, but now he has cleared that all up.

Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my reservation of objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. SNOWBARGER). Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from New York?

There was no objection.

PERMISSION TO FILE CONFERENCE REPORTS ON H.R. 4060, ENERGY AND WATER DEVELOPMENT APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 1999, AND H.R. 6, HIGHER EDUCATION AMENDMENTS OF 1998

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the managers on the part of the House have until midnight tonight to file conference reports on H.R. 4060, which is the Energy and Water Development Appropriations Act, 1999, and H.R. 6, the Higher Education Amendments of 1998.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from New York?

There was no objection.

MAKING IN ORDER ON MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 28, 1998, OR ANY DAY THEREAFTER, CONSIDERATION OF CONFERENCE REPORTS ON H.R. 4103, DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 1999, H.R. 4060, ENERGY AND WATER DEVELOPMENT APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 1999, AND H.R. 6, HIGHER EDUCATION AMENDMENTS OF 1998

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that it be in order on Monday, September 28, 1998, or any day thereafter to consider the conference reports on the following bills; that all points of order be waived against each conference report and its consideration, and that each be considered as read when called up for consideration.

Those conference reports are H.R. 4103, Department of Defense Appropriations Act, 1999; H.R. 4060, Energy and Water Development Appropriations Act, 1999; and H.R. 6, Higher Education Amendments of 1998. We could then come to the floor without a rule, but under the same process.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from New York?

Mr. OBEY. Reserving the right to object, Mr. Speaker, I would like to make certain that there is an understanding that on Monday there will be no votes before 5 p.m.

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. OBEY. Further reserving the right to object, I yield to the gentleman from New York.

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, that is my understanding. That is the agreement that the two leaders have made.

Mr. OBEY. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my reservation of objection.

Mr. SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from New York?

There was no objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Texas?

There was no objection.

REMOVAL OF NAME OF MEMBER AS COSPONSOR OF H.R. 4567

Mr. THOMAS. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. NORWOOD) be removed as a cosponsor of H.R. 4567. He was inadvertently placed on that bill through clerical error.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California?

There was no objection.

Mr. METCALF. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to have my name removed as a cosponsor of H.R. 1995.

(3) Encouraging private sector investment in America’s economically distressed urban and rural areas is essential to breaking the cycle of poverty and the related ills of crime, drug abuse, illiteracy, welfare dependency, and unemployment.

(b) PURPOSE.—The purpose of this title is to increase job creation, small business expansion and formation, educational opportunities, and homeownership, and to foster moral renewal, in economically depressed areas by providing Federal tax incentives, regulatory reforms, school reform pilot projects, and homeownership incentives.

Housing and Urban Development first designates an area as a renewal community under section 1400E of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, and at the close of each fourth calendar year thereafter, such Secretary shall prepare and submit to the Congress a report on the effects of such designations in stimulating the creation of new jobs, particularly for disadvantaged workers and long-term unemployed individuals, and promoting the revitalization of economically distressed areas.

Upon the enactment of this Act, the Director of the Office of Management and Budget shall not make any estimates of changes in receipts under section 252(d) of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985 resulting from the enactment of this Act.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. After 1 hour of debate on the bill, as amended, it shall be in order to consider the further amendment printed in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD numbered 1, which shall be considered as read and debatable for 1 hour, equally divided and controlled by the proponent and an opponent.

Pursuant to the order of the House today, the gentleman from Texas (Mr. ARCHER) and the gentleman from New York (Mr. RANGEL) each will control 15 minutes of debate on the bill.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Texas (Mr. ARCHER).

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks on H.R. 4579 and include extraneous matter.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Texas?

There was no objection.

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, the Federal Government is clearly too big, it spends too much, and taxes are too high; in fact, the highest in peacetime history.

Today we can do something about it. With this bill, we let the American people keep more of their hard-earned money, and when they do, there will be less money in Washington for the politicians to spend, downsizing Washington in power and upending the power of people.

Earlier today we set aside 90 percent of the surplus until social security can be saved. Today we can help overtaxed husbands and wives, farmers and ranchers, small businesses, and senior citizens. Our tax plan reduces the marriage penalty, makes health care more affordable for small business owners, reduces death taxes, and it fixes an unfair work penalty for senior citizens who decide that they would like to continue to work. Five hundred thousand senior citizens will be benefited by this provision.

It also eliminates all taxation on interest and dividends for 32 million people. Importantly, it provides badly needed help for farmers and ranchers, who have been hit particularly hard this year.

Finally, the plan simplifies the tax code for millions of Americans. Fewer forms will need to be filled out, making April 15 less of a burden on millions of taxpayers.

This plan protects social security and it cuts taxes, but Mr. Speaker, it also stops the politicians in Washington from wasting taxpayer money by taking it away from them before they have a chance to create new spending ideas.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I am not prepared to debate the distinguished chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means. I have been hearing for the last 3½ years that the Republicans had a tax plan that was going to pull up the IRS by the roots, so I have been studying that. I have been studying the value-added tax, the VAT. I have been studying the sales tax. Now they come up with a Democratic bill. It is really unfair to do this at election time. It catches us at a complete disadvantage.

The only problem we have, of course, is that we had thought that we had adopted rules in the budget which says that we do not spend what we have not got. Now they are changing the rules on that and they are saying, that is different if it is a tax cut, and it is especially different if it is just before the election.

What are we going to believe? Are we going to pull up the tax code by the roots and get rid of it with a simplified code that we can put on a postal card, or are we going to single out special people and give them tax cuts that we would want to give to them after we fix social security first?

I suspect that we will do all of these things maybe next year with a different Congress, but it surprises me how fluid we can be in terms of tax policy. So much for deep-sixing the tax code. So much for another attempt to raid the social security trust fund.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to my friend, the gentleman from Tennessee (Mr. CLEMENT).

Mr. CLEMENT. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding time to me.

Mr. Speaker, I have serious reservations, just like the gentleman from New York (Mr. RANGEL) and many others concerning the timing of this particular bill, as well as the justification for it, because the fact is, we had a significant tax cut last year in 1997.

□ 1915

And it was so significant, it was very, very helpful to our society and we needed it. But why do we want to come back at this particular time? And the fact is, we are raiding the Social Security system. We are raiding it because that is a contract between the government and the people.

Like most Members, I support tax cuts. But the timing of this, even though the provisions are good, and how could we be against it? And I like what has been proposed, but there is no surplus unless we count the Social Security surplus. The projected surplus may never materialize. We need to reserve all the budget surplus for Social Security reform and abandoning fiscal discipline is the wrong message to send to financial markets.

Over the next 5 years, the total budget surplus is $520 billion, but if one excludes the part of the surplus that belongs to Social Security, there is, in fact, a deficit in the budget of $137 billion. There is no significant budget surplus until 2006, 8 years from now.

Mr. Speaker, we did go through the numbers, and we know that this tax plan sounds good, but it also is not going to solve our problems when it comes to a solvent Social Security system.

We need the President working in concert with the U.S. House of Representatives and the United States Senate to come up with something that is workable and fair and to keep our contract with our senior citizens.

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, it is like a broken record on the other side. Perhaps the same speech writer writes the same speeches for every one of them, and if they say "raiding the Social Security trust fund" over and over again, perhaps people who do not know differently will believe it. But it is unsupportable. It is false. And they know it is false.

So, every time that that phrase is used, it has been preprogrammed to create an impression that is false. The administration representative from Social Security, appointed by President Clinton, testified in our committee that it was false.

I expect they will keep using it because they think they can convince people as to something that is unsupportable. I expect it will not be last time, but hopefully this will be the last time that I have to speak to this, and that those who listen to these speeches will understand when the term "raiding the Social Security trust fund" is used that it is unsupportable, it cannot be documented, and they know it.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2½ minutes to the respected gentleman from Louisiana (Mr. MCCRERY) a member of the Committee on Ways and Means.

(Mr. MCCRERY asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. MCCRERY. Mr. Speaker, I commend the gentleman from Texas (Chairman ARCHER) for the inclusion in this bill of the provision to modify and extend the present law treatment of active financial services income under subpart F of the Internal Revenue Code.

The provision permits United States-based insurance companies, banks, financial institutions, and securities dealers to be treated like other United States companies doing business abroad. It is critical to the global competitiveness of the United States financial services industry. And I might say, in light of the just completed vote on fast track, perhaps a vital necessity.

In particular, I commend Chairman ARCHER and the staff for the resolution of the question relating to the interaction of this provision with the use of so-called hybrid arrangements. In January of this year, the Treasury Department issued Notice 98-11 attacking the use of hybrid arrangements by United States-owned foreign companies. Chairman ARCHER, along with a bipartisan majority of the Committee on Ways and Means, strongly and rightly opposed Treasury's actions.

In response to the overwhelming concern expressed by the committee, the Treasury Department issued Notice 98-35, which provided specific rules with respect to the use of hybrid arrangements and allowed Congress time to review the important policy issues involved.

Mr. Speaker, the United States financial services industry is a critical component to United States productiveness both here and abroad. We should not create or endorse policies that hamstring their ability to compete in the global marketplace. This provision is intended to improve the capability of the United States financial services industry to compete with their foreign counterparts, and because of the importance of this issue, I am very pleased that it was included in this legislation.

At this time I would like to enter into a colloquy with the gentleman from Texas (Mr. ARCHER), chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means.

Mr. Speaker, earlier this year, in response to concerns raised by the gentleman from Texas and a bipartisan majority of our committee, the Treasury Department announced its intentions to withdraw Notice 98-11 and the related temporary regulations on so-called hybrid entities. Treasury agreed not to finalize future regulations in this area any earlier than January 1, 2000, in order to allow Congress the opportunity to fully consider the tax policy issues involved.

Mr. Speaker, I would ask the gentleman, am I correct that nothing in the proposal before us would alter the Treasury Department's agreement to allow Congress the opportunity to fully consider the tax policy issues involved before finalizing any regulations in this area?

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. MCCRERY. I yield to the gentleman from Texas.

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is correct. There is nothing in the proposal that would alter the agreement with the Treasury Department.

Mr. MCCRERY. Mr. Speaker, reclaiming my time, I thank the gentleman for that, and I would like to add that contrary to what we will probably hear over and over here, not one penny of the money for this tax cut will be taken from the Social Security trust fund. Please, let us get off that and talk about the merits of this tax bill.

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself 30 seconds.

Mr. Speaker, we were able to go to C-SPAN and pick up the rest of Ms. Chesser's remarks where she indicated that this tax cut would have a negative impact in the future in bringing about the solvency of the Social Security system.

Since there is such a widespread belief that our senior citizens have no idea what we are doing, perhaps we can print up some educational material for the Members tomorrow so that they would know that we only are saying it over and over so that they will see that it is true.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. KLINK).

Mr. KLINK. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from New York (Mr. RANGEL), our ranking member, for yielding me this time.

Mr. Speaker, I think that we all know, or should all know, that if it was not for excess Social Security taxes from the hard-earned paychecks of Americans, there would be no surplus. We can play semantical games with the term "trust fund," but if it was not for those Social Security taxes that are coming into the Federal Government, there would be no surplus.

Let us not talk about the speeches that are emanating from this side of the aisle. Let us talk about some other speeches, like that from William Niskanen, the Chairman of the Cato Institute, who said though House Republicans portray the tax cuts as an economic booster, economists seem unimpressed with the package and not persuaded that it was needed. "It's entirely political. It's responsive to the narrow constituencies of the Republican party. It makes no sense either on a tax basis or a macro[economic] basis."

Let us talk about Allen Sinai, the chief global economist for Primark Decision Economics, who said that whatever small economic stimulus this tax cut might provide, it could be costly in other ways. "The economy does not need domestic macroeconomic stimulus at this time. The economy needs interest rate cuts that will help stabilize the world economy and world markets [which are] the biggest threat to this economy."

This is Republican hocus-pocus: We will give an election year tax cut with one hand, but hand voters higher interest rates, so all their payments, their house payments, their car payments, their credit card payments are all a lot higher.

Let us talk about what the Concord Coalition said. "Without dipping into funds earmarked for Social Security, there is no budget surplus to spend."

Let us talk about Ohio Republican Governor George Voinovich who called for segregating Social Security money from the rest of the budget and said he agreed with President Clinton, and his Democrat opponent, Mary Boyle, that any tax cuts must wait until the retirement needs of baby boomers are guaranteed.

Let us talk about PETE DOMENICI, a Republican Senator in the other body, and PHIL GRAMM, who agree with us. Social Security must be saved first.

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from Connecticut (Mrs. JOHNSON), the chairman of the Subcommittee on Oversight of the Committee on Ways and Means.

Mrs. JOHNSON of Connecticut. Mr. Speaker, I say to the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. KLINK) I will take it. If this bill directs benefits to the "narrow base of the Republican party," absolutely. You bet it does, because it directs itself to the interests of all the working people of America. The great middle-class that has made this economic boom possible.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of this important tax cut. I thank the gentleman from Texas (Mr. ARCHER) for his determined leadership to bring this bill to the floor that does provide middle-class tax relief and strengthens our economy.

Last year, remember, we balanced the budget, cut taxes, invested money in important programs such as children's health and health research. With the surplus predicted to be over $1.6 trillion over the next 10 years, we can both protect Social Security and cut taxes for working class Americans.

Simplistic slogans like "every dollar of the surplus should go to Social Security" sound politically correct, but ring hollow in the face of facts. The President himself has supported spending billions of surplus dollars on other items, including maintaining a military presence to help the people of Bosnia. If we can use the surplus to help the people of Bosnia, then we can certainly help the American people by returning a small portion of the surplus to their pocketbooks.

This legislation is about fairness for hard-working middle-class families and protecting their economic future. It is sound, balanced and needed tax policy which will have a sweeping impact on taxpayers across the country.

It helps families by beginning the process of eliminating the marriage penalty. Small businesses will get help to buy equipment and create jobs. Communities that need to build new schools or repair existing ones will receive a boost. And people needing affordable housing will get help. Seniors too will be benefited by this strong bill. Members' support is recommended.

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from California (Ms. LEE).

Ms. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from New York (Mr. RANGEL) for yielding me some time today.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong opposition to the Republican tax cut bill. Taxes really are like powerful medicine, and yet we take our medicine as we pay our taxes because we know it is key to survival.

I want tax cuts like everyone else. But when it comes to taxes, we are the doctors. The patient is a vital and viable Social Security system. And like any institution with longevity, the Social Security system needs constant checkups and tuning. We are in the process of tuning, of making adjustments so that Social Security can remain the rock that this Nation created.

The Republican tax bill threatens the health and the life of Social Security. The Republican tax cut is not only irresponsible, but the cut really is a killer. The Republicans plan to pay for these cuts with a budget surplus that really does not exist. The Congressional Budget Office says 98 percent of this surplus is from the Social Security trust fund. The tax cuts come from robbing Social Security.

Our social and physical health is really fundamental in this country and our parents and our grandparents work, our children and our grandchildren will work, and for those who have not had the opportunity to work we must support job training and job creation as a national commitment.

Most Americans believe in the work ethic, but 64 percent of Americans also believe in avoiding cuts in Medicare and education, and they believe that that is more important than cutting taxes.

Only 12 percent of Americans choose a tax cut before reforming the Social Security and Medicare systems and reducing the national debt. Americans care deeply about being leaders in inventiveness, in creativity, in commercial acumen, in productivity. We must also become leaders in caring for our seniors, our children, our families, and being responsible.

We must stabilize Social Security before we start spending money we do not have. Vote "no" on the Republican tax bill.

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. WELLER) a respected member of the Committee on Ways and Means.

Mr. WELLER. Mr. Speaker, this is an exciting week, because this week we are actually doing the people's business, something the folks back home have asked us to do for a long time.

Today we have a great opportunity because not only have we passed legislation which sets aside $1.4 trillion for the effort to save Social Security, twice what the President originally asked for, but we also address an issue which I have often raised. That is the issue of answering the question: Is it right, is it fair that millions of married working couples pay higher taxes just because they are married? That married working couples with two incomes are forced under our Tax Code to pay more just because they are married?

We have answered that issue by making an extra piece of the tax cut included in this package the elimination of the marriage penalty for a majority of those who suffer it. In fact, by doubling the standard deduction, 28 million married working couples will see an extra $243 during a year because we eliminate the marriage penalty for majority of those who suffer from it. Mr. Speaker, that is a car payment.

□ 1930

Our opponents on the other side of the aisle keep raising a funny statement. They keep saying somehow that we are eliminating the marriage tax penalty for a majority of those who have suffered somehow by taking money out of the Social Security trust fund. As Judith Chessler, deputy commissioner of the Social Security Administration said a week ago, this tax legislation has no impact on the Social Security trust fund at all. She gave a definitive simple answer, no, when asked that question.

The people of Illinois are big winners today because not only do we set aside $1.4 trillion to save Social Security but we help married working couples in Illinois. We help family farmers in Illinois. We help small business in Illinois. We help schools in Illinois. We also help parents who want to send their kids to college in Illinois.

This is a big winner for the taxpayer. Let us do the right thing. Let us give bipartisan support to this effort to save Social Security, to eliminate the marriage tax penalty, to help families, to help small business, to help agriculture.

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from Connecticut (Ms. DELAURO).

Ms. DELAURO. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to the Social Security raid. I believe in tax cuts but not at the expense of Social Security.

The tax bill before us would drain $80 billion from the Social Security trust fund. This is money which Americans have invested for their retirement. It is money which Social Security needs for its long-term solvency when the baby boomers retire. But do not take my word for it. Take the word of economists and experts.

Henry Aaron, senior fellow at the Brookings Institution, believes that it would be imprudent to use the surplus for tax cuts. Chairman Alan Greenspan, when asked if he supports spending the Social Security surplus tax for cuts replied, I have always emphasized that we should be aiming for budgetary surpluses and using the proceeds to retire outstanding Federal debt.

Listen to our Republican colleagues, the gentleman from Wisconsin (Mr. NEUMANN) said it well when he stated on the floor of the House, there is no business in America that would go to their pension fund, take money out of the pension fund, and use it for pay raises. So why does Congress think it can use Social Security surpluses for tax cuts? This is a totally unreasonable proposal.

Unless, however, the Republican leadership does not truly believe in Social Security.

I believe that they do not. Listen to their words. In 1984, Majority Leader ARMEY said that Social Security was a bad retirement, a rotten trick on the American people. I think we are going to have to bite the bullet on Social Security and phase it out over a period of time.

Speaker of the House NEWT GINGRICH, on November 10, called for the program to be replaced over time by mandatory individual retirement accounts. This is in 1986.

Under his proposal the program's payroll tax, which he calls anti-savings and anti-jobs, would be abolished and replaced with a value-added tax. They do not believe in it.

However, the American public believes in it. And when questioned, 90 percent said that they did not want to spend Social Security surpluses for tax cuts. Social Security is too important, too important a part of our lives to be jeopardized for a short-term gain.

I urge my colleagues, oppose this tax bill which raids the Social Security trust fund.

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. ENGLISH), who does great work on the Committee on Ways and Means.

Mr. ENGLISH. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of the Taxpayer Protection Act, which provides needed tax relief for working families and middle class taxpayers or, as my fellow member from Pennsylvania described it, the narrow base of the Republican Party.

H.R. 4579 contains a key provision that will enable students and their parents to save for college in tax exempt accounts. Recently a Republican Congress provided tax exempt status to state prepaid tuition programs. This legislation awards the same preferential tax treatment to private prepaid programs as well. These programs will allow families to buy college credits at today's prices and bank them for the future, avoiding tuition inflation and making a college education affordable for many students.

Both the contributions and earnings on distributions from qualified State and private tuition programs will now be tax free. By extending the same tax exempt status to private colleges and universities, we level the playing field and provide students additional choices and opportunities to save for a college education without harming the Social Security trust fund.

Mr. Speaker, I urge bipartisan support for this tax relief package to help more Americans achieve the American dream.

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from Florida (Mrs. MEEK).

Mrs. MEEK of Florida. Mr. Speaker, this tax cut sounds so very attractive, but it is really not as attractive as it seems in that what it is doing is taking from Peter to pay Paul. And what I am concerned about, Paul is made up of seniors and people who will be seniors, those people who are young now will soon be old. They have been paying into this system. It is unfair to take some of their money and leave the rest of it for a tax break.

Despite the fact that what you want to do is good, but you just do not have the way to do it, so you are taking it out of Social Security trust fund.

Now, this bill sets aside 90 percent of the total Federal budget surplus for Social Security and permits the remaining 10 percent to be used for a tax cut. But I want to look at how this formula would work if it were the law today.

In the first 10 months of the current fiscal year, the total Federal budget surplus is $43 billion. Under the Republican formula, only 90 percent or 39 billion would be saved for Social Security and the remaining 4 billion would pay for a tax cut. But this year Social Security is running a surplus of 167 billion. And the rest of the Federal Government is running on a deficit of 124 billion. So under this bill, I want Members to listen to me, we would be taking 4 billion of this year's Social Security surplus and using it for a tax cut. Just take that as an example to show my colleagues that we are using the wrong pot of money. We are using money that is going to undermine the Social Security surplus.

I want Members who think the people in this country are blind, they are not here, but they are not blind. They hear this. They know what you are doing, and they know who you are.

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from South Dakota (Mr. THUNE).

Mr. THUNE. Mr. Speaker, let me just repeat one thing that I think the American people need to hear over and over and over again. The other side is going to continue to try and perpetuate this fraud that somehow we are raiding Social Security for this tax relief plan. The fact of the matter is that not one penny of this tax relief plan comes out of the Social Security taxes. It is coming from people, income taxes that people in this country, hard-working Americans have overpaid.

It is coming out of the income tax surplus that we have generated from the hard work of the American people, not from Social Security. The American people need to hear it over and over again because the other side continues to perpetuate this fraud.

I just wanted to thank the chairman, distinguished chairman of the House Committee on Ways and Means, the gentleman from Texas (Mr. ARCHER), for structuring a tax package that is so beneficial to the farmers and ranchers of South Dakota and across this country. There are so many good things in this tax bill that are going to help the economic crisis that we are facing in rural America, from death tax relief to deductibility for self-employed people of health insurance premiums to a loss carry-back provision that allows you to offset this year's losses against profits in past years and gets tax money back from the IRS, to the income averaging provisions that are made permanent under this bill. This is a very positive tax relief package for agriculture. It will do a great deal to assist our farmers and ranchers who are trying to make a living out there right now.

I want to reiterate one point, because you are going to hear it over and over again, that they are raiding Social Security. I just want to ask the American people to think about who do you believe is going to save Social Security. The people who are committing 90 percent of this surplus or $1.4 trillion, or those who for years have not put a dime into the Social Security trust fund?

We have a commitment to save Social Security. We have a commitment to bring tax relief to the hard-working people, the families of this country and to the farmers and ranchers in South Dakota and across America. I want to ask that Members on both sides of the aisle support this important tax relief bill.

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentlewoman from Texas (Ms. JACKSON-LEE).

Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas. Mr. Speaker, it would certainly give me a greater sense of collaboration if I could come to the floor of the House and find some opportunity to support legislation that deals with the question of taxes.

I have supported tax cuts in the past. I do believe there is merit to providing relief in certain areas, particularly the marriage penalty. But I do think that although there are some who will refute our arguments, that you cannot get away from the truth. Social Security claims the hearts and minds of many Americans. In fact, Social Security is one that most Americans understand as a trust between them and this government.

In fact, let me share with the Speaker an excerpt from a letter sent out in 1936 as a mass mailing to people throughout the country. They were referring to the Social Security law.

Under this law the United States Government will send checks every month to retired workers, both men and women, after they have passed their 65th birthday. This means that if you work in some factory, shop, mine, mill, store, office or almost any other kind of business or factory, notice we are talking about working men and women, you will be earning benefits that will come to you later on. From the time you are 65 years old or more and stop working, you will get a government check every month of the year.

I would just simply say that the tax bill does not answer the question of the trust the American people have put in us. We need to vote against this tax bill because we must save Social Security.

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield the balance of my time for this evening to the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. SMITH).

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. SNOWBARGER). The gentleman from Michigan (Mr. SMITH) is recognized for 2 minutes.

Mr. SMITH of Michigan. Mr. Speaker, I just want to express my emotions that it is so disconcerting to have Members stand up and say, gosh, let us save Social Security. Why do they not do something to save Social Security instead of just talking about it?

We have several bills introduced. The only Member on that side of the aisle, the only Democrat that has come up with a plan to save Social Security is the gentleman from Texas (Mr. STENHOLM). On this side of the aisle we have got several others. We have got the gentleman from Arizona (Mr. KOLBE), the gentleman from South Carolina (Mr. SANFORD), the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. PORTER).

If you do not like any of those bills, why in the world do you not bring over a bill from the Senate? Over in the Senate we have Senator MOYNIHAN, Senator KERREY, Senator GREGG, Senator BREAX, Senator GRAMM, Senator DOMENICI. Have you looked at any of those bills that would save Social Security? Or do you just want to talk about it? Do you just want to say, hey, let us not have any tax cuts, let us save Social Security.

I just urge my colleagues in this House to look at some of this legislation. I introduced my first Social Security bill when I came here in 1993. Then I introduced another bill last session, and H.R. 3082, the last year of this session.

□ 1945

Social Security is a huge problem. It is an important program. And you say this, I hear everybody say it, but I see so few do anything about it.

If I would have one suggestion, it would be that everybody take this very seriously, that you start looking at the bills that are now proposed and you come up with improvements to that legislation so we can really do it and quit talking about it, because it is an important program that so many people depend on.

We developed a program in 1934 that was a pay-as-you-go program, that as you run out of people working, paying their taxes in to provide the benefits for existing retirees, it has developed a huge demographic problem, it needs to be dealt with. The longer we put off the solution, the more drastic that solution is going to have to be.

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I yield the balance of my time to the gentleman from Mississippi (Mr. TAYLOR).

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. SNOWBARGER). The gentleman from Mississippi is recognized for 1½ minutes.

Mr. TAYLOR of Mississippi. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the gentleman for yielding time. I also want to thank the gentleman from Mobile, AL (Mr. Callahan). We have agreed to pair on this. Hurricane Georges will undoubtedly hit either his congressional district or mine. We have reached the decision that the best place for us to be tomorrow with is with our families and with our constituents. The gentleman from Alabama is going to vote for it. I am going to vote against it.

Our Nation is $5.5 trillion in debt. We owe the Social Security trust fund $800 million. As a Nation we squander $365 billion a year, that is $1 billion a day, on interest on the national debt. Yet because for the first time in 30 years we are not borrowing money to make ends meet, we are deciding to find all sorts of new ways to give it away. That is wrong. It totally ignores national defense.

This year's Republican Congress will spend $30 billion less in real dollars, in 1998 dollars, than they did in 1995 on defense. We are sending kids out in 30-year-old warships, 30-year-old helicopters, 30-year-old warplanes. The consequences of that can be dead young Americans in some future war. If we have any money left over, we need to take care of that.

We owe the Social Security trust fund $800 million. That is a pledge that has to be fulfilled. Above all, if you have seen Private Ryan, there is an entire generation of Americans who served this country in the military who were promised free health care for life if they fulfilled their end of the obligation and now when they are too old to do anything about it, we are not fulfilling it. The defense health care is underfunded by $600 million next year. Yet we can find time to give big contributors a tax break but not keep the promises we have already made.

For those reasons, I want to be recorded as voting "no."

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. TAYLOR of Mississippi. Parliamentary inquiry, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. TAYLOR of Mississippi. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. CALLAHAN) and myself have agreed to pair tomorrow on the vote on the tax package. I would like for my statement to be included in the RECORD at that time, but I will not be here tomorrow to do so. Therefore, I am asking if it would be in order to ask at this time that that statement be included in the RECORD.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman may ask unanimous consent to do so.

Mr. TAYLOR of Mississippi. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that my statement be included in the RECORD at the appropriate place tomorrow.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Mississippi?

There was no objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the order of the House, the Chair postpones further consideration of H.R. 4579 until tomorrow.

SPECIAL ORDERS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under the Speaker's announced policy of January 7, 1997, and under a previous order of the House, the following Members will be recognized for 5 minutes each.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. CONYERS) is recognized for 5 minutes.

(Mr. CONYERS addressed the House. His remarks will appear hereafter in the Extensions of Remarks.)

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. PAPPAS) is recognized for 5 minutes.

(Mr. PAPPAS addressed the House. His remarks will appear hereafter in the Extensions of Remarks.)

SAVE SOCIAL SECURITY

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentlewoman from Florida (Ms. BROWN) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Ms. BROWN of Florida. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to speak out against another case of reverse Robin Hood. But this time it is stealing from our seniors to give out tax breaks in an election year. When we talk about Social Security, we are talking about one of the most important programs in the history of the United States. This program ensures that our seniors and our disabled will be taken care of. The Social Security program is the result of hard work by working families across this Nation. By dipping into the Social Security cookie jar, we jeopardize the security of seniors who count on these monthly checks during their retirement.

Let me close with a tribute today to the late Claude Pepper, one of the most important advocates for the elderly and for Social Security expansion in the United States Congress. Claude Pepper cared about seniors across this Nation and he fought to protect them so that they could enjoy their elderly years in life without being afraid of where their next check was coming from. As a Member of Congress from the State of Florida, Claude Pepper's legacy for fighting for the rights of seniors and the poor speaks for itself. He would not stand for election-year gimmicks that punished the working families who have contributed to the Social Security trust fund. In the name of decency and in the name of Claude Pepper, the leadership of this House should vote to save Social Security first. This is a mean-spirited attack on the needy. We have a responsibility to today's seniors and to tomorrow's seniors to protect this valuable program.

ENDING MARRIAGE TAX PENALTY

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. BOEHLERT). Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. WELLER) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. WELLER. Mr. Speaker, I appreciate the opportunity to air a few moments of thoughts regarding some issues important to this Congress and not just to the politicians that were elected to this House but to the folks back home in Illinois. I represent a very diverse district. I represent the south suburbs of Chicago and the south side of the city of Chicago, a lot of rural and bedroom communities. They often ask important questions. One of the most important questions we have this year is they know that Social Security long-term has financial problems and they know there is unfairness in the tax code. They say there is a question out there, can we save Social Security and can we eliminate the marriage tax penalty, for example, in the same effort?

We Republicans believe that you can, that you can save Social Security and you can bring greater fairness to our tax code by working to eliminate the marriage tax penalty, and we have a plan. When I think of Social Security, just like everyone, you always think of your own family and how issues affect your family. When I think of Social Security, I think of my mom and dad, Marilyn and LaVern Weller, a couple of farmers back home in Illinois who are retired and on Social Security. I also think of my Aunt Mary and my Aunt Eileen, my Uncle Jack and Uncle Bob who are also on Social Security. When I think of the marriage tax penalty, I think of my sister Pat and her husband Rich, a teacher and a farmer back in rural Sheldon, Illinois, and they like 28 million other married working couples with two incomes suffer the marriage tax penalty.

We have had a big victory today in the passage of legislation which will help save Social Security by setting aside $1.4 trillion, twice what President Clinton suggested back in January we set aside, more than two times the $600 billion, in fact $1.4 trillion we are setting aside for the future efforts over the next couple of years to save Social Security. This is a big victory for people like my mom and dad and the senior citizens in Illinois.

I am often asked as well as we work to bring fairness to the tax code a pretty simple question, and, that is, is it fair, is it right that under our current tax code that almost 28 million married working couples, people like my sister Pat and her husband Rich who because they have two incomes under our tax code pay more in taxes just because they are married under our tax code? A lot of us think that is wrong. That is why addressing the marriage tax penalty is such a priority. We have answered the call for bringing fairness to the tax code by making the centerpiece of the legislation this House is going to vote on tomorrow legislation which will eliminate for a majority of those 28 million married working couples paying the marriage tax penalty, will eliminate the marriage tax penalty.

In fact, I have an example here of a machinist and a school teacher in Joliet, Illinois. They live in the south suburbs. They have a combined income of $50,000. Currently under our tax code, because the standard deduction for joint filers, for married couples, is now twice what it is for a single, if you figure in their personal exemptions and then give them the standard deduction when they file jointly, that standard deduction currently is only $6,900. If we want to be fair about it, the standard deduction for a joint filer should always be twice what it is for single filers. We do that in the tax package we are going to vote on tomorrow. The result is for this machinist and this school teacher in Joliet, Illinois, with a standard deduction now of $8,500, twice what it is for a single person, they will see a net benefit of $240 in higher take-home pay as a result of our efforts to eliminate the marriage tax penalty.

Now, we eliminate the marriage tax penalty for a majority of those married couples who suffer it by doubling the standard deduction. Not only is that an issue of bringing fairness to the tax code but because we double the standard deduction for married working couples, we also simplify the tax code. The reason we simplify the tax code, now as a result of doubling the standard deduction which 28 million married working couples will enjoy and benefit from, seeing an extra $240 in higher take-home pay, that is an extra car payment, 6 million of those couples will no longer need to itemize. We are simplifying their taxes. In fact they will no longer need to use the Schedule A. All they will need now is just to use the 1040-EZ. That is simplification.

Now, the opponents, some of whom we have heard from this evening and who oppose our efforts to eliminate the marriage tax penalty for a majority of those who suffer it, they claim that somehow our effort to eliminate the marriage tax penalty somehow will hurt and take money out of the Social Security trust fund. Now, there is an important question that was asked in the House Committee on Ways and Means this past week when we acted and produced our effort to save Social Security and eliminate the marriage tax penalty. We asked the representative, the Deputy Commissioner of the Social Security Administration, are those charges true? Is as a result of the tax cut being considered by the committee and of course voted on tomorrow, on Saturday, will there be any impact on the moneys in the Social Security trust fund? Judy Chessler, who is the Deputy Commissioner of the Social Security Administration, had a very simple answer. Frankly for someone in the bureaucracy, it was very short, sweet and to the point. She said, "No." By saying "no," that means the Social Security trust fund is not impacted.

Ladies and gentlemen, we are going to vote on a tax package tomorrow that the centerpiece eliminates the marriage tax penalty for millions, in fact the majority of those who suffer it. This package is good because it helps married couples in Illinois, helps family farmers, helps small businesspeople, helps schools in Illinois and helps parents who want to send their kids off to college.

We can save Social Security. We can eliminate the marriage tax penalty. We have a good opportunity to do that tomorrow. It deserves bipartisan support. I urge bipartisan support for the Save Social Security Act which passed today as well as the 1998 Taxpayer Relief Act. Let us save Social Security. Let us eliminate the marriage tax penalty.

CUT TAXES ONLY AFTER TRULY BALANCING THE BUDGET

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. SNOWBARGER). Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Minnesota (Mr. MINGE) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. MINGE. Mr. Speaker, I share with the previous Member the commitment to finding a way to reduce taxes. Really the question is, however, not do we have a commitment to reduce taxes and believe that the bill that has been brought up or will be brought up tomorrow is a fair bill in that respect. The question is the timing.

The previous speaker I think laid out quite clearly the issue, and that is to what extent are we selling a phony package to the American people by saying to them we have a surplus and we can balance the budget and go through a tax cut, without somehow compromising our commitment to stay the course and not add to our Nation's debt and not make it more difficult to solve the Social Security problems in the future?

The simple answer is, we do not have a balanced budget. We are borrowing this year approximately $104 billion from the Social Security trust fund. This money is going into the general fund and supporting Federal programs.

We are going to have a deficit of approximately $70 billion this year, an on-budget deficit of $70 billion.

What does this mean? It means that we have not adequately planned for the future. We have not adequately planned for 1998, and we are proposing a tax cut when we have not balanced the budget. I think this is tragic.

It also points up the fact that we do not yet even have a budget for the next fiscal year, and this too is tragic. Here we are, we are five months and 24 days past the deadline for having a budget agreement in Congress, and we do not yet have one. The House and the Senate have not agreed. No budget resolution.

We do not have guidance for the Committee on Appropriations, we do not have guidance for the Committee on Ways and Means. The committees are free-lancing it. The Committee on Ways and Means has come out with a tax cut package. They do not know how it fits into a budget, because we do not have a budget. And here we are in this chamber saying to state and local government, act responsibly. Act fiscally responsibly, so when we grant you money, we know and you know that you are properly budgeting for your operations.

We say to the United Nations, act fiscally responsibly; prepare a budget. We do not have a budget.

We say to nonprofit entities and others that apply for Federal grants, have a budget. Show us your budget. We do not have a budget.

This is a very, very unfortunate situation. The leadership in this body and on the other end of the building have not even appointed conferees to agree on what a budget resolution should look like and bring it back to each chamber for a vote. We have a failure of leadership. We need to address the question of what is the Federal budget to be for 1999, and we are only six days away from the beginning of the next fiscal year. No budget.

I submit that the tax cut package, as attractive as it is and as much as we all would like to vote on it and go back home and beat our chest and say what wonderful Members of Congress we are, the tax cut package ought to be deferred in terms of its implementation until the leadership in this body has developed a budget for the next fiscal year and until we know that we have eliminated the scourge of the deficit spending that has haunted this government.

We cannot afford to add to the deficit. We cannot afford to add to the debt. I know from talking to my friends and neighbors at home that they are all for tax cuts, but they also recognize that we have to act responsibly, and they want us to make sure we balance the budget first, and they want us to make sure we stop borrowing from Social Security.

We are continuing to do that, and this is going to handicap our ability to fix the Social Security program, because all of that borrowing goes right into the U.S. Treasury and we are postponing the day of reckoning.

SHORTFALLS IN FUNDING FOR NATIONAL SECURITY

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from California (Mr. HUNTER) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. HUNTER. Mr. Speaker, I talked yesterday about the problems with national security that are now becoming acknowledged, not only by Members of the Congress, but also, for the first time in four years, by the President himself.

Now that the President has admitted that there is a shortfall in funding for national security, the services themselves are coming forward and testifying, as they did today, and telling us what the problem is. They now feel that they are not circumventing their commander-in-chief if they lay their cards on the table before Congress. And let me tell you, Mr. Speaker, I was pretty shocked by the numbers and the situations that were described today by the Army, the Navy, the Marine Corps and the Air Force, and I want to share those numbers and those shortfalls with you.

First I want to point your attention to what is known as mission capable rates. Mission capable rates mean when we have an aircraft carrier off the shores of the Middle East and we have planes on that carrier. We make an analysis as to whether or not its planes can fly out, hit their targets and return safely to the carrier. That is a pretty important part of our power projection with the U.S. Navy.

Our mission capable rate, that means the ability of the airplane to fly off the carrier, wheels up, move that two or three or four hundred miles to its target, drop its ordnance and come back, that rate has gone down from 69 percent in 1993 to 61 percent today.

With the Air Force, the mission capable rate of their aircraft has gone down from 83.4 percent in 1991 to 74 percent today. That means 25 percent of their aircraft are not mission capable. They cannot do their job.

With the Marines, we have gone down from 77 percent in 1995 to only 61 percent mission capable rate today.

Mr. Speaker, the Navy and the Marine Corps and the Army also talked about other aspects of their equipment that are now in shortfall. You know we had a 600 ship Navy a few years ago under president Ronald Reagan. With the dissolution of the Soviet Union, we decided we could bring that Navy down some. But this president, President Clinton, is building ships at such a slow rate that we are building to a 200 ship Navy. We are going from a 600 ship Navy to a 200 ship Navy, and we cannot accomplish our responsibilities around the world with a fleet that small.

With respect to ammunition, the service chiefs told us that our ammunition shortfall now is 1.7 billion for the Army and 193 million for the United States Marine Corps. Ammunition is pretty basic, and we do not have what we need.

With respect to equipment, this CH-46 helicopter is right now the mainstay for the United States Marine Corps until they get the V-22. That aircraft, which has had a number of crashes in the last several years, is over 40 years old. Their attack vehicle, their amphibious vehicle that they ride out of the ships on and go right up on the beaches when they have to make a front-on assault, that vehicle is an average of 26 years old.

With respect to personnel, the United States Air Force is going to be 700 pilots short this year and the United States Navy is going to be 18,000 sailors short this year. The U.S. Marine Corps aviators are having a separation rate, that means the rate where they come in and tell their unit I am leaving; I could reenlist, but I am leaving; I am going to go into private enterprise. I may be a pilot for an airline, I am leaving. Only 42 percent of them separated in 1995. Most of them stayed on with the Marine Corps. Today, 92 percent of our pilots are leaving. They are getting out of Dodge. They are going into the private sector. That leaves us short.

So, Mr. Speaker, I will continue over the next several weeks to talk a little bit more about the shortages we have in defense, and lastly I will talk a little bit about what we are going to have to do in terms of putting resources into defense to rebuild our military.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from North Dakota (Mr. POMEROY) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. POMEROY addressed the House. His remarks will appear hereafter in the Extensions of Remarks.)

SECURING SOCIAL SECURITY BEFORE CUTTING TAXES

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentlewoman from Texas (Ms. JACKSON-LEE) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I think it is important that we did several things today, and I do want to comment on one of the earlier speaker's assessment of the pending tax bill, for, as I was saying earlier in debate, we all understand the value of giving relief to working men and women.

Interestingly enough, the substitute tax relief bill that the Democrats are proposing does that very thing. But it has one singular common sense provision: It recognizes that Social Security is a Contract with America. It is a trust. It is a fund that we are committed to securing. You cannot secure a trust fund if you raid it.

So the one difference I have with my colleagues is I am prepared to vote for tax relief, after we have secured Social Security, after we have been told by the Social Security trustees, 'You have fixed Social Security for those who are receiving it now, for those who receive it 10 years from now, and those who may receive it way into the next century.'

So I hope my colleagues will consider the reasonableness of legislation that does not spend dollars we do not have, and waits in fact a year from now when we can truly confirm that we have fixed Social Security.

Today we did something else, Mr. Speaker, and I would like to just comment briefly on the fast-track legislation, because most of us agree that trade, which creates jobs, has to be a bipartisan approach or has to have a bipartisan approach.

The one thing that is attractive to Americans when you speak of trade is jobs. It is opportunities for small businesses. It is the ability to sell one's wares and ideas internationally and be assured to get a good dollar and fair compensation for that.

I have been on record supporting the African Growth and Opportunity Act which passed the House this past summer, giving opportunity to small businesses, providing dollars for infrastructure support, opening up Africa to the many opportunities or many business opportunities for both Americans and Africans to work together.

I have supported the Caribbean Basin Initiative, which works with our Caribbean friends, again establishing opportunities for our business opportunity, to work free of barriers.

At the same time, this legislation was brought to the floor of the House in a bad manner and at a bad time. For example, we are facing financial crises around the world, but the Republicans have not seen fit to fund the International Monetary Fund. Why? Because that is not popular.

□ 2015

That sounds off negative connotations. I would simply argue that seeing governments collapse or financial systems collapse, when we have the opportunity to work with the IMF, is irresponsible.

Yet, we bring a trade bill that is not collaborative, does not work with Members on both sides of the aisle, does not work with business and working Americans to discuss issues dealing with the environment and dealing with the question of working conditions.

Last year when we were talking about this issue, I offered an amendment to work on the question of difficulties in Texas along the border. Let me read it, Mr. Speaker, my amendment, called "Review of conditions along United States-Mexican border".

The President shall establish a task force to review conditions along the United States-Mexican border relating to housing, labor, the environment, and other relevant issues, as they relate to United States companies that are located along the border.

The task force should determine the ways in which partnerships made up of public and private entities can improve conditions along the border. The President shall report to Congress not later than 1 year after the date of the enactment of this act on the results of the review under subsection A.

My understanding is, without a call to my office, this was put into the present bill. The tragedy is that the bill failed because we did not have collaboration. We had politics. In fact, Members of the other party were quoted as saying, "We want to see who will get on the line and vote for fast track, Democrats, so we can go in their districts, if they do not vote for it, and threaten their elections."

This is not the spirit in which we should work. We should be working in a bipartisan manner to tell Americans that, yes, trade is good. Trade brings about jobs.

At the same time, we will not abdicate our responsibilities for ensuring that trade does not negatively impact on our environment; that safety rules are not eliminated or violated, as we travel from one country to the next, moving from surrounding countries and bringing large trucks into our boundaries; that we require safety standards; and yes, that we ensure that jobs are not lost, and that there are good and positive working conditions.

Mr. Speaker, I would simply say, we can work on trade issues. We can create jobs. We can help business. We can help small businesses. But this House must do it together.

We must ensure that Americans realize that trade is about jobs and the environment and working together.

COMMENDING THE HOUSE FOR OUTSTANDING WORK ON SAVING SOCIAL SECURITY AND IMPROVING THE LIVES AND HEALTH OF SENIOR CITIZENS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. FOX) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. FOX of Pennsylvania. Mr. Speaker, I rise to address the House this evening to commend the House for its outstanding work. I appreciate the time to address the House, because I think it is very important. With the passage today of the Save Social Security Act, it is one more way to make sure that our senior citizens are protected. This new legislation will make sure that with any budget surplus, and with the $1.4 trillion, the first money from that surplus will go to the social security trust fund for our senior citizens.

Mr. Speaker, with senior citizens living longer we want to make sure they live better. We wanted to make sure we strengthen the social security system. We also at the same time want to look to improving health care for our seniors and others. That is why the House is to be congratulated for leading the way here in Congress and in Washington on FDA reform, to make sure we speed up the approval of lifesaving drugs and medical devices.

That legislation, while we are waiting for a cure or vaccine for many illnesses, will help us be able to make sure that we are helping with clinical trials and with third-party review, and be able to make sure that we help our citizens live longer and better.

I am interested in also pointing out that here in Congress and the House we have worked to double the NIH funding, the National Institutes of Health. That is very important when it comes to increasing the research monies that are allocated for breast cancer research, uterine cancer, ovarian cancer, prostate cancer. It is coming at a very important time.

Tomorrow, Mr. Speaker, we are having the first ever march of its kind, a march to fight against cancer, to find a cure in our lifetime for all the cancers. This is an important march where very important health care providers, health care practitioners, researchers, and entertainers will be here on the Washington Mall, together with elected officials, to make sure we stand arm in arm to make sure the kind of dollars, resources, and emphasis is placed on cures for cancer.

That dovetails with legislation that I have introduced, Mr. Speaker, to protect our senior citizens, the Senior Citizen Bill of Rights. In that legislation we are going to roll back the 1993 tax on Social Security. We are going to keep social security off-budget, so it is not used for other purposes, but used for seniors and their security.

It will also address the notch baby problem, those babies born between 1917 and 1926 who are in their golden years and should be able to have the full benefits that other Social Security recipients have. Our notch baby provision will be addressed in that legislation.

We also, in the Senior Citizen Bill of Rights, increase the penalties for those who would commit fraud against senior citizens, such as telemarketing fraud and others who would prey upon our senior citizens and take away their life savings.

Also our legislation calls for elimination of the inheritance taxes. Many people have a family business, a family farm, and they take the money and have to give it to Uncle Sam, instead of making sure the next generation of the family can enjoy the fruits of labor that many of our families and friends have built up over a lifetime.

Finally, we have patient protection. We have legislation this House has adopted to make sure, Mr. Speaker, that doctors have the final say in making sure our patients get the medical advice they need, get the referrals to specialists they need, get the admissions to hospitals that they need, and as well, have the right to appeal a wrongful denial of health care on behalf of their patients and our constituents.

I think we have done a great deal to move forward in health care as far as senior citizens, on their rights, on their security, and making sure, above all, that Social Security and Medicare are protected and saved and strengthened.

The final item which I think we will embark on is the fact that we make sure with Medicare we have those new prevention programs on an annual basis, the mammograms that are annual, we have the pap smears, we also have the colorectal cancer screening, the diabetes screening, and osteoporosis.

Those kinds of prevention programs we fought for are making a difference, and the fact that those who would now defraud Medicare are eligible for jail terms and loss of rights to be a provider are strengthening Medicare the way citizens want.

We need to move forward, together with much other legislation, but we certainly have to take this time to look at what we have done for our seniors, and to make sure we redouble our efforts to do even more.

JOINT EXPLANATORY STATEMENT OF THE COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE

The managers on the part of the House and the Senate at the conference on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses on the amendment of the Senate to the bill (H.R. 4060) making appropriations for energy and water development for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1999, and for other purposes, submit the following joint statement to the House and the Senate in explanation of the effects of the action agreed upon by the managers and recommended in the accompanying conference report.

The language and allocations set forth in House Report 105-581 and Senate Report 105-206 should be compiled with unless specifically addressed to the contrary in the conference report and statement of the managers. Report language included by the House which is not contradicted by the report of the Senate or the conference, and Senate report language which is not contradicted by the report of the House or the conference is approved by the committee of conference. The statement of managers, while repeating some report language for emphasis, does not intend to negate the language referred to above unless expressly provided herein. In cases where both the House report and Senate report address a particular issue not specifically addressed in the conference report or joint statement of managers, the conferees have determined that the House and Senate reports are not inconsistent and are to be interpreted accordingly. In cases in which the House or Senate have directed the submission of a report, such report is to be submitted to both House and Senate Committees on Appropriations.

Senate amendment: The Senate deleted the entire House bill after the enacting clause and inserted the Senate bill. The conference agreement includes a revised bill.

The amount above the budget request provided for the Kaskaskia River Navigation, Illinois, project is for the purpose described in the Senate Report.

The conference agreement includes $4,677,000 for operation and maintenance of Wolf Creek Dam, Lake Cumberland, Kentucky, project. The amount above the budget request is for the Corps of Engineers to complete construction of the debris rack at Lake Cumberland, along with landscaping, fencing and bank paving.

The conferees understand that failure of a containment dike threatens to severely impact critical habitat at the Blackwater Wildlife Refuge in Maryland and that the Corps of Engineers has been approached to offer assistance in resolving the problem. Given the potential impact to this significant wildlife resource, the Corps is encouraged to continue to work with interested parties and to use available authorities and resources as appropriate to assist in correcting the damaged dike.

The conferees direct the Corps of Engineers to repair the west breakwater at the Cedar River Harbor, Michigan, project, using funds previously appropriated for the project.

The conferees urge the Corps of Engineers to complete a section 111 report for the Ludington Harbor, Michigan, project to determine critical areas affected by the project, within available funds.

The conferees are aware of the deteriorated condition of the Owasco Seawall, which threatens the water supply of Auburn, New York. The Corps of Engineers is directed to conduct emergency repairs and rehabilitate the east seawall, utilizing fully such authorities as exist in law.

The conference agreement includes $9,546,000 for operation and maintenance of the Garrison Dam, Lake Sakakawea, North Dakota, project. The amount above the budget request is for mosquito control activities at Lake Sakakawea.

The conferees have been informed of the potential need for mitigation dredging of the Charleston Harbor, South Carolina, navigation channel. The Corps of Engineers is directed to review the situation and to use available funds to perform additional dredging if safety conditions warrant.

The amount above the budget request for the Fort Randall Dam, Lake Francis Case, South Dakota, project is provided for the purposes described in the Senate Report.

The conference agreement includes $10,900,000 for the Grays Harbor and Chehalis River, Washington, project. Of this amount, $4,000,000 is for continued implementation of the south jetty maintenance project.

The conference agreement includes $550,000 for the Tri-Cities Area, Washington, project. This funding is for NEPA and CERCLA costs associated with land conveyance pursuant to section 501(i) of Public Law 104-303, the Water Resources Development Act of 1996.

The conference agreement includes $2,000,000 for the Willapa River and Harbor, Washington, project for the Corps of Engineers to determine the appropriate, cost effective, stable channel alignment that will eliminate current unacceptable impacts, and to initiate work once a decision is made. In determining the appropriate alignment, the Corps is to pay particular attention to the erosion damage occurring to State Highway 105, the importance of the highway for access and egress to the local area, and the potential cost of road relocation if the highway is destroyed or has to be rerouted.

The conferees are aware of a plan for the regionalization of water control management activities for projects operated by the Corps of Engineers. The conferees direct the Corps to brief the Committees on Appropriations of the House and Senate on the elements of such plan (and its impacts on current division and district operations and resources) prior to the plan's adoption.

The conference agreement deletes language proposed by the House providing for the derivation of funding from the Harbor Maintenance Trust Fund.

The conference agreement includes language in the bill proposed by the House earmarking $4,200,000 for the repair of Chickamauga Lock in Tennessee. Within this amount, such funds as are necessary may be expended on studies associated with the repair work, including assessments, evaluations, or analyses of the existing lock. The conference agreement deletes language proposed by the House making the appropriation for Chickamauga Lock subject to authorization.

The conference agreement deletes language contained in the Senate bill providing funds for the Ponce DeLeon Inlet, Florida, project. The amount appropriated for Operation and Maintenance, General includes $4,000,000 for this project.

The conference agreement deletes language contained in the Senate bill providing funds for the Delaware River, Philadelphia to the Sea, Pea Patch Island, Delaware and New Jersey, project. The amount appropriated for Operation and Maintenance, General includes $750,000 for this project.

The conference agreement deletes language contained in the Senate bill providing funds for the Yaquina Bay and Harbor, North Marina Breakwater, Oregon, project. The amount appropriated for Operation and Maintenance, General includes $1,069,000 for this project.

The conference agreement deletes language proposed by the Senate making available $460,000 for the Omaha District to pay pending takings claims for flooding of property adjacent to the Missouri River. The conferees direct the Corps of Engineers to expeditiously process such claims and make prompt payment upon their disposition by settlement, adjudication, arbitration, or administrative process.

The conference agreement also deletes language proposed by the Senate providing funding for the Missouri River Between Fort Peck Dam and Gavins Point, South Dakota and Montana, project. The amount appropriated for Operation and Maintenance, General includes $3,000,000 for this project.

The conference agreement includes language proposed by the Senate which provides that none of the funds appropriated in the Act shall be used for the purpose of acquiring land in Jasper County, South Carolina, in connection with the Savannah Harbor navigation project. The conference agreement deletes language proposed by the Senate providing funds to reimburse the Tri-Cities Power Authority for the reevaluation study of the Bluestone lake, West Virginia, project.

The conference agreement includes language directing the Secretary of the Army to undertake maintenance and repairs on the Allegheny River, Pennsylvania, project, using $6,000,000 provided in Public Law 105-62 for extending the navigation channel on the Allegheny River, Pennsylvania, project to provide passenger boat access to the Kittanning, Pennsylvania, Riverfront Park.

REGULATORY PROGRAM

The conference agreement appropriates $106,000,000 for the Regulatory Program as proposed by the Senate instead of $110,000,000 as proposed by the House.

The conference agreement deletes language proposed by the Senate providing funding for the National Contaminated Sediment Task Force.

FORMERLY UTILIZED SITES REMEDIAL ACTION PROGRAM

(INCLUDING TRANSFER OF FUNDS)

The conference agreement appropriates $140,000,000 for the Formerly Utilized Sites Remedial Action Program (FUSRAP) as proposed by both the House and the Senate, and adopts with modifications the statutory provisions proposed by the Senate. The modifications to the language clarify the authority of the Corps of Engineers as the lead Federal agency; permit the use of recovered or contributed funds for credit in the FUSRAP account and use on projects; and permit the Department of Energy to continue to make payments in lieu of taxes for Federally-owned property where FUSRAP activities are conducted.

GENERAL EXPENSES

The conference agreement appropriates $148,000,000 for General Expenses as proposed by the House and the Senate.

The conference agreement includes language proposed by the House making funding specifically available for headquarters support functions at the USACE Finance Center. The conference agreement deletes language proposed by the House prohibiting the use of funds to support an office of congressional affairs within the executive office of the Chief of Engineers. The conference agreement deletes language proposed by the Senate making funds available for the implementation of a plan to reduce the number of division offices of the Corps of Engineers.

The conferees are aware of a Defense Finance and Accounting Service initiative to assume the finance and accounting support functions which are now performed by the U.S. Corps of Engineers Finance and Accounting Center in Memphis, Tennessee. Because more than ninety-five percent of the Corps-wide operating budget is project funded, active oversight of accounting for operational and project costs is necessary to achieve maximum efficiency for project customers. To this end, the conferees are committed to the highest possible levels of finance and accounting support for the Corps.

The Corps must continue to be a competitive engineering service provider, which necessitates full integration of financial and other business processes. This can be achieved only by retaining all of its finance and accounting activities at a central location: the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers Finance and Accounting Center. To ensure that the proposed capitalization by the Defense Finance and Accounting Service fully recognizes Corps missions and responsibilities, the Chief of Engineers is directed to report to the Committees on Appropriations on the progress of capitalization once detailed plans have been formulated.

REVOLVING FUND

The conference agreement deletes language proposed by the Senate which permits the Corps of Engineers to use amounts in the Revolving Fund for an addition to the Alaska District's main office building on Elmendorf Air Force Base and which directs that the Revolving Fund shall be reimbursed from the benefitting appropriations by collections each year of user fees sufficient to repay the capital cost of the asset and to operate and maintain the asset. The conferees understand that the language is no longer required.

The conference agreement includes language proposed by the Senate authorizing the Secretary of the Army to use amounts in the Revolving Fund for activities associated with the relocation of the headquarters of the Corps of Engineers and requiring that the Revolving Fund be appropriately reimbursed.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

CORPS OF ENGINEERS—CIVIL

SEC. 101. The conference agreement includes a provision proposed by the Senate directing the Secretary of the Army, acting through the Chief of Engineers, to undertake work funded in the conference agreement using continuing contracts and providing that no fully allocated funding policy shall apply to projects for which funds are provided in the conference agreement.

SEC. 102. The conference agreement includes language proposed by the Senate providing that none of the funds made available in the conference agreement may be used to revise the Missouri River Master Water Control Manual if such revision provides for an increase in the springtime water release program during the spring heavy rainfall and snow melt period in states that have rivers draining into the Missouri River below the Gavins Point Dam.

Provision not included in the conference agreement.—The conference agreement deletes language proposed by the Senate authorizing and directing the Secretary of the Army to provide planning, design, and construction assistance to non-Federal interests in carrying out water related environmental infrastructure and environmental resources development projects in the State of Alaska and earmarking $5,000,000 for such activities.

TITLE II

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR
CENTRAL UTAH PROJECT

CENTRAL UTAH PROJECT COMPLETION ACCOUNT

The conference agreement appropriates $42,500,000 to carry out the provisions of the Central Utah Project Completion Act instead of $40,948,000 as proposed by the House and $44,948,000 as proposed by the Senate. The amount above the budget request is for Central Utah Project construction.

BUREAU OF RECLAMATION

The summary tables at the end of this title set forth the conference agreement with respect to the individual appropriations, programs, and activities of the Bureau of Reclamation. Additional items of conference agreement are discussed below.

WATER AND RELATED RESOURCES

The conference agreement appropriates $617,045,000 for Water and Related Resources instead of $596,254,000 as proposed by the House and $671,869,000 as proposed by the Senate.

The conference agreement includes $45,990,000 for the Central Arizona Project. The conferees direct that $3,718,000 of the reduction below the budget request be distributed as described in the House report.

The conferees understand that the Department of the Interior has not responded to a request for exemption from the Reclamation Reform Act of 1982 submitted by the Harquahala Valley Irrigation District. The managers urge the Department to respond to this request as expeditiously as possible.

The conference agreement includes $4,900,000 for the American River Division of the Central Valley Project for the Placer County Water Agency permanent replacement pumping facility.

The conference agreement includes $2,250,000 for the Delta Division of the Central Valley Project for construction of the fish screen at the Contra Costa Canal intake at Rock Slough.

Of the amount provided for Miscellaneous Project Programs, Central Valley Project, $5,000,000 is for Refuge Water Supply.

The conference agreement includes $13,776,000 for resources management and development activities of the Sacramento River Division of the Central Valley Project. The conferees that the amount above the budget request be distributed as follows: an addition of $850,000 for the integrated resources management program of the Colusa Basin Drainage District; an addition of $600,000 for the Hamilton City Pumping Plant of the Glenn Colusa Irrigation District; and $400,000 for the Winter-Run Chinook Salmon Captive Broodstock Program.

The conference agreement includes $200,000 in final year funding for the Walker River Basin, Nevada, project.

The conference agreement includes $2,100,000 for the Upper Rio Grande Basin Water Management and Technical Assistance Program in New Mexico. Of this amount, $2,000,000 is for the confirmatory well drilling program described in the Senate report.

The conference agreement includes $200,000 for a feasibility study of the Curry and Roosevelt County portion of the Ute Reservoir Pipeline project.

The conference agreement includes $15,248,000 for the Endangered Species Recovery Implementation program. Of this amount, $700,000 is for endangered species recovery activities in the San Juan River Basin.

The conference agreement includes $6,000,000 for the Reclamation Recreation Management (Title XXVIII) program. Of this amount, $2,500,000 is for projects in Colorado, including the Bonny Reservoir Project; $2,000,000 is for recreation facility improvements in New Mexico, as described in the Senate report; and $1,500,000 is for the Yuma West Wetlands Restoration project.

The conferees have not provided funding for the proposed Unscheduled Maintenance program. The conferees note, however, that generous funding has been provided for facilities operations, maintenance and rehabilitation for Bureau projects throughout the West. The conferees expect the Bureau to efficiently manage these resources and to reorder priorities and utilize its existing reprogramming authority to address unanticipated needs as they arise.

The conferees are aware that, contrary to the Department of the Interior's budget justification, the Department has failed to finalize an implementation plan for the Anadromous Fish Restoration Plan (AFRP) in fiscal year 1999. The conferees believe that the activities carried out under the AFRP should be based on sound science and carried out in a manner that is consistent with and complementary to the activities being undertaken by the CALFED program. Further, without such an implementation plan, the conferees are unable to determine whether or not the activities proposed to be carried out under the AFRP are ecologically justified as well as reasonable and prudent. The conferees direct the Department to provide the relevant committees of the House and Senate, as soon as possible the Department's AFRP implementation plan and an explanation of how each activity expected to be undertaken with funds appropriated in fiscal year 1999 is consistent with such implementation plan.

The Department is directed to conform to the following reprogramming guidelines. The Bureau is permitted to transfer, without prior Congressional approval and without regard to percentage limitation, not more than $5,000,000 in any one case to provide adequate funds for settled contractor claims, increased contractor earnings due to accelerated rates of operations, and real estate deficiency judgments, provided that such reprogramming is necessary to discharge legal obligations of the Bureau of Reclamation.

As to each project within the Resources Management and Development category for which $2,000,000 or more is available at the beginning of the fiscal year, the Bureau is permitted to transfer to such project in that fiscal year no more than fifteen percent of the amount available at the beginning of the fiscal year for such project, without prior Congressional approval. As to each project within the Resources Management and Development category for which less than $2,000,000 is available at the beginning of the fiscal year, the Bureau is permitted to transfer to such project no more than $300,000 in that fiscal year without prior Congressional approval.

The Bureau if further permitted to transfer funds within the Facility Operation, Maintenance and Rehabilitation category without prior Congressional approval and without regard to percentage or dollar limitation.

The Bureau may not transfer, without prior Congressional approval, more than $500,000 from either the Facilities Operation, Maintenance and Rehabilitation category or the Resources Management and Development category to any project in the other category. The Bureau is prohibited from initiating any program, project or activity through an internal reprogramming action.

The conference agreement includes language proposed by the House and Senate providing that, of the total amount provided for Water and Related Resources, $25,800,000 shall be derived by transfer of unexpended balances from the Bureau of Reclamation Working Capital Fund.

The conference agreement includes language providing for the transfer of $45,990,000 to the Lower Colorado River Basin Development Fund instead of $49,908,000 as proposed by the House and $46,218,000 as proposed by the Senate.

The conference agreement includes language proposed by the Senate providing that funds available for expenditure for the Departmental Irrigation Drainage Program may be expended for site remediation on a non-reimbursable basis.

The conference agreement includes language proposed by the Senate to increase the authorized level of appropriations for Indian municipal, rural, and industrial features of the Garrison Unit Diversion project.

The conference agreement includes language proposed by the Senate providing $3,600,000 to complete the McCall Area Wastewater Reclamation and Reuse, Idaho, project.

The conference agreement deletes language proposed by the Senate providing funding to study measures to increase the efficiency of existing water systems developed to serve sugar cane plantations and surrounding communities in the State of Hawaii. Funding for such a study has been included in the General Investigations account of the Corps of Engineers.

The conference agreement deletes language proposed by the Senate waiving the scheduled annual payments for fiscal years 1998 and 1999 under section 208 of Public Law 100-202.

The conference agreement includes language providing $2,800,000 for the Tooele Wastewater Treatment and Reuse Project.

BUREAU OF RECLAMATION LOAN PROGRAM
ACCOUNT

The conference agreement appropriates $8,421,000 for the Bureau of Reclamation Loan Program Account instead of $12,425,000 as proposed by both the House and the Senate.

CENTRAL VALLEY PROJECT RESTORATION FUND

The conference agreement appropriates $33,130,000 for the Central Valley Project Restoration Fund as proposed by the House instead of $39,500,000 as proposed by the Senate.

The conference agreement includes language proposed by both the House and Senate which directs the Bureau of Reclamation to assess and collect the full amount of the additional mitigation and restoration payments authorized by section 3407(d) of Public Law 102-575.

CALIFORNIA BAY-DELTA ECOSYSTEM

TITLE III

DEPARTMENT OF ENERGY

The summary tables at the end of this title set forth the conference agreement with respect to the individual appropriations, programs, and activities of the Department of Energy. Additional items of conference agreements are discussed below.

REPROGRAMMINGS

The conference agreement does not provide the Department of Energy with any internal reprogramming flexibility in fiscal year 1999 unless specifically identified by the House, Senate, or conference agreement. Any reallocation of new or prior year budget authority or prior year deobligations must be submitted to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations in advance in writing and may not be implemented prior to approval by the Committees.

DEPARTMENT OF ENERGY CONSTRUCTION STANDARDS

The Department is directed to ensure that all nuclear facilities for which construction begins in the year 2000 and beyond, with the exception of those defense nuclear facilities and naval reactor facilities deemed by the Secretary of Energy to be critical to national security needs, are constructed in accordance with Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) licensing standards. The Department should ensure that this requirement does not result in a program requirement to meet two separate sets of standards (both DOE and NRC), but should ensure a smooth transition for meeting NRC standards.

DEPARTMENT OF ENERGY REPORTING REQUIREMENTS

The conferees agree with the House report language which directs the Department to take certain actions and provide to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations reports on the computer security and year 2000 computer problem, the Department of Energy organizational structure, the functional support cost system, and augmenting Federal staff.

CONTRACTOR TRAINING

The conferees agree with the House report language on excessive contractor training costs. The conferees are also aware of a recent Inspector General report indicating that the Department was not acquiring hazardous materials training in the most cost-effective manner. The conferees direct the Department to use the most cost-effective alternatives available to meet all training needs at Departmental sites.

INAPPROPRIATE USE OF APPROPRIATED FUNDS

Both the House and Senate included language citing the inappropriate use of funds by the Department. In response to congressional concerns, the Department conducted an internal review entitled: A Review of the Department of Energy's Discretionary Financial Assistance Programs which was prepared by the Deputy Assistant Secretary for Procurement and Assistance Management. This September 1997 report documented various shortcomings in the Department's procedures for awarding funds to certain outside groups, particularly to certain groups funded by the Office of Energy Efficiency and Renewable Energy. The conferees support the recommendations of the Department's report including the introduction of merit review and competitive procedures, and education of Department employees, contractors and financial recipients with regard to lobbying restrictions. All of these concerns have also been documented in a separate report prepared by the investigative staff of the Committee on Appropriations of the House of Representatives. The conferees commend the Department for taking an interest in these long-standing problems and fully support the Department's internal efforts to correct procedures and improve management of these programs.

After careful consideration of the House and Senate positions, the conferees have decided that the following language should guide the Department of Energy's work with industry associations. The conferees conclude that, as a general rule, appropriated funds should not be used to underwrite the operating expenses of industry associations. The restriction should not be broadly interpreted by the Department to prevent the Department from securing the services of an association for appropriate discrete tasks. In the funding of specific tasks carried out by industry associations, the Department is directed to use merit review procedures and to observe government-wide rules for financial assistance, including rules governing the payment of overhead expenses.

Financial assistance activities for information dissemination and outreach activities conducted by industry associations shall be competed, and these awards shall be processed by Headquarters Procurement Operations or the Chicago or Idaho Operations Offices. The Department is expected to make substantial progress in fiscal year 1999 in the use of broad area solicitations and other appropriate mechanisms to facilitate increased competition for discretionary financial assistance. Any non-competitive financial assistance awards in excess of $5,000 made by the Office of Energy Efficiency and Renewable Energy to trade associations or other not-for-profit groups for information dissemination or outreach activities from funds provided in this bill must be reviewed by the Assistant Secretary of Energy Efficiency and Renewable Energy. The Department shall apply these mechanisms to the extent practicable to any follow-on tasks or expansion of existing tasks under financial assistance agreements for information dissemination and outreach.

The conferees also share the Department's concerns about the structure of the Golden field office organization. In particular, the conferees are concerned about organizational arrangements under which contracting personnel report directly to project and administrative managers. While a "teaming" concept may be appropriate under certain circumstances, the conferees support the Department's statements that an independent financial assistance and contracting organization would provide clearer lines of authority and professional accountability to ensure sound grant processing and award decisions. Accordingly, the conferees direct that the financial assistance and contracting organization at the Golden field office be reorganized as an independent organization, separate from the organizations which it supports. This direction is consistent with the recommendation of the Department's procurement executive.

The conferees also support the Department's recommendation that the Department educate Department employees, contractors and recipients of Federal funds about statutory lobbying prohibitions. The conferees are very concerned about the lack of understanding of existing statutes including the Simpson-Craig amendment to the Lobbying Disclosure Act of 1995. This provision prohibits the award of Federal grants, contracts and financial assistance to 501(c)(4) organizations which engage in lobbying activities. The Department issued guidance in December 1997 to contractors and Departmental employees on lobbying prohibitions. The Department is directed to ensure that all program offices are aware of this guidance, and take all necessary steps to ensure its implementation.

COMPETING WITH PRIVATE SECTOR COMPANIES

The Department of Energy's laboratories are prohibited from competing with the private sector by numerous statutes and regulations including the Atomic Energy Act of 1954 and provisions in the Federal Acquisition Regulation regarding Federally Funded Research and Development Centers.

The conferees have received complaints that the Department of Energy has failed to enforce these provisions at the laboratories and other facilities, and that adequate recourse is not available to those that allege harm.

The conferees direct the Secretary of Energy to assess the statutory and regulatory limitations on laboratories and other Departmental entities allegedly competing with the private sector, and to ascertain what grievance mechanisms are available to the private sector. The Secretary is directed to provide this information to the Committees by March 1, 1999, and make such information readily available to the private sector.

GENERAL REDUCTIONS NECESSARY TO ACCOMMODATE SPECIFIC PROGRAM DIRECTIONS

In the event that specific program guidance contained in the House, Senate, or conference reports requires a general reduction of available funding, such reductions shall not be applied disproportionately against any program, project, or activity.

ENERGY SUPPLY

The conference agreement appropriates $727,091,000 instead of $882,834,000 as proposed by the House or $786,854,000 as proposed by the Senate. The conference report includes $3,000 for official reception and representation expenses for transparency activities as proposed by the House, instead of $25,000 as proposed by the Senate. The conference report has provided funding on an annual basis as recommended by the House instead of two-year funding as provided by the Senate. The conference report does not include bill language stipulating certain amounts for various solar and renewable programs as provided in the Senate bill. The conference report does not include the $1,500,000 provided in the Senate bill for expenses related to the U.S. membership in the Nuclear Energy Agency.

SOLAR AND RENEWABLE RESOURCES TECHNOLOGIES

The conference agreement appropriates $365,905,000 instead of $351,405,000 as proposed by the House or $415,292,000 as proposed by the Senate.

Solar Building technology research.—The conference agreement includes $2,900,000, instead of $2,200,000 as proposed by the House or $3,860,000 as proposed by the Senate. The conferees have provided $100,000 to improve computer models that predict the reliability of solar systems made of new materials. The remainder of the funds are provided for technology development.

Photovoltaic systems research and development.—The conference agreement includes $69,683,000 as proposed by the House instead of $75,849,000 as proposed by the Senate. The conferees have provided $2,883,000 for research to be managed by the Office of Science, the same as the amount in the budget request. Within the $66,800,000 provided to the Office of Energy Efficiency and Renewable Energy, the conferees have provided $27,000,000 for advanced materials and devices, $16,000,000 for systems engineering and reliability, $11,000,000 for fundamental research, $9,000,000 for manufacturing research and development and $1,500,000 for the PV Building Opportunities program. Within available funds, the conferees have included $1,500,000 to support ongoing photovoltaic research done by the Southeast and Southwest regional experiment stations. The conferees agree with the observations made in the House report, but have not included a prohibition regarding the Department's participation in the Million Solar Roofs Initiative. The conferees have included $1,500,000 for work on financing mechanisms, measurement and evaluation, technical standards and infrastructure such as net metering capability in support of the partnership.

Solar thermal energy systems.—The conference agreement includes $17,000,000, instead of $17,100,000 as proposed by the House or $21,618,000 as proposed by the Senate. The conferees have provided $5,500,000 for thermal systems research, $5,000,000 for dish/engine development, $3,200,000 for power tower development, $1,000,000 for the SOLMAT initiative and $1,000,000 for systems and markets/industrial assistance. The conferees direct that the Department submit its plan to complete its participation in the Solar Two project with submission of the fiscal year 2000 budget request.

Biomass/biofuels research and developments.—The conference agreement includes $99,949,000, instead of $100,799,000 as proposed by the House or $104,033,000 as proposed by the Senate. The conferees have provided $27,199,000 for research to be managed by the Office of Science, the same as the amount in the budget request.

The conference agreement includes $31,000,000 for power systems of which $15,000,000 is provided for rural development, $2,500,000 is provided for co-firing biomass with coal, $750,000 for the Plumas county ethanol project, and $1,000,000 is provided for demonstration of black liquor gasification. The recommendation includes $41,750,000 for transportation of which $4,000,000 is included for the Sacramento Valley ethanol project. The conference agreement also includes $1,750,000 for the Gridley project which, combined with amounts provided in previous fiscal years, results in a total of $5,000,000 available for the Gridley project. The conferees urge the Department to complete the Jennings, Louisiana, plant and Vermont gasifier projects as agreed upon with its partners.

The conference agreement includes $300,000 for the Vermont methane energy production proposal and $100,000 to evaluate the amount, distribution and best method of extraction and utilization of methane gas from the Sunrise Mountain landfill in Nevada.

The recommendation also includes $2,500,000 for the Consortium for Plant Biotechnology Research, $4,600,000 for feedstock development and $2,500,000 for regional biomass each of which is to be equally derived from the power systems and transportation programs. The conferees have also provided $3,000,000 for accelerated demonstration of Federally-sponsored research for renewable energy production and environmental remediation projects at the Michigan Biotechnology Institute. The Institute will work with the Department to identify and manage projects related to the mission of the Office of Energy Efficiency and Renewable Energy. Proposals will be subject to merit review and competition.

Wind energy research and development.—The conference agreement includes $33,483,000, as proposed by the House, instead of $38,548,000 as proposed by the Senate. The conferees have provided $283,000 for research to be managed by the Office of Science, the same as the amount in the budget request. Within the $33,200,000 provided to the Office of Energy Efficiency and Renewable Energy, $10,700,000 is for applied research, $16,400,000 is for turbine research, $3,000,000 is for industry support and utility analysis, $1,300,000 is for operations at the National Wind Technology Center; and a minimum of $1,700,000, the amount requested, is for certification and standards activities. The conferees have been assured that the certification program will be in place in fiscal year 1999. The conferees welcome the attainment of one of the goals of the wind energy program. In the event that funding requirements for certification exceed the amount requested, the Department may reduce funding for other non-Energy Research wind activities to supplement the $1,700,000 provided for certification.

Renewable energy production incentive.—The conference agreement includes $4,000,000, as proposed by the Senate instead of $5,000,000 as proposed by the House.

Solar program support.—The conference agreement does not include funding for this new spending program proposed by the Administration. This is consistent with the proposal of the House. The Senate proposed $7,000,000 for this program. The conferees have provided $1,500,000 for electricity restructuring activities as part of the amount provided below for program direction.

International solar energy.—The conference agreement includes $3,750,000 instead of $500,000 as proposed by the House or $5,088,000 as proposed by the Senate. Within this amount, $2,500,000 is exclusively for the U.S. Initiative on Joint Implementation. Of this amount, $1,250,000 is to be provided expeditiously to International Utility Efficiency Partnerships, Inc. (IUEP). IUEP shall competitively award projects continuing its leadership role in reducing carbon dioxide emissions using market-based mechanisms. The Department shall consolidate any international projects funded from other solar programs under the $1,250,000 provided for joint implementation activities to be managed by the Department.

No funds provided in this or any prior Act are to be made available for the America's 21st Century or CORECT programs. The conferees have also provided $1,250,000 for the Federal Energy Technology Center for design and siting analysis for an electron scrubbing demonstration project.

Solar technology transfer.—The conference agreement does not include funding for this new spending program proposed by the Administration. This is consistent with the proposal of the House. The Senate proposed $680,000 for this program.

National Renewable Energy Laboratory (NREL).—The conference agreement includes $2,000,000 as proposed by the House instead of $5,000,000 as proposed by the Senate. The conferees have provided $1,000,000 for infrastructure and general purpose equipment. The remaining $1,000,000 is to be made available following submission of a program plan by the winner of the competition for the management and operating contract at NREL.

Geothermal technology development.—The conference agreement includes $28,500,000 instead of $27,500,000 as proposed by the House or $31,250,000 as proposed by the Senate. The conferees have provided $11,000,000 for exploration and production technology, $5,000,000 for drilling technology and $6,000,000 for energy conversion technology.

The conferees have provided $6,500,000 for the geothermal heat pump deployment program as proposed by the House, a $5,500,000 increase over the amount proposed by the Senate. The conferees note that fiscal year 1999 is the last year of funding for this program.

Hydrogen research and development.—The conference agreement includes $24,008,000 instead of $18,008,000 as proposed by the House or $32,008,000 as proposed by the Senate. The conferees have provided $3,008,000 for research to be managed by the Office of Science, the same as the amount in the budget request. The conferees have provided $2,225,000 for the Hydrogen Fuel Cell Power and Refueling Station in Nevada and $350,000 for the Montana Trade Port Authority in Billings, Montana, to complete a resource assessment and feasibility study on construction of a solid waste hydrogen fuel cell manufacturing facility. The conference agreement does not include the Senate proposal to provide $250,000 for gasification of switchgrass for use in fuel cells.

Hydropower.—The conference agreement includes $2,000,000 as proposed by the House instead of $4,000,000 as proposed by the Senate and an increase of $1,250,000 over the amount provided last year. The amount provided is exclusively for cost-shared research and development of "fish-friendly" turbines.

Renewable Indian energy resources.—The conference agreement includes $3,500,000 instead of $4,000,000 as proposed by the Senate or no funds as proposed by the House. The conferees have provided $1,000,000 for the Pyramid Creek hydroelectric project, $1,000,000 for a diesel backup system at Sitka, Alaska; $1,000,000 for the Power Creek hydroelectric project and $500,000 for hydroelectric and transmission projects partially funded in fiscal year 1998.

Electric energy systems and storage.—The conference agreement includes $39,500,000 instead of $38,000,000 as proposed by the House or $42,500,000 as proposed by the Senate. The conferees have provided $32,500,000 for high-temperature superconducting research and development, $4,500,000 for energy storage systems and $2,500,000 to support a national laboratory/utility industry partnership to conduct research on reliability of the nation's electricity infrastructure including the impact of electricity restructuring on safety and reliability.

Federal buildings/remote power initiative.—The conference agreement includes $4,000,000 instead of $5,000,000 as proposed by the House and Senate. The conferees understand that the Department has been successful in identifying and funding proposals that met the criteria established last year by the Congress. The conferees direct that the funding for these programs be equally divided. Projects funded under the remote power and Federal buildings programs are required to meet a twenty-five year payback period.

Program direction.—The conference agreement includes $17,100,000 instead of $15,600,000 as proposed by the House or $16,326,000 as proposed by the Senate. The Office of Energy Efficiency and Renewable Energy continues to lead the Department in the ratio of salaries and expenses to program dollars. All funding for support service contractors and Assistant Secretary/cross-cutting activities is provided in program direction. The conference agreement includes $1,500,000 for electricity restructuring activities. The Department is directed to prepare and submit a program plan to the Committees on Appropriations describing this new program. The proposal should identify a discrete role the Department would play that would not be duplicative of services provided by the private sector, state governments or other Federal agencies. Within the amount provided, the conferees have included funds for technical assistance to states undergoing restructuring, including $150,000 in support of restructuring activities of the California Energy Commission. The conferees support the Department's efforts to continue its work with electric utilities to facilitate voluntary, cost-effective means to reduce emissions from power generation and approve the use of limited funding from program direction for this purpose.

NUCLEAR ENERGY

The conference agreement appropriates $283,966,000 instead of $227,769,000 as proposed by the House or $308,662,000 as proposed by the Senate. The conferees have provided $19,000,000 for the nuclear energy research initiative instead of $24,000,000 as recommended by the Senate or $5,000,000 as recommended by the House. The conferees have not included funding for the nuclear energy plant optimization program for which the Senate provided $10,000,000 and the House provided no funds.

Advanced radioisotope power systems.—The conference agreement includes $37,000,000 instead of $40,500,000 as provided by the Senate and $35,000,000 as provided by the House. The conferees continue to be concerned about the lack of interest the Department has shown in streamlining management, reducing the infrastructure, and reducing the extensive level of support service contractors in this program. The Department is directed to prepare a plan to streamline and reduce costs for this program. The plan is to be included with the fiscal year 2000 budget request.

University reactor fuel assistance and support.—The conference agreement includes $11,000,000 instead of $10,000,000 as provided by the Senate and $12,000,000 as provided by the House. The conferees have provided $4,500,000 for the nuclear engineering education research grant program and $1,000,000 each for the university graduate fellowship and industry matching programs. The conferees note that the Department has recommended a 50% increase for Historically Black Colleges and Universities over the amount set aside in fiscal year 1997 and a new start to begin a pre-college nuclear science and technology program. The conferees include funding for these two programs at the same levels provided in fiscal year 1997.

Termination costs.—The conference agreement provides $85,000,000 instead of $81,150,000 as recommended by the House or no funding under this heading as recommended by the Senate. The Senate provided funding for these activities in two other budget lines: Facilities and Nuclear technology research and development. The conference agreement provides funding for these activities consistent with how funds have been provided in fiscal year 1998. The conferees have provided a total of $45,000,000 for electrometallurgical-related activities including $20,000,000 for nuclear technology research and development.

Fast Flux Test Facility.—The conference agreement includes a new line item for this facility. The conferees have provided $30,000,000 instead of $31,200,000 recommended by the House in the Non-Defense Environmental Management account or $28,100,000 recommended by the Senate in the Facilities program included in the Energy Supply account.

Uranium programs.—The conference agreement includes $49,000,000 instead of $53,518,000 as proposed by the House or $55,362,000 as proposed by the Senate. The recommendation reflects the elimination of increases requested in the budget request and acceptance of decreases.

The conferees urge the Secretary to implement a program to begin the stabilization and disposal of depleted uranium hexafluoride stockpiles located at the Paducah, Kentucky, and Portsmouth, Ohio gaseous diffusion plants, and at Oak Ridge, Tennessee. The conferees urge the Secretary of Energy to develop a plan consistent with the intent of Public Law 105-204.

The conferees are aware that the Department has signed a memorandum of agreement with the United States Enrichment Corporation (USEC) to transfer $50,000,000 from USEC in the exchange for accepting the disposal of depleted uranium hexafluoride stockpiles, and an additional $16,000,000 to cover the costs of storing USEC-generated depleted uranium hexafluoride canisters. The conferees direct the Secretary to provide the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations with an accounting of how the Department intends to use this additional funding within 90 days of enactment of this legislation.

The conference agreement does not include language proposed by the House requiring submission of a report on the status of safe-guards at the gaseous diffusion plants.

Isotope support.—The conference agreement includes $21,500,000 instead of $14,000,000 as proposed by the House or $22,450,000 as proposed by the Senate. The Department is directed to submit its plan for privatizing the molybdenum-99 production activities to the Committees on Appropriations no later than December 31, 1998.

Program direction.—The conferees have provided $24,700,000 which includes all direct and indirect funding for Office of Nuclear Energy employees, including those transferred to the Office of Nonproliferation and National Security. The conferees have included $3,700,000 for all support service contracts in accordance with Departmental budget rules. The conferees have not stipulated the amount to be provided for employees transferred to the Office of Nonproliferation and National Security.

The conferees note that the Department has requested $1,005,000 for travel which represents approximately $5,500 per employee of the Office of Nuclear Energy. The conferees believe this amount to be excessive. In particular, the conferees are concerned about the unprecedented level of travel undertaken by the current Director of International Nuclear Safety Programs (formerly the Director of Nuclear Energy). The conferees have not included any travel funds for the Director in fiscal year 1999. Any changes to the amounts provided require submission and approval of a reprogramming request.

ENVIRONMENT, SAFETY AND HEALTH

The conference agreement includes $50,398,000 instead of $46,000,000 recommended by the House or $56,000,000 recommended by the Senate. The conferees have reduced the funding for support service contractors by $5,000,000 instead of $10,000,000 recommended by the House or no reduction as recommended by the Senate.

The Department is currently conducting pilot projects to determine the impacts of external regulation on various facilities. However, several of the pilot projects have included only the Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) and not the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) or affected State and local authorities. Since there are many issues involving the interface between NRC and OSHA and other State and local authorities as well as with DOE, the usefulness of these pilots to determine the full impacts of external regulation is limited. The Department is directed to include all affected regulatory authorities in all future pilot projects. The conferees have provided funding to support OSHA participation in these pilot projects.

ENERGY SUPPORT ACTIVITIES

Technical information management program.—The conference agreement includes $8,600,000 instead of $9,100,000 as proposed by the House or $8,100,000 as proposed by the Senate.

Transfer of funds to the Occupational Safety And Health Administration.—The conference agreement includes $1,000,000 to be transferred to the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) for conducting pilot programs and other activities necessary to simulate the transition of regulatory authority over occupational safety and health at DOE facilities to OSHA.

With the funding provided, OSHA is to participate in all DOE external regulation pilot projects. OSHA has declined to participate in several of the earlier pilot projects due to limited resources. This has severely limited the usefulness of the pilots.

Field offices.—The conference agreement provides $104,127,000 instead of $85,000,000 as proposed by the House or $95,000,000 as proposed by the Senate. The conferees have provided funding for Federal employees at the Idaho field office in this account as proposed by the Senate.

Oak Ridge landlord.—The conference agreement includes $11,000,000 as proposed by the House instead of $12,500,000 as proposed by the Senate. The reduction from the budget request reflects the availability of $1,500,000 as a result of the reprogramming approved by the Committees on Appropriations on March 16, 1998.

FUNDING ADJUSTMENTS

The conference report includes two funding adjustments. The $47,905,000 adjustment represents the funding provided for renewable energy research programs managed by the Office of Energy Research and funded in the Science account. The conferees have included a prior year balance adjustment of $50,000,000 as proposed by the Senate instead of $31,535,000 as proposed by the House. The conferees have not included the general reduction of $10,795,000 as proposed by the Senate.

NON-DEFENSE ENVIRONMENTAL MANAGEMENT

The conference agreement appropriates $431,200,000 instead of $466,700,000 as proposed by the House and $418,254,000 as proposed by the Senate.

The conferees have provided funding for the Fast Flux Test Facility (FFTF) at Richland, Washington, in the Energy Supply account as proposed by the Senate, rather than in this account as proposed by the House.

The conference agreement provides an additional $5,700,000 to accelerate cleanup at the Brookhaven National Laboratory. The conferees are aware of several smaller sites and laboratories that could benefit from additional funds and urge the Department to seek additional funding in fiscal year 2000 to accelerate the cleanup of these sites.

URANIUM ENRICHMENT DECONTAMINATION AND DECOMMISSIONING FUND

The conference agreement appropriates $220,200,000 instead of $225,000,000 as proposed by the House and $196,827,000 as proposed by the Senate.

The conferees understand that an increase in the authorization for the Federal reimbursement for thorium mill tailings is necessary to raise the ceiling from $65,000,000 to $140,000,000. The conferees support this necessary increase in the Federal reimbursement for thorium mill tailings.

SCIENCE

The conference agreement appropriates $2,682,860,000 for Science instead of $2,399,500,000 as proposed by the House and $2,634,207,000 as proposed by the Senate. The conference agreement deletes language proposed by the Senate earmarking funds for the University of Nevada Las Vegas.

High energy physics.—The conference agreement provides $696,500,000 for high energy physics. This is the amount provided by the House and represents a $3,000,000 increase over the budget request for facilities operations and a $2,500,000 increase for research and technology over the amount requested by the Administration. The increase is provided for maximum use of university and laboratory-based user facilities.

Nuclear physics.—The conference agreement provides $335,100,000 for nuclear physics. This is the amount provided by the House and represents a $2,500,000 increase over the amount requested by the Administration. The increase is provided for maximum use of university and laboratory-based user facilities.

Biological and environmental research.—The conference agreement includes $443,600,000 instead of $405,900,000 as recommended by the House or $407,600,000 as recommended by the Senate. The conferees have included $3,000,000 in addition to the amount in the budget request for the low-dose effects program for which an additional $5,000,000 is provided in the Defense Environmental Management account. The conferees have provided $10,500,000 only for the Institute of Molecular Biology and Medicine, to continue microbial genomics research initiated in fiscal year 1998. The conferees have also provided $8,000,000 to Sacramento County as the Local Redevelopment Authority for medical research and educational development at the McClellan nuclear reactor center, in conjunction with the University of California—Davis.

The conferees have provided $1,000,000 for the Gallo Institute of the Cancer Institute of New Jersey for regional prostate cancer research, education and treatment initiatives to develop model outreach and early diagnosis and intervention strategies, focusing on one of the highest incidence regions in the nation and of prostate cancer in minority men. The conference agreement also includes $1,000,000 to begin planning for the marine mammal research and education center at the National Energy Laboratory in Hawaii. The conferees have also provided $2,500,000 for the bone marrow transplantation/radioimmunotherapy demonstration project at the City of Hope National Medical Center in California.

The conference report includes $10,000,000 for the creation of a program to develop technologies using advanced functional brain imaging methodologies, including magnetoencephalography, for conduct of basic research in mental illness and neurological disorders. The conference report includes $2,000,000 for the State University (New York), Stony Brook, to create a comprehensive cancer institute to serve as a focal point (in conjunction with regional cancer centers, the Brookhaven National Laboratory and the Cold Springs Harbor Laboratory) for a concentrated, multi-disciplinary approach to basic and clinical research, detection and molecular analysis of cancer, and development of new diagnostics and therapies targeting cancer. The conference report includes $1,000,000 for the design, planning and construction of an interdisciplinary science facility at the University of Alabama Tuscaloosa. The conference report includes $1,000,000 for the continued construction of the Highlands University Science Center in New Mexico. The conference report includes $7,000,000 to be evenly divided between the West Virginia University National Education and Technology Center and the University of South Carolina Medical Center to support the utilization of Positron Emission Tomography.

Basic energy sciences.—The conference agreement includes $809,100,000 instead of $779,100,000 as recommended by the House or $836,100,000 as recommended by the Senate. The conferees have included $7,000,000 for the Experimental Program to Stimulate Competitive Research, the same as the House-approved level and $3,000,000 less than the amount provided by the Senate. The conference agreement also includes $500,000 for research related to identification of trace element isotopes in environmental samples to be done at the University of Nevada Las Vegas.

Spallation Neutron Source.—The recommendation includes $130,000,000 to begin construction of a new spallation neutron source. The conferees have provided $101,400,000 for line-item construction costs and $28,600,000, the amount of the budget request, for related research and development. The total amount provided is a reduction of $27,000,000 from the budget request and an increase of $107,000,000 over the current fiscal year.

Computational and technology research.—The conference agreement includes $143,000,000 instead of $138,640,000 as recommended by the House or $150,000,000 as recommended by the Senate. The conferees support the House provision regarding funding for the Next Generation Internet initiative. However, the conferees have provided $5,000,000 more than the amount provided by the House for improved utilization of the Department's existing computing infrastructure. Funding is provided for unique Internet tools for technologies that will not be available in the commercial marketplace in any reasonable timeframe and to maintain existing connections to the university community that are supported in the present research network.

FUSION ENERGY SCIENCES

The conferees have provided a total of $229,750,000 for fusion energy sciences, a $1,590,000 increase over the amount in the budget request. The conference agreement includes $223,300,000 for the fusion energy sciences program. Funding for this program has been provided in the Science account as recommended by the Senate instead of the Energy Supply account as recommended by the House. The conferees have provided up to $6,450,000 for all program direction expenses related to the fusion program within the $49,800,000 provided in the Science account for program direction. The conferees note that the Department continues to emphasize tokamak development at the expense of other promising technologies. The conferees continue to be very supportive of the increased emphasis on innovative confinement concepts and university-based experiments. The conferees encourage the Secretary to provide sufficient resources for these efforts. In particular, special emphasis should be placed on funding operations, upgrades, and enhanced design work on both existing and proposed alternative concept experiments at the proof-of-principle level, including an increase for inertial confinement.

International Thermonuclear Experimental Reactor (ITER).—The conferees note that the ITER agreement expired on July 21, 1998. For the past several years, Congress has been clear that the U.S. commitment to ITER extended only through fiscal year 1998. The Department is directed not to sign an extension of this agreement without the written consent of the authorizing and appropriations committees of the House and Senate. The conferees understand and support the value of international collaboration. The Department is encouraged to consider the possibility of utilizing the existing international fusion center in San Diego in future collaborations.

The conferees note that the description of ITER and ITER-related activities in the budget request is not comparable to the classification of these activities in fiscal year 1998, but support the orderly completion of research and development of components that can be completed in fiscal year 1999. For example, the conferees fully expect the Department to meet its commitment to the delivery and testing of the central solenoid model coil.

The conferees have included $12,200,000 as directly related to completion of ITER-related activities, including funds to complete research and development in the base technology program and to provide for orderly ITER closeout costs. The Department must submit a reprogramming request if requirements exceed the $12,200,000 provided.

Tokamak Fusion Test Reactor (TFTR).—In fiscal year 1997, Congress terminated funding for the TFTR. The conferees note that TFTR has ceased operation and that many parts of the TFTR facility will be re-used for the new National Spherical Torus Experiment. Currently, the Department is spending approximately $4,000,000 annually for care-taking of the remaining TFTR components. The Department has no immediate plans for the decommissioning of the TFTR unit, proposing to continue care-taking expenses indefinitely. The conferees have been made aware of decommissioning proposals to complete decommissioning in three years, with estimated savings of $25,000,000. The conferees direct the Department to prepare a reasonable, timely and cost-effective decommissioning plan and to submit a plan to begin decommissioning in the fiscal year 2000 budget request. The Department shall consult with the Princeton Plasma Physics Laboratory throughout the development of this plan.

University and Science Education.—The conferees have adopted the House provision to provide funding for the Laboratory Cooperative, National Science Bowl and Albert Einstein Distinguished Educator Fellowships programs within the amount provided for program direction. Consistent with action taken over the last two fiscal years, the conferees have not included funding for grade school curriculum development programs and other education initiatives included in the Department of Energy's budget request. The conferees continue to support the various programs offered through the nation's laboratories. The conferees encourage the Department to seek opportunities to support work such as that performed by the Science and Technology Alliance.

PROGRAM DIRECTION

The recommendation is $49,800,000, instead of $43,100,000 as proposed by the House or $37,600,000 as proposed by the Senate. The conferees have provided $45,300,000 for standard program direction activities including up to $6,450,000 for salaries and expenses for the Office of Fusion Energy Sciences. The conferees have also provided an additional $4,500,000 to fund the Laboratory Cooperative, National Science Bowl, and Albert Einstein Distinguished Educator Fellowships programs as proposed by the House. The conferees take this action to establish a legitimate funding mechanism for these activities.

FUNDING ADJUSTMENTS

The conference agreement includes four funding adjustments. The $7,600,000 adjustment represents previously appropriated funds the Department has identified as surplus. The funds were provided as part of the closeout costs related to cancellation of the Superconducting Super Collider. The $13,500,000 adjustment represents an estimate of the policy-related work requested as part of the Climate Change Technology Initiative. This adjustment is to be made exclusively to the Basic Energy Sciences and Biological and Environmental Research programs. The conference agreement includes a $13,000,000 prior year balance adjustment as proposed by the Senate instead of no adjustment as proposed by the House. The conference agreement also includes a $5,700,000 general reduction. To the extent practicable, the conferees direct that general reductions are not applied to operation of user facilities. The conferees have not included the general reduction of $42,353,000 as proposed by the Senate.

NUCLEAR WASTE DISPOSAL

The conference agreement appropriates $169,000,000 instead of $160,000,000 as proposed by the House and $190,000,000 as proposed by the Senate. The conference agreement changes the name of this account to "Nuclear Waste Disposal", and provides $165,000,000 to be derived from the Nuclear Waste Fund to continue the repository program.

The conference agreement provides $4,000,000 to be appropriated from the General Fund for a civilian research and development program to conduct a study of accelerator transmutation of waste (ATW) technology. The Department is to establish, in coordination with its laboratories, a road map for the development of ATW technology. The road map should identify the technical issues that must be resolved, a proposed time schedule and program to resolve these issues, and the estimated cost of such a program. The road map should also consider and propose collaborative efforts with other countries developing ATW technology and other programs developing accelerator technology. In addition, the report should include an assessment of the institutional challenges of this program, the impact this technology could have on the civilian spent nuclear fuel program, areas of development which could have benefits to other ongoing programs, and the estimated capital and operational life cycle costs to treat civilian spent nuclear fuel.

The conference agreement includes $250,000 for the State of Nevada instead of $4,875,000 as proposed by the Senate and no funds as proposed by the House. This funding will be provided to the Department of Energy which will reimburse the State for actual expenditures on appropriate scientific oversight responsibilities conducted pursuant to the Nuclear Waste Policy Act of 1982. These funds may not be used for salaries and expenses for State employees in the oversight office.

The conference agreement includes $5,540,000 for affected units of local government as proposed by the Senate instead of no funds as proposed by the House. Funding for the affected local governments is to be allocated in the same proportion as was provided to each affected local government in fiscal year 1998.

The conference agreement includes $500,000 for the University of Nevada-Las Vegas to manage data from scientific studies of Yucca Mountain. No funds have been earmarked to study canister aging and corrosion. The conference agreement includes a 10 percent reduction from the budget request for the management and administrative support service contractors at the Yucca Mountain Office and Headquarters. The House had proposed reducing all support service contracts by 10 percent.

Consistent with the requirement in Public Law 104-206, the conferees reiterate the importance of the timely completion of the Viability Assessment of the Yucca Mountain site and expect the Department to provide this assessment to the President and Congress during 1998. The Viability Assessment is a significant prerequisite to the national decision to accept high-level radioactive waste and spent fuel at a Federal facility.

DEPARTMENTAL ADMINISTRATION

The conference agreement appropriates $200,475,000 for Departmental Administration instead of $175,365,000 as proposed by the House and $234,755,000 as proposed by the Senate. Funding of $37,627,000 is to be transferred to this account from Other Defense Activities. Revenues of $136,530,000 are estimated to be received in fiscal year 1999, resulting in a net appropriation of $63,945,000.

The conference agreement includes bill language proposed by the House providing additional amounts for cost of work for others provided that such increases are offset by revenue increases of the same or greater amount.

The conferees have provided $35,000 for official reception and representation expenses of the Department of Energy as proposed by the Senate instead of $5,000 as proposed by the House. The conferees expect the Department to be prudent in the use of these funds and to submit a report to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations providing a detailed description of each expenditure from this account in fiscal year 1999.

The conference agreement provides reprogramming authority of $500,000 or 5 percent, whichever is less, within the Departmental Administration account without submission of a reprogramming to be approved by the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations. No individual program account may be increased or decreased by more than this amount during the fiscal year using this reprogramming authority. This should provide the needed flexibility to manage this account. Congressional notification within 30 days of the use of this reprogramming authority is required. Transfers which would result in increases or decreases in excess of $500,000 or 5 percent to an individual program account during the fiscal year require prior notification and approval from the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations.

The conferees direct the Department to develop guidelines for its overseas employees based on the guidelines in effect for employees of the Department of State.

INSPECTOR GENERAL

The conference agreement appropriates $29,000,000 for the Inspector General instead of $29,500,000 as proposed by the House and $27,500,000 as proposed by the Senate.

WEAPONS ACTIVITIES

The conference agreement appropriates $4,400,000,000 instead of $4,142,100,000 as proposed by the House and $4,445,700,000 as proposed by the Senate.

The conference agreement includes language proposed by the Senate providing that funding for any ballistic missile defense program undertaken by the Department of Energy for the Department of Defense must be provided in accordance with procedures established for Work for Others by the Department of Energy.

Stockpile stewardship.—The conference agreement supports funding for activities in the core stockpile stewardship program with the following specific adjustments. The accelerated strategic computing initiative (ASCI) program has been reduced by $23,200,000 resulting in a total program level of $305,900,000. The agreement includes the additional $10,000,000 proposed by the House for the inertial fusion program to further development of high average power lasers.

Testing capabilities and readiness.—Up to $6,000,000 is available for continued development and procurement of a dual stage gas gun to be located at the Nevada Test Site. The conferees are aware of the memorandum of agreement between the Department and the Nevada university and community college system and urge the Department to find mutually beneficial projects which can be conducted under this agreement.

Technology transfer.—The conference agreement provides $45,000,000 for the technology transfer program. Any necessary program reductions should be applied proportionally.

Construction projects.—At the request of the Department, the conferees have reallocated $1,800,000 provided by the House and Senate for project 99-D-107, the joint computational engineering laboratory, to operating expenses for the accelerated strategic computing initiative. Construction of the laboratory is now planned to begin in fiscal year 2001.

The conference agreement provides a total of $15,000,000 for new construction projects in fiscal year 1999. The budget request for new construction starts was $25,300,000. The conferees acknowledge the need for some new construction funding, but remain concerned that the Department has not yet resolved its serious project management deficiencies. Thus, none of the funds may be obligated for a project until an independent assessment validating the cost and schedule for the specific project has been completed and provided to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations.

Stockpile management.—For core stockpile management activities, the conference agreement provides $1,986,803,000, which includes the following adjustments to the budget request. Additional funding of $6,500,000 is provided for handling uranium materials and infrastructure upgrades at the Y-12 plant in Oak Ridge, Tennessee; $12,000,000 is provided to support advanced manufacturing and other capital investment needs at the Kansas City plant; $17,500,000 is provided to support scheduled workload requirements and other stockpile management requirements at the Pantex plant in Amarillo, Texas; and $5,000,000 is provided to support infrastructure and maintenance needs at the Savannah River Site.

None of the funds provided for new construction project starts may be obligated until an independent assessment validating the cost and schedule for the specific project has been completed and provided to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations.

Tritium.—A total of $167,000,000, an increase of $10,000,000 over the budget request, is provided for continued research and development on a new source of tritium.

Program direction.—For program direction funding, the conference agreement provides $250,000,000, a reduction of $10,500,000 from the budget request. The conferees believe that further savings can be achieved through efficiencies from realignment efforts proposed in the Institute for Defense Analysis report on the Department's management structure for weapons activities. The conference agreement includes $7,000,000 for the Los Alamos schools and $3,000,000 for the Los Alamos Educational Foundation.

Funding adjustments.—The conference agreement includes the use of $82,536,000 of prior year balances instead of $305,436,000 as proposed by the House and $50,000,000 as proposed by the Senate.

DEFENSE ENVIRONMENTAL RESTORATION AND WASTE MANAGEMENT

The conference agreement appropriates $4,310,227,000 for Defense Environmental Restoration and Waste Management instead of $4,358,554,000 as proposed by the House and $4,293,403,000 as proposed by the Senate. Additional funding of $1,038,240,000 is contained in the Defense Facilities Closure Projects account and $228,357,000 in the Defense Environmental Management Privatization account, for a total of $5,576,824,000 provided for all defense environmental management activities.

Site/Project Completion.—The conference agreement provides $1,052,741,000 for sites and projects to be completed by 2006. The conference agreement provides an additional $5,000,000 to process tritium-contaminated heavy water currently being stored at the Savannah River Site. The conferees recognize the importance of this project and appreciate this innovative way of doing business. The conferees urge the Department to do what is necessary in future years to bring this project to a successful conclusion.

Funding of $5,000,000 has been provided for cleanup activities related to TA-21 at the Los Alamos National Laboratory. The Department is directed to prepare a detailed project plan for the cleanup of TA-21 project which includes the cost and schedule for each of the activities to be conducted, have the plan independently assessed, and submit the plan with the fiscal year 2000 budget request.

At the request of the Department, the conference agreement moves $4,512,000 from project 96-D-408, waste management upgrades, to project 93-D-187, high-level waste removal from waste tanks, at the Savannah River Site.

The conferees remain concerned about the high cost of temporary storage and management of low-level wastes that are ready for permanent disposal and believe that available technologies demonstrated and certified by the Department's Environmental Management program as cost-effective alternatives should, to the extent appropriate, receive priority funding to dispose of these wastes. The conferees are aware of the Department's efforts to replace costly programs like the Interim Waste Management Facilities for low-level mixed waste at Oak Ridge, Tennessee, and other sites, and encourage the Department to implement promptly replacement programs and alternatives.

Post 2006 Completion.—The conference agreement includes an additional $7,000,000 for research and treatment of high level waste at Idaho; $3,000,000 to support operational needs at the Waste Isolation Pilot Project; $5,000,000 to reimburse the State of New Mexico; $25,000,000 to support modifications to the Defense Waste Processing Facility in-tank precipitation process; and $15,000,000 for increased tank farm operations and reactor decommissioning at the Hanford site. The conference agreement also includes $5,500,000 for the hazardous materials management and emergency response training facility at Hanford.

The conference agreement does not include the proposal by the House for submission by the Department of a report on transportation of hazardous materials.

The conferees recognize that universities in South Carolina, Georgia, and Louisiana have provided valuable technological and research assistance to the Department's environmental cleanup program, and recommend that the Department continue using these institutions where possible.

The conference reports accompanying the fiscal year 1997 and 1998 Energy and Water Development Appropriations Acts urged the Department's Offices of Waste Management and Technology Development to undertake jointly research and development focused on higher risk, high pay-off modular in-can vitrification technology as an alternative or backup to achieve satisfactory cleanup results at a significantly lower cost. The conferees are aware of the Department's recent award of a contract in compliance with these recommendations and strongly urge the Department to continue to fund this important research and development work in fiscal year 1999 to ensure that its potential for lower cost cleanup may be determined at the earliest possible date.

The conference agreement includes $350,000 to cover the cost of an on-line tritium monitor for the City of Savannah, Georgia.

Health effects studies.—The conferees have provided $12,000,000 for worker and public health effects studies, instead of $15,000,000 as proposed by the House and $10,000,000 as proposed by the Senate. These funds are to be managed by the Office of Environment, Safety, and Health. Demands for funding by various groups to conduct worker and public health studies at each Department of Energy site are increasing. The conferees agree that all funding for Health and Human Services

(HHS) managed studies, either through the Center for Disease Control and Prevention or the Agency for Toxic Substances and Disease Registry shall be incorporated into a single memorandum of understanding with HHS, and that DOE and HHS will prepare a consolidated and coherent strategy which includes a public health agenda for each DOE site. All DOE-funded health studies and proposals shall be independently peer-reviewed, and consistent with the public health agenda for each site.

The conferees have deferred without prejudice funding to initiate the proposed Hanford Medical Monitoring program, but within the health effects studies funding have allocated $2,000,000 for the Department to initiate a public information and education program.

Science and Technology Development.—The conference agreement provides $247,000,000 for the technology development program including $8,500,000 to support the Department's efforts to deploy cost-effective new technologies. Deployment of new technologies is a strategic activity affecting virtually all environmental management programs and sites, and should be strongly supported as a complex-wide program, not another initiative established and maintained in isolation in the technology development organization.

The conferees urge the Department to continue research on hazardous materials in aquatic environments that supports the technology focus areas in mixed waste characterization, treatment, and disposal of subsurface contaminants.

The conference agreement includes $2,000,000 for the national pilot program for electronics recovery and recycling; up to $2,000,000 to use a technology that will safely and effectively destroy the asbestos removed from Federal facilities during the decontamination and decommissioning process; and $4,500,000 for the Diagnostic Instrumentation and Analysis Laboratory (DIAL).

Environmental science program.—The conference agreement provides $47,000,000 for the environmental basic research science program, an increase of $15,000,000 over the budget request which had included no funding for new proposals in fiscal year 1999. This increase includes $5,000,000 for proposals to determine the biological effects of exposure to low doses of ionizing radiation. These proposals are to be coordinated with the program being conducted by the Office of Energy Research.

Risk Policy.—The conference agreement includes $4,000,000 for the Consortium for Risk Evaluation and Stakeholder Participation (CRESP) and $2,000,000 for the Consortium for Environmental Risk Evaluation (CERE).

Program direction.—The conferees have provided $337,073,000 for the program direction account. The recommendation does not include the transfer of the Federal employees at the Idaho Operations Office. The reduction of $9,126,000 from the budget request should be applied to support service contracts, travel, and other lower priority activities at Headquarters and in the field.

Economic development.—The conference agreement maintains the current policy that no cleanup funds are to be used for economic development activities. The conferees have provided $29,900,000 in the worker and community transition program which was established and authorized to fund such activities, and expect all economic development activities to be funded from that program.

DEFENSE FACILITIES CLOSURE PROJECTS

The conference agreement appropriates $1,038,240,000 for the Defense Facilities Closure Projects account as proposed by the House instead of $1,048,240,000 as proposed by the Senate. The conferees expect the Department to request adequate funds to keep each of these projects on a schedule for closure by 2006.

DEFENSE ENVIRONMENTAL MANAGEMENT PRIVATIZATION

The conference agreement provides $228,357,000 for the environmental management privatization program instead of $286,857,000 as proposed by the House and $241,857,000 as proposed by the Senate. The conference agreement includes $100,000,000 for the tank waste remediation system (TWRS) project as proposed by the House. The remaining projects and the use of prior year balances are funded at the levels recommended by the Senate.

OTHER DEFENSE ACTIVITIES

The conference agreement appropriates $1,696,676,000 for Other Defense Activities instead of $1,761,260,000 as proposed by the House and $1,658,160,000 as proposed by the Senate. Details of the conference agreement are provided below.

NONPROLIFERATION AND NATIONAL SECURITY

The conference agreement provides $701,600,000 for nonproliferation and national security programs instead of $696,600,000 as proposed by the House and $696,300,000 as proposed by the Senate.

The conferees agree that the nonproliferation and verification research and development program currently executed at the nuclear weapons laboratories looks much like a static, generally unfocussed, level of effort research program. The conferees direct the Department to initiate an external review of the projects being conducted, their progress to date, and their value to the overall needs of the program.

The conferees have deleted the bill language included by the Senate for the Initiatives for Proliferation Prevention (IPP) program and the nuclear cities initiative. However, from within available funds and prior year balances, the conference agreement includes $25,000,000 for IPP and $15,000,000 for the nuclear cities initiative.

The conference agreement includes an additional $1,000,000 for a study of the vulnerabilities of security equipment; $2,000,000 for the procurement of safety locks to meet Federal specifications; and $500,000 for the continued development of the Raman spectroscopy technology.

No funds have been provided for development of the dielectric wall accelerator technology or for assistance to the Russian nuclear weapons dismantlement program to develop an emergency response capability.

Counterintelligence.—The conference agreement includes a total of $15,641,000 to support the Department's new counterintelligence program. This is an increase of $8,000,000 over the budget request. Needs in excess of this amount have been identified for computer security activities, but the conferees believe the Department should look to currently available computer resources to see if funds can be reallocated to these higher priority activities. If not, the Department should submit a reprogramming or supplemental budget request for fiscal year 1999.

Program direction.—The conference agreement provides $86,900,000 for the program direction account. Reductions should be applied to the use of management and administration support service contractors throughout the organization and lower priority activities. None of these funds may be used to support the employees transferred from the Nuclear Energy office in fiscal year 1999. All funding for these employees has been provided in the Nuclear Energy program direction account.

The conference agreement includes $600,000 for operation of the Department of Energy's

Moscow office. Collaborative efforts between the Department of Energy and the Russian Ministry of Atomic Energy on implementation of the Highly Enriched Uranium Agreement, plutonium disposition, and weapons dismantlement is one of the Department's highest priorities, and that effort should receive the full administrative support of the Department.

ENVIRONMENT, SAFETY AND HEALTH (DEFENSE)

The conference agreement provides $91,500,000 for defense-related environment, safety and health activities instead of $94,000,000 as proposed by the House and $89,000,000 as proposed by the Senate. The reduction of $2,500,000 from the budget request should be applied to the use of support service contractors.

The conferees have provided $53,456,000 for worker and public health effects studies to be managed by the Office of Environment, Safety, and Health. This amount includes the budget request of $41,456,000 in this account and $12,000,000 in the Defense Environmental Management program. The conferees agree that all funding for Health and Human Services (HHS) managed studies, either through the Center for Disease Control and Prevention or the Agency for Toxic Substances and Disease Registry shall be incorporated into a single memorandum of understanding with HHS, and that DOE and HHS will prepare a consolidated and coherent strategy which includes a public health agenda for each DOE site. The agencies are directed to report to the Committees on Appropriations on the status of the implementation of the public health agenda by December 31, 1998. The final public health agenda for each site shall be provided to the Committees no later than September 30, 1999. The conferees strongly endorse the concept of peer-reviewed health effects studies, and direct that all DOE-funded health studies shall be independently peer-reviewed, and consistent with the public health agenda for each site.

WORKER AND COMMUNITY TRANSITION

The conference agreement provides $29,900,000 for the worker and community transition program instead of $29,800,000 as proposed by the House and $40,000,000 as proposed by the Senate. Since there are no significant program funding decreases in the Department of Energy in fiscal year 1999, the conferees have reduced the funding allocated for enhanced severance benefits and local assistance grants. The conferees direct that no other Departmental funds be used to provide enhanced severance payments and other benefits under the provisions of Section 3161 of the National Defense Authorization Act of Fiscal Year 1993.

The conferees direct that none of the funds provided for this program be used for additional severance payments and benefits for Federal employees of the Department of Energy. Federal employees are covered by a multitude of laws which control employee benefits and protections during the downsizing of Federal agencies.

FISSILE MATERIALS DISPOSITION

The conference agreement provides the budget request of $168,960,000 for fissile materials disposition, but reallocates $5,000,000 from the pit disassembly and conversion facility project to operating expenses.

The conferees have not included the bill language proposed by the Senate earmarking $5,000,000 for a joint U.S.-Russian development program of advanced reactor technology to dispose of Russian excess weapons-derived plutonium. However, the conference agreement includes $5,000,000 for the joint U.S.-Russian development of gas reactor technology to dispose of excess weapons-derived plutonium. Of this funding, $2,000,000 is available for work to be performed in the United States by the Department of Energy and other U.S. contractors, and $3,000,000 is to be expended for work in Russia. The $3,000,000 shall be made available for work in Russia on the gas reactor technology on the condition and only to the extent that the Russian Federation matches these contributions with either comparable funding or contributions-in-kind.

The conferees have provided funds for this program in part because of the possibility that other countries will contribute to this effort. The conferees expect the Department and U.S. contractors to make every effort to gain commitments from other countries in this regard, and to seek private sector funding for continued future funding of this effort. Future support for this effort is contingent upon agreement on a U.S.-Russian agreement on the disposition of excess weapons-derived plutonium. The Department should report to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations at the end of fiscal year 1999 on the progress which has been made in this program, the status of the matching funds or in-kind contributions from the Russian Federation and other countries, and the success of efforts to procure private sector funding for this effort.

The conferees have deleted bill language proposed by the Senate which limited the design and procurement activities for the mixed oxide fuel fabrication facility. The Department of Energy should proceed with preparations for plutonium disposition to include the design and licensing of key disposition facilities as well as qualification of mixed oxide fuel. The United States, however, should not proceed unilaterally to dispose of excess plutonium without parallel progress on the Russian side. No funds have been provided to initiate actual construction of plutonium disposition facilities without such an agreement.

NUCLEAR ENERGY (DEFENSE)

Due to severe funding constraints, the conference agreement provides $30,000,000 for the international nuclear safety program to improve the safety of Soviet-designed nuclear reactors, a decrease of $5,000,000 from the budget request.

NATIONAL SECURITY PROGRAMS ADMINISTRATIVE SUPPORT

The conference agreement provides $37,627,000 for national security programs administrative support instead of $75,000,000 as proposed by the House and no funding as proposed by the Senate.

NAVAL REACTORS

The conference agreement provides $670,189,000, instead of $681,500,000 as proposed by the House and $665,500,000 as proposed by the Senate. An additional $4,689,000 over the budget request has been provided to continue test reactor inactivation efforts and environmental cleanup activities.

DEFENSE NUCLEAR WASTE DISPOSAL

The conference agreement provides $189,000,000 instead of $190,000,000 as proposed by the House and $185,000,000 as proposed by the Senate. Funding proposed by the Senate for the accelerator transmutation of waste program has been included in the non-defense portion of this bill.

POWER MARKETING ADMINISTRATIONS

ALASKA POWER ADMINISTRATION

The conference agreement does not include additional funding for the Alaska Power Administration as proposed by the House instead of $5,000,000 as proposed by the Senate. Unobligated balances of the Alaska Power Administration shall be available to pay any remaining obligations of the Administration.

The conferees encourage the Department to reprogram any further unobligated balances.

The managers expect more than just a perfunctory report to Congress on the asset sales. Basic factual information should include: final sales price, terms of the sale, and identification of assets sold, as well as copies of primary sales documents. In addition, the report should include information on unexpected problems encountered and how those problems were resolved, lessons learned that could have improved the asset sales process, and any information that might be relevant to similar asset sales. The managers expect to receive the report prior to the end of fiscal year 1999, as stipulated in the authorizing legislation.

BONNEVILLE POWER ADMINISTRATION

The conferees take no position on the extension of the current levels of funding for mitigation of fish and wildlife impacts. The conference agreement does not include language proposed by the Senate pertaining to the authority of the Administrator to sell Federal power to an entity formed by existing regional public body and cooperative customers of Bonneville.

Independent Scientific Review Panel.—The conferees recommend that, with regard to Columbia Basin fish and wildlife projects, programs, or measures proposed in a Federal agency budget to be reimbursed by the Bonneville Power Administration, the Independent Scientific Review Panel should annually review such proposals, determine whether the proposals are consistent with the criteria in Section 4(h)(10)(D) of the Pacific Northwest Electric Power Planning and Conservation Act, make any recommendations that the Panel considers appropriate to make the project, program, or measure meet the criteria in that Section, and transmit the recommendations to the Northwest Power Planning Council no later than April 1 of each year. These Panel recommendations should be available to the public and should be subject to public comment.

The conferees further recommend that the Panel recommendations should be fully considered by the Northwest Power Planning Council when making its final recommendations of projects proposed by Federal agencies and reimbursed by the Bonneville Power Administration.

The conferees direct the Panel to submit its recommendations to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations and relevant authorizing Committees no later than May 15 of each year. If the Northwest Power Planning Council does not incorporate a recommendation of the Panel in its recommendations, the Council should explain in writing its reasons for not accepting Panel recommendations.

SOUTHEASTERN POWER ADMINISTRATION

The conference agreement includes $7,500,000, a reduction of $1,000,000 from the amount provided by the House and Senate. The conferees have recently been made aware of an additional $1,500,000 that will be available in fiscal year 1999 from funds carried over from fiscal year 1998.

SOUTHWESTERN POWER ADMINISTRATION

The conference agreement includes $26,000,000, as proposed by the Senate instead of $24,710,000 as proposed by the House.

WESTERN AREA POWER ADMINISTRATION

The conference agreement includes $203,000,000, instead of $205,000,000 as provided by the House or $212,018,000 as provided by the Senate.

FALCON AND AMISTAD FUND

The conference agreement includes $1,010,000, the same amount recommended by the Senate instead of $970,000 as provided by the House.

FEDERAL ENERGY REGULATORY COMMISSION

The conference agreement includes $167,500,000 instead of $166,500,000 as recommended by the House or $168,898,000 as recommended by the Senate. The conferees have provided the Commission with an increase of $5,359,000 over the current fiscal year.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

DEPARTMENT OF ENERGY

SEC. 301. The conference agreement includes a provision proposed by the House and Senate that none of the funds may be used to award a management and operating contract unless such contract is awarded using competitive procedures, or the Secretary of Energy grants, on a case-by-case basis, a waiver to allow for such a deviation. At least 60 days before such action, the Secretary of Energy must submit to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations a report notifying the Committees of the waiver and setting forth the reasons for the waiver. Section 301 does not preclude extension of a contract awarded using competitive procedures.

SEC. 302. The conference agreement includes a provision proposed by the House and Senate that none of the funds may be used to award, amend, or modify a contract in a manner that deviates from the Federal Acquisition Regulation, unless the Secretary of Energy grants, on a case-by-case basis, a waiver to allow for such a deviation. At least 60 days before such action, the Secretary of Energy must submit to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations a report notifying the Committees of the waiver and setting forth the reasons for the waiver.

SEC. 303. The conference agreement includes a provision proposed by the House and Senate that none of the funds may be used to prepare or implement workforce restructuring plans or provide enhanced severance payments and other benefits and community assistance grants for Federal employees of the Department of Energy under section 3161 of the National Defense Authorization Act of Fiscal Year 1993, Public Law 102-484.

SEC. 304. The conference agreement includes a provision proposed by the House and Senate that none of the funds may be used to augment the $29,900,000 made available for obligation for severance payments and other benefits and community assistance grants authorized under the provisions of section 3161 of the National Defense Authorization Act of Fiscal Year 1993, Public Law 102-484.

SEC. 305. The conference agreement includes a provision proposed by the House and Senate that none of the funds may be used to prepare or initiate Requests for Proposals for a program if the program has not been funded by Congress in the current fiscal year.

This provision precludes the Department from initiating activities for new programs which have been proposed in the budget request, but which have not yet been funded by Congress.

SEC. 306. The conference agreement includes a provision proposed by the House and Senate that permits the transfer and merger of unexpended balances of prior appropriations with appropriation accounts established in this bill.

SEC. 307. The conference agreement includes a provision allowing the Secretary of Energy to enter into multiyear contracts without obligating the estimated costs associated with any necessary cancellation or termination of the contract. This provides the Department of Energy with the same flexibility provided to the Department of Defense.

SEC. 308. The conference agreement modifies language proposed by the Senate that limited the types of waste that could be disposed of in the Waste Isolation Pilot Plant in New Mexico. None of the funds may be used to dispose of transuranic waste in excess of 20 percent plutonium by weight for the aggregate of any material category. At the Rocky Flats site, this provision applies to the five material categories addressed in the "Final Environmental Impact Statement on Management of Certain Plutonium Residues on Scrub Alloy Stored at the Rocky Flats Environmental Technology Site", Table S-2, Notice of Intent Categories.

SEC. 309. The conference agreement modifies language proposed by the Senate changing the name of the Office of Energy Research. The name of the office has been changed to "Science" instead of "Science Research" as proposed by the Senate.

SEC. 310. The conference agreement modifies language proposed by the Senate pertaining to maintenance of security at the DOE uranium enrichment plants. Costs of implementing this provision will be allocated between the Department of Energy and the United States Enrichment Corporation.

SEC. 311. The conference agreement modifies language proposed by the House in title V and requires the Department of Energy to include all appropriate regulatory entities when conducting pilot projects to simulate external regulation at Departmental facilities.

The Department is directed not to initiate any pilot projects to simulate external regulation of Departmental facilities which do not include the Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC), the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA), and the appropriate State and local entities. The Department has been conducting pilot projects to simulate the external regulation of its facilities. However, the pilot projects to date have included only the NRC, and not OSHA, or the appropriate State and local regulatory entities which could also have oversight of worker safety and health at Departmental facilities. The Department has touted its successful pilot project at the Lawrence Berkeley National Laboratory, but the pilot project was completely inadequate because it did not include the participation of OSHA or State and local entities. Thus, the pilot project failed to address many of the issues involving the interactions among all of these entities and the Department of Energy. Obvious questions were left unanswered in the pilot project.

The conferees direct the Department to address all of the issues involving OSHA and State and local regulation of worker safety and health at the Lawrence Berkeley National Laboratory in conjunction with NRC regulation. The Department should provide a report to the Committees on Appropriations by March 31, 1999, on the results of the comprehensive pilot project. Additionally, the Department is directed to initiate in fiscal year 1999 a pilot project for a multi-program non-defense laboratory such as Argonne National Laboratory or Brookhaven National Laboratory which includes a large accelerator project. The Department should not conduct simulations of external regulation at sites with weapons activities responsibilities.

SEC. 312. The conference agreement includes a provision delaying until September 30, 1999, the obligation of $57,000,000 in the Atomic Energy Defense Activities, Weapons Activities appropriation account.

Provisions not adopted by the conferees

The conference agreement deletes language proposed by the House limiting the ability of Department of Energy facilities and laboratories to compete with the private sector. This provision has been addressed in report language.

The conference agreement deletes language proposed by the House limiting economic assistance payments to the State of New Mexico until the Waste Isolation Pilot Plant commences disposal operations.

The conference agreement deletes language proposed by the Senate permitting the Bonneville Power Administration to sell at wholesale rates to joint operating entities.

The conference agreement deletes language proposed by the Senate providing offsetting funding reductions in various appropriation accounts.

TITLE IV

INDEPENDENT AGENCIES

APPALACHIAN REGIONAL COMMISSION

The conference agreement includes $66,400,000 for the Appalachian Regional Commission instead of $65,900,000 as proposed by the House and $67,000,000 as proposed by the Senate.

DENALI COMMISSION

The conference agreement includes language proposed by the Senate appropriating $20,000,000 for the Denali Commission, amended to subject the appropriation to authorization enacted by law.

DEFENSE NUCLEAR FACILITIES SAFETY BOARD

The conference agreement appropriates $16,500,000 for the Defense Nuclear Facilities Safety Board as proposed by the House instead of $17,500,000 as proposed by the Senate.

NUCLEAR REGULATORY COMMISSION

SALARIES AND EXPENSES

The conference agreement includes $465,000,000 instead of $462,700,000 as recommended by the House or $466,000,000 as recommended by the Senate. The conferees have provided $17,000,000, to be derived from the Nuclear Waste Fund, for the Commission's ongoing work to characterize Yucca Mountain as a potential site for a permanent nuclear waste repository. The conference agreement also includes $3,200,000 for regulatory reviews and other assistance provided to the Department of Energy.

The conferees concur with the concerns raised by both the House and Senate with regard to the Nuclear Regulatory Commission and have provided the Commission with buyout authority.

OFFICE OF THE INSPECTOR GENERAL

The conference agreement includes $4,800,000, the same amount provided by the House and Senate.

NUCLEAR WASTE TECHNICAL REVIEW BOARD

The conference agreement appropriates $2,600,000 as proposed by the House and Senate.

TENNESSEE VALLEY AUTHORITY

The conference agreement deletes language proposed by the Senate appropriating $70,000,000 for the Tennessee Valley Authority.

No funding is provided for Land Between the Lakes.

If the Chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority Board of Directors determines and certifies in writing to the Congress and the Director of the Office of Management and Budget that the elimination of appropriated funds is the primary reason which would cause the TVA Board to increase power rates, the Chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority, the Secretary of the Army, and the Director of the Office of Management and Budget shall jointly submit to Congress a report with recommendations regarding whether a transfer of Federal stewardship responsibilities along the Tennessee River to the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers would be in the best interest of Tennessee Valley rate-payers by preventing or mitigating the need for such a rate increase, and if so, shall submit a legislative proposal to transfer these functions to the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. This report shall be submitted at least six months prior to the institution of the proposed rate increase.

The conferees acknowledge TVA's traditional role in controlling aquatic vegetation growth along the Tennessee River and its tributaries. Accordingly, the conferees urge TVA to continue these efforts in Jackson County and Marshall County, Alabama with internally generated revenues.

TITLE V
GENERAL PROVISIONS

SEC. 501. The conference agreement includes a provision proposed by both the House and Senate directing that none of the funds in this Act or any prior appropriations Act may be used in any way, directly or indirectly, to influence congressional action on any legislation or appropriation matters pending before Congress, other than to communicate to Members of Congress as described in section 1913 of title 18, United States Code.

SEC. 502. The conference agreement includes language proposed by both the House and Senate regarding the purchase of American-made equipment and products, and prohibiting contracts with persons falsely labeling products as made in America.

SEC. 503. The conference agreement includes language proposed by both the House and Senate which provides that none of the funds made available by this Act may be used to determine the final point of discharge for the interceptor drain for the San Luis Unit of the Central Valley Project until development by the Secretary of the Interior and the State of California of a plan, which shall conform to the water quality standards of the State of California as approved by the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, to minimize any detrimental effect of the San Luis drainage waters. The language also provides that the costs of the Kesterson Reservoir Cleanup Program and the San Joaquin Valley Drainage Program shall be classified as reimbursable or non-reimbursable by the Secretary of the Interior as described in the Bureau of Reclamation report entitled, "Repayment Report, Kesterson Reservoir Cleanup Program and San Joaquin Valley Drainage Program, February 1995" and that any future obligation of funds for drainage service or drainage studies for the San Luis Unit shall be fully reimbursable by San Luis Unit beneficiaries pursuant to Reclamation law.

SEC. 504. The conference agreement includes a provision proposed by both the House and Senate prohibiting the restart of the High Flux Beam Reactor.

SEC. 505. The conference agreement includes a provision proposed by both the House and Senate providing a one-year extension of the authority of the Nuclear Regulatory Commission to collect fees and charges to offset appropriated funds.

SEC. 506. The conference agreement includes language proposed by the House providing permanent authority for the Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) to expend funds for various purposes for which the Committees on Appropriations have been providing annual authorization. The conference agreement also includes buyout authority for NRC employees through December 31, 2000.

SEC. 507. The conference agreement includes language transferring funds between two accounts in the District of Columbia Appropriations Act, 1998.

The National Capitol Revitalization and Self-Government Improvement Act of 1997 (Public Law 105-33), enacted as part of the Balanced Budget Act of 1997, called for the Federal government to assume responsibility for financing the District of Columbia Courts and the newly created trustees for offender supervision and corrections. In order to facilitate transition to these new responsibilities, the District of Columbia Appropriations Act for fiscal year 1998 (Public Law 105-100) provided the requested $108,000,000 to finance Court operations and the requested $20,000,000 to the new District of Columbia Offender Supervision, Defender and Court Services Agency to finance the adult probation function which was transferred from the Courts.

The conferees understand that the District of Columbia Courts have deferred paying court-appointed attorneys for services rendered because of a shortage of funds. The conferees have approved a transfer of $1,700,000 from the District of Columbia Offender Services Trustee to the District of Columbia Courts. The transferred funds are to be used solely for the purpose of reimbursing court-appointed attorneys, in addition to any other funds for that purpose currently available or which may become available at a later date.

SEC. 508. The conference agreement includes language designating the wetlands located in Yolo County, California, and known as the Yolo Basin Wetlands, as the "Vic Fazio Yolo Wildlife Area."

SEC. 509. The conference agreement includes language dedicating to United States Senator Dale Bumpers nine areas in the State of Arkansas' National Wilderness Preservation System, and renaming the Arkansas Wilderness Act of 1984 as the "Dale Bumpers Wilderness Resources Protection Act."

Provisions not adopted by the conferees

The conference agreement deletes language proposed by the Senate prohibiting the award of funds to institutions not in compliance with certain requirements regarding campus access for units of the Senior Reserve Officer Training Corps and Federal military recruitment personnel.

The conference agreement deletes language proposed by the Senate prohibiting the use of funds to enter into or renew contracts with entities failing to comply with statutory reporting requirements concerning the employment of certain veterans.

The conference agreement deletes language proposed by the Senate pertaining to the Animas-La Plata project in Colorado and New Mexico.

The conference agreement deletes language proposed by the House repealing section 505 of Public Law 102-377, the Fiscal Year 1993 Energy and Water Development Appropriations Act, and section 208 of Public Law 99-349, the Urgent Supplemental Appropriations Act, 1986.

The conference agreement deletes a provision proposed by the House implementing external regulation of environment, safety and health activities at the Lawrence Berkeley National Laboratory. A provision requiring the Department to include all appropriate regulatory entities when conducting pilot projects to simulate external regulation at Departmental facilities has been included in title III.

TITLE VI
DENALI COMMISSION

The conference agreement deletes language proposed by the Senate establishing and authorizing the Denali Commission.

PROCEEDINGS AND DEBATES OF THE 105th CONGRESS, SECOND SESSION

Vol. 144

WASHINGTON, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1998

No. 130

Senate

The Senate met at 9:30 a.m. and was called to order by the President pro tempore [Mr. THURMOND].

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Dr. Lloyd John Ogilvie, offered the following prayer:

All-powerful Lord, You have the secret of victorious living. In Your indwelling, impelling power within us, You make the difference between a great and a grim day. We all are alarmed by the number of days spent in self-propelled effort, simply because we didn't begin the day by opening the door of our hearts to You.

We come to You in this new day. We have learned that yesterday's experience of fellowship with You or guidance from You will not be sufficient for today's challenges. You seek entrance into every facet of our lives and our work. The latch is always on the inside. Daily, we have a choice to open the door or leave it shut in Your face.

You have work to do here in the Senate, and You plan to do it through the Senators. Come in, Lord; You are welcome! Reign supreme in this Chamber and in our hearts. In the Name of our Lord and Savior. Amen.

RECOGNITION OF THE ACTING MAJORITY LEADER

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The able acting majority leader, the distinguished Senator from Alaska, is recognized.

SCHEDULE

Mr. STEVENS. Mr. President, this morning the Senate will immediately resume consideration of the FAA reauthorization bill. It is my understanding that the time for making remarks will follow the vote on the bill. So there will occur a vote on this bill immediately. Following that vote, the Senate will hear remarks concerning the distinguished Senator from Kentucky and, following that, any legislative or executive items cleared for action, including the Internet tax bill if an agreement can be reached today.

As a reminder to all Members, a cloture motion was filed yesterday on the so-called vacancies bill. Therefore, Members have until 1 p.m. today to file first-degree amendments. The cloture vote has been scheduled to occur at 5:30 p.m. on Monday, September 28.

I thank the Senate and call for the regular order.

WENDELL H. FORD NATIONAL AIR TRANSPORTATION SYSTEM IMPROVEMENT ACT OF 1998

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. ALLARD). Under the previous order, the Senate will now resume consideration of H.R. 4057, which the clerk will report.

The assistant legislative clerk read as follows:

A bill (H.R. 4057) to amend title 49, United States Code, to reauthorize programs of the Federal Aviation Administration, and for other purposes.

The Senate resumed consideration of the bill.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, there will now be 20 minutes for debate, equally divided between the majority and minority leaders, prior to the vote on passage.

SECTION 606

Mr. INHOFE. Mr. President, I would like to point out to the Chairman that Section 606 contains a provision that appears to grant priority status to a single carrier at Chicago O'Hare for the return of slots previously withdrawn for international service. If it is the intention of this provision to give one carrier at O'Hare preference in slot allocation, the Senate conferees must act in conference to remove this provision.

This provision appears to hand over roughly 35 slots that the dominant carrier at Chicago previously sought to obtain from the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) but was twice denied.

This provision would advantage a single carrier, which knew of the priority of slot withdrawal and should have planned its hub operations to take into account the effects. It strengthens a single carrier's position at O'Hare, a situation which the Congress should not legislate.

As this legislation goes to conference, the Senate is relying on the conferees to ensure Congress is even-handed in these matters.

Mr. McCAIN. I understand the Senator's concerns, which others have raised as well. I appreciate the Senator from Oklahoma expressing these views.

DEATH ON THE HIGH SEAS ACT

Mr. WYDEN. I would like to engage in a colloquy with the gentleman from Arizona, the distinguished Chairman of the Commerce Committee, concerning provisions included in the FAA reauthorization bill to reform the Death on the High Seas Act.

Mr. MCCAIN. I would be happy to engage the gentleman from Oregon in a colloquy.

Mr. WYDEN. I thank the Chairman. As the Chairman knows, one of my constituents, John Sleavin, lost his brother and nephew and niece under tragic circumstances when their pleasure boat was run down on the high seas by a Korean freighter. The accident was especially tragic because after the collision there was no attempt by the Korean freighter to rescue the family or even to notify the authorities about the collision. Mr. Chairman, you were very gracious to me in allowing my constituent to testify before the Commerce Committee on the need to reform the Death on the High Seas Act (DOHSA) to provide just compensation for victims like my constituent. I believe he provided compelling testimony on the need for reforming DOHSA for maritime accidents. The FAA reauthorization bill reforms DOHSA but only for aviation accidents. I would like to ask the Chairman whether he will commit to work with me to reform DOHSA comprehensively so the reforms cover both aviation and maritime accidents.

Mr. MCCAIN. Yes, I am committed to work with the Senator from Oregon and other Members who have an interest in this issue to explore this issue further and to work to reform DOHSA to appropriately provide victims of maritime accidents the same rights to recover for loss of their loved ones as are provided to victims of aviation accidents.

(At the request of Mr. MCCAIN, the following statement was ordered to be printed in the RECORD.)

PERIMETER RULE EXEMPTIONS

- Mrs. BOXER. Mr. President, the distinguished senior Senator from California, Senator FEINSTEIN, and I would like to ask the Chairman of the Committee on Commerce, Science and Transportation a question concerning the perimeter rule exemptions that are contained in S. 2279, the Wendell H. Ford National Air Transportation System Improvement Act.

Mr. MCCAIN. I will be delighted to respond to questions from the Senators from California.

Mrs. BOXER. We thank you. We first want to thank the members of the Commerce Committee for working so diligently to produce a comprehensive FAA reauthorization bill, and for giving us the opportunity to address a provision in this bill which affects the people of our state and many of the other western states.

Mrs. FEINSTEIN. The FAA reauthorization bill will provide important and necessary funding to our nation's aviation system. It is crucial that we work to pass this legislation before the end of this session. But, there is one provision in this bill that we must resolve before we can go forward. The exemptions to the Ronald Reagan Washington National Airport Perimeter Rule has come to our attention as a section of this bill which opens the door to an array of concerns. The change in the Perimeter Rule will allow for six new daily round trip flights between Reagan National Airport and airports beyond the 1,250-mile perimeter.

We have some questions as to who will be served if these exemptions are enacted by Congress. We would like to see the highest level of service provided to the most number of passengers. Do you believe that this Perimeter Rule exemption would prevent airlines from competing to provide the greatest amount of service to the most number of passengers?

Mr. MCCAIN. This provision included by the committee is intended to implement a process that will provide numerous domestic cities, including small and medium-sized committees, with improved service. However, the provision allows for competition for routes to larger communities.

Mrs. BOXER. I ask the distinguished chairman to yield to a further question.

Mr. MCCAIN. I will be happy to yield.

Mrs. BOXER. Specifically, would carriers be prevented from competing for routes from National Airport to Los Angeles or San Jose or other California airports under this bill?

Mr. MCCAIN. No. As long as carriers can demonstrate that their routes provide domestic network benefits and increase competition in multiple markets, they may compete for these non-stop routes, including select routes to California airports.●

Ms. SNOWE. Mr. President, I rise to express my support for the Wendell H. Ford National Air Transportation Improvement Act of 1998. As a member of the Commerce Aviation Subcommittee, it has been my privilege to work with Senator FORD on this and other bills to improve the quality and safety of air transportation in this country, and I believe it is a fitting tribute that we name this bill in his honor.

I appreciate the assistance I received from the Senator from Kentucky and from my good friend, the Chairman, Senator MCCAIN, in adding three amendments to this bill which I believe will help improve safety, quality and access.

I will vote for this bill because on the whole, it will benefit our airports and air travelers. But I do want to make it clear that I do not support sections 606 and 607. These sections will be detrimental to commercial air service to Maine and the other markets within the perimeter rule. While I will not be offering an amendment to strike these two sections, I would encourage the conferees to seriously consider the detrimental effects these sections will have on air service.

Section 606 will negatively alter the perimeter rule at Ronald Reagan Washington National Airport in a way that jeopardizes air service to Maine. It is my opinion that expanding the number of slots would clearly result in more negatives than positives.

Due to the current Federal Aviation Administration guidelines on the distance required between aircraft, adding flights at National airport will require air traffic controllers to chose between staying on schedule or sacrificing safety.

If more flights are added through the creation of these new slots in Section 606, the controller will have to place these flights more closely together in order to prevent delays in arrivals and departures. By decreasing the spacing of the flights in and out of Reagan National, it will create an unsafe situation by subjecting the flights to the jet wash, or turbulence, of flights in front of them. Such exposure to the jet wash, especially at take-off creates a terrible safety situation. One which will jeopardize lives of the traveling public.

I am also concerned about the way that section 606 distributes the new slots are distributed. Specifically, the section gives priority consideration to air carriers who have already had slots withdrawn from them. This will result in the majority of new slots to go to one dominate carrier and further increase already overpriced business airfares. Further, this language will overturn a March 1998, Department of Transportation decision concerning the distribution of slots.

I would also like to note my opposition to section 607, which modifies the perimeter rule. It is well established that the perimeter rule maintains a delicate balance between National Airport and Dulles International Airport. Under the perimeter rule, Dulles has flourished as an international gateway, and National has provided regional service to states such as Maine.

I believe that in the long run, violating the perimeter rule will hurt travelers from Maine. Eroding the perimeter rule will bring long-haul flights to National—short haul flights, in turn, will be rerouted to Dulles or eliminated altogether. Ironically, violating the perimeter rule would also hurt those underserved communities the legislation is designed to assist. Modifying the perimeter rule could encourage airlines at National to substitute long-haul flights for existing service to smaller communities within the perimeter.

I believe that the amendment offered by the Senator from Virginia, Mr. ROBB, which I have cosponsored, will mitigate some of the potential impact of modifying the perimeter rule by making it incumbent on the Secretary of Transportation to ensure that these changes will not reduce travel options for communities served by small and medium sized airports within the perimeter and not result in meaningful increases in travel delays.

I also would want to note the Dorgan-Snowe amendment that was adopted and to thank the Chairman and Ranking member for their helping in working through the language. The Dorgan-Snowe amendment would facilitate air service to under-served communities and encourage airline competition through non-discriminatory interconnection requirements by permitting the Secretary of Transportation to require major carriers to enter into agreements with new entrant air carriers which serve rural or underserved markets.

This amendment will give the Secretary of Transportation the authority to require an air carrier that serves an essential airport facility, such as a major hub, and has an exclusive—almost monopolistic—agreement with another airline which serves an underserved market to enter into a joint fare or interline agreement with a new air carrier, trying to enter the underserved market so that the people living in the rural or underserved area will have a competitive alternative and not be beholden to one airline.

This would allow a new airline to fly from a rural or underserved market to a hub airport which is dominated by a major carrier and permit the traveler to continue to another market on the megacarrier without having to purchase a second ticket or worrying if their bags will be transferred to the megacarrier.

I want to make it perfectly clear. States which are primarily rural or have a large number of underserved markets will benefit from this amendment. Opponents of this amendment argue that this is re-regulation. Nothing is further from the truth. Senator DORGAN and I are establishing a mechanism which will allow new entrant carriers to be able to compete with the mega air carriers. Only if the Secretary believes that underserved markets will benefit and that competition will result, will an interline agreement be sanctioned.

It is interesting to note that when the commercial air carrier industry was deregulated, there were 19 domestic trunk-line and local service carriers. Of those 19, only 5 (American, Continental, Delta, Northwest, and United) airlines are still in existence. At the time of deregulation, eight of the 15 airlines controlled 80% of the market share. Today, the seven largest carriers control more than 90% of the market.

Some say that this is positive result of deregulation, claiming that deregulation was designed to promote a "survival of the fittest" type industry and promote profitability. Unfortunately, deregulation has actually hurt the vast majority of communities in the United States and the passengers who travel from small and medium sized markets. According to a Government Accounting Office report, the full benefits of deregulation have yet to be realized because of problems with entering the markets dominated by a major airline.

As a result of deregulation, consumers are actually paying far more for air travel. In fact, a doubling of an airline's market share on a particular route translates into a price increase of almost nine percent. Today, as a result of the lack of competition at small and medium sized markets, it is cheaper to fly from Washington, D.C. to Mexico City on an unrestricted ticket than it is to fly from Washington to Portland, Maine.

Our amendment would require carriers who enter into interline and joint fare agreements with other carriers, like those which have already been proposed and implemented on a limited basis by the megacarriers, to provide these agreements on a non-discriminatory basis to carriers seeking to provide service between an underserved market and a large hub airport in which one carrier has market dominance.

Open access like that proposed in this amendment is nothing new. In fact Congress, just two and one-half years ago, approved legislation with similar requirements. When Congress de-regulated the telecommunications industry, the fundamental element to promote competition in that legislation was the requirement that the incumbent carriers would be required, by law, to allow their competitors to interconnect into their network.

In a situation analogous to the telecommunications market, in order to develop competition in the local market, we must impose, by law, the requirement that the dominant megacarriers, allow its competitors to interconnect into their networks. By adopting this amendment, new entrant carriers will be allowed to interconnect into the flight network of a major carrier which dominates a hub airport. In light of what has been required of other industries under the goal of promoting competition, this amendment makes sense if one wants to see a competitive airline industry.

The only way to allow for competition in this environment is to impose conditions on the major carriers to cooperate with their competitors. Interline and joint fares are necessary to ensure that the dominant carriers will not kill potential competitors.

Through the adoption of this amendment, much like the principle underlying the local competition in the telecommunications industry, we will be able to provide more choices, lower costs, and better service to the majority of markets across the country.

PERMANENT BAN ON ROCKY MOUNTAIN NATIONAL PARK COMMERCIAL TOUR OVERFLIGHTS

Mr. CAMPBELL. Mr. President, as I cast my vote in favor of final passage of the Federal Aviation Administration's Reauthorization bill, S.2279, I am pleased to bring attention to one special amendment to this bill.

The amendment which my colleague Senator ALLARD and I offered will make the FAA's temporary ban on commercial tour overflights permanent. I have been working toward permanently banning commercial tour overflights over Rocky Mountain National Park for many years now, and am pleased to see this provision pass the Senate.

As I cast my vote today, Coloradans will be one big step closer to being assured that they will be able to enjoy the scenic beauty of Rocky Mountain National Park without the noisy disturbances of commercial tour overflights.

At this time I want to thank Senator McCAIN, who as the Chairman of the Commerce Committee, played a critical role in getting this amendment successfully included in the FAA bill.

Mr. INHOFE. Mr. President, section 606 subparagraph (6) of S.2279 will have the unintended consequences of limiting competition at Chicago's O'Hare airport. I have spoke at length with Senators LOTT, McCAIN, and FORD regarding my concerns with this provision and understand that it may be possible to correct this problem in conference. I hope that is the case.

This provision will allow those carriers who have lost landing/takeoff slots to foreign air carriers at Chicago's O'Hare to get them back. On the surface this seems very fair; however, it will in fact unfairly favor the largest slot holder at O'Hare at the expense of other competitors and new entrants. Because the dominant carrier at O'Hare has lost the most slots, it stands to gain the most. The result will be less competition rather than more at O'Hare.

Mr. President, by way of further explanation on this issue, I would like to submit for the RECORD a letter Senator NICKLES and I sent to Senators LOTT, DASCHLE, McCAIN, HOLLINGS, SHELBY, and LAUTENBERG describing our concerns and asking for their assistance in correcting the problem.

Knowing that the managers of the bill have worked very hard to increase competition, I am certain they share my concerns regarding market domination at O'Hare. In my discussions with Senator LOTT, he has assured me that he has no position on section 606 and would not object to this section being removed in conference.

I ask unanimous consent that the letter be printed in the RECORD.

Washington, DC.*

DEAR SENATORS: We are writing to express our strong opposition to a proposal that would increase major airline dominance at a key hub airport while at the same time reversing a Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) decision and undercutting our international obligations. Specifically, a provision in Section 606 of FAA Reauthorization (S. 2279) would hand over roughly 35 slots at Chicago's O'Hare International Airport to its largest slot holder, United Airlines, while restricting access at that hub to its competitors and new entrants. It is our understanding that this special interest provision is being advised for inclusion in other pieces of "must-pass" legislation. Such special interest legislation benefiting one airline will no doubt lead to less competition and higher airfares. We urge you to foster greater airline competition by deleting this special interest provision from S. 2279 and preventing it from being attached to other legislation.

Late last year, United petitioned FAA on just this issue and was rejected soundly. United sought priority for any future slot exemptions claiming they would replace the 35 slots withdrawn under FAA regulations and used by foreign carriers in order to meet our bilateral commitments. In a March 1998 order, FAA found that the public interest would be best served by continuing to meet our aviation bilateral agreement commitments to international air transportation using the slots withdrawn from United and American Airlines at O'Hare, while using the slot exemptions to increase competition at that key airport. The priority by which slots were to be withdrawn was well known. United chose not to invest in better priority slots to protect its schedule and slot holdings. In rejecting United's request, FAA found:

"Since 1993 the FAA withdraws, on average, 31 air carrier slots from United, which is approximately four percent of United's domestic slot base. These slots are withdrawn based on a priority numbering system that was established by random lottery in 1986. Slots having the lowest numbers are most vulnerable to withdrawal, regardless of the slot holder. As articulated in our previous denial to United concerning this issue, United made its selection or acquisition of slots with vulnerable withdrawal priority and planned its hub operations fully knowing the effects of the rule's operations might have upon them . . . United knew, or should have known, that these slots were vulnerable in case of withdrawal."

We applaud the Commerce Committee's efforts to fashion a bill that promotes greater airline competition aimed at producing lower airfares and improved service in all communities. Accordingly, we respectfully urge your support for striking this provision of section 606, the effect of which is directly opposite the intent of S. 2279 and other pro-competitive aviation legislation.

Sincerely,

JIM INHOFE,
DON NICKLES.

Mr. BYRD. Mr. President, I support H.R. 4057, the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) Reauthorization Act and I commend my colleagues on the bipartisan and expeditious manner in which this important legislation was adopted by the Senate. This bill will reauthorize the programs of the FAA for two years, including the Airport Improvement Program (AIP), which is due to expire on September 30. The purpose of the AIP is to provide grants to fund the capital needs of the nation's commercial airports and general aviation facilities. Without this important FAA reauthorization legislation to continue the contract authority for the AIP, the FAA would not be able to distribute airport grants that are vitally important to not only the State which I am honored to represent, West Virginia, but also the entire nation.

A major focus of H.R. 4057 is promoting competition and quality air service which, Mr. President, the State of West Virginia needs desperately. Since the deregulation of the airlines, West Virginia travelers have suffered from increased airfares and greatly reduced service. Consequently, the inefficiencies in the present air transportation system and the high costs have denied air passengers and air freight shippers in West Virginia reasonable access to the national and international air transportation system.

Mother Nature has blessed the State of West Virginia with a beautiful but most unforgiving terrain. Steeply undulating mountains and deep gorges are punctuated by sweetly serene valleys and hollows, and West Virginia is kind to those who need to travel through the State by automobile. Yet, despite the rigorous terrain of the State, most people have to drive great distances even to catch an airplane for what is usually the first of several stops en route to their final destination. In eastern West Virginia, residents travel to either Dulles or Reagan National Airports in Virginia; in the northern reaches, residents drive to Pennsylvania or Ohio; and in the southern portion of the State, they may have to drive to North Carolina to get to a major hub. Not only is the limited availability of flights and destinations a problem for air travel originating within West Virginia, but so is the exorbitant cost of air transportation to and from the State. For example, a round trip air ticket from Reagan National Airport to Yeager Airport in Charleston can cost almost $700. That is almost $700 to travel under 400 miles—and when you are done, you are only as far away as Washington, D.C. Leaving from Washington, $700 can take you to Europe and back! This does not make sense to most hardworking West Virginians, and it discourages other travelers from visiting to experience West Virginia's many wonders for themselves.

With the advent of the 21st Century just around the corner, the West Virginia air travelers and businesses that rely on air freight will welcome this legislation. West Virginia's expected economic expansion in the 21st century will depend on its ability to compete not only in the national economy, but also in the ever-growing global economy. To successfully compete, quality, affordable, and efficient air transportation is needed to successfully round out West Virginia's increasingly modern infrastructure of highways, railroads, and waterways.

Mr. President, this bill, H.R. 4057, contains other necessary language to help West Virginia progress into the new millennium. Major provisions of this bill are not only the AIP program, but also the Small Communities Air Service Development Program, and slot exemptions for nonstop regional jet service.

The Small Communities Air Service Development Program will be a four-year, $30 million, small communities grant program. Executed through the Department of Transportation, this program will encourage commercial air service to small communities all over the United States, including those in West Virginia. By providing matching funds of up to 25 percent, a consortium of local communities in West Virginia is expected to compete for the grants of $500,000 per year available per community.

It was Thomas Edison who said, "Restlessness and discontent are the necessities of progress." Mr. President, this captures the way that I feel about additional slot exemptions for nonstop regional jet service at Ronald Reagan National Airport. I share the concern expressed by the distinguished Senators from the State of Maryland and the Commonwealth of Virginia regarding increased noise pollution in the localities surrounding Reagan National Airport. On the other hand, twelve additional slots to increase traffic between Washington and smaller, non-hub airports increases the likelihood of additional airline traffic to underserved areas like West Virginia. Improved air travel to and from States like West Virginia will be critical to my State's remaining competitive in the future and accessible in the present.

Mr. STEVENS. Mr. President, I yield back the time.

Mr. REID. Time is yielded back by this side.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. All time is yielded back.

The assistant legislative clerk called the roll.

SEC. 522. TOURISM.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds that—

(1) through an effective public-private partnership, Federal, State, and local governments and the travel and tourism industry can successfully market the United States as the premiere international tourist destination in the world;

(2) in 1997, the travel and tourism industry made a substantial contribution to the health of the Nation’s economy, as follows:

(A) The industry is one of the Nation’s largest employers, directly employing 7,000,000 Americans, throughout every region of the country, heavily concentrated among small businesses, and indirectly employing an additional 9,200,000 Americans, for a total of 16,200,000 jobs.

(B) The industry ranks as the first, second, or third largest employer in 32 States and the District of Columbia, generating a total tourism-related annual payroll of $127,900,000,000.

(C) The industry has become the Nation’s third-largest retail sales industry, generating a total of $489,000,000,000 in total expenditures.

(D) The industry generated $71,700,000,000 in tax revenues for Federal, State, and local governments;

(3) the more than $98,000,000,000 spent by foreign visitors in the United States in 1997 generated a trade services surplus of more than $26,000,000,000;

(4) the private sector, States, and cities currently spend more than $1,000,000,000 annually to promote particular destinations within the United States to international visitors;

(5) because other nations are spending hundreds of millions of dollars annually to promote the visits of international tourists to their countries, the United States will miss a major marketing opportunity if it fails to aggressively compete for an increased share of international tourism expenditures as they continue to increase over the next decade;

(6) a well-funded, well-coordinated international marketing effort—combined with additional public and private sector efforts—would help small and large businesses, as well as State and local governments, share in the anticipated phenomenal growth of the international travel and tourism market in the 21st century;

(7) by making permanent the successful visa waiver pilot program, Congress can facilitate the increased flow of international visitors to the United States;

(8) Congress can increase the opportunities for attracting international visitors and enhancing their stay in the United States by—

(A) improving international signage at airports, seaports, land border crossings, highways, and bus, train, and other public transit stations in the United States;

(B) increasing the availability of multilingual tourist information; and

(C) creating a toll-free, private-sector operated, telephone number, staffed by multilingual operators, to provide assistance to international tourists coping with an emergency;

(9) by establishing a satellite system of accounting for travel and tourism, the Secretary of Commerce could provide Congress and the President with objective, thorough data that would help policymakers more accurately gauge the size and scope of the domestic travel and tourism industry and its significant impact on the health of the Nation’s economy; and

(10) having established the United States National Tourism Organization under the United States National Tourism Organization Act of 1996 (22 U.S.C. 2141 et seq.) to increase the United States share of the international tourism market by developing a national travel and tourism strategy, Congress should support a long-term marketing effort and other important regulatory reform initiatives to promote increased travel to the United States for the benefit of every sector of the economy.

(b) PURPOSES.—The purposes of this section are to provide international visitor initiatives and an international marketing program to enable the United States travel and tourism industry and every level of government to benefit from a successful effort to make the United States the premiere travel destination in the world.

(c) INTERNATIONAL VISITOR ASSISTANCE TASK FORCE.—

(1) ESTABLISHMENT.—Not later than 9 months after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Commerce shall establish an Intergovernmental Task Force for International Visitor Assistance (hereafter in this subsection referred to as the "Task Force").

(2) DUTIES.—The Task Force shall examine—

(A) signage at facilities in the United States, including airports, seaports, land border crossings, highways, and bus, train, and other public transit stations, and shall identify existing inadequacies and suggest solutions for such inadequacies, such as the adoption of uniform standards on international signage for use throughout the United States in order to facilitate international visitors' travel in the United States;

(B) the availability of multilingual travel and tourism information and means of disseminating, at no or minimal cost to the Government, such information; and

(C) facilitating the establishment of a toll-free, private-sector operated, telephone number, staffed by multilingual operators, to provide assistance to international tourists coping with an emergency.

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of Commerce shall complete, as soon as may be practicable, a satellite system of accounting for the travel and tourism industry.

(e) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—

(1) AUTHORIZATION.—Subject to paragraph (2), there are authorized to be appropriated such sums as may be necessary for the purpose of funding international promotional activities by the United States National Tourism Organization to help brand, position, and promote the United States as the premiere travel and tourism destination in the world.

(2) RESTRICTIONS ON USE OF FUNDS.—None of the funds appropriated under paragraph (1) may be used for purposes other than marketing, research, outreach, or any other activity designed to promote the United States as the premiere travel and tourism destination in the world, except that the general and administrative expenses of operating the United States National Tourism Organization shall be borne by the private sector through such means as the Board of Directors of the Organization shall determine.

(3) REPORT TO CONGRESS.—Not later than March 30 of each year in which funds are made available under subsection (a), the Secretary shall submit to the Committee on Commerce of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation of the Senate a detailed report setting forth—

(E) an analysis of other relevant economic impacts as a result of expenditures made pursuant to this section.

The Secretary shall also, to the extent possible, provide incentives where no direct, viable, and feasible alternative service exists, taking into account geographical diversity and appropriate market definitions.

“(d) MAXIMIZATION OF PARTICIPATION.—The Secretary shall structure the program established pursuant to section 41744(a) in a way designed to—

“(1) permit the participation of the maximum feasible number of communities and States over a 4-year period by limiting the number of years of participation or otherwise; and

“(2) obtain the greatest possible leverage from the financial resources available to the Secretary and the applicant by—

“(A) progressively decreasing, on a project-by-project basis, any Federal financial incentives provided under this chapter over the 4-year period; and

(5) the National Parks Overflights Working Group, composed of general aviation, air tour, environmental, and Native American representatives, recommended that the Congress enact legislation based on its consensus work product; and

(6) this title reflects the recommendations made by that Group.

SEC. 702. AIR TOUR MANAGEMENT PLANS FOR NATIONAL PARKS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Chapter 401, as amended by section 301 of this Act, is amended by adding at the end the following:

§40126. Overflights of national parks

“(a) IN GENERAL.—

“(1) GENERAL REQUIREMENTS.—A commercial air tour operator may not conduct commercial air tour operations over a national park or tribal lands except—

“(A) in accordance with this section;

“(B) in accordance with conditions and limitations prescribed for that operator by the Administrator; and

“(C) in accordance with any effective air tour management plan for that park or those tribal lands.

“(2) APPLICATION FOR OPERATING AUTHORITY.—

“(A) APPLICATION REQUIRED.—Before commencing commercial air tour operations over a national park or tribal lands, a commercial air tour operator shall apply to the Administrator for authority to conduct the operations over that park or those tribal lands.

“(B) COMPETITIVE BIDDING FOR LIMITED CAPACITY PARKS.—Whenever a commercial air tour management plan limits the number of commercial air tour flights over a national park area during a specified time frame, the Administrator, in cooperation with the Director, shall authorize commercial air tour operators to provide such service. The authorization shall specify such terms and conditions as the Administrator and the Director find necessary for management of commercial air tour operations over the national park. The Administrator, in cooperation with the Director, shall develop an open competitive process for evaluating proposals from persons interested in providing commercial air tour services over the national park. In making a selection from among various proposals submitted, the Administrator, in cooperation with the Director, shall consider relevant factors, including—

“(i) the safety record of the company or pilots;

“(ii) any quiet aircraft technology proposed for use;

“(iii) the experience in commercial air tour operations over other national parks or scenic areas;

“(iv) the financial capability of the company;

“(v) any training programs for pilots; and

“(vi) responsiveness to any criteria developed by the National Park Service or the affected national park.

“(C) NUMBER OF OPERATIONS AUTHORIZED.—

In determining the number of authorizations to issue to provide commercial air tour service over a national park, the Administrator, in cooperation with the Director, shall take into consideration the provisions of the air tour management plan, the number of existing commercial air tour operators and current level of service and equipment provided by any such companies, and the financial viability of each commercial air tour operation.

“(D) COOPERATION WITH NPS.—Before granting an application under this paragraph, the Administrator shall, in cooperation with the Director, develop an air tour management plan in accordance with subsection (b) and implement such plan.

“(E) TIME LIMIT ON RESPONSE TO ATMP APPLICATIONS.—The Administrator shall act on any such application and issue a decision on the application not later than 24 months after it is received or amended.

“(F) EXCEPTION.—Notwithstanding paragraph (1), commercial air tour operators may conduct commercial air tour operations over a national park under part 91 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR 91.1 et seq.) if—

“(A) such activity is permitted under part 119 (14 CFR 119.1(e)(2));

“(B) the operator secures a letter of agreement from the Administrator and the national park superintendent for that national park describing the conditions under which the flight operations will be conducted; and

“(C) the total number of operations under this exception is limited to not more than 5 flights in any 30-day period over a particular park.

“(4) SPECIAL RULE FOR SAFETY REQUIREMENTS.—Notwithstanding subsection (c), an existing commercial air tour operator shall, not later than 90 days after the date of enactment of the Wendell H. Ford National Air Transportation System Improvement Act of 1998, apply for operating authority under part 119, 121, or 135 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR Pt. 119, 121, or 135). A new entrant commercial air tour operator shall apply for such authority before conducting commercial air tour operations over a national park or tribal lands.

“(b) AIR TOUR MANAGEMENT PLANS.—

“(1) ESTABLISHMENT OF ATMPS.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—The Administrator shall, in cooperation with the Director, establish an air tour management plan for any national park or tribal land for which such a plan is not already in effect whenever a person applies for authority to operate a commercial air tour over the park. The development of the air tour management plan is to be a cooperative undertaking between the Federal Aviation Administration and the National Park Service. The air tour management plan shall be developed by means of a public process, and the agencies shall develop information and analysis that explains the conclusions that the agencies make in the application of the respective criteria. Such explanations shall be included in the Record of Decision and may be subject to judicial review.

“(B) OBJECTIVE.—The objective of any air tour management plan shall be to develop acceptable and effective measures to mitigate or prevent the significant adverse impacts, if any, of commercial air tours upon the natural and cultural resources and visitor experiences and tribal lands.

“(2) ENVIRONMENTAL DETERMINATION.—In establishing an air tour management plan under this subsection, the Administrator and the Director shall each sign the environmental decision document required by section 102 of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4332) which may include a finding of no significant impact, an environmental assessment, or an environmental impact statement, and the Record of Decision for the air tour management plan.

“(3) CONTENTS.—An air tour management plan for a national park—

“(A) may prohibit commercial air tour operations in whole or in part;

“(B) may establish conditions for the conduct of commercial air tour operations, including commercial air tour routes, maximum or minimum altitudes, time-of-day restrictions, restrictions for particular events, maximum number of flights per unit of time, intrusions on privacy on tribal lands, and mitigation of noise, visual, or other impacts;

“(C) shall apply to all commercial air tours within ½ mile outside the boundary of a national park;

“(D) shall include incentives (such as preferred commercial air tour routes and altitudes, relief from caps and curfews) for the adoption of quiet aircraft technology by commercial air tour operators conducting commercial air tour operations at the park;

“(E) shall provide for the initial allocation of opportunities to conduct commercial air tours if the plan includes a limitation on the number of commercial air tour flights for any time period; and

“(F) shall justify and document the need for measures taken pursuant to subparagraphs (A) through (E).

“(4) PROCEDURE.—In establishing a commercial air tour management plan for a national park, the Administrator and the Director shall—

“(A) initiate at least one public meeting with interested parties to develop a commercial air tour management plan for the park;

“(C) comply with the regulations set forth in sections 1501.3 and 1501.5 through 1501.8 of title 40, Code of Federal Regulations (for purposes of complying with those regulations, the Federal Aviation Administration is the lead agency and the National Park Service is a cooperating agency); and

“(D) solicit the participation of any Indian tribe whose tribal lands are, or may be, overflowed by aircraft involved in commercial air tour operations over a national park or tribal lands, as a cooperating agency under the regulations referred to in paragraph (4)(C).

“(5) AMENDMENTS.—Any amendment of an air tour management plan shall be published in the Federal Register for notice and comment. A request for amendment of an air tour management plan shall be made in such form and manner as the Administrator may prescribe.

“(C) INTERIM OPERATING AUTHORITY.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—Upon application for operating authority, the Administrator shall grant interim operating authority under this paragraph to a commercial air tour operator for a national park or tribal lands for which the operator is an existing commercial air tour operator.

“(2) REQUIREMENTS AND LIMITATIONS.—Interim operating authority granted under this subsection—

“(A) shall provide annual authorization only for the greater of—

“(i) the number of flights used by the operator to provide such tours within the 12-month period prior to the date of enactment of the Wendell H. Ford National Air Transportation System Improvement Act of 1998; or

“(ii) the average number of flights per 12-month period used by the operator to provide such tours within the 36-month period prior to such date of enactment, and, for seasonal operations, the number of flights so used during the season or seasons covered by that 12-month period;

“(B) may not provide for an increase in the number of operations conducted during any time period by the commercial air tour operator to which it is granted unless the increase is agreed to by the Administrator and the Director;

“(C) shall be published in the Federal Register to provide notice and opportunity for comment;

“(D) may be revoked by the Administrator for cause;

“(E) shall terminate 180 days after the date on which an air tour management plan is established for that park or those tribal lands; and

(3) NEW ENTRANT AIR TOUR OPERATORS.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—The Administrator, in cooperation with the Director, may grant interim operating authority under this paragraph to an air tour operator for a national park for which that operator is a new entrant air tour operator if the Administrator determines the authority is necessary to ensure competition in the provision of commercial air tours over that national park or those tribal lands.

“(B) SAFETY LIMITATION.—The Administrator may not grant interim operating authority under subparagraph (A) if the Administrator determines that it would create a safety problem at that park or on tribal lands, or the Director determines that it would create a noise problem at that park or on tribal lands.

“(C) ATMP LIMITATION.—The Administrator may grant interim operating authority under subparagraph (A) of this paragraph only if the air tour management plan for the park or tribal lands to which the application relates has not been developed within 24 months after the date of enactment of the Wendell H. Ford National Air Transportation System Improvement Act of 1998.

Mr. McCAIN. Mr. President, I move to reconsider the vote.

Mr. FORD. I move to lay that motion on the table.

The motion to lay on the table was agreed to.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, the Senate insists on its amendment, requests a conference with the House, and the Chair appoints the following conferees on the part of the Senate.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. HAGEL) appointed Mr. McCAIN, Mr. STEVENS, Mr. GORTON, Mr. HOLLINGS, and Mr. FORD conferees on the part of the Senate.

Mr. McCAIN. Mr. President, Senator ASHCROFT is necessarily absent. For the record, if he had been here today, he would have voted in favor of the Wendell Ford National Air Transportation System Improvement Act.

Mr. STEVENS. Mr. President, this is the Wendell Ford National Air Transportation System Improvement Act, as Chairman McCAIN just pointed out.

I see my good friend from Kentucky is here. I think that this is an act that should be named after the Senator from Kentucky because of his long service on the Commerce Committee and particularly on the Aviation Subcommittee.

Our Nation has come through a very interesting period during the time that WENDELL FORD has been Senator from Kentucky—a total revolution in aviation and a concentration on safety and improvement of our airway system.

WENDELL FORD has been a leader in that effort. This bill signifies the totality of what he has done for the aviation community.

I come to the floor today, because, as I believe most Members of the Senate know, Alaska is completely dependent upon air transportation.

Over 70 percent of our communities can only be reached by air year-round. We believe in the safety of that system.

I have been pleased to have the honor to be able to work with the Senator from Kentucky on a whole series of matters dealing with operations, with safety, and with the maintenance of the airways system, and in particular with the development of air transportation facilities on the ground.

As you go throughout this country and go to these major new terminals, you should think of WENDELL FORD, because he has led us, through the period when he was chairman of the Aviation Subcommittee, and during the period when he has been ranking member of that subcommittee, to an understanding of what is necessary to keep the lead that we have as a nation in aviation.

I come to the floor to thank my good friend for all he has done for us and for the Nation, but particularly to thank him on behalf of all of us in Alaska who rely so much on this system that he has improved and made more safe.

Thank you, Mr. President.

Mr. FORD addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Kentucky.

Mr. FORD. Mr. President, it is difficult for me to respond because it is somewhat melancholy, as this is my last effort at developing an aviation package, to have such kind remarks come from my learned friend who also has worked tirelessly in an attempt to make the aviation industry safer, more accessible, helping it expand, and giving it the opportunity to grow.

He comes from a unique State. He sits down with you and explains the problem. It isn't "I am TED STEVENS, vote with me." He sits down and explains the problem and what is needed to improve the problems of his fine State. It is very difficult for anyone to not help once they understand what Alaska has.

We have a great mix in this country. You go all the way from the cold in the north in the 49th State to the south where it is hot, and to Hawaii, the 50th State. We have a great mix. The people who represent those States are great.

My friend from Alaska is really and truly my friend. One of the things I will miss around here is my association with him. He has helped me on more than one occasion to do some things maybe that he would rather not do. But I found, as my dad taught me, that you pay your debts whether you sign the paper or shake a man's hand. TED STEVENS' word is his bond. And I respect him for that. I respect what he does as a Member of this institution.

I will feel comfortable when I leave here that Senator STEVENS is head of appropriations. He is still on the Commerce Committee. And when the new aviation bill comes forth, he will be sure that those things that we fought for so long will be improved.

I thank my friend very, very much.

Mr. STEVENS. I thank the Senator, Mr. President.

Mr. FORD. Mr. President, I thank my colleagues for all their hard work in putting this bill together. It was a tough task. But we have been able to work out just about every issue that was of concern to Members on both sides of the aisle.

The FAA in the future years must be able to have the funding that it needs to modernize. The new Administrator has a very difficult job. She has been working with the industry and with Congress to move forward on many tough issues.

Some have described the modernization of the air traffic control system like this: It is sort of like needing to rebuild your entire house, but you have to live there at the same time.

Modernization is a critical issue. We included in this bill a section on tourism, and because of its importance to each of us and without an aviation system that can grow, tourism will also be affected. In leaving, let me mention a few areas of concern.

In the next year the FAA and the aviation community, airports, airlines, manufacturers, and our international partners, all must address the year 2000 computer problem. The FAA must also move forward on the STARS and WASS programs. Think about that. We need to yank out all of the controller workstations across the country and put in new computers. All of us have had new systems put in our offices, and we know it is a mess. The FAA has to do it while planes are still flying and people's lives are at stake. We may fault the FAA at times for not moving as quickly as we want, but keep in mind how tough the task is.

With respect to the Wide Area Augmentation System, the industry is beginning to equip its fleet to be able to take advantage of a satellite-based tracking system. The FAA, Congress and the industry have got to move forward with this new program. We have committed hundreds of millions of dollars to this effort, and we cannot turn back now.

The Administrator knows all this, but this body has to give her the resources to do the job. Next year, you will debate and argue over how to fund the FAA. It is a critical matter. We know that traffic will increase by 35 percent over the next several years. We know that our airports need to be expanded. Gridlock cannot occur because the FAA does not have the ability to meet the industry's needs.

I also want to mention the small communities program in this bill. There are many segments of the country that have not received all the benefits of deregulation. We are going to try to help those areas, but not by merely giving them money. The communities will need to work hard to develop their markets and work with carriers to provide the needed service.

I thank the chairman, Senator McCAIN. I know that he will continue to fight for FAA's needs next year. I also hope that we can quickly conclude the conference on this bill. There are a few tough issues that will need to be decided by the Members, and I hope that we can come to closure soon.

Mr. President, in this life in the Senate, you come across some very, very fine people, and those are the ones who make this place run and are not recognized. We get all the publicity, good or bad. We have to face the voters, good or bad. But the staff who support us, the staff who support the committee, the staff who support us on the floor, they are the ones who need to have the accolades. They work hard—all night, they work 24 hours, around the clock—and we never seem to thank them as we should. I know my life in the Senate would have been made a lot tougher, and I probably would not have succeeded had it not been for staff.

You find a lot of excellent staff, on both sides now. Don't think I am just talking about one side of the aisle. Ann—I hope I pronounce her last name right—Choiniere. Getting close? This is the first time I have worked with her, and I found out how tough she can be but how thorough and fair she is representing the chairman; she has done an excellent job. Mike Reynolds and others on Senator MCCAIN's side have all done well. Senator GORTON's staff. He was fairly bright and smart when he brought Brett Hale from Kentucky on his staff. He is one of the people around here who definitely understands Kentucky Wildcat basketball, and we can talk together about that on occasion. And Jeanne Bumpus on Senator GORTON's staff; Jim Drewry and Carl Bentzel, Dave Regan and others on my side.

But there is one you have to depend on, one who is the leader, one who comes and sits down and we work through the problems and then get the challenge to go and get it settled and come back and see where we are and keep you informed and keep you moving. Sam Whitehorn is that kind of fellow, and I am going to miss him. He and I have become good friends. I don't look at him as a staff person. I look at him as a member of the family, because he is. He is dedicated, and wants to get the job done. And sometimes he has to do maybe what he didn't exactly like to do, but I made the decision. Sam has been a good soldier through the whole thing, and I am grateful to him.

Mr. President, as we end this part of the aviation bill, I again thank my colleagues, and I look forward to being down in Kentucky to see some of this work I have done, to watch it grow there, because we need as much help as any other State. I am grateful for the opportunity I have had, and I thank the chairman again. Some people think he is tough and rough and that sort of thing, but he really has a soft spot. Now, if you can find that soft spot, you can get along with him. Sometimes it is difficult to find it. But you see him laughing. That is the kind of association we have had. I look forward to working with him to complete this bill, working in conference, so that when we leave here sometime mid-October we can leave knowing we have done the best we could, that we have tried to be responsible to the people we represent in this great country of ours.

Mr. President, I yield the floor.

Mr. MCCAIN addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Arizona.

Mr. MCCAIN. Mr. President, I join Senator FORD in thanking the staff for their contributions: John Raidt, Ann Choiniere, Michael Reynolds, Lloyd Ator, Scott Verstandig, Brad Sabala, and Bill Winter on the Commerce Committee staff; Ivan Schlager, Sam Whitehorn, Jim Drewry, and Becky Kojm with Senator HOLLINGS' staff; Brett Hale and Jeanne Bumpus with Senator GORTON; and David Regan with Senator FORD. Charles Chambers and Tom Zoeller, who are no longer Senate staffers, made efforts in making this legislation happen. Also, Mr. President, because of the scope associated with this bill, we have negotiated with literally every Senator and their staff members on various provisions of this bill, and I thank all of them, also.

But obviously, Mr. President, I wish to express again my deep and profound appreciation to the Senator from Kentucky for his efforts on this legislation and many, many other aviation bills that have moved through the Senate during my time here. I think it is a very small token that the bill before us is named for him. He deserves that recognition and much, much more.

Mr. President, Senator FORD has been a Member of the U.S. Senate for 24 years. That is a long time, even in the history of the U.S. Senate. I have had the privilege of working with him for 12. When I first came to the Commerce Committee 12 years ago, I spent a lot of time with Senator FORD then and in the intervening years, especially on aviation issues, because he is regarded, perhaps, as the most knowledgeable Member of the U.S. Senate on those issues.

Senator FORD is also known—as I think, perhaps, I may be to some extent—as a person who fights fiercely for the principles that he believes in, for what he believes is right as God gave him the right to see it. And he also is a strong advocate for his party. I noted, while looking at his biography this morning—I was scanning it—not only is he a former Governor, but for 6 years he was the chairman of the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee. I know that there are many times when he and his colleagues yearn for those golden days of yesteryear.

Mr. FORD. No, we lost then.

Mr. MCCAIN. Did you? But Senator FORD has obviously served his party with distinction as well. Around this place you have the opportunity of working with your colleagues on a variety of issues, but I do not believe that I have observed anyone as effective, as single-minded, and as dedicated as the Senator from Kentucky. Yes, we have had fierce differences of opinion which have always been resolved at the end of the day with a smile and a handshake. I have learned from those encounters. I believe one of the great learning experiences of my life was in 1990 when Senator FORD was responsible for a massive restructuring of the aviation system in America. The impact of that will be felt well into the next century.

I watched him guide that legislation through all the rocks and shoals of the process around here, and it emerged as a landmark piece of legislation.

I am proud to have learned from him. I am proud to have worked with him and to be associated with him on a broad variety of various areas. Most of all, I will be pleased many years from now to be able to call him my friend. So I thank him. I look forward to observing that same fierce determination as we do battle with the folks on the other side, to try to maintain this legislation intact as it has been reported out through the Senate.

As has often been observed, the Senator from Kentucky is not dying, he is just leaving the Senate.

Mr. FORD. Thanks.

Mr. MCCAIN. We will, for many, many years in the future, work with the Senator from Kentucky and maintain our close relationships with him. I know I speak for every Member on my side of the aisle when I say that.

Mr. President, I yield the floor.

Mr. FORD. Thank you, JOHN. I appreciate it very much.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from North Dakota.

Mr. DORGAN. Mr. President, let me add my words of admiration for the work done by Senator FORD. He has been an important part of the Senate for many years and has done some very important things for his country and the Senate will miss very much the service that he has offered. He is in the leadership, has been for many years on the Democratic side of the aisle. But he is fiercely independent. He is smart. He is tough, and he has all the qualities that you look for in a good legislator. He will, in my judgment, for many, many years be remembered as one of the really outstanding legislators in this body, and I feel very fortunate to have been able to serve with him. I just wanted to add those words to the words offered by the Senator from Arizona.

Mr. LOTT. Mr. President, I rise to recognize the importance of today's passage of the Federal Aviation Administration Reauthorization bill. Today is a great day for rural America's air passengers. This legislation, now known as the Wendell H. Ford National Air Transportation System Improvement Act of 1998, will bring much needed air service to underserved communities throughout the Nation. It will grant billions of dollars in Federal funds to our Nation's small airports for upgrades, through the Airport Improvements Program (AIP).

Additionally, Senator MCCAIN, chairman of the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation, is to be commended for his superb leadership on this complex and contentious measure. Together with Senator FORD, their joint efforts moved this bill through the committee and to the Senate floor in such a manner that the amendment process went smoothly.

It is only fitting that this must-pass legislation be named after such a worthy Senator. WENDELL FORD has spent nearly 24 years as a Member of this body. For the last 10 years, I have enjoyed working with Senator FORD on a variety of issues within the jurisdiction of the Senate Commerce Committee. Through his leadership on this legislation, Senator FORD has proven himself as a champion of rural aviation issues. The Senate will certainly miss his guidance and insight. Likewise, the Senate will miss his wry, biting humor.

Rural Americans are the biggest winners with the passage of the Ford Act. Citizens of underserved communities will no longer have to travel hundreds of miles and several hours to board a plane. This legislation gives incentives to domestic air carriers and its affiliates to reach out to these people and serve them conveniently near their homes. Many Americans will be able to travel a reasonable distance to gain access to our Nation's skies and, from there, anywhere they wish to go.

Mr. President, I also applaud the hard work of Senator BILL FRIST of Tennessee. He added provisions to the Ford Act to expand small community air service. His dedicated efforts ensured that underserved cities like Knoxville, Chattanooga, and Bristol/Johnson City are now in a position to receive additional or expanded air service.

The major policy changes in the Ford Act led to hard fought but honest disagreements. I have enormous respect for the efforts of Senators JOHN WARNER, JIM INHOFE, and KAY BAILEY HUTCHISON as they diligently advocated for their constituents and their respective States. This honest debate is what makes it exciting to serve in the United States Senate. I was very pleased by the efforts of Senators SLADE GORTON and ARLEN SPECTER to address a very sensitive issue, while resolving it in a true Senate fashion—a consensus which will prove to be beneficial to both sides of the debate.

Throughout the last 12 months, my home State of Mississippi has received Federal support from the AIP to make needed physical improvements. A portion of these funds went to the Bobby L. Chain Municipal Airport in Hattiesburg to rehabilitate their existing runway pavement and lights. Other funds were allocated to the Jackson International Airport to construct a new taxiway and apron. These enhancements are needed. And this bill will ensure that the AIP will continue uninterrupted. AIP's reauthorization within the Ford Act will allow Mississippi to continue to receive funds for essential enhancements for the upcoming year. I look forward to working with the airport authorities in my home State to make sure that the right improvements are made at the right airports. This is about safety and about economic growth.

No legislative initiation is ever possible without the dedicated efforts of staff, and I want to take a moment to identify those who worked hard to prepare the Ford Act for consideration by the full Senate.

From the Senate Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation: Mark Buse; Ann Choiniere; Jim Drewry; Becky Kojm; John Raidt; Mike Reynolds; Ivan Schlager; Scott Verstandig; and Sam Whitehorn.

The following staff also participated on behalf of their Senators: David Broome; Steve Browning; Jeanne Bumpus; Nat Grubbs; Brett Hale; Katrina Hardin; Dan Renberg; Pam Sellars; Ellen Stein; Ben Thompson; and Clay Williams.

Mr. President, these individuals worked very hard on the Wendell H. Ford National Air Transportation System Improvement Act of 1998 and the Senate owes them a debt of gratitude for their dedicated service to this legislation.

Mr. President, our Nation's small communities are a step closer to receiving long-sought air service. Also, America's smaller, yet important air strips and airports will be enhanced. This is good for all Americans.

MORNING BUSINESS

Mr. McCAIN. Mr. President, for the information of Members, we are still working on a unanimous consent agreement on the Internet Tax Freedom Act between now and 10:30.

I now ask unanimous consent that there be a period for the transaction of routine morning business until 10:30, with Senators permitted to speak for up to 10 minutes each.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. HAGEL). Without objection, it is so ordered.

UNANIMOUS CONSENT REQUEST— S. 442

Mr. McCAIN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent it be in order for the majority leader, after notification of the Democratic leader, to turn to S. 442, the Internet tax bill and immediately after the reporting by the clerk, the Commerce Committee amendment be agreed to, and immediately following that action, the Finance Committee substitute be agreed to and considered original text for the purpose of further amendments.

I also ask unanimous consent that, during the Senate's consideration of S. 442 or the House companion bill, that only relevant amendments be in order.

Finally, I ask that the Senate proceed to the bill at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. GORTON). Is there objection?

Mr. GRAHAM. Mr. President, I object.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Objection is heard. The Senator from Arizona.

Mr. McCAIN. I heard the objection from the Senator from Florida. I deeply regret that.

The Senator from Florida, as I understand it, is insisting on a specific result in this legislation. We never do that. The Senator from Florida knows that. We don't insist on a specific result.

We would be more than happy to listen to the amendment of the Senator from Florida. We would be glad to debate it. Perhaps I could even support it. But, frankly, what the Senator from Florida is doing right here—the other 99 Senators are in agreement—by objecting to us moving forward to the bill that is vital to the future of the economy of this Nation, I think the Senator from Florida takes on a very large responsibility.

I want to tell the Senator from Florida I am going to file cloture right now and we are going to have a vote. And I also want to tell the Senator from Florida that because of that, we will delay, again, consideration of this very important bill. We will move forward. I do not understand why the Senator from Florida, after having a commitment of mine, that of the Senator from Oregon and everybody else, to give the kind of consideration that he deserves, and ample debate, unlimited debate on his amendment and a willingness to work with him—because the Senator from Florida knows that there is a Senator on this side who cannot agree to the language of the amendment that he is insisting on. That is what debate is all about.

We just finished a bill, an omnibus aviation bill, where everybody sat down together. The Senator from Oregon was very unhappy with one of the results, as were a number of other Senators, including this one. But we worked the process.

So I again urge the Senator from Florida to withdraw his objection, especially when faced with the inevitability that this cloture motion is going to be agreed to, probably 99 to 1.

Mr. President, I ask, again, unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to the bill at this time.

Several Senators addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. GRAHAM. I object.

INTERNET TAX FREEDOM ACT— MOTION TO PROCEED

CLOTURE MOTION

Mr. McCAIN. Mr. President, I still have the floor.

In light of the objection, I now move to proceed to the consideration of S. 442 and I send a cloture motion to the desk. I announce this cloture vote would occur on Tuesday of next week.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The cloture motion having been presented under rule XXII, the Chair directs the clerk to read the motion.

The legislative clerk read as follows:

CLOTURE MOTION

We the undersigned Senators, in accordance with the provision of Rule XXII of the Standing Rules of the Senate, do hereby move to bring to a close debate on the motion to proceed to Calendar No. 509, S. 442, the Internet legislation:

Trent Lott, John McCain, Dan Coats, Chuck Hagel, Larry Craig, Christopher

Bond, Wayne Allard, Paul Coverdell, Tim Hutchinson, Jim Inhofe, Mike DeWine, Dirk Kempthorne, Strom Thurmond, Jeff Sessions, Conrad Burns, and Robert F. Bennett.

Mr. McCAIN. I now ask the mandatory quorum under rule XXII be waived.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection to the motion to waive the mandatory quorum? Without objection, it is so ordered.

The Senator from Arizona.

Mr. McCAIN. Mr. President, let me just point out the President of the United States is in Silicon Valley today and the people in Silicon Valley were under the impression that we were going to move forward with this bill and resolve it next week. I hope that is duly noted.

Several Senators addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Oregon.

Mr. WYDEN. Mr. President, I am very hopeful that the Senate will not have to get into this cloture matter with respect to the Internet tax bill. The Senator from Florida is one of the Senators that I most respect in this body. I find myself agreeing with him on just about everything that comes before the Senate. As he knows, we have, over many, many months, tried to address the host of legitimate concerns that the States have. We have a number of Governors—the Senator from Florida having served as Governor, as have others here—who know a tremendous amount about this. I have tried to make clear, as the principal sponsor of this legislation, all we are seeking is technological neutrality with respect to the Internet. The Internet would be treated like everything else—nothing favorable, nothing discriminatory.

Because many of the Nation's Governors are concerned about other issues, particularly the question of out-of-State sales, this legislation, S. 442, has become a magnet for a variety of other issues.

The sponsors, Senator McCRAIN and I, especially have, in my view, done somersaults now to make sure there was a fair evaluation of all the important issues with respect to out-of-State sales. Let me say, in doing that, there have been a number of other Senators—Senator GREGG and Senator LIEBERMAN—who I think have been very fair in an effort to try to get to a compromise on this matter. As the Senator from Florida knows, just a few minutes ago Senator McCRAIN and I were willing to make additional changes in the managers' amendment to ensure that there would be a fair study of both the Internet and commercial activities, which is the precise language that the Governors have sought.

I don't think there is anything else that Senator McCRAIN, I, or others can offer at this point to ensure that a fair and objective set of studies and analyses go on by the commission.

I hope that if there continues to be opposition to this legislation, that those who oppose the legislation simply say that they are opposed and not, in effect, produce a situation which I think is going to turn what ought to be a bipartisan and thoughtful fight into what will be a very bloody battle.

I see my friend from North Dakota here. The Senator from North Dakota has had strong views on this, and over many, many months we have been negotiating on it. He did not come to the floor today to object as a result of that work, nor did Senator BUMPERS.

I am hopeful that particularly Senators on the Democratic side are not going to force what I think will be a very unfortunate and bloody fight with respect to a bill that has undergone more than 30 separate and important changes since it was originally introduced to accommodate the concerns of the States and localities. Those folks were very, very opposed when this discussion started. They raised legitimate issues. We have sought to deal with them. I am hopeful we will be able to go to a motion to proceed early next week and not have a bitter fight as I think we have over cloture.

Let me conclude by way of saying that I and my staff are prepared to continue to work around the clock with the Senator from Florida and others who may have questions about how this legislation will affect the States, but let us go forward in an effort to try to resolve this and not just get to a solution with respect to one section and then say, "Well, I have another one that we have to deal with," which, regrettably, has been the case. I have enormous respect for the Senator from Florida and I think one of the more unpleasant tasks is to have an argument with him. I hope this can be resolved.

Mr. President, I yield the floor.

Mr. GRAHAM addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Florida.

Mr. GRAHAM. Mr. President, I appreciate those kinds words from my good friend from Oregon. I share the hope that we can arrive at a reasoned resolution of this matter.

I will briefly state why I think this is such an important piece of legislation. First is fundamental fairness. We have a situation now in which remote commerce—that is, commerce that is not conducted through the traditional retail sales outlet—is effectively exempted from State sales taxes. The same sweater that one would buy at the local department store, subject to local and State sales taxes, is exempt from those taxes, for practical purposes, if it is purchased by a remote sale, either the traditional postal sales or by the newer electronic commerce.

The U.S. Supreme Court has ruled that that degree of unfairness as to taxability of the form of sales is a decision which has been made by the Congress. It is, as Harvey Cox once observed, not to decide is to decide. Our decision not to authorize the States to impose a tax on the seller using a remote sales method has resulted in the inability of the States to impose that tax.

Therefore, as we are looking at the issue of Internet sales, those of us who are concerned about this unfairness in the marketplace where our local merchants are required to collect the sales tax and, therefore, are subject to the competitive disadvantage of their remote sales brethren who are not—that this commission should study that issue. That is one of the concerns that those of us who have been negotiating on this matter want to see achieved.

But there is really a larger issue at stake here, Mr. President. Many of our States, including my own, are very heavily dependent upon the sales tax as the means for financing their basic responsibilities, and the most basic responsibility of State government is education. In my State, some 35 to 40 percent of its tax collections, which are predominantly sales tax, are used to finance education.

What is happening is that as the new forms of commerce, particularly electronic commerce, become more attractive and more available and more familiar, they are gathering a larger and larger share of all retail sales in the United States. If we adopt the policy that they should not be subject to tax, as we have adopted the policy by inaction that postal long distance sales should not be subject to tax, we are going to substantially erode the ability of State government to carry out its most fundamental responsibility, which is to educate the next generation of Americans.

That is the fundamental issue which I think is at stake here. The idea of having a short pause so that we can arrive at a rational way to deal with all of these issues is appealing. I think the idea of this bill, as reported by the Finance Committee, to have a 2-year pause in any discriminatory taxation relative to Internet sales or charges to have access to the Internet, and during that period to have a commission that would look at all of this interrelated set of issues, is a proposition that I can support.

I just want to be personally satisfied that, in fact, that is going to be the result and that the result will not be a skewed study that will exclude some of the most important aspects of this and which, by saying that we are going to treat Internet commerce the same way as we do other remote commerce, answers the question before it is asked, because we know how other forms of remote commerce are dealt with; i.e., they are exempt from State sales taxes. If we say the Internet shall be treated in an equivalent manner, we have preordained how it is going to be treated; i.e., exempt from State sales taxes, and we have further preordained that the States' fiscal capacity to carry out their important functions, particularly education, will be eroded.

Mr. President, that is why I have had this degree of disagreement with some of my best friends and colleagues in this Chamber, the Senator from Oregon and the Senator from Arizona. I don't believe that we are that far apart in terms of finding the set of words and phrases that will carry out our joint intention, and I hope that between now and Tuesday we can achieve that goal and be able to have a consideration. I recognize that once this bill is up, there will be policy differences among the different parties. The National Governors' Association feels very strongly about this legislation as it impacts the ability of the States to meet their responsibilities, and those views deserve to get a proper airing.

I also recognize that the House has already passed a companion bill to this but which is somewhat different from the bill that is before the Senate. So there will be a conference committee. There will be further reforms on this matter.

My concerns are fairness in the marketplace and the ability of the States to be able to carry out their responsibilities, especially the responsibility which I think the American people feel is the principal national challenge today, which is to properly educate the next generation of Americans so that they will be able to compete in a world of electronic commerce.

Mr. President, I appreciate the opportunity to have made those clarifying remarks and yield the floor.

Mr. DORGAN addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from North Dakota.

THREE ITEMS OF CONCERN ON THE SENATE'S AGENDA

Mr. DORGAN. Mr. President, I want to make some comments on three items that are left on the Senate's agenda that I am very concerned about. The Senate is going to continue, for apparently 2 additional weeks, and try to adjourn for the year and finish the 105th Congress on October 9th or October 10th. In the 2 short weeks that remain, I am told that we will consider H.R. 10, the financial modernization bill, fast-track trade authority for new trade treaties, and a substantial tax cut.

I want to describe how easy it is, with a small amount of time left, to make big mistakes. I am mindful there will be much disagreement about these three items. And I am also mindful back in my hometown one of the older fellas who was the wise sage said, "It's hard to tell the difference between the open minded and the empty headed. They dress alike."

Let me describe these three issues and tell you what I think is empty headed about the attempt to try to pass these three pieces of legislation in the final 2 weeks of a legislative session.

FINANCIAL MODERNIZATION

First, H.R. 10, the Financial Services Act of 1998. H.R. 10 is a huge piece of legislation that deals with the financial institutions of this country and the methods by which they are involved in various kinds of activities.

We have had some experience in this country with the mixing of different kinds of enterprises—banks whose deposits are insured to $100,000, by the American taxpayer I might say; banks, those who are speculating in real estate, those who are involved in securities activities, those who are selling insurance; those kinds of financial activities.

We have had some experience in this country putting a number of those together in one institution and then seeing, through speculation, one part of the institution weakening and eroding the other part of the institution that caused massive bank failures in our country. The result was in the 1930s and this country said let's not forget what happened here. Let's not allow this to happen again, and let's create certain circumstances that would prevent us from merging banking enterprises whose very existence depends on the perception of safety and soundness—not unsafety and soundness, but on whether people perceive the institution to be safe and sound. Their very existence depends on that.

Let's not threaten again the banking institutions by fusing together financial conglomerates that merge banks with the more speculative enterprises of securities and insurance, or even commerce.

The American public has in this century paid a heavy price for the mistakes in those areas and put together walls in the form of legislation to prevent it from happening again. H.R. 10 is an attempt to bring the walls down. It says, "Let's create a kind of financial fruit salad here. Let's decide we can merge all of these again. We can put all of these together and we can build firewalls, and you'll never feel the heat in between and it will never threaten bank institutions and the American taxpayer will not be put at risk."

I guarantee you this, that if this Congress passes in the final hours, H.R. 10, financial modernization legislation, it will result almost immediately in exacerbating the orgy of mergers that now exists in this country with big banks, and an orgy of mergers that will not only include banks, but will continue to include, at a greater pace, banks with the other kinds of financial enterprises I just described.

And 20 years or 30 years from now they will look back at this Congress and this period and say, "How on Earth could they have thought that that made sense? How could they have possibly thought that was in the public interest? How could they have forgotten the lessons that they learned in the 1920s and 1930s that resulted in the legislation that had protected us?"

I know that there are some big interests around this town who want this bill to pass. There is a great deal of lobbying on its behalf. But I feel so strongly that to do this in the final 2 weeks of a legislative session would have such enormous consequences and pose such substantial risks for our country that I am going to resist with all of my effort the motion to proceed and in every other way to see if we cannot slow this train down on behalf of the American citizens.

I know it sounds attractive. I know some say, "This is creating a new financial blueprint for our institutions for the future, allowing them to compete at home and abroad. It's now a global economy." What it is is forgetting the lessons of the past. It will be a replay, in some ways, of the Garn-St Germain bill of the early 1980s in which they unhitched the S&Ls and said, It is OK. You go broker deposits. You load up with risky junk bonds. You can become Roman candles. Take a small S&L and turn it into a giant S&L with broker deposits, and you can do a whole range of other things, and it is fine—and the American taxpayer got stuck with a nearly $500 billion bailout for that fiasco.

If this bill passes, there will be massive, massive mergers once again. And they have already been going on at an unprecedented and unhealthy pace in the banking industry and other related financial industries. So that is one big mistake I hope this Congress will avoid in the remaining days of this session. And to the extent I have the energy to be able to help them avoid it, I intend to try to do that.

FAST TRACK

Second is fast track. I know that also has a lot of support, fast-track trade authority. Just the very words "fast track" connote lack of preparation. Fast track, fast food—you just go down the line on what "fast" precedes, and it describes well "fast track."

Fast track means you create a trade agreement negotiated in secret, behind locked doors someplace, probably in most cases overseas, and bring it to Congress and say to Congress, "You weren't there when we negotiated this trade agreement, but you have no right to offer amendments to it."

The last three trade agreements under fast track have been incompetent. I voted against all three. In each case we have, as a result of it, had higher and higher trade deficits—Canada, Mexico, GATT—record trade deficits. This country is choking on trade deficits. I think to bring fast track to the floor of the House and the Senate in the final 2 weeks is regrettable.

I will, again, to the extent I have any capability of slowing this down, there will be nothing fast about it. If I can create a legislative bog through which they cannot pull this fast track, I guarantee you I will object to every circumstance that allows anybody to short-circuit any amount of time to try to get fast track through this Congress. It is not in this country's interest to continue that kind of trade policy.

A TAX CUT AND THE SOCIAL SECURITY TRUST FUNDS

The third item is an $80 billion tax cut paid for with Social Security trust funds. Some say, "Well, that's not the way it's paid for." Show me the money. Where do you get the money? You get the money for a big tax cut by taking Social Security trust funds that are in a fund that is preceded by the word "trust." Taking those trust funds and saying these now represent the resources by which we can offer a tax cut is not the way to do this country's business.

When we have that debate—and I expect we will next week or the week after—it will be an aggressive debate because some of us are fiercely determined never to let that happen. I recall when we had the constitutional amendment to balance the budget on the floor of the Senate, I voted against it. In fact, it lost by one vote. Had some folks pretty upset with that vote. I said, "It's not that I don't want to balance the budget, I do." I helped play a role in balancing or nearly balancing this country's budget, not by writing something in the Constitution, but by doing the kinds of things you need to do on a day-to-day basis, to do things on taxing and spending that really does balance the budget. But to write into the Constitution a proviso that says, "Let's balance the budget by describing all revenue coming in as operating revenue" is to mistreat the Social Security trust funds once again. And to actually write it in the Constitution of the United States, that does not make any sense to me.

It does not make any sense to me in the final 2 weeks of a legislative session coming up to an election for anybody to say we are going to package up $80 billion in tax cuts so we can say to the American people we are offering tax cuts, when in fact the money by which they offer these tax cuts is to take the money out of the Social Security trust funds and make them available for tax cuts.

Those moneys are not available. Those moneys were collected from paychecks in this country. The paychecks are a result of the work of the American people, and they are told "We're going to take some money from that paycheck to put into a trust fund because it is needed when you retire to make Social Security viable."

Then somebody comes along and says we are changing the words "trust fund"; we will just drop "trust." Maybe we should amend that to the extent they want to bring $80 billion in tax cuts to the floor, paid for by Social Security trust funds. Perhaps we ought to require them to take the "trust" out of the trust fund name. That will, in my judgment, certainly abridge the trust that is supposed to exist with those trust funds.

Those are three big mistakes in a very short time. The potential, in a small amount of time, to make big mistakes is very substantial: H.R. 10, fast track, and tax cuts.

I have a lot of things I want to get done, others have a lot of things they want to do, and in most cases we work closely together and have good relationships, but on large public policy issues like this it seems to me we ought to be very careful. I feel very strongly about all three of these areas. All three, in my judgment, would be a mistake.

I yield the floor, and I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The bill clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

PATIENTS' BILL OF RIGHTS

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. President, here we are, Friday at 11 o'clock. Most Americans are out working the fifth day of the week, and the Senate is in a quorum call while we have important business to attend to. None is more important, I think, than the consideration of the Patients' Bill of Rights. I took time yesterday on the floor of the Senate when we had a long quorum call, asking why we weren't debating the Patients' Bill of Rights, as I did the day before. And here we are mid-morning on a Friday—a workday for most Americans—just going through the motions before recessing, with a cloture vote scheduled late Monday afternoon.

We could debate this issue all day today, could debate the issue all day on Monday, and we could have some resolution to the kinds of protections that we are talking about in the Patients' Bill of Rights. We have written these protections into legislation and we have described these protections on the floor. We have challenged our friends on the other side, the Republican leadership, to permit us an opportunity to debate and vote on the kind of protections that are outlined in the legislation introduced by Senator DASCHLE.

However, we have been denied the opportunity to bring up this legislation, and to debate these various protections. Instead, we have continued in the Senate to move forward on other pieces of legislation which, as important as they are, don't measure up to what I think most families are concerned with—and that is ensuring the protection of the health of themselves, their children, and their parents.

Endorsements of various groups and individuals are important in some instances, less so in other instances. But I daresay that in this particular instance virtually all of the leaders in the health debate—certainly the doctors, nurses, and patient coalitions—have endorsed our proposal. We have been asking the Republican leadership for the names of the organizations that endorse their program. And we are still waiting to hear from the other side which medical professional groups have endorsed or supported the Republicans in this debate. I do not think there are any leading groups that support their plan, while virtually all support our legislation. Still, we are denied the opportunity to debate these issues.

Now, yesterday Senator GRAMM took the floor for an extended period of time to attack our plan. He said that the Republican solution was a new kind of insurance policy called medical savings accounts. The fact is that our bill takes medical decisionmaking out of the hands of the insurance company accountants and puts it back where it belongs, with the patients and the doctors. The Republican program is a sham and it gives the appearance of reform without the reality.

I was struck by the fact that my friend, Senator GRAMM, accuses the American people of wanting something for nothing, of wanting a "free lunch." I object to this characterization of the patients who want protections from the health insurance company abuses. That is what we are basically talking about. What is at the heart of the legislation that we support is ensuring that medical professionals—doctors, nurses, and the trained medical professionals—make medical decisions. Those who are opposed want to maintain the status quo. They want to permit, in too many instances, insurance company accountants to make medical decisions.

Now, a number of HMOs work well. Managed care in its best form can be good for patients. There are even a number of HMOs that support our particular proposal. And portions of our legislation are drawn from standards adopted voluntarily by some plans. But the problem is the bad apples that reach their medical decisions not on the basis of what is necessary from a medical point of view, but what is necessary from a bottom line point of view or the profit point of view of the HMO. That is the fundamental, basic issue. That is it.

The good HMOs are complying with the kinds of protections that we have here. But a great many of other HMOs are not. We want to make sure that the patients are going to get what they pay for and what they are entitled to, and that their medical decisions are made by medical personnel and not accountants for insurance companies.

Now, that fact is not understood by the Senator from Texas. What he has basically done in his presentation yesterday is accuse the American people of wanting something for nothing—I use his words: "a free lunch." Those are the words the Senator used. Mr. President, I object to the characterization of patients who want protection from health insurance company abuse as patients who want a free lunch.

I don't think a cancer patient who needs access to a specialist or a cancer treatment center wants a free lunch. I don't think that a family with a child experiencing seizures is asking for a free lunch when they want to rush their child to the nearest emergency room, and their HMO, in an emergency, requires instead that they go all the way across town to another emergency room. That type of response can risk the life and the health of that particular child. I don't think those parents who are saying, "Why can't I take my child to the nearest emergency room?" are asking for a free lunch. I don't think a woman whose doctors say she needs to stay in the hospital after a mastectomy, even though her insurance company wants to send her home in pain, with tubes still dangling from her body, is asking for a free lunch.

All of these examples I am using are examples we have presented to the U.S. Senate day in and day out over the period of the past many months. All of those particular situations are addressed in our Patients' Bill of Rights.

I would have hoped that the Senator from Texas at least would have urged the Republican leadership to permit us to debate this and let the Senate resolve these particular issues. That is where we would have the opportunity to make our respective presentations and call the roll on these matters, as to whether these requests amount to "free lunches." Let him make his presentation, and those of us who are strong supporters of the Patients' Bill of Rights can respond and make a presentation to the Senate. Then let the Senate make a decision as to whether those individuals are trying to have a free lunch.

I don't think a doctor who is penalized for telling patients about the best available treatment is asking for a free lunch. In too many HMOs, when doctors make that kind of judgment and tell that patient they ought to have a treatment that is not on the plan's list, is that they are effectively fired, or they are not rehired at the end of the year. The insurance companies and Republicans can say this isn't a gag rule. But the fact that they are not hired back when they are dismissed is effectively a gag rule. That is what is happening in too many circumstances. I don't think that the patient who is getting the best advice from that doctor, at the risk of that doctor's employment, is asking for a free lunch.

I don't think an individual suffering from terrible mental illness, like schizophrenia or clinical depression, who wants effective pharmaceutical products to treat the illness rather than the older, ineffective, but cheaper medication that happened to be on the plan listing, is asking for a free lunch. That is happening in America today and will continue today and tomorrow, and it will continue day after day in the future unless we address that issue here.

This isn't just my opinion or the opinion of our cosponsors. We have the strong support of the leaders of the medical organizations, doctors, psychiatrists, psychologists, social workers, nurses, and others who know firsthand that the various HMOs are doing these things. We have heard from countless patients who have been told, "You can't get the good kind of medications that are necessary to meet your particular health care needs until you use these other ones and demonstrate to us, not just once, but twice, that they just don't work." This puts a patient's health at risk. That is happening today. Look right here on the chart, Mr. President—"access to the doctor prescribed drugs." But the Senator from Texas says, well, that particular patient is just looking for a free lunch. These Americans don't want something for nothing, and it is insulting of the Senator from Texas to suggest that they do. They have faithfully paid their premiums and they deserve quality care.

These companies don't mind going out and representing that they have a whole range of different quality programs to get individuals into their HMO. But, too often, insurance companies then deny the individuals the kind of health quality protections they need when they get ill. That is what is happening.

That is where there is bureaucracy; the bureaucracy is in that HMO that refuses to give the best in terms of health care to the patient. All we are requiring is that they just give the patient what they paid for, what HMO represented in terms of quality health care. They are not doing it. They are not doing it in the ways listed on this chart, Mr. President.

These are not just made up categories of care; these have been recommended by the President's nonpartisan commission, and by Congress for the Medicare program. These are recommendations that have come from State insurance commissioners. These are recommendations that have been made by the health plans themselves. They are the ones who made these recommendations. We didn't just pull this out of the blue.

These are protections that those who know the condition of what is happening in America have recommended to us. That is what this debate ought to be about.

Mr. President, the American consumer has faithfully paid for their premiums. They deserve quality care. The characterization of it by the Senator from Texas is typical of the attitude that the Republican leadership has taken toward this issue. They want to allow insurance companies to continue to put the profits first and patients last—all driven by the bottom line.

You can solve these issues and problems by having the decisions affecting the quality made by the doctors. There is not a great mystery about what the solution is.

But no. We do not hear that from the opponents. They want to allow the insurance companies to continue to put the profits first. That is why they have offered a sham bill. That is why they won't allow the Senate to have a chance to debate and vote on this issue. That is why they are trying to change the subject to medical savings accounts. They don't want to debate this issue. They refuse to debate this issue. They want to debate another issue and divert attention away from the real issues in this discussion.

They do not want to talk about clinical trials and their importance for women with breast cancer. They do not want to talk about the ability to have the pediatric specialist for children with dread diseases. They don't want to debate those issues. They don't want to debate the question about giving the family the right to be able to go to the nearest emergency room rather than across town. They don't want to debate that issue. Which of these do they not want to debate? We challenge the Republican leadership to tell us.

But day after day we go on with the charade of trying to get cloture to prohibit any kind of amendments and any kind of debate on these issues—day after day, issue after issue. That is wrong. It is absolutely categorically wrong.

We are committed to trying to have this kind of debate and discussion on, as Senator DASCHLE has said on many occasions, a reasonable way to proceed. But, quite frankly, we see day in and day out the Republican leadership attempting to do to the U.S. Senate what many of these HMOs are doing to their patients—gagging their doctors so they can't give them the right kind of health advice. The Republican leadership is gagging the Senate by saying: We will only permit you to bring this up if we have one vote—one vote—and do it now with no debate.

Why aren't we debating this on Friday at 11 o'clock this morning, or this afternoon, or on Monday when millions of Americans are going back to work? Why aren't we debating these issues? Why aren't we, Mr. President? It is silence on the other side. It is silence on the other side. They are trying to gag us from debating these issues. They are trying to protect the profits of those HMOs that refuse to provide the right kind of treatment by refusing us the opportunity to address these issues. They are basically protecting those various special interests and denying to virtually every major consumer group, and every major medical professional group their voice here in the Senate on these points. They refuse to let us even debate these issues. And the American people understand it.

The American people want Congress to pass strong and effective legislation to end the abuses of HMOs, managed care plans, and health insurance companies. They want us to pass the Patients' Bill of Rights, which was introduced by Senator DASCHLE and Senate Democrats, to provide the needed and long overdue antidote to these festering and growing abuses.

Our goal is to protect the patients and to see that insurance plans provide the quality plan they promise but, too often, fail to deliver. Our bill has been on the Senate calendar since March. An earlier version of the legislation was introduced more than a year and a half ago, but the Senate has taken no action because the Republican leadership has been compounding the HMO abuses by abusing the rules of the Senate to block meaningful reform. This record of abuse should be unacceptable to the Senate. It is certainly unacceptable to the American people.

We held a forum Wednesday in which a letter was released from 36 groups representing patients, families, psychiatrists, psychologists, social workers, and others concerned about quality health care for people with mental illness. As I discussed in a floor statement yesterday, these groups begged the Senate to act to pass a patients' bill of rights, because with every day that passes, patients and their families suffer needlessly because of abuses by managed care plans.

The stories they told were tragic—they involved suicide, spousal abuse, anxiety attacks inflicted on a Vietnam veteran, successful courses of treatment cruelly interrupted—all because insurance companies are putting the bottom line first and their obligations to patients last.

This forum was just the most recent one in which we have heard patients and doctors and nurses pleading with the Republican leadership to act on real managed care reform. In my statement yesterday, I reported on an earlier forum in which we heard from Dr. Charlotte Yeh, an emergency room doctor representing the American College of Emergency Physicians. Dr. Yeh described tragic cases in which patients had been denied the care they needed because of managed care penny-pinching.

On behalf of the college, she endorsed our legislation, and she denounced the Republican leadership alternative as worse than inadequate. Only with a full and fair floor debate can we pass real protection for patients who need emergency care or who should be allowed to go to the nearest emergency room when the symptoms of serious illness strike.

On July 24, we heard from cancer patients and their doctors who explained how critical the provision of the Patients' Bill of Rights was in assuring patients access to quality clinical trials. These trials are often the only hope for patients with incurable cancer or other diseases where conventional treatments are ineffective. They are the best hope for learning to cure these dread diseases. Insurance used to routinely pay the doctor and hospital costs associated with clinical trials—but managed care plans are refusing to allow their patients to participate or to pay these costs.

We understand. When patients are in a clinical trial there isn't a significant increase in terms of the costs to the HMO. It is just the routine doctor costs and hospital costs that they would pay anyway. The trial itself pays for the kinds of additional attention and prescription drugs that are given to these patients. But the insurance companies won't even cover the minimal payments.

Our bill requires them to respond to this need—but the Republican bill does not, and the Senate leadership does not want a debate on this issue.

Fourteen leading organizations of cancer patients, representing the eight million Americans surviving with cancer and the 1.5 million Americans who will be newly diagnosed with cancer this year, have spoken out strongly on the need for this amendment. These are organizations that patients and physicians alike look to for guidance on cancer issues. They include the National Coalition for Cancer Survivorship, Cancer Care, Incorporated, the Candlelighters Childhood Cancer Foundation, the Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation, the National Alliance of Breast Cancer Organizations, the North American Brain Tumor Coalition, US TOO International, the Y-ME National Breast Cancer Society, the American Society of Clinical Oncology, the Alliance for Lung Cancer Advocacy, Support and Education, the Friends of Cancer Research, the Leukemia Society of America, and the Oncology Nursing Society—all groups that speak out for patients who have cancer. They have made their recommendations. They support our legislation. But we are being refused and denied the opportunity to even debate it.

Here is what the combined cancer groups say about this:

Clinical trials represent the standard of care for cancer patients. Patient care in clinical trials is no more important than standard therapy. Cancer will strike roughly one in three Americans during their lifetimes. Even those who escape the diagnosis will have friends and family touched by the disease. Any patient rights or quality care legislation will be a shallow promise for people with cancer if it does not include provisions ensuring access to clinical trials.

That is what we are talking about—clinical trials for individuals who have cancer. Why can't we debate that on the floor of the U.S. Senate on a Friday at noon? Why can't we call the roll for those who believe, as the cancer organizations do, that clinical trials are a critical aspect of treatment, and that most Americans believe when they sign those HMO contracts that they are going to get the best in terms of American health care? And they do with a better HMO. But there are too many that are denying that care. Too many that are risking their lives because they are being denied the opportunity for clinical trials that may offer new hope and opportunity of survival for an individual member of a family. That is unbelievable. But that is happening—denial. Too often the insurance companies offer a shallow promise. But our program ensures these protections. The Republican plan does not.

Mr. President, we see that not one, not a single group that is concerned about the survival of cancer has supported the Republican program. But virtually every major cancer group supports our legislation and believes it is essential to protect American families.

Why can't we debate that on the floor of the U.S. Senate? What is it about? Hard-working Americans—more than 160 million working Americans who are going to work today on Friday at noon?

Why aren't we debating that in the Senate? Why aren't we debating it at 2 o'clock or 5 o'clock or on this coming Monday morning or afternoon? We are prepared to debate these issues. But, no, the Republican leadership refuses to debate them. We are effectively seeing the manipulation of the Senate rules in such a way as to deny the opportunity for full consideration of something that is of core concern and importance to every American family, and that is the quality of their health care.

So, Mr. President, I just want to again reiterate my strong support for our Democratic leader, Senator DASCHLE, who has indicated that we are going to still, even in the final days of this session, continue to pursue this. There are those who say, well, we haven't got enough time. But our Republican friends must think we do have enough time because they are continuing to resist our efforts. They must assume we do have enough time. It is amazing how quickly this body can act when we want to act on important pieces of legislation, and we do have time. So, Mr. President, we will continue to press these issues forward.

I see other of my friends and colleagues in this Chamber. I will continue to address this issue at another time, but it is important to note that we have seen one more week go by and a denial of the request of our Democratic leader to at least have a reasonable period of time to debate these issues and resolve them in a way that would respond to the central concerns of every major medical professional group and society in our country. I am not aware of a single medical society or patient group that supports the Republican plan—not one. We have been waiting to hear one. They can't come up with one. In contrast, more than 180 groups support our particular proposal.

Now, we may not have it all right, and we are interested in discussing adjustments that we may have to make. But 187 groups in our country, representing the cancer societies, the medical professionals, the nurses, the patient groups, working families, and others effectively support our proposal.

Every major children's health organization in our society has endorsed this proposal because they know how important this is for children. Every major breast cancer group in our society that cares about women and understands the enormous possibilities of breakthroughs in terms of the new modern miracle drugs supports our proposal. Every major group that represents persons with disabilities in our country—individuals who are challenged mentally and physically every single day—supports our proposal. And still, because of the manipulation of the Senate rules, we are denied a full debate and discussion and ultimate resolution as to what this body would say to families of this country on such a matter. It is wrong, and we are going to continue to press our case.

I yield the floor.

Mr. BYRD. Mr. President, will the Senator yield?

Mr. KENNEDY. I am glad to yield.

Mr. BYRD. Mr. President, the distinguished Senator from Massachusetts can always be counted upon to stand up for the things in which he believes. He is constantly supporting legislation that is calculated and dedicated to bring better health care to the American people. I support his Patients' Bill of Rights. "Constancy, thou art the jewel." He is always constant in this efforts.

I have been hearing some ads on the radio, and these ads are talking about the "Kennedy Bill of Rights." I don't recall their ever telling us what is wrong with it. They may have been doing it; I have missed that. But I continually see these ads on the television: "Write your Congressman, write your Senator, write your representative, and urge them to defeat the Kennedy Bill of Rights, the health care bill of rights."

Tell me, has the Senator seen those ads, and what are we talking about?

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. President, it is very interesting. I have seen those ads, but I believe they are going to be pulled very soon because what has happened, according to the most recent study by Bob Blendon at Harvard and the Kaiser Family Foundation, is that support for our bill has gone up, quite in conflict with the intentions of those who sponsored the ads that have been critical of the Patients' Bill of Rights. And so now the insurance companies and corporations that oppose the Patients' Bill of Rights are reviewing their television strategy because their campaign has had the reverse effect. They are sort of going back to the drawing board.

But quite clearly, as the Senator implies, their ads certainly were not a fair representation of the legislation that we have introduced. As I mentioned, virtually every one of these proposals in our bill has either been suggested by the President's commission—which was bipartisan and reported its recommendations unanimously—as important for all patients, or included in Medicare at the present time and used in protecting our seniors, or have been embraced by the state insurance commissioners—which are the 50 commissioners around this country, Republicans and Democrats—or adopted voluntarily by the HMOs themselves through their trade association.

This legislation reflects the best judgment of those groups that know this issue best. That is why we have a sense of confidence in this legislation. It has the strong support of those professionals who treat families and understand the kinds of protections that are necessary to give the best of health care to American families.

Mr. BYRD. Mr. President, I thank the Senator for enlightening this Senator in response to the question I asked. I again commend him for his unceasing effort in behalf of this legislation, the Patients' Bill of Rights.

Mr. KENNEDY. I thank the Senator.

MORNING BUSINESS

Mr. MURKOWSKI. Mr. President, on behalf of the leadership, I ask unanimous consent that there be a period for the transaction of morning business until 12:30 with Senators permitted to speak for up to 10 minutes each.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

CLOTURE MOTION CORRECTION—S.

442

Mr. MURKOWSKI. Mr. President, on behalf of the leader, I ask unanimous consent that the name of Senator BURNS be added to the cloture motion in place of the Senator from Wyoming, Mr. ENZI, whose name was inadvertently added to the motion in error.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

NATIONAL CANCER AWARENESS

Mr. MURKOWSKI. Mr. President, I rise to address two matters that are of importance to me. The first is the issue of national cancer awareness.

Mr. President, for the next 3 days, hundreds of thousands of cancer survivors, families, care givers, and friends, whose lives have been affected by cancer will join together in this city for an event called "The March: Coming Together to Conquer Cancer."

Yesterday, other Members of this body and I had an opportunity to place a large star on our respective States to represent special persons in our lives who have been touched by cancer.

I had the pleasure and honor on behalf of my wife, Nancy, to place a star on my State of Alaska for the late Judge Lester Gore, my wife's father. He was a remarkable pioneer in our State. In 1912, Judge Gore moved to Juneau after graduating from law school and established an impressive record as a young deputy district attorney. He was recognized in that effort in 1932 by President Hoover's appointment to serve as a Federal judge for the Territory of Alaska, serving the first judicial district in Nome.

In serving as a Federal judge in the far reaches of western Alaska in the aftermath of the gold rush, Judge Gore traveled from village to village hearing various cases and judging on the merits. He used every mode of transportation from dog team to the former cutter Bear, bringing justice to rural Alaska. He was instrumental in both creating legal precedent and shaping the legal history of our State. Later in his career he worked as an attorney in Ketchikan, and died in 1965 of cancer. He had many accomplishments but none more important to me than fathering a daughter, Nancy, who later was good enough to accept my proposal of marriage.

In addition, I was pleased in my own personal case to recognize my mother, who died of cancer, leukemia, in Alaska in 1956, having spent her entire career in the area of education. She was the longest standing sixth grade teacher in Ketchikan, Alaska.

To move on, for more than 20 years now, my wife, Nancy, has worked with Alaskan women to encourage the establishment of a breast cancer center starting in Fairbanks, Alaska. She and a group of women initiated the Breast Cancer Detection Center for the purpose of offering free mammograms to women in the remote areas of Alaska, regardless of their ability to pay. I am proud to say that the center now serves about 2,500 women a year and provided screenings to more than 25,000 Alaska women in 81 villages throughout the State.

To help fund these efforts of the Fairbanks center, each year my wife has sponsored a fishing tournament to raise money for the operation of the facility and to purchase units. Interestingly enough, over the last 5 years they have raised over $1 million in this effort. They now operate a permanent facility in Fairbanks, as well as a mobile mammogram unit that travels the highways of Alaska providing free breast cancer examinations for the women along the highway system. It looks like a big armored car. More recently, they have purchased a smaller unit called Molly. Molly is designed to go in aircraft to fly out to the villages that are not connected by any road, and by river barge down the rivers of the interior.

So I commend those who are responsible for this effort in my State, a group of women who have taken it upon themselves to do something about this disease, this killer disease which affects all of us. It is anticipated that 40 percent of us will get some form of cancer during our lifetimes. We have had a figure of about 1.5 million Americans being diagnosed this year.

Mr. President, I ask my colleagues to join with me in taking part in the activities here in Washington, D.C., with The march, thereby demonstrating our commitment to end cancer forever.

NORTH KOREA MISSILE TEST

Mr. MURKOWSKI. Mr. President, I would like to address one more issue, with the agreement of my colleagues. I see a number of them on the floor—

Senator BYRD—so I will try to be very brief. But I want to talk a little bit about our national security interests and what is occurring in North Korea. It does not just affect my State of Alaska, although this recent three-stage rocket did generate a little interest in my State because on August 31, 1998, the North Koreans fired a rocket which we now believe is a three-stage rocket carrying a satellite over the sovereign territory of Japan and it evidently came down very close to my home State of Alaska.

Although initial reports indicated that this was a two-stage rocket with a range of approximately 1,200 miles, now there is acknowledgment in the U.S. intelligence community that it was likely a three-stage rocket carrying a satellite. The third stage malfunctioned, consequently the satellite was not launched. But the point is that it has been identified that, indeed, the North Koreans have the rocket capability to carry some type of armament to the shores of the United States.

The Asian press reported that the rocket traveled 3,700 miles, or 6,000 kilometers, and landed in the ocean near Alaska. On September 17, the U.S. Department of Defense spokesman Kenneth Bacon responded to this report by saying:

The only way to track this is by radar tapes and there's considerable disagreement among experts on how to interpret this.

Let's think about what this really means. The only way we have to track this is by radar tapes; in other words, after the fact. But intelligence sources have been quoted as acknowledging that a three-stage rocket could have a range three times that of the two-stage Taepo Dong I rocket. Particularly concerned about this latest missile test, a number of us have recognized that there seems to be a breakdown on whether the administration was either caught off guard by the sophistication of the North Korean technology, or was reluctant to share this information with lawmakers.

I am reminded of President Clinton's comments last year, when he said "[t]he possibility of a long-range missile attack on U.S. soil by a rogue state is more than a decade away."

That does not appear to be the case—as a consequence of the occurrence in August, the last day of August, relative to the North Korean missile which did land within shouting distance of my State of Alaska.

This would ignore the testimony in 1994 by John Deutch, then-Deputy Secretary of Defense:

If North Koreans field the Taepo Dong 2 missile, Guam, Alaska and parts of Hawaii would potentially be at risk.

It appears the North Koreans have gone beyond even what Mr. Deutch envisioned by launching a three-stage rocket carrying a satellite.

There is truly an immediate need for missile defense, Mr. President. MIT professor Daniel Fine has an interesting take on why we need immediate action on a National Missile Defense System which protects all of the United States, including Hawaii, Alaska and our territories. He conclusion is that:

If the $32 billion infrastructure [associated with oil production in my State] in Prudhoe Bay—which produces 1.6 million barrels of oil . . . is subjected to a credible missile threat . . . then the cost to the American economy of a missile threat as economic blackmail would reach $4 billion—$6 billion in the first ten days.

Well Mr. President, I for one do not think it is far fetched to think of Prudhoe Bay as a potential target. After all, it accounts for approximately 20 percent of the total domestic production of crude oil in the United States. While I have not reviewed how the professor reaches the $4 to 6 billion figure, I think it should serve as a wake-up call to those who continue to oppose a National Missile Defense System. It is not just Alaskans, Hawaiians and those in Guam who should be concerned about the launch. Monday's test was the first of a multistage missile. According to experts, the ability to build rockets in stages opens the doors to intercontinental missiles that would have virtually unlimited range and which would carry payloads capable of nuclear, chemical or biological weapons. Such missiles, and the threat of them, certainly puts U.S. citizens at risk as a consequence of any attack coming from North Korea or any other area with a missile that carries weapons of mass destruction.

I think we have to reflect a little bit on the North Koreans. Some would dismiss the threat from North Korea because that country is on the verge of an economic collapse. But I remind my colleagues that North Korea has a history.

Mr. President, we have seen in the past, irrational actions by the North Koreans. You recall this is a country that in 1950 launched an invasion on South Korea, resulting in the deaths of 3 million of her countrymen and 54,000 American troops.

Recall the detonation of a bomb in Rangoon killing 16 South Korean officials; a country whose agents blew up a Korean Airlines flight killing 115 passengers and crew; and a country whose military hacked U.S. personnel to death in the DMZ.

I think we have to recognize there is still a great deal of uncertainty relative to the objectives of North Korea.

Furthermore, as we look at the crisis on the Korean peninsula, the United States has given over $250 million in combined food aid and support for KEDO. The North Koreans have received 1.3 million metric tons of heavy fuel oil.

While the United States has provided humanitarian assistance from time to time, as well as technical assistance, we have also promised large contributions to the $5 billion light water reactor program and also have given food and aid and contributed over $50 million to KEDO.

What have the North Koreans done in return for this assistance? They launched a missile in August. Intelligence photos show work on vast underground construction complexes.

In July of 1998, GAO reported that North Korea has taken actions to hinder work of international inspectors sent to monitor North Korea's nuclear program.

It goes on and on.

As a consequence, I think it is fair to say the administration has treated each of these incidents as if North Korea is merely an innocent child throwing a harmless tantrum, not a terrorist nation home to the world's fourth largest army, just miles away from the 37,000 American troops.

Incident after incident is dismissed by this administration as "not intentional" or not "serious" enough to derail U.S. assistance under the Agreed Framework.

The administration called latest missile launch "a matter of deep concern to the U.S. because of its destabilizing impact in Northeast Asia and beyond," but reiterated its commitment to provide funds under the Agreed Framework.

The administration refuses to say that newly disclosed evidence of underground facility would violate the 1994 accord because "concrete has not been poured."

When a sub full of North Korean commandos landed in South Korea, the administration asked both sides to "show restraint"—as if South Korea was in the wrong.

The administration responded to violations of the Military Armistice Agreement by asking that the issue not be "blown out of proportion."

Issuing polite reprimands from the State Department, while the Administration continues to seek increased funds for activities that benefit North Korea, only encourages bad behavior.

Mr. President, enough is enough. Congress should block further funding for KEDO until the President can certify that North Korea's nuclear program is, indeed, frozen and not simply an ongoing clandestine operation. The United States is a global power with vested interests both politically and commercially all over the world. We simply cannot allow policy to be determined by those who practice missile blackmail.

Mr. President, I yield the floor, and wish the President a good day and a good weekend.

Mr. GRAMM addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Texas.

Mr. GRAMM. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to proceed as in morning business for 25 minutes.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. BYRD. Mr. President, reserving the right to object.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. A reservation of the right to object is heard.

Mr. BYRD. Mr. President, I will not object. I have been waiting here and am very happy to wait longer. I understood the Chair wanted to be recognized for 2 or 3 minutes, also.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair did, but it has gotten too late and he has abandoned that desire.

Mr. GRAMM. Is the Senator from West Virginia waiting to speak? I will be glad to withhold and let him speak and then I will speak.

Mr. BYRD. Mr. President, the Senator is very kind and considerate. I was waiting to speak, but the Senator from Texas may have to go farther, a greater distance than I would have to go if I were going to West Virginia today. I ask unanimous consent that I may be recognized at the completion of the remarks by the distinguished Senator from Texas, Mr. GRAMM.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. BYRD. I am delighted to listen to what the distinguished Senator from Texas has to say.

Mr. GRAMM. Mr. President, let me reiterate, in fact, when the Senator from Alaska finished his speech, Senator BYRD and I were having a conversation. I had thought as I left my office that he had spoken. I assumed that he was simply here listening to the Senator from Alaska.

Again, I reiterate, if the Senator from West Virginia had come over to speak, he was on the floor before I was, and I believe he should be recognized.

Mr. BYRD. No, no, Mr. President, I hope he will not be under the burden of thinking that I have a feeling about this. I am perfectly agreeable to wait a little longer, just so I can get in line immediately after the Senator from Texas.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Texas has the floor.

Mr. GRAMM. Mr. President, this reminds me of the time when I was on the elevator for the first time with Senator THURMOND, and Senator THURMOND insisted that I get off the elevator before he did. I determined when I was on the elevator with Senator THURMOND again that I would not get off the elevator before Senator THURMOND did. But I was wrong. I stood there for almost 2 minutes insisting that Senator THURMOND get off the elevator before I did. In the end, Senator THURMOND had more patience. I got off the elevator first.

Mr. BYRD. Mr. President, will the Senator yield?

Mr. GRAMM. I will be happy to.

Mr. BYRD. I like to try to live according to the Scriptures, which say that the first should be last and the last should be first. I thank the Senator.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. SESSIONS). The Senator from Texas.

HEALTH CARE

Mr. GRAMM. Mr. President, our dear colleague from Massachusetts came over today and responded to a speech I gave yesterday. As he always does—and

I think it is one of the things we admire about him—he spoke with great passion because I think he clearly is one of our Members who cares deeply about these issues. Whether he is right or whether he is wrong, I think we all respect that in one of our fellow Members.

What I would like to try to do is to briefly respond and make the key points that I made yesterday, given that so much reference has been made to the speech of yesterday, and try to make all these points in such a way as to deviate from my background as a former schoolteacher and be brief so that Senator BYRD can give his speech and we can both go home for the weekend.

Yesterday, I made the point, which I am continually struck by, that 5 years ago in the Senate, we were debating a proposal to have the Government take over and run the health care system. A substantial majority of the Members of the Senate at the beginning of that debate, following the lead of Senator KENNEDY and President Clinton, had decided that the problem we had in American health care was access; that 40 million Americans didn't have health insurance and that a price we should be willing to pay to solve that access problem was to deny people the freedom to choose their health care provider and force every American into a health care purchasing cooperative or health care purchasing collective which would be one giant HMO run by the Government.

I have on this desk—and I want to be careful because one of these bills fell on my foot over there and I want to be sure all of them don't fall—but I have here those bills from 5 years ago. Each one of these bills denied the American people freedom to choose their health care provider, forced them into a Government-run collective in order to deal with the problem of access.

Each one of these bills, this massive pile of bills—Kennedy I, Kennedy II; Moynihan I, Moynihan II; Mitchell I, Mitchell II, Mitchell III and Mitchell IV—each of these bills was about denying Americans the freedom to choose their doctor, choose their health care, choose their hospital, and we had a big debate about it 5 years ago. The argument from the sponsors of these bills was that the denial of this freedom was a small price to pay in order to guarantee access to health care.

I had an alternative then. It was a very modest bill. Here is a copy. I want people to see what freedom looks like. It is simple.

It was a small bill, as these kind of bills go. Basically, what it did was deal with the access problem by helping people who didn't have health insurance to get it without denying freedom to everybody else. It established risk pools at the State level where we would help people with preexisting conditions get health insurance.

But the point is, the same people who are saying today that we should be willing to drive up costs and deny access to people in the name of guaranteeing freedom are the same people who 5 years ago said, "Let's deny freedom in the name of access." Now, 5 years later, after we debated the original Kennedy-Clinton bill—and I am very proud to have played a small role in seeing that effort defeated—5 years later, now we have the same people saying, "The problem is not access—don't worry that by driving up costs millions of Americans might lose their health coverage—the problem now is HMOs."

Five years ago, the same people were saying, "HMOs are so wonderful that we ought to have one HMO run by the Government, and it will be great for everybody." Now they say HMOs are evil and what we have to do is, we have to regulate HMOs.

What I would like to do is simply explain why the new approach is not the approach that I believe we should follow. Let me first define the real problem with HMOs, then what I believe the solution is. And then I want to say a little bit about the bill, and I will be finished.

Fifteen years ago, almost every American had a low deductible health policy funded by either Medicaid, Medicare, or by themselves and their employer through private health insurance. These were health insurance policies where the person who bought health care, using this coverage, paid relatively little of the cost.

Fifteen years ago, the average American who went to the hospital was responsible personally for paying only about 5 percent of the bill. And this was a wonderful system. It produced the greatest quality health care the world has ever known. It created wonderful new technology, but it had one terrible problem, and that is, we could not afford it. And it is easy to see why we could not afford it.

If you can imagine—imagine you had grocery insurance that, when you went to the grocery store, paid 95 percent of the cost of the food you put in your basket. If we had grocery insurance like we have health insurance, when we went to the grocery store, we would end up eating differently, and so would our dog. The grocery stores we know today would be totally different. You would have 20 or 30 times as many people working at the grocery store. You would have all kinds of precooked foods. You would have all kinds of specialty items. And grocery costs would be exploding. We would all be cussing the cost of grocery insurance.

So it is not surprising that our old fee-for-service medical system, with low deductible insurance where the patient did not care about controlling costs, the physician did not care about controlling costs, and so nobody controlled costs—it is not surprising that that system did not work.

The Government talked about it for 15 years, but we never did anything about it. There are a lot of things we could have done. We could have let people have tax deductibility to buy their own health insurance, so that if I did not like the health insurance provided by my employer, I could take the employers contribution and with some of my own money, on a tax-deductible basis, choose and buy my own health insurance. We did not do that, have not done it to this day. There are other things we could have done, but we did not do them either.

The private sector started to respond to the problem, and the net result is that we now have over 100 million people who are in HMOs.

HMOs have advantages and disadvantages like anything else in life, with any choice you make. If you buy a Cadillac, the advantage is, you have a good car; the disadvantage is, it costs a lot of money. If you buy a Chevrolet, the advantage is that it does not cost as much as a Cadillac, but generally it is not as good or as fancy. And we should not be surprised that in life, even with the Government, we face these kinds of tradeoffs.

We have over 100 million people in HMOs. The advantage of HMOs is that they are more efficient, they do control costs, they have brought the medical price index down from twice the Consumer Price Index—twice the growth as goods in general—down to the same growth as goods in general.

Fifteen years ago, we would not have believed that it was possible, but it has happened. But there is a disadvantage. And the disadvantage is, when you enter into a contract with an HMO, you are bound by the terms of the contract. It describes what they will cover and what they will not do, and the HMO exercises some control over the amount of health care you consume and from whom you consume it. And everyone knows that when they enter into these contracts.

This creates a problem, which Senator KENNEDY and others have put their finger on, and which is a real problem. The problem is that you have, in these HMOs, gatekeepers whose job it is to try to see that you get good enough health care to meet your needs, so that next year you renew with the HMO, but they also attempt to prevent the consumption of health care that you do not need because such usage drives up costs. The problem is, they are deciding—not you.

So I have likened the problem to, you go to the doctor, you go into the examining room, and instead of being alone with your doctor, you have—not literally—but figuratively, you have a gatekeeper in the examining room with you. And you want him out. You want to be in the examining room with your doctor. You do not want somebody there, who is not a doctor, second-guessing your doctor. That is the problem. On that point, Senator KENNEDY and I are in agreement.

The question is, How do you fix it? How do you get a Cadillac at Chevrolet prices? Well, nobody has, throughout 5,000 years of recorded history, figured out how to do that. Maybe we will. But if we do, we will be the first. But the point I made yesterday was that in reality the solution that is being proposed in the Kennedy bill can be depicted as I've done here, using a Greek invention, the stethoscope.

The problem basically is that here you are with your heart right on the other side of this stethoscope, and what you want is, you want your doctor's ears at the other end trying to be sure that your heart is working right and fixing it if it is not. Senator KENNEDY's complaint is that in a very real sense the HMO has this gatekeeper who is listening in on the stethoscope. You would like to get him out of the examining room.

But in an incredible paradox, the bill that Senator KENNEDY presents not only does not get the HMO gatekeeper out of the examining room but it brings two other people in. It lets the Government hire a bureaucrat, who comes in and he gets his ears to the stethoscope so that he can regulate your HMO and your doctor, and then, under the Kennedy bill, you can also hire a lawyer who can come and listen so that he can join the bureaucrat in listening to your heart with your doctor and with the HMO so that he can sue the HMO and sue the doctor.

The point I made yesterday was that, people are already unhappy about having the HMO gatekeeper in the examining room with them. And we are certainly not going to make them happier by bringing in a Government bureaucrat, who we choose, and by letting them hire a lawyer.

What they want, literally and figuratively, is to be alone with their doctor in their examining room. What they want is a system where their doctor is using this stethoscope; their heart is at this end and their doctor's ears are at this end, and nobody else is involved. That is the ideal that people want.

Now, how can we get it? I believe the best way to get it is to make a dramatic change in the system. Therefore, I and others have proposed what we call medical savings accounts. Here in essence is how it works: Say I currently have a Blue Cross/Blue Shield policy, standard deduction, and it costs about $4,000 a year. It has very low deductibles. If that policy had a $3,000 high deductible, I could buy it for about $2,000. What the bill that I have introduced with Senator NICKLES and others would do is give people the choice. It doesn't make anybody do it. Nobody is forced under our bill to do anything. They can stay in the HMO they are in if they are happy. We set out reasonable things to do to try to deal with the problems that Senator KENNEDY and others have raised, without driving up costs and forcing young working couples out of the health care market and out of their HMO because they can't afford it.

In addition to that, we do something more important; that is, we give people the right to choose a medical savings account. Here is how it would work: I am a young man and I am married to a young woman. We have two little children and we are both working hard and we both have modest incomes. It lets my employer join with me in buying the high deductible policy I've described, with a $3,000 deductible. Then we would take the $2,000 we saved—we bought the high deductible policy for roughly $2,000; we were paying $4,000 for Blue Cross/Blue Shield—and we put the $2,000 into a medical savings account out of which I can pay deductibles. At the end of the year, if I don't spend the money on medicine, I get to keep it. I can use it to get braces for my children or I can get tutors for them or save it and send them to Texas A&M, the University of West Virginia, or the University of Alabama, or wherever they want to go.

Now, that is how this system is different because 90 percent of American families don't spend $3,000 on medicine. If I go to the doctor and he says, "PHIL, you have a headache. I think it is just a headache. Take two aspirin. If it doesn't go away, come back in 2 days and we will give you a brain scan which costs $1,000, or we can give you the brain scan right now." Currently, I might ask, well, does my insurance cover the brain scan? If it does, it is interesting, you get to look at it, I may say let's do the brain scan right now. But if I would get to keep that money for my children, and I am a truck driver, my wife is a waitress, I will say, you know, Doc, I will take those two aspirin. If it doesn't go away I will come back.

One of the benefits of the medical savings account is that it provides incentives to be cost conscious. But that is not the most important thing. The most important element is it allows me freedom to choose.

I showed this chart yesterday and I will show it several times in this debate because it is so important to me and I think to the people I represent. I and my staff did a little experiment. We took one column of doctors on one page selected at random from the Yellow Pages. We called up every one of these doctors and we took the most popular, most-participated-in HMO in our region, which is Kaiser HMO. We took the largest participating PPO, preferred provider option, which is Blue Cross/Blue Shield preferred provider. Then we called everybody on this list and said, "Do you take Kaiser HMO?" In other words, we called William D. Goldman, pediatric and adolescent medicine, and we said, "Do you take Kaiser HMO? Do you take Blue Cross, PPO?"

When we did this, 10 of the physicians listed on page 1017, in the left-hand column, took Kaiser payments. If I were a member of Kaiser, I could have gone to 10 of these physicians. If I were a member of Blue Cross/Blue Shield preferred provider, 17 of them would have taken me.

But if I had a medical savings account, and even though the current law doesn't really permit a full-blown system to work, there are several options. One is Golden Rule Insurance in Indiana. They give you the option of a medical savings account checking account. Out of that checking account you pay your deductibles, and above that level they pay for the costs. We have other MSAs that use Mellon Bank with MasterCard. This is your medical savings account. It keeps the record for you as to what you are spending the money on. And then American Health Value Medical Savings Account uses Visa.

Let's just assume that you have a baby and your baby has a fever of 104 and you want to go see William D. Goldman who is in pediatrics and adolescent medicine. You call him. If you are with Kaiser—he may be one of the 10 people on this list that takes it, but he may not be; if you are with Blue Cross PPO you call up, he may be one of the 17, he may not be; but if you have a medical savings account, which I want people to be allowed to choose, you call up and you don't say do you participate in Kaiser HMO? You don't say do you participate in Blue Cross PPO? You simply say, Do you take a check? Or, Do you take MasterCard? Or, Do you take Visa?

The point being, every single person who is a physician on page 1017 in column 1 of the Yellow Pages takes a check, MasterCard and Visa. If my baby is sick I don't have to go to some gatekeeper to get to see a specialist. All I do is take my Visa and go. I make the decision. The medical savings account sets me free. It makes me the decision maker. It gives me the freedom to choose. I believe that is a better way.

Finally, we have had a lot of discussion about trying to get started on this debate. We have 10 days left in the session. We have a lot of things left to do in this session. We have passed to completion, I think, only one appropriations bill which has been signed into law. We know at some point we have to deal with all of those legislative problems. We don't know how they will all work out. It will take lots of time and lots of long nights.

Senator KENNEDY and others have a proposal that they believe is the answer to our health care system. Senator NICKLES, I and others have a proposal that we think should be part of the health care system. Granted, the normal procedure of the Senate would be to bring a bill to the floor, have unlimited debate, and unlimited amendments. We could do that, but I think everybody here knows with 10 days left we will not pass a bill if we do that.

So a proposal has been made to let Senator KENNEDY and others write their bill however they want to write it, make whatever changes they want to make in it, and we will agree to set a time to vote on it—as the Presiding Officer knows, and as many people who follow our debate know, we often operate under what is known as unanimous consent where we agree to a more truncated procedure.

What I have proposed is the following: Let those who have an idea write their bill exactly as they want it written. In the case of Senator KENNEDY, I don't want to change his bill before we vote on it. What often happens in that process is we get something that nobody wants and that doesn't work. The proposal I have made is that we enter into unanimous consent that Senator KENNEDY and others can present their proposal and we will vote on it, up or down, without amendment, however they write it. Then Senator NICKLES, I, and others will present our proposal. If their proposal gets 51 votes, then it will be adopted by the Senate. If our proposal gets 51 votes, it will be adopted by the Senate.

Now, it is true that that is not the normal way we do business. But with 10 days left, if we really want to pass a health care bill, that is the option we are down to. I believe we have written a good bill. I am proud of our bill. I know Senator KENNEDY is proud of his bill, and I am sure he feels at least as passionately about his as I do about mine. But the point is, we are never going to get to choose his bill or choose the bill I and others have worked on, unless we work out some kind of accommodation, because we only have 10 days left in the session.

So we are down to having to make a decision. Do we want to take this into the election and campaign on it and then come back, which is perfectly legitimate? I am not criticizing anybody for wanting to do that. But if we do, then I think we would continue the standoff and then this would be an election year issue and we would decide next year. On the other hand, if we actually want to pass a bill this year—and the House has passed a bill—the only way I can see that we can do it is with an agreement where we simply present the bills and let the Senate vote up or down on the bills. I don't have any desire to amend Senator KENNEDY's bill. I want him to have his best shot, and then we would have ours.

I thank the Senator from West Virginia for withholding and allowing me to speak.

I yield the floor.

Mr. BYRD addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from West Virginia.

Mr. BYRD. Mr. President, I thank the Senator from Texas for a very interesting statement concerning the health bills. I admire the Senator from Texas. I admire his ability. He is one of the most articulate Members that I have ever seen in my 40 years in the Senate. He has one of the best brains, I would say, of any of those that I have seen on both sides of the aisle in those 40 years. I think Darwin's theory of natural selection would not explain how this kind of a brain developed. I take my hat off to people like Senator GRAMM for the extremely high intelligence that is obviously there.

THE UNITED STATES IS A REPUBLIC

Mr. BYRD. Mr. President, Americans, commonly speaking, refer to our form of government as a "democracy." I often try to talk with our little pages—both Republican and Democratic pages—out in the lobby from time to time. I tell them the story, "Acres of Diamonds," Tolstoy wrote, "How Much Land Does a Man Need," and I tell them the story, that Russell Conwell, one of the early chautauqua speakers, said he had given 5,000 times. I tell them various other stories, and I always try to help them to learn some things about the Senate, about our Constitution, and about our form of government. Recently, I said to the little pages, "Now, is this a democracy? What form of government is ours?" And I said to them about the same things that I am going to say here with reference to a democracy versus a republic.

Again, Americans, commonly speaking, refer to our form of government as a "democracy." One reason for this is because politicians of all political parties generally refer to our government as a democracy. Politicians generally do that. Glib references are constantly being made about our democracy. But our form of government, strictly speaking, is not a democracy. It may more properly be called a representative democracy, but, strictly speaking, ours is a republic. "We pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands"—not to the democracy for which it stands.

Incidentally, I was a Member of the other body when the House passed the law on June 5, 1954, inserting the words "under God" into the Pledge of Allegiance. Exactly 1 year from that day, on June 5, 1955, we passed a law requiring the words "In God We Trust" to appear on our currency and coins. There are the words on the wall in this Senate Chamber just below the clock, "In God We Trust." We passed that law in the House on June 5, 1955. I will always be proud that I was a Member of the House of Representatives when we passed those two pieces of legislation.

So we pledge allegiance "to the flag of the United States of America and to the Republic"—not to the democracy, but to the Republic—"for which it stands." We operate by democratic processes. Ours is a democratic society—I have no quarrel with that—but we do not live in a pure democracy. This is a Republic. We ought to get it straight. High rhetorical phrases referring to our form of government as a democracy constitute somewhat idle talk, and we politicians especially ought to know better.

I sent over to the Library and got a civics textbook by R.O. Hughes, vintage 1927. I studied civics in 1927. That was the year Lindbergh flew across the Atlantic and Jack Dempsey fought Gene Tunney to regain the heavyweight title, but he didn't regain it.

That was the year when Babe Ruth, the Sultan of Swat, hit his 60th home run. So this civics textbook was vintage 1927, and it was right on the mark. Here is what it said: "We call the United States a federal republic." The textbook also defined a republic as "a government in which the sovereign power is in the hands of the people, but is exercised through officials whom they elect." Now, there it is. The textbook also defined a democracy: "A democracy is a government in which all power is exercised directly by the people. It is next to impossible for this to be done except in small communities, but the spirit of democracy prevails in many republics and some monarchies."

That 1927 civics textbook had it right. In my hometown of Sophia, WV, 1,186 souls—as of the last census—could very well operate as a pure democracy.

All of the people could gather together, and they could pass laws; that would not be difficult at all—like the early city-states of Greece.

The 1927 civics textbook also defined a "monarchy" as well as an "oligarchy" and an "aristocracy."

Curious as to what a modern textbook on civics would have to say on this subject, I picked up a book, copyright 1990 by Prentice-Hall, Inc., and found no reference—none—to republics and monarchies. Instead, the book referred only to dictatorships and democracies. The 1990 civics textbook states that one way to describe government "is by saying whether it is a dictatorship or a democracy." The book defined a democracy as follows: "Democracies are quite different from dictatorships. In a democracy the final authority rests with the people. Those who govern do so by permission of the people. Government is run, in other words, with the people's consent. The United States of America is an example of a democracy."

That is really inaccurate, "The United States of America is an example of a democracy." It is not.

Let me quote what I would consider to be the ultimate authority. This definition does not square with Madison's definition. If Senators want an argument about this, don't argue with me, argue with Madison. This definition does not square with Madison's definition, yet this is what students who study from this 1990 civics textbook are being taught.

The same textbook goes on to state: "Democracies may be either direct or indirect. A direct democracy is one in which the people themselves, usually in a group meeting, make decisions about what the government will do. Direct democracies do not work very well in large communities. It is almost impossible to get all the people together in one place."

That is what the book says.

Then the book proceeds. It says: "An indirect democracy is one in which a few people are elected to represent everyone else in the community. For this reason, indirect democracies are also called representative democracies."

It is kind of a convoluted way of getting around to saying the right thing, referring to a representative democracy.

Continuing to quote from the book: "These representatives are held responsible by the people for the day-to-day operation of the government. If the people are unhappy with the performance of their representatives, they may vote them out of office during the next election."

What a profound statement. That is the civics textbook of 1990. Until I opened up that textbook, I had never heard, I have to say, of "direct" democracies and "indirect" democracies. So now, my Pledge of Allegiance would have to be stated as follows: "I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America and to the indirect democracy for which it stands," and so forth.

Are you confused?

James Madison, one of the principal framers of the Constitution, alluded to "the confounding of a republic with a democracy" in the Federalist #14, written on November 30, 1787. He proceeds to delineate a true distinction between these forms: ". . . in a democracy, the people meet and exercise the government in person; in a republic they assemble and administer it by their representatives and agents. A democracy consequently will be confined to a small spot. A republic may be extended over a large region."

Madison was confronting the critics of the Constitution, some of whom sought, by the artifice of confusing the terms democracy and republic, to maintain that a republic could never be established except among a small number of people, living within a small territory. As Madison so ably pointed out, this observation was applicable to a democracy only.

Madison describes the territorial limitations of democracies such as the "turbulent democracies of ancient Greece," saying: ". . . the natural limit of a democracy is that distance from the central point, which would just permit the most remote citizens to assemble as often as their public functions demand; and will include no greater number than can join in those functions; . . ." He proceeds to say that the natural limit of a republic "is that distance from the center, which will barely allow the representatives of the people to meet as often as may be necessary for the administration of public affairs."

Madison argues that the territorial limits of the United States do not exceed the limit within which a republic can operate and effectively administer the affairs of the people. Again, in the Federalist #10, where Madison discusses the sources and causes and dangers of faction, he defines a "pure" democracy as being "a society, consisting of a small number of citizens, who assemble and administer the government in person."

Let me say that again.

Madison defines a "pure" democracy as being "a society, consisting of a small number of citizens, who assemble and administer the government in person." And Madison indicates that such a form of government "can admit of no cure for the mischiefs of faction."

Listen to this—Madison again—stating that, "democracies have ever been spectacles of turbulence and contention," Madison proceeds to add that they "have ever been found incompatible with personal security, or the rights of property." He adds: "Theoretic politicians, who have patronized this species of government, have erroneously supposed, that by reducing mankind to a perfect equality in their political rights, they would, at the same time, be perfectly equalized and assimilated in their possessions, their opinions, and their passions."

It is quite different with a republic, however. Listen to Madison as he extols this form as a better approach to dealing with faction: "A republic, by which I mean a government in which the scheme of representation takes place, opens a different prospect, and promises the cure for which we are seeking. Let us examine the points in which it varies from pure democracy, and we shall comprehend both the nature of the cure, and the efficacy which it must derive from the union."

Again, Madison clearly distinguishes between a democracy and a republic: "The two great points of difference between a democracy and a republic are, first, the delegation of the government, in the latter,"—meaning in the republic—"to a small number of citizens elected by the rest; secondly, the greater number of citizens, and greater sphere of country, over which the latter"—meaning the republic—"may be extended."

Madison in the Federalist #10 then examines whether the public voice pronounced by the representatives of the people will be more consonant to the public good in a small rather than in a large republic, and he comes down in favor of a more extensive republic as being "most favorable to the election of proper guardians of the public weal." Madison clearly decides in favor of the larger territory. But let's let him speak for himself: "The greater number of citizens and extent of territory which may be brought within the compass of republican, than of democratic government" is a "circumstance principally which renders factious combinations less to be dreaded in the former"—the republic—"than in the latter."

In summation, Madison said, "Hence it clearly appears, that the same advantage, which a republic has over a democracy, in controlling the effects of faction"—George Washington, we will remember, warned us about faction in his farewell address. Madison said, "Hence it clearly appears, that the same advantage, which a republic has over a democracy, in controlling the effects of faction, is enjoyed by a large over a small republic—is enjoyed by the Union over the States composing it."

Hamilton, in Madison's notes on the Constitutional Convention, referred to the "amazing violence and turbulence of the democratic spirit." Madison himself, in his notes, referred to the dangers of a "leveling spirit," when he said: "No agrarian attempts have yet been made in this country, but symptoms, of a leveling spirit, as we have understood, have sufficiently appeared in a certain quarter to give notice of the future danger. How is this danger to be guarded against on republican principles?"

Madison was probably referring to the Shays' Rebellion which had occurred just the year before the convention, in 1786, when he spoke of the symptoms of a "leveling spirit."

Madison was espousing the establishment of a Senate as "a body in the government sufficiently respectable for its wisdom and virtue, to aid on such emergencies, the preponderance of justice by throwing its weight into that scale."

Madison went on to observe "That as it was more than probable we were now digesting a plan which in its operations would decide forever the fate of republican government—talking about the constitution—we ought not only to provide every guard to liberty that its preservation could require, but be equally careful to supply the defects which our own experience had particularly pointed out."

What a wise, wise man, Madison. What wise men who gathered there in Philadelphia during those hot summer days between May 25, 1787 and September 17 of that year and hammered out the Constitution of the United States. What a document!

In the discussions concerning the mode of selection of members of the first branch of the national legislature, Mr. Sherman opposed election by the people.

We hear a lot about this "democracy" of ours. Many of the framers were concerned about democracy. Some of them didn't want any part of it. They didn't want a democracy.

Mr. Sherman opposed election by the people, insisting that it ought to be by the State legislatures. According to Madison's notes, Mr. Sherman expressed himself accordingly: "The people, he said, immediately should have as little to do as may be about the Government. They want information and are constantly liable to be misled."

Roger Sherman, a delegate from Connecticut, was joined in this feeling by Elbridge Gerry of Massachusetts who, as Madison explained, averred: "The evils we experience flow from the excess of democracy. . . . He . . . had been taught by experience the danger of the leveling [sic] spirit."

George Mason of Virginia favored the election of the larger branch by the people. According to Madison, Mason "admitted that we had been too Democatic but was afraid we should inadvertently run into the opposite extreme." They didn't want to go to the extreme on either edge.

Governor Edmund Randolph of Virginia, who had offered the resolves, around which the debates would swirl throughout the Convention. These are Madison notes from which I am quoting Governor Edmund Randolph of Virginia who had presented the resolves on the 29th day of May, 1787. It is so easy for me to remember that day because the 29th day of May is my wedding anniversary. It happens to be my wife's wedding anniversary also, naturally, May 29. We have seen 61 anniversaries already in our lifetime. And so here is the quote of Governor Randolph.

He "observed that the general object was to provide a cure for the evils under which the United States labored; that in tracing these evils to their origin, every man had found it in the turbulence and follies of democracy." He was of the opinion, therefore, that a check "was to be sought for against this tendency of our government," and he believed that a Senate—a Senate would achieve this end.

In speaking of the Senate of Maryland, and the length of Senatorial terms in that State, Hamilton said: "They suppose seven years a sufficient period to give the Senate an adequate firmness, from not duly considering the amazing violence and turbulence of the democratic spirit. When a great object of government is pursued, which seizes the popular passions, they spread like wildfire, and become irresistible." This was Hamilton speaking, referring to the Senate of Maryland.

It is evident from Madison's notes on the Convention that a pure democracy, as a form of government, did not appeal to the delegates at the Convention, and that a fear of the "leveling spirit" of democracy was prevalent at the time and leading members of the Convention were aware of this concern.

Therefore, as Alexis de Tocqueville stated in "Democracy in America," "the Americans have a democratic state of society", we should be more careful than to allude to our form of government as a "democracy." If we want to say it's a representative democracy, that is one thing. But it is not a "democracy". To do so is to use our language loosely. And we all use our language loosely from time to time. I do. But I never refer to this government as a "democracy." I prefer to stick to the strict definition as explained by Madison and refer to ours as a republic—which I proudly do.

The framers were wise men. As Butler of South Carolina said "We must follow the example of Solon, who gave the Athenians not the best government he could devise, but the best [government] they would receive."

Our founding fathers gave us a republic. As DALE BUMPERS reminded me a moment ago—a few minutes ago, when a lady approached Benjamin Franklin at the conclusion of the convention's proceedings on September 17, 1987, she said, "Dr. Franklin, what form of government have you given us?"

Franklin didn't answer saying, "A democracy, Madam." His answer was, "A republic, Madam, if you can keep it."

Our Founding Fathers gave us a republic, and we public officials, politicians and other molders of opinion should formulate our spoken and written language accordingly.

Mr. President, I thank the Chair and I thank Senators for their courtesy in listening. I yield the floor.

THE PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Utah.

MR. BENNETT. Mr. President, I have enjoyed being here and listening to the senior Senator of West Virginia on a subject about which I have had some opinions and to which I have given some thought, and I would like to engage with him at another time about these issues. But I would just share with him and with the Senate this personal experience.

When I lived in California, I discovered that many governmental reformers had put into place in California, initiative, referendum, and recall. This was the cry of political reformers, I think, in the 1920s, and it was supposed to be a demonstration of how forward-looking you were if you were in favor of initiative, referendum and recall. I voted against every single initiative that came in California, whether I agreed with it or not, for precisely the reasons that the Senator from West Virginia has given us. Because, I said, the people should not be legislating directly in the ballot box. We have a republic to do that. The Constitution guarantees every State a republican form of government. And I felt that California was going down the road, away from that constitutional requirement.

I have discovered, since I left California, that whenever the politicians there have a problem now that they find too difficult for them to deal with in the State assembly, they simply say: Well, let's put it on the ballot. And you have legislation going on the ballot that should be fought out in the legislative process of a republic.

Another problem that you have in California, I would say to the Senator from West Virginia, if it passes in an initiative, it becomes part of the State constitution and therefore cannot be amended. And we have seen examples of legislation that could not get through the State assembly being put on the ballot by factions—to use Madison's term; today we would call them special interests—and therefore being embedded in the California State Constitution so that a future legislature cannot repair the mischief that is created by this attempt at pure democracy.

So we have a laboratory here in our own Union of States that demonstrates the wisdom of Madison and his counterparts in creating the Constitution.

As I say, I am proud to say that when I lived in California, as a citizen, as a matter of constitutional conscience, I voted against every single initiative, even those with which I agreed, because I wanted to preserve the concept of a representative republic that is the foundation of our liberties.

I thank the Senator from West Virginia for this most scholarly presentation. I am grateful that I had the opportunity to be here to hear it.

Mr. BYRD. Mr. President, I thank the distinguished Senator for his observations. I am grateful for his presence at this time and grateful for the perceptions that he has expressed to us based on his experiences in living in the great State of California.

I thank him. I think he is a scholar, a real scholar of our form of government and interested in keeping this republic as Benjamin Franklin so wisely admonished the lady. I thank him very much.

Mr. BENNETT. I thank the Senator for his kind words.

Mr. BENNETT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Members have until 1 p.m. today to file first-degree amendments to the vacancies bill, notwithstanding the adjournment of the Senate.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

WE NEED TO RATIFY THE COMPREHENSIVE TEST BAN TREATY NOW

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. President, yesterday marked the 35th Anniversary of the Senate's ratification of the Limited Test Ban Treaty in 1963. Unfortunately, we still have not achieved the larger goal of ratifying the Comprehensive Test Ban Treaty. In fact, the Treaty has languished in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee for a year with no debate, no action, and no results.

As President KENNEDY said about the Limited Test Ban Treaty in 1963, "The conclusion of such a treaty * * * would check the spiraling arms race in one of its most dangerous areas. It would place the nuclear powers in a position to deal more effectively with one of the greatest hazards which man faces in 1963, the further spread of nuclear arms." Thirty-five years later, those words are truer than ever.

Nuclear proliferation is one of the most serious national security threats we face. Earlier this year, the nuclear tests in India and Pakistan reminded us that we must do all we can to ratify the Comprehensive Test Ban Treaty as soon as possible.

On Wednesday, at the United Nations, Prime Minister Nawaz Sharif of Pakistan announced his intent to sign the test ban treaty within the next year. The Prime Minister linked this decision to the lifting of sanctions imposed in the wake of last May's nuclear tests. Yesterday, India's Prime Minister Vajpayee followed suit and announced to the U.N. General Assembly that his nation would also sign the Treaty within the year.

If both Pakistan and India sign the Comprehensive Test Ban Treaty, only North Korea will remain outside the worldwide group of nations in continuing to develop their nuclear program. Prompt U.S. ratification of the Treaty would not only demonstrate our support for Pakistan and India, but also encourage North Korea to join the world and reject nuclear testing.

The recent tests by India and Pakistan are ominous proof that the greatest threat to humanity is still the danger of nuclear war. The CTBT would give the United States access to a vast worldwide network of nuclear monitoring stations. These additional stations would blanket the globe with sensors that can detect radiation, feel the ground shake from a nuclear test, or hear the sounds emanating underwater from a nuclear explosion. This network is possible only through the cooperative efforts of the CTBT, and it will clearly strengthen our national security.

We face a unique opportunity in the Senate, an opportunity to help the world pull back from the nuclear brink and end nuclear testing once and for all. Other nations look to the United States for international leadership. President Clinton has done his part, in signing the Treaty and submitting it to the Senate for ratification, as the Constitution requires. Now the Senate should do its part, and ratify the Comprehensive Test Ban Treaty.

Treaty ratification is the single most important step we can take today to reduce the dangers of nuclear war.

STATEMENTS ON INTRODUCED BILLS AND JOINT RESOLUTIONS

By Mr. MOYNIHAN (for himself, Mr. BURNS, Mr. BAUCUS, and Mr. D'AMATO):

S. 2520. A bill to exclude from Federal taxation any portion of any reward paid to David R. Kaczynski and Linda E. Patrik which is donated to the victims in the Unabomber case or their families or which is used to pay Mr. Kaczynski's and Ms. Patrik's attorneys' fees; to the Committee on Finance.

TAX EXEMPTION OF REWARDS

• Mr. MOYNIHAN. Mr. President, three years ago, a quiet, law-abiding American family found itself suddenly and unavoidably caught up in the story of one of the most notorious criminal manhunts of the last quarter century in the United States. At this time, my constituents David R. Kaczynski and his wife Linda E. Patrik were confronted with a terrible dilemma. Published news reports led them to suspect they knew the identity of the "Unabomber," the elusive criminal whose letter bombs had killed three people and injured several others over a 17-year period.

Upon reading the Unabomber's "manifesto" published in the New York Times and Washington Post in September of 1995, Mr. Kaczynski and Ms. Patrik, residents of Schenectady, New York, came to the awful realization that the Unabomber might be David's brother, Theodore J. Kaczynski, whose letters they believed closely resembled the Unabomber's "manifesto." David Kaczynski, a social worker, and Ms. Patrik, a professor of philosophy at Union College, understandably feared that disclosure of their suspicions might ultimately lead to the execution of David's brother for the crime of murder. Even so—and as painful as it was for them—they considered it their duty to notify the Federal Bureau of Investigation, which they did.

Soon thereafter, Theodore Kaczynski was arrested in a small cabin in Montana, bringing to an end the Unabomber's long reign of violence. In January 1998, Theodore Kaczynski entered a plea agreement with federal prosecutors resulting in his sentence of life in prison without parole.

Earlier this year, David Kaczynski and Linda Patrik received a $1 million reward from the FBI for the information they supplied. And it was characteristic of these fine citizens that they immediately pledged, after taxes and attorneys' fees, to pay every cent of the reward to the Unabomber's victims and their families.

For over two years, David Kaczynski, his family, and his attorney spent countless hours involved in efforts associated with the investigation, capture, and trial of Theodore Kaczynski. Now they are attempting to do the right and noble thing by pledging the reward money to help those injured by a deeply troubled member of their family. It would be ironic and I believe unjust if the federal government were to diminish this selfless act by taxing the Kaczynskis or those to whom they have agreed to pay the reward monies. Therefore we are introducing a bill today to increase the amount available to the Unabomber's victims and their families by exempting from federal taxation all amounts donated to the victims, as well as attorney's fees incurred in the matter.

Mr. President, surely this is the least we can do to express our gratitude to David Kaczynski and Linda Patrik, and our sorrow and condolences to the victims and their families. I hope all Senators will support this simple but much-needed measure.●

Recovery teams shall include the Secretary and at least one representative from the State agency of each of the affected States choosing to participate and be broadly representative of the constituencies with an interest in the species and its recovery and in the economic or social impacts of recovery including representatives of Federal agencies, tribal governments, local governments, academic institutions, private individuals and organizations, and commercial enterprises. The recovery team members shall be selected for their knowledge of the species or for their expertise in the elements of the recovery plan or its implementation.

“(2) DUTIES OF THE RECOVERY TEAM.—Each recovery team shall prepare and submit to the Secretary the draft recovery plan that shall include recovery measures recommended by the team and alternatives, if any, to meet the recovery goal under subsection (e)(1). The recovery team may also be called on by the Secretary to assist in the implementation, review, and revision of recovery plans. The recovery team shall also advise the Secretary concerning the designation of critical habitat, if any.

“(3) EXCEPTION.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—Notwithstanding paragraph (1), the Secretary may, after notice and opportunity for public comment, establish criteria to identify species for which the appointment of a recovery team would not be required under this subsection, taking into account the availability of resources for recovery planning, the extent and complexity of the expected recovery activities, and the degree of scientific uncertainty associated with the threats to the species.

“(B) STATE OPTION.—If the Secretary elects not to appoint a recovery team, the Secretary shall provide notice to each affected State and shall provide the affected States the opportunity to appoint a recovery team and develop a recovery plan, in accordance with subsection (m).

“(C) SECRETARIAL DUTY.—If a recovery team is not appointed, the Secretary shall perform all duties of the recovery team required by this section.

“(4) TRAVEL EXPENSES.—The Secretary is authorized to provide travel expenses (including per diem in lieu of subsistence at the same level as authorized by section 5703 of title 5, United States Code) to recovery team members.

“(5) FEDERAL ADVISORY COMMITTEE ACT.—The Federal Advisory Committee Act (5 U.S.C. App.) shall not apply to the selection or activities of a recovery team appointed pursuant to this subsection or subsection (m).

“(e) CONTENTS OF RECOVERY PLANS.—Each recovery plan shall contain:

“(1) BIOLOGICAL RECOVERY GOAL.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—Not later than 180 days after the appointment of a recovery team under this section, those members of the recovery team with relevant scientific expertise shall establish and submit to the Secretary a recommended biological recovery goal to conserve and recover the species that, when met, would result in the determination, in accordance with section 4, that the species be removed from the list. The goal shall be based solely on the best scientific and commercial data available. The recovery goal shall be expressed as objective and measurable biological criteria. When the goal is met, the Secretary shall initiate the procedures for determining whether, in accordance with section 4(a)(1), to remove the species from the list.

“(B) PEER REVIEW.—The recovery team shall promptly obtain independent scientific review of the recommended biological recovery goal.

“(2) RECOVERY MEASURES.—The recovery plan shall incorporate recovery measures that will meet the recovery goal.

“(A) MEASURES.—The recovery measures may incorporate general and site-specific measures for the conservation and recovery of the species such as—

“(i) actions to protect and restore habitat;

“(ii) research;

“(iii) establishment of refugia, captive breeding, and releases of experimental populations;

“(iv) actions that may be taken by Federal agencies, including actions that use, to the maximum extent practicable, Federal lands; and

“(v) opportunities to cooperate with State and local governments and other persons to recover species, including through the development and implementation of conservation plans under section 10.

“(B) DRAFT RECOVERY PLANS.—

“(i) IN GENERAL.—In developing a draft recovery plan, the recovery team or, if there is no recovery team, the Secretary, shall consider alternative measures and recommend measures to meet the recovery goal and the benchmarks. The recovery measures shall achieve an appropriate balance among the following factors—

“(I) the effectiveness of the measures in meeting the recovery goal;

“(II) the period of time in which the recovery goal is likely to be achieved, provided that the time period within which the recovery goal is to be achieved will not pose a significant risk to recovery of the species; and

“(III) the social and economic impacts (both quantitative and qualitative) of the measures and the distribution of the impacts across regions and industries.

“(ii) DESCRIPTION OF ALTERNATIVES.—The draft plan shall include a description of any alternative recovery measures considered, but not included in the recommended measures, and an explanation of how any such measures considered were assessed and the reasons for their selection or rejection.

“(iii) DESCRIPTION OF ECONOMIC EFFECTS.—If the recommended recovery measures identified in clause (i) would impose significant costs on a municipality, county, region, or industry, the recovery team shall prepare a description of the overall economic effects on the public and private sectors including, as appropriate, effects on employment, public revenues, and value of property as a result of the implementation of the recovery plan.

“(3) BENCHMARKS.—The recovery plan shall include objective, measurable benchmarks expected to be achieved over the course of the recovery plan to determine whether progress is being made toward the recovery goal. To the extent possible, current and historical population estimates, along with other relevant factors, should be considered in determining whether progress is being made toward meeting the recovery goal.

“(4) FEDERAL AGENCIES.—Each recovery plan for an endangered species or a threatened species shall identify Federal agencies that authorize, fund, or carry out actions that are likely to have a significant impact on recovery of the species.

“(f) PUBLIC NOTICE AND COMMENT.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—If the Secretary makes a preliminary determination that the draft recovery plan meets the requirements of this section, the Secretary shall publish in the Federal Register and a newspaper of general circulation in each affected State a notice of availability and a summary of, and a request for public comment on, the draft recovery plan including a description of the economic effects prepared under subsection (e)(2)(B)(iii) and the recommendations of the independent referees on the recovery goal.

“(2) HEARINGS.—At the request of any person, the Secretary shall hold at least one public hearing on each draft recovery plan in each State to which the plan would apply (including at least one hearing in an affected rural area, if any), except that the Secretary may not be required to hold more than five hearings under this paragraph.

“(g) PROCUREMENT AUTHORITY.—In developing and implementing recovery plans, the Secretary may procure the services of appropriate public and private agencies and institutions and other qualified persons.

“(h) REVIEW AND SELECTION BY THE SECRETARY.—

“(1) REVIEW AND APPROVAL.—The Secretary shall review each plan submitted by a recovery team, including a recovery team appointed by a State pursuant to the authority of subsection (m), to determine whether the plan was developed in accordance with the requirements of this section. If the Secretary determines that the plan does not satisfy such requirements, the Secretary shall notify the recovery team and give the team an opportunity to address the concerns of the Secretary and resubmit a plan that satisfies the requirements of this section. After notice and opportunity for public comment on the recommendations of the recovery team, the Secretary shall adopt a final recovery plan that is consistent with the requirements of this section.

“(2) SELECTION OF RECOVERY MEASURES.—In each final plan the Secretary shall select recovery measures that meet the recovery goal and the benchmarks. The recovery measures shall achieve an appropriate balance among the factors described in subclauses (I) through (III) of subsection (e)(2)(B)(i).

“(3) MEASURES RECOMMENDED BY RECOVERY TEAM.—If the Secretary selects measures other than the measures recommended by the recovery team, the Secretary shall publish with the final plan an explanation of why the measures recommended by the recovery team were not selected for the final recovery plan.

“(4) PUBLICATION OF NOTICE ON FINAL PLANS.—The Secretary shall publish in the Federal Register a notice of availability, and a summary, of the final recovery plan, and include in the final recovery plan a response to significant comments that the Secretary received on the draft recovery plan.

“(i) REVIEW.—

“(1) EXISTING PLANS.—Not later than five years after date of enactment of this subsection, the Secretary shall review recovery plans published prior to such date.

“(2) SUBSEQUENT PLANS.—The Secretary shall review each recovery plan first approved or revised under this section after the date of enactment of this subsection, not later than ten years after the date of approval or revision of the plan and every ten years thereafter.

“(j) REVISION OF RECOVERY PLANS.—Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, the Secretary shall revise a recovery plan if the Secretary finds that substantial new information, which may include failure to meet the benchmarks included in the plan, based on the best scientific and commercial data available, indicates that the recovery goal contained in the recovery plan will not achieve the conservation and recovery of the endangered species or threatened species covered by the plan. The Secretary shall convene a recovery team to develop the revisions required by this subsection, unless the Secretary has established an exception for the species pursuant to subsection (d)(3).

“(k) EXISTING PLANS.—Nothing in this section shall require the modification of—

“(1) a recovery plan approved;

“(2) a recovery plan on which public notice and comment has been initiated; or

“(3) a draft recovery plan on which significant progress has been made; prior to the date of enactment of this subsection until the recovery plan is revised by the Secretary in accordance with this section.

“(l) IMPLEMENTATION OF RECOVERY PLANS.—

“(1) IMPLEMENTATION AGREEMENTS.—The Secretary is authorized to enter into agreements with Federal agencies, affected States, Indian tribes, local governments, private landowners, and organizations to implement specified conservation measures identified by an approved recovery plan that promote the recovery of the species with respect to land or water owned by, or within the jurisdiction of, each such party. The Secretary may enter into such agreements, if the Secretary, after notice and opportunity for public comment, determines that—

“(A) each non-Federal party to the agreement has the legal authority and capability to carry out the agreement;

“(B) the agreement will be reviewed and revised as necessary on a regular basis (which shall be not less often than every five years) by the parties to the agreement to ensure that it meets the requirements of this section; and

“(C) the agreement establishes a mechanism for the Secretary to monitor and evaluate implementation of the agreement.

“(2) DUTY OF FEDERAL AGENCIES.—Each Federal agency identified under subsection (e)(4) shall enter into an implementation agreement with the Secretary not later than two years after the date on which the Secretary approves the recovery plan for the species. For purposes of satisfying this section, the substantive provisions of the agreement shall be within the sole discretion of the Secretary and the head of the Federal agency entering into the agreement.

“(3) OTHER REQUIREMENTS.—

“(A) AGENCY ACTIONS.—Any action authorized, funded, or carried out by a Federal agency that is specified in a recovery plan implementation agreement between the Federal agency and the Secretary to promote the recovery of the species and for which the agreement provides sufficient information on the nature, scope, and duration of the action to determine the effect of the action on any endangered species, threatened species, or critical habitat shall not be subject to the requirements of section 7(a)(2) for that species, if the action is to be carried out during the term of the agreement and the Federal agency is in compliance with the agreement.

“(B) COMPREHENSIVE AGREEMENTS.—If a non-Federal person proposes to include in an implementation agreement a site-specific action that the Secretary determines meets the requirements of subparagraph (A) and that action would require authorization or funding by one or more Federal agencies, the agencies authorizing or funding the action shall participate in the development of the agreement and shall identify, at that time, all measures for the species that would be required under this Act as a condition of the authorization or funding.

“(4) FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—In cooperation with the States and subject to the availability of appropriations under section 15(f), the Secretary may provide a grant of up to $25,000 to a private landowner to assist the landowner in carrying out a recovery plan implementation agreement under this subsection.

“(B) PROHIBITION ON ASSISTANCE FOR REQUIRED ACTIVITIES.—Financial assistance provided under this paragraph may be used to fund only those activities in an implementation agreement to implement specified conservation measures identified in a recovery plan that are not required by this Act, a permit issued under this Act, or any other Federal law.

“(C) OTHER PAYMENTS.—A grant provided to an individual private landowner under this paragraph shall be in addition to, and not affect, the total amount of payments the landowner is otherwise eligible to receive under the conservation reserve program established under subchapter B of chapter 1 of subtitle D of title XII of the Food Security Act of 1985 (16 U.S.C. 3831 et seq.), the wetlands reserve program established under subchapter C of that chapter (16 U.S.C. 3837 et seq.), or the Wildlife Habitat Incentives Program established under section 387 of the Federal Agriculture Improvement and Reform Act of 1996 (16 U.S.C. 3836a).

“(m) STATE AUTHORITY FOR RECOVERY PLANNING.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—At the request of the Governor of a State, or the Governors of several States in cooperation, the Secretary may authorize the respective State agency to develop the recovery plan for an endangered species or a threatened species in accordance with the requirements and schedules of subsections (c), (d)(1), (d)(2), and (e) and this subsection if the Secretary finds that—

“(A) the State or States have entered into a cooperative agreement with the Secretary pursuant to section 6(c); and

“(B) the State agency has submitted a statement to the Secretary demonstrating adequate authority and capability to carry out the requirements and schedules of subsections (c), (d)(1), (d)(2), and (e) and this subsection.

“(2) STANDARDS AND GUIDELINES.—The Secretary, in cooperation with the States, shall publish standards and guidelines for the development of recovery plans by a State agency under this subsection, including standards and guidelines for interstate cooperation and for the grant and withdrawal of authorization by the Secretary under this subsection.

“(3) DUTIES OF RECOVERY TEAM.—The recovery team shall prepare a draft recovery plan in accordance with this section and shall transmit the draft plan to the Secretary through the State agency authorized to develop the recovery plan.

“(4) REVIEW OF DRAFT PLANS.—Prior to publication of a notice of availability of a draft recovery plan, the Secretary shall review each draft recovery plan developed pursuant to this subsection to determine whether the plan meets the requirements of this section. If the Secretary determines that the plan does not meet such requirements, the Secretary shall notify the State agency and, in cooperation with the State agency, develop a recovery plan in accordance with this section.

“(5) REVIEW AND APPROVAL OF FINAL PLANS.—On receipt of a draft recovery plan transmitted by a State agency, the Secretary shall review and approve the plan in accordance with subsection (h).

“(6) WITHDRAWAL OF AUTHORITY.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary may withdraw the authority from a State that has been authorized to develop a recovery plan pursuant to this subsection if the actions of the State agency are not in accordance with the substantive and procedural requirements of subsections (c), (d)(1), (d)(2), and (e) and this subsection. The Secretary shall give the State agency an opportunity to correct any deficiencies identified by the Secretary and shall withdraw the authority from the State unless the State agency within 60 days has corrected the deficiencies identified by the Secretary. On withdrawal of State authority pursuant to this subsection, the Secretary shall have an additional 18 months to publish a draft recovery plan and an additional 12 months to publish a final recovery plan under subsection 5(c).

“(B) PETITIONS TO WITHDRAW.—Any person may submit a petition requesting the Secretary to withdraw the authority from a State on the basis that the actions of the State agency are not in accordance with the substantive and procedural requirements described in subparagraph (A). If the Secretary has not acted on the petition pursuant to subparagraph (A) within 90 days, the petition shall be deemed to be denied and the denial shall be a final agency action for the purposes of judicial review.

“(7) DEFINITION OF STATE AGENCY.—For purposes of this subsection, the term ‘State agency’ means—

“(A) a State agency (as defined in section 3) of each State entering into a cooperative request under paragraph (1); and

“(B) for fish and wildlife, including related spawning grounds and habitat, on the Columbia River and its tributaries, the Pacific Northwest Electric Power and Conservation Planning Council established under the Pacific Northwest Electric Power Planning and Conservation Act (16 U.S.C. 839 et seq.).

“(n) CRITICAL HABITAT DESIGNATION.—

“(1) RECOMMENDATION OF THE RECOVERY TEAM.—Not later than nine months after the date of publication under section 4 of a final regulation containing a listing determination for a species, the recovery team appointed for the species shall provide the Secretary with a description of any habitat of the species that is recommended for designation as critical habitat pursuant to this subsection and any recommendations for special management considerations or protection that are specific to the habitat.

“(2) DESIGNATION BY THE SECRETARY.—The Secretary, to the maximum extent prudent and determinable, shall by regulation designate any habitat that is considered to be critical habitat of an endangered species or a threatened species that is indigenous to the United States or waters with respect to which the United States exercises sovereign rights or jurisdiction.

“(A) DESIGNATION.—

“(i) PROPOSAL.—Not later than 18 months after the date on which a final listing determination is made under section 4 for a species, the Secretary, after consultation and in cooperation with the recovery team, shall publish in the Federal Register a proposed regulation designating critical habitat for the species.

“(ii) PROMULGATION.—The Secretary shall, after consultation and in cooperation with the recovery team, publish a final regulation designating critical habitat for a species not later than 30 months after the date on which a final listing determination is made under section 4 for the species.

“(B) OTHER DESIGNATIONS.—If a recovery plan is not developed under this section for an endangered species or a threatened species, the Secretary shall publish a final critical habitat determination for the endangered species or threatened species not later than three years after making a determination that the species is an endangered species or a threatened species.

“(C) ADDITIONAL AUTHORITY.—The Secretary may publish a regulation designating critical habitat for an endangered species or a threatened species concurrently with the final regulation implementing the determination that the species is endangered or threatened if the Secretary determines that designation of such habitat at the time of listing is essential to avoid the imminent extinction of the species.

“(3) FACTORS TO BE CONSIDERED.—The designation of critical habitat shall be made on the basis of the best scientific and commercial data available and after taking into consideration the economic impact, impacts to military training and operations, and any other relevant impact, of specifying any particular area as critical habitat. The Secretary shall describe the economic impacts and other relevant impacts that are to be considered under this subsection in the publication of any proposed regulation designating critical habitat.

“(4) EXCLUSIONS.—The Secretary may exclude any area from critical habitat for a species if the Secretary determines that the benefits of the exclusion outweigh the benefits of designating the area as part of the critical habitat, unless the Secretary determines that the failure to designate the area as critical habitat will result in the extinction of the species.

“(5) REVISIONS.—The Secretary may, from time-to-time and as appropriate, revise a designation. Each area designated as critical habitat before the date of enactment of this subsection shall continue to be considered so designated, until the designation is revised in accordance with this subsection.

“(6) PETITIONS.—

“(A) DETERMINATION THAT REVISION MAY BE WARRANTED.—To the maximum extent practicable, not later than 90 days after receiving the petition of an interested person under section 553(e) of title 5, United States Code, to revise a critical habitat designation, the Secretary shall make a finding as to whether the petition presents substantial scientific or commercial information indicating that the revision may be warranted. The Secretary shall promptly publish the finding in the Federal Register.

“(B) NOTICE OF PROPOSED ACTION.—Not later than one year after receiving a petition that is found under subparagraph (A) to present substantial information indicating that the requested revision may be warranted, the Secretary shall determine how to proceed with the requested revision, and shall promptly publish notice of the intention in the Federal Register.

“(7) PROPOSED AND FINAL REGULATIONS.—Any regulation to designate critical habitat or implement a requested revision shall be proposed and promulgated in accordance with paragraphs (4), (5), and (6) of section 4(b) in the same manner as a regulation to implement a determination with respect to listing a species.

“(A) IN GENERAL.—In addition to one or more listed species, a conservation plan developed under paragraph (2) may, at the request of the applicant, include species proposed for listing under section 4(c), candidate species, or other species found on lands or waters owned or within the jurisdiction of the applicant covered by the plan.

“(B) APPROVAL CRITERIA.—The Secretary shall approve an application for a permit under paragraph (1)(B) that includes species other than species listed as endangered species or threatened species if, after notice and opportunity for public comment, the Secretary finds that the permit application and the related conservation plan satisfy the criteria of subparagraphs (A) and (B) of paragraph (2) with respect to listed species, and that the permit application and the related conservation plan with respect to other species satisfy the following requirements—

“(i) the impact on non-listed species included in the plan will be incidental;

“(ii) the applicant will, to the maximum extent practicable, minimize and mitigate such impacts;

“(iii) the actions taken by the applicant with respect to species proposed for listing or candidates for listing included in the plan, if undertaken by all similarly situated persons within the range of such species, are likely to eliminate the need to list the species as an endangered species or a threatened species for the duration of the agreement as a result of the activities conducted by those persons;

“(iv) the actions taken by the applicant with respect to other non-listed species included in the plan, if undertaken by all similarly situated persons within the range of such species, would not be likely to contribute to a determination to list the species as an endangered species or a threatened species for the duration of the agreement; and

and the Secretary has received such other assurances as the Secretary may require that the plan will be implemented. The permit shall contain such terms and conditions as the Secretary deems necessary or appropriate to carry out the purposes of this paragraph, including such monitoring and reporting requirements as the Secretary deems necessary for determining whether the terms and conditions are being complied with. The Secretary shall not include as a term or condition of a plan or a permit under this paragraph any provisions for a species proposed for listing under section 4(c), candidate species, or other species not listed under section 4(c) unless the applicant voluntarily includes that species in the plan or application for a permit.

“(C) TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE AND GUIDANCE.—

Technical assistance and guidance provided under this subparagraph may include providing scientific and other information regarding the species included in a conservation plan, assistance in preparing the conservation plan, and information regarding alternative means to comply with this Act, including the availability of conservation plans for low effect activities.

“(D) DEADLINES.—A conservation plan developed under this paragraph shall be reviewed and approved or disapproved by the Secretary not later than one year after the date of submission, or within such other period of time as is mutually agreeable to the Secretary and the applicant.

“(F) EFFECTIVE DATE OF PERMIT FOR NON-LISTED SPECIES.—In the case of any species not listed as an endangered species or a threatened species, but covered by an approved multiple species conservation plan, the permit issued under paragraph (1)(B) shall take effect without further action by the Secretary at the time the species is listed pursuant to section 4(c), and to the extent that the taking is otherwise prohibited by subparagraph (B) or (C) of section 9(a)(1).

“(4) LOW EFFECT ACTIVITIES.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—Notwithstanding paragraph (2)(A), the Secretary may issue a permit for a low effect activity authorizing any taking referred to in paragraph (1)(B), if the Secretary determines that the activity will have no more than a negligible effect, both individually and cumulatively, on the species, any taking associated with the activity will be incidental, and the taking will not appreciably reduce the likelihood of the survival and recovery of the species in the wild. The permit shall require, to the extent appropriate, actions to be taken by the permittee to offset the effects of the activity on the species.

“(B) APPLICATIONS.—The Secretary shall minimize the costs of permitting to the applicant by developing, in cooperation with the States, model permit applications that will constitute conservation plans for low effect activities.

“(C) PUBLIC COMMENT; EFFECTIVE DATE.—On receipt of a permit application for an activity that meets the requirements of subparagraph (A), the Secretary shall provide notice in a newspaper of general circulation in the area of the activity not later than 30 days after receipt and provide an opportunity for comment on the permit. If the Secretary does not receive significant adverse comment by the date that is 30 days after the notice is published, the permit shall take effect without further action by the Secretary 60 days after the notice is published.

“(5) NO SURPRISES.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—Each conservation plan developed under this subsection shall include a no surprises provision, as described in this paragraph.

“(B) NO SURPRISES.—A person who has entered into, and is in compliance with, a conservation plan under this subsection may not be required to undertake any additional mitigation measures for species covered by such plan if such measures would require the payment of additional money, or the adoption of additional use, development, or management restrictions on any land, waters, or water-related rights that would otherwise be available under the terms of the plan without the consent of the permittee. The Secretary and the applicant, by the terms of the conservation plan, shall identify—

“(i) other modifications to the plan; or

“(ii) other additional measures;

if any, that the Secretary may require under extraordinary circumstances.

“(i) for species proposed for listing, candidates for listing, or species that are likely to become a candidate species in the near future, that are included in the agreement, the actions taken under the agreement, if undertaken by all similarly situated persons, would produce a conservation benefit that would be likely to eliminate the need to list the species under section 4(c) as a result of the activities of those persons during the duration of the agreement;

“(ii) the actions taken under the agreement will not adversely affect an endangered species or a threatened species;

“(iii) the agreement contains such other measures that the Secretary may require as being necessary or appropriate for the purposes of the agreement;

ADDITIONAL STATEMENTS

RECOGNITION OF DR. MADAN M. BHASIN

• Mr. ROCKEFELLER. Mr. President, I rise today to recognize and congratulate Dr. Madan Bhasin for being awarded the 1999 Industrial Chemistry Award by the American Chemical Society. This honor is annually bestowed to recognize outstanding contributions to industrial chemistry that have resulted in the commercialization of an economically significant new product or process. I am always proud when West Virginians are recognized for their outstanding contributions to society. However, this is an especially nice case since Dr. Bhasin’s work also demonstrates how great ideas can improve a company’s profit margin and save resources at the same time.

Dr. Bhasin received his B.Sc. from the University of Delhi and his Ph.D. from the University of Notre Dame in 1958 and has been with Union Carbide since 1963. During his 35 year career at the Union Carbide Technical Center in South Charleston, West Virginia, he has devoted his efforts to researching and applying catalysts to create new production methods and help improve existing industrial processes. His invention and implementation of nine generations of ethylene epoxidation catalysts led to his recognition by the American Chemical Society. The catalysts that Dr. Bhasin invented allow for the more efficient conversion of ethylene epoxidation to ethylene oxide and ethylene glycol, which are components in products such as polyester and anti-freeze. Billions of pounds of ethylene epoxidation are used each year so increasing the conversion efficiency has allowed Union Carbide to remain one of the world leaders in this market as well as save energy and reduce by-products. This is obviously a win for Union Carbide, the environment and the state of West Virginia.

Again I would like to take this opportunity to publically recognize and congratulate Dr. Bhasin for this great accolade and wish him continued success in his future endeavors.●

WIRELESS COMMUNICATIONS AND PUBLIC SAFETY ACT OF 1998

- Mr. BURNS. Mr. President, I am here today to talk about some good news for a change. I want to talk about the Wireless Communications and Public Safety Act of 1998 that Senator McCAIN is introducing, and I am cosponsoring. The purpose of this legislation is to link some of the amazing innovations in wireless technology to 9-1-1 and emergency response professionals.

All kinds of technologies exist today that can greatly reduce response time to emergencies and help victims get the right kind of medical attention quickly. But right now these technologies are not connected in ways that we can use them for emergencies. That's why this effort to upgrade our 9-1-1 systems across the nation is to so important and necessary.

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration has conducted studies showing that crash-to-care time for fatal accidents is about a half hour in urban areas. In rural areas, which covers most of my home state of Montana, that crash-to-care time almost doubles. On average, it takes just shy of an hour to get emergency attention to crash victims in rural areas. Almost half of the serious crash victims who do not receive care in that first hour die at the scene of the accident. That's a scary statistic. But it doesn't have to continue that way.

Drew Dawson, who is the Director of the Montana Emergency Medical Services Bureau and president of the National Association of State Emergency Medical Services Directors, strongly supports this legislation. He tells me that the bill will help bring better wireless 9-1-1 coverage to Montana and will enhance our statewide Trauma Care System. Mr. Dawson believes this legislation will help him and his emergency folks do their job better, which means it will help them save more lives than they already do.

Montana unfortunately has a high motor vehicle crash death rate. Part of this bill promotes research on something called Automatic Crash Notification technology or ACN as Mr. Dawson and the trauma and emergency professionals call it. ACN technology takes the sensors in cars, such as airbag sensors and speed sensors, and links them to a wireless phone and a location device. When an ACN-equipped car in a remote area of Montana crashes, the car automatically dials 9-1-1. Not only does the car dial 9-1-1 but it transmits data telling the emergency operator where exactly the crash victim is and the likelihood of the victim's injuries. This ACN system also opens up a voice channel enabling the emergency operator to speak to the crash victim.

ACN technology comes into effect only seconds after the crash. It can be rigged so that the emergency operator gets the crash information as well as the nearest trauma center. ACN would eliminate many drawn out search and rescues that usually have to take place.

In these crash situations, time is of the essence. The emergency medical professionals refer to the first hour after a crash as the "Golden Hour." They say if they can get to victims in that first hour, then they have a good chance of limiting the severity of the injuries. Once the clock ticks over an hour, the chances of medical miracles lessen more and more. Reducing response time means the difference between life and death.

I have to say a word about all of the good work that folks like Drew Dawson in Montana and other emergency professionals do all over the country. The United States has the most skilled and dedicated group of medical and emergency professionals in the world. We just need to give them better tools. There is technology out there that can help these professionals and that can help all of us citizens, if, God forbid, we ever find ourselves in an emergency situation needing this kind of help. The Wireless Communications and Public Safety Act of 1998 will help all of us and will make our emergency services even better than they are today.

Mr. President, I hope all of my colleagues will join me and help pass this important legislation.●

RECOGNIZING THE CITIZENS AGAINST LAWSUIT ABUSE (CALA)

- Mr. ROCKEFELLER. Mr. President, I wish to recognize today the efforts of a group of West Virginia citizens who have joined together to address an important issue affecting our state and the nation. These individuals, who have formed Citizens Against Lawsuit Abuse (CALA), are working to educate the public about how excesses in our civil justice system can be harmful.

CALA volunteer spokespersons are speaking out about how lawsuit abuse means people pay through higher prices for consumer products, higher medical expenses, higher taxes and lost business expansion and product development. I should note that my own concerns relate to abuse of the system which comes in the form of frivolous suits and inappropriate delays—not legitimate use of our tort system.

CALA reports that recent studies of liability costs have found that our State has a high lawsuit and liability cost relative to our economic output measured as gross state product. As another example of the effect of lawsuit abuse, CALA's own survey of all West Virginia municipalities last year found an estimated annual lawsuit-related cost for our municipal taxpayers to be more than $9 million. Nationally, it has been estimated that the costs of our civil justice system averages $1200 per person per year.

Legal reform of any kind is not a simple issue. The legal system is essential to provide justice to every American. But that does not mean that the status quo is perfect. When lawsuits and the courts can be used in excess or result in imposing costs without reason on the other parties, from individuals to not-for-profit agencies to businesses, the system should be reviewed and reformed if possible.

I often have spoken about the problems of our product liability system. We see the terrible consequences of our country's confusing patchwork, slow, and often unfair system of product liability rules that need to be properly and fairly reformed.

The leaders of West Virginia's CALA movement should be commended here today. Volunteers such as Robert Mauk of Huntington; Jim Thomas, Sid Davis and Mac McJunkin of Charleston; Cuz Blake of Bridgeport; Phyllis Garner of Clarksburg; Rick Pruitt of Fairmont; and Sam Chico of Morgantown are all working hard to ensure that our State has a strong, fair and effective civil justice system that will serve all West Virginians and grow our economy and job base. These people give their time to speak to community groups, organize educational activities and distribute materials to help us all be conscious of lawsuit costs and excesses of the system.

Citizens Against Lawsuit Abuse groups have declared September 21 through 26 to be "Lawsuit Abuse Awareness Week" in West Virginia. I want to commend these citizens for their dedication and commitment and to acknowledge this week as time of public awareness on the serious issues associated with lawsuit abuse.●

JUVENILE JUSTICE BILL

MR. LEAHY. Mr. President, first, I alert my colleagues that I will speak a very short time. I am going to talk about a UC that I would have proposed but will not propose today but will explain why.

Earlier this month, the Republican majority came to the floor, unfortunately without prior warning, to propose a unanimous consent request for consideration of the Hatch-Sessions juvenile justice bill, S. 10. I see the distinguished Senator from Alabama here on the floor now. The UC was proposed late on Thursday afternoon. Unfortunately, it was after Senators had been informed there would be no more votes. In fact, I had already left for home in Vermont. We were unaware that they might want to proceed to S. 10 on Thursday.

My concern is that there had been a year of inaction on the bill. I had tried to propose some additional changes to the bill, which was voted on by the Judiciary Committee in July 1997, but I was unable to get any response from the other side of the aisle in the Judiciary Committee on that. There was also no attempt to get a response from this side of the aisle on the proposed UC.

I mention this because the failure of this Congress to take up and pass responsible juvenile crime legislation does not rest with the Democrats. And it is not going to be cured by any kind of a procedural floor gimmick.

Over the past year, I have spoken on the floor of the Senate and at hearings on several occasions about my concerns with the legislation. At the same time, I have expressed my willingness to work with the chairman of the full committee in a bipartisan manner to improve the juvenile crime bill.

I am not alone in my criticisms and in wanting to see changes in the bill. It has been criticized by virtually every major newspaper in the United States.

It has been criticized by national leaders ranging from Chief Justice Rehnquist to Marian Wright Edelman, President of the Children's Defense Fund. The National District Attorneys Association, and other law enforcement agencies have also written me with their concerns about this bill.

I have also heard from numerous State and local officials across the United States, including the National Governors' Association, the Council of State Governments, the U.S. Conference of Mayors, the National Association of Counties, and the National Conference of State Legislatures. All of them have expressed concerns about the restrictions this bill would place on their ability to combat and prevent juvenile crime effectively.

In short, S. 10, as reported by the Judiciary Committee, is a bill laden with problems—in fact, so many that at last count the bill had lost nearly a quarter of the Republicans who signed on as co-sponsors since its introduction.

The unanimous consent request that was proposed by the other side of the aisle, I believe, was patently unfair. It would have limited debate of juvenile justice and other crime matters. It would have permitted the Republicans to offer a substitute to their own bill but not allowed Democrats the same opportunity. The only additional amendments in order under their plan would be five on each side.

We just received from the chairman of the Judiciary Committee the day before yesterday, September 23, the latest version of S. 10 which contains over 100 different changes, but the Republicans want to limit us to 5 amendments. That is not a bipartisan effort to improve this bill.

While I appreciate that we are short of time in this Congress, and I understand why the Republican leadership would like to limit the number of amendments the Democrats may offer, of course, the decision to bring the bill up at the end of the Congress is that of the majority. I have no problem with that.

But we have worked diligently to pare down the amendments that the Democrats plan to offer to S. 10 from 64 to the 25 substantive amendments which I would have put in a proposed UC. Keep in mind what I said, also, that just a couple days ago we were handed the latest version from the other side with over 100 changes. We are talking about cutting Democratic amendments from 64 to 25 substantive ones that address the substantial criticisms leveled at this bill. I want to assure that Senate consideration of this legislation is fair, full, and productive. I do not appreciate, frankly, what appears to be almost a procedural ambush to move this bill forward in a way that allows consideration of all changes from the other side but very few from this side.

So, Mr. President, I am not going to make a unanimous consent request, but I ask to put this into the RECORD—not as a unanimous consent request. I ask unanimous consent to have printed in the RECORD what I would recommend should be a unanimous consent request to be asked by the leadership entitled "Juvenile Justice."

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

JUVENILE JUSTICE

I ask unanimous consent that it be in order for the majority leader, after consultation with the democratic leader to proceed to Calendar No. 210, S. 10, The Violent and Repeat Juvenile Offender Act and it be considered under the following limitations:

That the only amendments in order be a substitute amendment offered by Senators Hatch and Sessions, a substitute amendment offered by the minority leader or his designee and the following listed amendments, and that if either substitute is agreed to that the substitute continue to be amendable in two degrees:

Leahy—judicial review procedures in certain juveniles cases; preservation of state presumption for prosecution of most juveniles; access to juvenile records; separation standard for juveniles in custody; crime victims assistance.

Kennedy—gun control measure; Hate Crimes Prevention Act; reauthorization of the Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention Act.

Biden—prevention program for after-school activities; increase funding for prosecutor/courts grant program; modify requirements to qualify for funding from $150 million grant program; gun ban for dangerous teens; preserve the sovereign rights of native Americans by continuing the tribal "OPT-IN"; extension crime law trust fund.

Kohl—reauthorize title V programs; restoration of the jail removal mandate.

Feingold—improve school safety; allow funds to be used to identify early warning signs of potential juvenile offenders.

Durbin—relevant.

Bingaman—Truancy Prevention and Juvenile Crime Reduction Act; to strike provisions relating to tobacco and alcohol.

Lautenberg—jump mentoring bill, S. 1461.

Wellstone—juvenile mental health protections.

Murray—restorative/community justice.

That there may be a managers package of amendments to be cleared by both the majority and minority manager; and

I finally ask consent that following the disposition of any or all amendments the bill read a third time, the Judiciary Committee be discharged from further consideration of H.R. 1818 and the Senate proceed to its consideration; all after the enacting clause be stricken and the text of S. 10, as amended be inserted in lieu thereof, the bill be read a third time and the Senate proceed to a vote on passage of the bill. I further ask that following the vote the Senate insist on its amendment, request a conference with the House and the Chair be authorized to appoint conferees on the part of the Senate.

MR. SESSIONS. There was a unanimous consent—

MR. LEAHY. No, no. I tell my friend from Alabama, this is what I would propose. I already stated that. And I have informed the floor staff on the Republican side that I would not make the unanimous consent request to this proposal at this time. Anyone who has known me for 24 years here knows I would never do this. I would not propose a unanimous consent request on a day when everybody has taken off already to the various airports or home. But I am putting into the RECORD, so that Senators can read it on Monday, what would have been my proposal if we were able to make it. I would not seek to ambush the other side. I have not done that in 24 years, and I am not about to start now.

Mr. SESSIONS. Thank you.

Mr. LEAHY. Thank you, Mr. President.

I yield the floor.

Mr. SESSIONS addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Alabama.

The Chair advises the Senator, because of the previous order, he will have to seek unanimous consent to speak at this point.

Mr. SESSIONS. I ask unanimous consent, Mr. President, notwithstanding the previous order for adjournment, I be permitted to speak, and the Senate then adjourn under the previous order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. SESSIONS. I really appreciate Senator LEAHY and his leadership as ranking member on the Judiciary Committee. I would suggest, with regard to juvenile justice, that we have not had a year of inaction, as the Senator said. There were 100 changes proposed, and most of those in an apparently futile attempt to gain the support of Democratic Members who have been using procedural tactics to block the consideration of that bill.

The bill came out of the Judiciary Committee on a 12-6 vote, and with bipartisan support. Since that time, we have sought to gain additional support from the Democratic side. I have been a prosecutor for almost 20 years. I believe in this bill. It is not a political bill. It is a bill that provides resources and support and strength right to the local juvenile courts throughout America. It is in those courts where the real progress is being made in fighting juvenile crime.

I see the Presiding Officer, the Senator from Ohio. A few months ago we had the opportunity to meet in Ohio with a juvenile judge, Judge Grossman, who allowed us to witness a model program in action. In this program the judges have the resources and the capacity to confront youngsters when they are first arrested for juvenile crimes, and the judges also have the option to do something effective to confront those children and to change them from the road of destruction on which they are too often headed. A community may have alternative schools. It may have boot camps. It may have intensive probation supervision. In Ohio, Judge Grossman has a truancy program with trials conducted in the schoolroom with the Judge present. These are the kind of programs that can actually deter juvenile crime in America.

That is the heart and soul of this juvenile justice bill. I hope somehow, some way we can get a vote on it this time. It has been frustrating that we have not been able to do that yet. The National Juvenile Judges Association, the Fraternal Order of Police, the Boy's and Girl's Club, and organization after organization have supported this piece of legislation. I don't think there is any group more interested and more professionally concerned than the National Juvenile Judges Association. They have spent a good bit of time analyzing it, and they support it. This bill certainly represents a very important step forward.

I thank this body and I thank the Presiding Officer for his leadership on juvenile crime and juvenile justice. It is a matter close to my heart. The Presiding Officer is a former prosecutor who has given intensive leadership to that issue.

The legislation we have today is a product of bipartisan compromise and a lot of hard work. I think it is an excellent bill and it will be a tragedy, indeed, if for partisan reasons we are not able to bring it forward.

The House has acted on good legislation. If we can get our legislation passed, even in these last few days—I know the time is short—if we can get ours passed and go to conference and work together one more time, we could pass a bill that the people of this country would be proud of and would, in fact, allow us to intervene in the lives of kids who are going wrong and get them on the right track. Sometimes that takes tough intervention. Sometimes they need to go to a boot camp or detention facility or alternative school. We need to help encourage States to do that. Mr. President, I thank the occupant of the Chair for his time and his leadership on this matter.

TENNESSEE VALLEY AUTHORITY

Mr. SESSIONS. Mr. President, I was taken aback this morning after reading statements made by Vice President GORE that appeared in an article detailing the decision made by the Energy and Water Appropriations conference committee to eliminate Federal funding for the Tennessee Valley Administration's non-power programs. Funding for these TVA programs has been going on since TVA's inception. It has been pared down very much, year after year after year, until it has reached an amount that really can fund only the maintenance of the waterway, the dams, the flow of water, and reservoirs contained therein.

The conference committee has determined and has decided that funding for these programs will be eliminated. I am extremely disappointed in that. I want to say a few things about this decision and how it came about, but first I want to comment on what the Vice President said in today's AP story. According to published accounts, Vice President GORE said he was deeply disappointed in these program reductions. Then he said, "The conference committee's action in zeroing out TVA is completely misguided, unjustified, unfair, and it seriously undermines TVA's important role in enhancing the Tennessee Valley."

That is what the Vice President said, " * * * completely misguided, unjustified, unfair, and it seriously undermines TVA's important role in * * * the Tennessee Valley."

I agree that the decision to eliminate this funding is unfair because for the first time the ratepayer, the Tennessee Valley power payers, will be asked to keep up a waterway, even though every other waterway in America is kept up by taxpayers, through either the Corps of Engineers or other agencies. This is a major change and I think it was an unwise decision.

Mr. President, just 2 years ago this administration took action that directly led to this result. There has been debate for some time as to whether or not we ought to fund the Tennessee Valley Authority in this way. Two years ago this President and this Vice President, working through the Office of Management and Budget, which is a part of this administration, submitted a budget to this Congress that zeroed out nonpower funding for the Tennessee Valley Authority. The last time I checked, the Vice President was a part of this administration.

Now, those of us who opposed the Administration's decision are in trouble. There was a debate about reducing TVA's funding. People took different sides on it. The chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority is a personal friend of the Vice President. The Vice President helped the current TVA chairman get his appointment and the Vice President consults with him regularly. Initially, the TVA chairman said he thought the Administration's funding reductions were a good idea and he supported the Clinton Administration's position. We asked him to reconsider. Chairman Crowell held hearings and studied the issue and came back and said he didn't think the Administration's position was a good idea after all; he changed his mind.

What I am saying, Mr. President, is that we are "living in spin" in this city. It offends me. It is a matter of basic integrity. I am just a former prosecutor from Alabama. I haven't been in this body 2 years. Maybe you are supposed to become immune to these things. I am not immune to it yet. When the Vice President says, "It is completely misguided, unjustified, unfair," and yet 2 years ago he submitted a budget to do the very thing he is now criticizing, it strikes me as somewhat unusual and unfair and unjustified for him to say that.

The reason this funding failed and the reason the conference committee succeeded over my objection and over the objection of Senators THOMPSON, FRIST, SHELBY and others involved in the Tennessee Valley, was because of the impetus given to this effort by this administration when, along with their chairman of TVA, they supported proposed funding reductions 2 years ago.

Once the Administration supported it and said it was a good idea—and were joined in this belief by the TVA leadership itself—it was almost impossible to change the decisionmaking momentum. I am disappointed. I remember that a little over a year ago we held a TVA caucus meeting with the chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority, Mr. Craven Crowell. During this meeting Mr. Crowell met with Members of the House of Representatives and with Senators who live in the area and who care about the Tennessee Valley. This meeting gave us the opportunity to come together and share information and discuss issues of importance regarding how to make TVA work better. I asked if he had discussed with the President of the United States, President Clinton, the zeroing out of funding for TVA's nonpower resources, and Mr. Crowell said yes. I said, "Have you talked with the Office of Management and Budget?" and Mr. Crowell replied, "Yes, I spend a lot of time with them." Then I asked, knowing that the Vice President is from Tennessee and had previously been involved in TVA, "Did you talk with the Vice President about it," and Mr. Crowell said the Vice President "knew about it."

So, now we have it. More spin in the Capitol. The President and Vice President personally engaged in recommending the zeroing out of this budget item 2 years ago and now they are coming forward to attack those who carried out what they recommended. In fact, the budget the President submitted has zero dollars for nonpower in the Tennessee Valley.

Whatever happens with this issue and what we will do about it, I don't know. I continue to adhere to the belief that it is unfair to ask the people who live there to fund the waterway maintenance and upkeep—that is what we are talking about—when no other place in the country does it that way. The taxpayers, through the Corps of Engineers or other agencies, do that throughout the country.

It shocks my conscience and doesn't enhance my respect for the credibility, integrity, and the honesty of the Vice President to have him make the kind of comments I quoted earlier. In truth, had the President and Vice President not supported reducing this funding 2 years ago, it would not be passing now. I think most people who keep up with the details of this situation know what I am saying is true.

EXTENSIONS OF REMARKS

THE WEST DELTA FIELD

HON. RICHARD H. BAKER

OF LOUISIANA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 25, 1998

Mr. BAKER. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased today to join my colleagues Mr. Tauzin and Mr. John in introducing legislation that will correct a wrong suffered by the State of Louisiana over a decade ago.

I believe that all of my colleagues know that most of the Federal Outer Continental Shelf oil and gas development occurs off the coast of Louisiana and, indeed, off the coast of my Congressional district. Large portions of the Gulf of Mexico are among the very few areas of the OCS where offshore drilling is not prohibited by the Administration's recently announced leasing moratorium.

To put the contribution of the State of Louisiana in perspective, in fiscal year 1997 $3.2 billion of the slightly over $4 billion of OCS revenue received by the Federal government was generated off the coast of Louisiana. Louisiana has been making this type of contribution to the Federal government's effort to develop its oil and gas resources every year beginning in the early 1950's.

Throughout the entire history of Federal oil and gas development off the coast of Louisiana, the state and the Department of the Interior have cooperated on the development of oil and gas resources that might underlie both the state and Federal offshore waters. Obviously, the interest of our state and our delegation is that the revenues generated by the development of oil and gas resources owned by the people of Louisiana be returned to the treasury of the state of Louisiana. Where oil and gas resources occur in underground formations that underlie both state and Federal waters, the state and the Federal government have developed these areas through cooperative agreements that ensure that neither sovereign develops the resources of the other.

Unfortunately, this spirit of cooperation broke down in the mid-1980's in the development of a natural gas field along the seaward boundary of Louisiana called the West Delta Field. For the first and only time in the history of Federal OCS development off the coast of Louisiana, the Department of the Interior refused to cooperate with Louisiana in protecting Louisiana's resources from being developed by Federal lessees. As a result, Federal lessees drained over $18 million of Louisiana's natural gas, the revenues from which went to the Federal treasury rather than the State of Louisiana's treasury. In 1989, an Independent Fact Finder appointed by the Secretary of the Interior at the direction of Congress confirmed these facts. Section 6004 of the Oil Pollution Act of 1990 authorized an appropriation to repay the State of Louisiana and its lessees for the $18 million of gas developed improperly by the Federal lessees, plus interest. Today, the total authorized payment to the State and its lessees, with interest, is approximately $32 million.

The State of Louisiana and its lessees have never received this money. Therefore, this legislation authorizes an alternative means of compensating the State and its lessees. Under this legislation, the state lessee in the West Delta Field would be authorized to withhold its Federal royalty payments on other OCS production in the Gulf of Mexico, using these funds to pay the State of Louisiana and itself until the authorization in Section 6004 of the Oil Pollution Act of 1990 (U.S.C. 2701 note) is satisfied. At that point, the lessee would resume its royalty payments to the Department of the Interior.

Mr. Speaker, the time has come to close this unhappy chapter in the relationship between the State and Federal government on Federal OCS oil and gas development. Louisiana has been a good host to the Federal government with respect to OCS development. Louisiana expects the Federal government to honor the authorization enacted in 1990. I respectfully encourage all of my colleagues to support this long-overdue legislation and ensure its swift enactment this year before Congress departs in the coming month.

IN RECOGNITION OF 1998 LAWSUIT ABUSE AWARENESS WEEK IN THE STATE OF OHIO

HON. PAUL E. GILLMOR

OF OHIO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 25, 1998

Mr. GILLMOR. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to call attention to an important series of events taking place this week in the State of Ohio. The week of Monday, September 21 through Friday, September 26, 1998, has been officially designated by Governor George V. Voinovich as Lawsuit Abuse Awareness Week.

This recognition works to ensure that citizens throughout the State of Ohio are better informed about the ongoing concerns for lawsuit abuse. To this end, the Ohio Citizens Against Lawsuit Abuse (OCALA) has undertaken a public awareness campaign to voice their concerns and continue to draw attention to the impact of lawsuit abuse on Ohio's consumers and economy. Citizens from all across Ohio have helped the campaign and have organized behind OCALA to spread the message.

Mr. Speaker, lawsuit abuse is not merely a concern for the State of Ohio. Lawsuit abuse is an issue with both State and national implications, and undoubtedly affects each American. Unfortunately, our society has become very prone to litigate in recent years. In fact, some estimates show that the number of lawsuits filed each year is almost 300,000. The sheer number of these lawsuits requires millions of dollars in expenses and thousands of hours from employees. There is no question that litigation abuse is a deterrent to economic growth.

As the number of lawsuits continues to climb, the impact on the American public is evident. The increasing number of lawsuits results in higher operating costs for businesses, the withdrawal of certain products from the market, and a weakening of growth and expansion. These costs are inevitably passed along to consumers in the form of higher prices for goods and services, lost opportunity, and fewer jobs.

Mr. Speaker, with these serious issues facing the United States, it is increasingly important for groups like Ohio Citizens Against Lawsuit Abuse to be recognized for their hard work and efforts on behalf of Ohioans and all Americans. We need the kind of dedication shown by OCALA and other groups to keep up the battle with lawsuit abuse and overall legal reform. I would urge my colleagues to stand and join me in recognizing the week of Monday, September 21 through Saturday, September 26, 1998 as "Ohio Lawsuit Abuse Awareness Week."

IN HONOR OF ST. WENCESLAUS DAY

HON. DENNIS J. KUCINICH

OF OHIO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 25, 1998

Mr. KUCINICH. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize the annual celebration of the Feast of St. Wenceslaus which will be celebrated at Our Lady of Lourdes Parish on September 27, 1998.

St. Wenceslaus is the patron saint of Bohemia. He was born near Prague in 903. His father was the Duke of Bohemia as Wenceslaus was growing up, his grandmother, also a saint, taught him the values of Christianity. In the year 922, when an anti-Christian faction killed Wenceslaus' father and took over the government, Wenceslaus staged a coup and was named the new ruler. During his reign, Wenceslaus attempted to reduce the oppression of the peasants by the nobility and promoted Christianity.

His younger brother, Boleslaus joined a group of dissenters after he lost succession to the throne as a result of the birth of Wenceslaus' son. Boleslaus invited his brother to a religious festival, and while Wenceslaus was on his way to mass on the morning of September 28, 929, Boleslaus and a group of followers ambushed him. Wenceslaus' last words were, "My God forgive you, brother." Wenceslaus was immediately venerated as a martyr, and was celebrated as the nation's patron saint by the end of the century.

Today, St. Wenceslaus is remembered for his concern for the poor in a popular Christmas carol, where he leaves his castle with a page during a winter storm to deliver food and wood to a peasant. As the storm worsens, the page follows in Wenceslaus' footsteps which miraculously warm his freezing feet. By following the path of righteousness the two were led out of their respective storms. Wenceslaus was led into sainthood, and the page was led out of the storm. The parishioners of Our Lady of Lourdes also try to follow the path of righteousness and St. Wenceslaus' example. They are celebrating his feast day this weekend with a mass and a traditional Czech meal.

A TRIBUTE TO TAKIS SALPEAS

HON. TOM LANTOS

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 25, 1998

Mr. LANTOS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to Mr. P. Takis Salpeas, an extremely talented and capable manager with the San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit District (BART) who recently resigned his position in Millbrae, California, to take a position with the Washington Metropolitan Transportation Authority (WMATA) in Washington, DC.

Mr. Salpeas has served BART with distinction since 1991, first as project manager for the BART Colma Station Extension, then as Executive Manager of West Bay Extensions, and was in charge of the extension of BART to the San Francisco International Airport, which lies in my Congressional district.

Under Mr. Salpeas' leadership, the BART rapid rail system cleared numerous political and financial hurdles in order to begin construction of the important 8.7 mile BART Extension to the San Francisco International Airport. The BART Extension to the airport will connect the existing 95-mile multi-county BART system with a new international terminal at the airport.

Mr. Salpeas has more than 25 years experience in rail transit planning, engineering and construction, and he has been an invaluable leader at BART. Mr. Salpeas has been selected for the position of Assistant General Manager of Transit System Development at WMATA.

Prior to coming to BART in 1991, Mr. Salpeas worked for the Southeastern Pennsylvania Transit Authority (SEPTA), which serves the Philadelphia metropolitan area. At SEPTA, he was project manager for reconstruction of elevated rail guideways and stations, and later directed its engineering development program.

Mr. Salpeas is a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers; the Transportation Research Board of the National Research Council, the American Public Transit Association (APTA) and the APTA Construction Committee; and the Federal Transit Administration's Construction Roundtable. A graduate of Athens University and the University of Pennsylvania, Mr. Salpeas holds two masters's degrees in systems engineering and civil engineering. He is the author of more than 30 professional papers on rail transit topics, and has taught civil and transportation engineering at Widener University in Chester, Pennsylvania.

Mr. Speaker, I appreciate having the opportunity to recognize Mr. Takis Salpeas and in wishing him well in his new position at WMATA. Mr. Salpeas has served our community well and made a difference in the lives of Pennsylvania residents. Takis will be missed by those who worked with him, he will be missed by his friends in the Bay Area, and he will be missed by countless others in our community who do not know him, but who have benefitted from Takis' work and dedication in bringing BART to the airport.

I would like to place a copy of an article which appeared in the San Francisco Chronicle last year, which I believe captured the essence of Mr. Salpeas' character and accomplishments at BART.

[From the San Francisco Chronicle, Sept. 1, 1997]

HE'S HELPING DRIVE BART'S TRAIN TO SFO ENGINEER AIMS TO GET IT DONE FAST, IN-EXPENSIVELY

(By Benjamin Pimentel)

While politicians take credit for BART's grand plan to go to San Francisco International Airport, many say an engineer named Takis Salpeas—known to few outside BART and local political circles—is the project's real driving force.

Part commander and part cheerleader, the 47-year-old Greek immigrant has spent the past five years working out details for BART's eight-mile march to SFO and Millbrae, one of the biggest transit projects in Bay Area history.

In many ways, Salpeas is just the person to lead BART's bulldozers when construction begins next month: a dedicated railroad-builder full of brashness and bravado who hasn't lost his optimism in the face of dozens of obstacles.

"BART is one of the best systems in the world. There will be no margin of error," Salpeas said. "Everything will be efficient. We have to go for it."

The airport project is the biggest in Salpeas' career—and the most controversial. It has been the target of lawsuits, opposition from local groups and the airlines and political battles in Congress.

At a time when few believe the line will open by the early 21st century, Salpeas says he's sure he can complete the job on schedule in 50 months.

And even though critics predict that the extension will cost more than its projected $1.2 billion price tag, the feisty engineer claims he can do the job efficiently enough to save up to $240 million.

Salpeas' gung-ho attitude has rubbed some people the wrong way.

Although local leaders are excited about the economic benefits of the BART extension, many complain that BART planned the extension without adequately consulting them—and that Salpeas has tried to steamroll them. But few are willing to publicly criticize a man they will have to negotiate with in the coming years.

"You're either on his side or (you're) the enemy," one government official said. "We have this love-hate relationship with the man."

Others, like San Bruno Mayor Ed Simon, say they appreciate Salpeas' directness.

"He's a straight shooter," he said. "Some people think he's abrasive because he doesn't try to sugar-coat things."

Salpeas acknowledges that he has been blunt in dealing with cities.

"Whatever I tell them is the truth, the honest, professional truth," he said. "I never promise anything I can't deliver."

Born and raised in Athens, Salpeas is the son and grandson of railroad engineers. His family sent him to study civil engineering at the University of Pennsylvania in the early '70s, hoping he would return to become director of Greece's national railroad system.

Salpeas decided to build his career in the United States instead. After a stint with Philadelphia's rail transit agency, Salpeas moved to the Bay Area in 1991 to build BART's Colma station.

He was later tapped to head BART's SFO extension team.

Until recently, when BART finally got a federal funding commitment, it was unclear if the project would ever get started.

The weekend before the Federal Transit Administration signed the agreement, Salpeas said he was nervously scribbling plans for radically cheaper alternatives.

Because the line will pass through several cities, Salpeas has had to calm fears about how construction will affect communities. Along the way, he's had to contend with cities' demands, such as extending a sidewalk or building tracks underground—demands that usually get turned down.

"Everybody wants something out of this project—and yet I have fixed resources," he said.

BART board member Dan Richard, who negotiated with cities for the agency, said there were times when he wished Salpeas would take a softer approach.

"There's a reason why there are few engineers in public office," he said. "They sometimes use the direct approach, which is what you need to build things—but isn't always the most politic way. Every once in a while, we have to guide the missile in a different direction."

Simon recalled how Salpeas would fidget with his tie whenever discussions seemed to be reaching a stalemate.

"It's like he wants to take his tie off and put on another shirt to start working," Simon said. "He just wants to build the darn train."

And Salpeas wants to build it fast and cheap.

To do this, BART is changing the way it issues contracts. In the past, BART dealt with dozens of contractors whose job was to build whatever BART had designed. BART's recently completed East Bay extensions, roughly the length of the airport project, involved 51 contractors.

By contrast, the SFO extension will involve four contractors in charge of both designing and building the line. Fewer contractors will likely mean fewer delays and shorten construction by more than a year, Salpeas said.

The process, called design build, is commonly used in private construction projects—but this is the first time it will be used to build a major Bay Area transit project.

Many things could still derail Salpeas' game plan. BART must lobby Congress every year for its annual appropriation, and some local groups still think the project is too expensive and impractical.

But he remains optimistic.

"If we are successful, this is how railroads will be built in the 21st century," he said.

And let no one doubt that Salpeas intends to keep building railroads in the new century. Even before the digging for the airport extension begins, he's already thinking of what he hoped would be BART's next big project.

"What about crossing the bay one more time?" Salpeas said, laughing.

A TRIBUTE TO MARILYN BERGER, CONTRA COSTA CENTRAL LABOR COUNCIL

HON. GEORGE MILLER

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 25, 1998

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to invite my colleagues to join me in recognizing Marilyn Berger, the retiring office manager for the Contra Costa Central Labor Council. Ms. Berger has held together the operations of our country's organized labor for almost 20 years. Her outstanding service is being recognized in my district at a Labor-to-Labor banquet held on Tuesday, October 8, 1998 in Concord.

I wish to express my sincere gratitude for a job well done. Marilyn has kept the Central Labor Council on the cutting edge of technology and is self-taught in her computer skills. Her talents as office manager saw her through the terms of three Secretary-Treasurers of Labor Council.

Marilyn Berger has been a member of the Office and Professional Employees Union, Local 29 since August 1, 1979. She held two positions before coming to the Central Labor Council. As a teenager, she worked for the FBI in San Francisco, and she was a secretary for the Inlandboatmen's Union, also in San Francisco.

She has led a full life as a working woman and a devoted mother of two sons and two daughters. Marilyn has many interests outside of work including biking, and attending opera, theatre and film presentations.

I know everyone associated with the Central Labor Council and all of us who need to call their office from time to time are going to greatly miss Marilyn Berger when she retires. I wish her the very best retirement has to offer.

100TH ANNIVERSARY OF JAMESTOWN CITY LIBRARY

HON. JERRY MORAN

OF KANSAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 25, 1998

Mr. MORAN of Kansas. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in recognition of the 100th anniversary of the Jamestown City Library in Jamestown, Kansas. The community of Jamestown recently celebrated this historic milestone with a parade and book sale on September 12.

In 1898, the Current Literature and History Club established the Jamestown Library through the voluntary efforts of the women club members. Initially, they secured a traveling library housed in a spare room in the house of Frank Lane. Soon after, they raised enough money to obtain the plot of land that became the present site of the library through an initial $100 donation from Jamestown resident James Pomeroy.

The Club was incorporated in 1900 and the building that housed the new library was completed in January of 1901. The total cost of the project was $1,098.75 and was named the Pomeroy Library.

In 1911, a fire burned down much of the main street of Jamestown, including the library. What remained of the library's book collection was housed temporarily in the basement of the First United Methodist Church. Again the Current Literature and History Club women went to work for the community of Jamestown. With insurance money and local donations made from 46 charitable events such as box suppers, foods sales, plays and musicals, they again raised the needed funds to construct a new library.

In 1925, the club transferred ownership of the library to the city of Jamestown and gave it its present name, the Jamestown City Library.

Of particular importance to the Jamestown City Library was Ms. Ora Good, who later became Mrs. Ora Ansdel. In 1904, she volunteered to serve as the first librarian. Weathering fire, drought, the depression, two world wars, the beginning and end of the cold war, men landing on the moon, and the bicentennial celebration of our nation, she served for 72 years until her retirement in 1976.

In later years the library has experienced several renovations and alterations, but continues to serve as a reminder of Jamestown's hard fought beginnings and the commitment put forth by its early founders. Jamestown is a community rich in history and long on accomplishments.

I congratulate the community of Jamestown in light of this special celebration. Further, I am confident that another proud Congressman will read a similar such statement 100 years from now on the 200th anniversary of this historic library.

TRIBUTE IN HONOR OF SAM FLORES AS THE SEGUIN HISPANIC CHAMBER OF COMMERCE'S HUMANITARIAN OF THE YEAR

HON. CIRO D. RODRIGUEZ

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 25, 1998

Mr. RODRIGUEZ. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor one of Texas' true humanitarians, Seguin City Councilman Sam Flores. On August 29, 1998, Councilman Flores was recognized for his dedication to the people of his community when he was selected as the Seguin Hispanic Chamber of Commerce's Humanitarian of the Year. Councilman Sam Flores's career only begins to tell the story of his devotion to his community and the people in it.

Born in San Marcos, Texas, during the midst of the country's worst depression, a young Sam Flores learned the value of hard work at an early age. As soon as he was old enough to perform manual labor Sam began his adult life as a migrant worker, traveling as far north as Michigan to work the fields. Although he recognized the value of education,

Sam dropped out of school during his sophomore year to serve his country in the Far East as a member of the U.S. Marines. He served in the Marines for six years as a Platoon Sergeant in the Korean War and also helped evacuate Americans from Shanghai during the communist revolution in China.

Upon returning home he enrolled at Southwest Texas State Teacher's College where he earned his teacher's degree in 1955. In 1959 he earned his Master's degree in school administration. It was in 1959 that Sam and his wife, Velia, moved to her hometown of Seguin. Sam took a position with the Harlandale Independent School District in San Antonio. He served the Harlandale ISD for 35 years teaching education and special education to elementary and secondary school students. For ten years he held the position of Director for Special Education for six different school districts. He also served as Principal of the Harlandale School District for eleven years. Even after retirement Sam stays involved with education by serving as the Attendance Officer for Seguin High School.

Community leadership defines Sam Flores' life. As a member of the Seguin City Council for 33 years, Sam championed community improvement. He was one of the founders and the President of the Seguin Boys Club. He held a leading role in the establishment of the Seguin Housing Authority and the agreement to build a new Seguin Post Office. His leadership brought about the completion of the Walnut Creek Flood project and the paving of 22 miles of Seguin's gravel streets. He has also provided leadership in the fight against the discrimination of minorities through full integration of the Seguin Independent School District and service on a special committee which brought Mexican American Studies to Texas Lutheran University. Sam Flores now serves the community of Seguin as the Chairman of the "Seguin Memorial Committee," a group developed to honor the city's namesake, Juan N. Seguin, with a statue in the downtown city park.

Sam Flores has made tangible and intangible contributions to the city of Seguin. All those whose lives he has touched, from his students to other council members, can attest to his true humanitarianism. Their description of him is more accurate: "Sam is a soldier for the people of his community and state." We need more soldiers in our communities like Sam Flores.

SALUTE TO JOHN M. LANGSTON BAR ASSOCIATION AFRICAN AMERICAN HALL OF FAME HONOREES

HON. JULIAN C. DIXON

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 25, 1998

Mr. DIXON. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to five outstanding and distinguished African American legal legends who on Saturday, October 17, 1998, will be inducted into the John M. Langston Bar Association's Hall of Fame. The celebrated honorees are retired Los Angeles Superior Court Judges Gilbert C. Alston and Dion Morrow; former Congresswoman and currently a member of the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors Yvonne Brathwaite-Burke; and famed attorneys Charles Earl Lloyd, and the late Thomas G. Neusom.

All of the honorees have made exemplary contributions to the legal profession as well as to the citizens of Los Angeles and this nation. That is why I am especially proud to publicly commend and recognize each of them before the House today.

Judge Gilbert C. Alston, a graduate of the University of Southern California (USC) Law School, spent his early career working in the Los Angeles District Attorney's office, and in private practice with his law partner H. Ronald Hauptman. He was appointed the first Commissioner of the Pasadena Municipal Court in 1971, and six months later was appointed by then-Governor Ronald Reagan to the Los Angeles Municipal Court. In 1977 Governor Jerry Brown, Jr. agreed to transfer Judge Alston to the Pasadena Judicial District, where he became Pasadena's first African American judge. Judge Alston is perhaps best known in judicial circles for his ruling allowing the use of cameras in the courtroom. Judge Alston was elevated to the Pasadena Superior Court in 1980, a position he held until his retirement.

Judge Dion Morrow, a native Angeleno, graduated from Loyola Law School on June 1, 1957, and was admitted to the California State Bar on December 18, 1957. His early career was spent in private practice with fellow distinguished Los Angeles attorneys Xenophan F. Lang, Robert Hall, James Gordon, and David Cunningham. Judge Morrow joined the Los Angeles City Attorney's office in 1975, serving as Assistant City Attorney and Senior Special Counsel to City Attorney Burton Pines. He was the first African American to hold such a position. He was appointed to the Compton Municipal Court by Governor Brown on October 17, 1975. A little over two years later, he was elevated to the Los Angeles Superior Court, where he spent the next 18 years presiding over complex criminal and civil cases. Dion retired from the bench on October 23, 1995, but continues to serve the legal community as a private arbitrator, mediator, settlement judge and discovery referee. Judge Morrow is past president of the Langston Bar Association.

Los Angeles County Supervisor Yvonne Brathwaite-Burke certainly requires little introduction. She has been recognized by Time magazine as one of "America's 200 Future Leaders," and was selected "Woman of the Year" by both the Los Angeles Times and her alma mater UCLA, which two years ago awarded her its "1996 Alumni of the Year" award. As my predecessor in the California State Assembly and the United States Congress, she is a distinguished public official who has received numerous honors and commendations for an illustrious career spanning more than three decades. Yvonne represented California's then-28th Congressional District from 1972–1976. She is a former member of the University of California Board of Regents, and is currently a member of several boards, including the Los Angeles Coliseum Commission and the Metropolitan Transportation Authority, where she has been a forceful and influential advocate for an improved transportation system for Los Angeles residents. Yvonne received her Juris Doctor degree from USC and was admitted to the California State Bar in 1956. She has championed equal opportunity for displaced homemakers, and authored legislation benefitting California's disadvantaged youth, nursing home residents, and orphanages. Yvonne Brathwaite-Burke has earned her place in the Hall of Fame.

Attorney Charles Earl Lloyd received his Juris Doctor degree from USC in 1961 and was admitted to the California State Bar in January 1962. After serving two years as a prosecuting attorney in the Los Angeles City Attorney's office, in 1964 he entered private practice under the firm of Berman, Lloyd and Goldstein. A year later, he became the senior partner in the firm of Lloyd, Bradley (Tom Bradley would go on to serve five consecutive terms as the Mayor of the City of Los Angeles) Burrell, and Nelson. He is recognized as one of the premier criminal attorneys in the nation, and has also represented many entertainers and professional sportsmen, including the entertainer Dr. William (Bill) Cosby; legendary boxer Sonny Liston; and former Houston Oilers lineman Ernie Ladd. Charles was the first African American to serve as a City of Los Angeles Harbor Commissioner. He is an outstanding attorney and a mentor to many young aspiring attorneys throughout the nation.

Thomas G. Neusom, who will be inducted posthumously into the Hall of Fame, was admitted to the California State Bar in 1950 and for a brief time thereafter practiced law with legendary Los Angeles attorneys Crispus A. Wright and Carl A. Earles. Tom served two terms as NAACP president, during which he successfully litigated and won the integration of the Los Angeles Fire Department. He also served as the co-counsel on the suit which led to the integration of the Los Angeles Police Department. He was a lawyer's lawyer—a man of tremendous integrity and a commitment to helping the downtrodden.

Mr. Speaker, please join with me in applauding the excellence of these five distinguished individuals. It is a special honor to highlight just a few of their outstanding accomplishments, and it is with a tremendous sense of pride that I salute and congratulate each of them as they are inducted into the John M. Langston Bar Association Hall of Fame.

IN HONOR OF OUR LADY OF GOOD COUNSEL PARISH

HON. DENNIS J. KUCINICH

OF OHIO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 25, 1998

Mr. KUCINICH. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to extend my best wishes to the community of Our Lady of Good Counsel Parish. For more than a century, this parish has served as a spiritual refuge, opening its doors to any soul in search of peace.

In the spring of 1873, led by Father Patrick F. Quigley, the Catholic Diocese of Cleveland established a mission in the village of Brooklyn, Ohio. The community's first mass was held at the local public school, but by 1874, it celebrated the blessing of the cornerstone of its first church, the Sacred Heart of Mary Mission. As the parish flourished, the Cleveland Diocese elevated the community to parochial status in 1894, appointing Father Michael Becker as its first pastor and opening the Sacred Heart of Mary School.

Unfortunately, in 1907, an accident caused a fire that destroyed the church and the school. While rebuilding took place, the parish continued to celebrate mass in the town hall. By August 15, 1909 the new church was finished with a new pastor, Father Luke Rath. During the next eight years, the parish population grew, causing the community to expand their church with a new sister's house, mission house, and portable school buildings to serve 385 students. Father Rath presided over the dedication ceremony, where the community changed its name to Our Lady of Good Counsel Parish.

The current church was dedicated in 1930, a beautiful building which includes a soaring bell tower modeled after that of Sancto Spiritu Church in Florence, Italy. Although it struggled during the Great Depression, the parish maintained a social life, sponsoring a variety of plays, operettas, and card parties. The community also added a bowling alley, a cafeteria, and a new school addition.

My fellow colleagues, please join me in honoring the Our Lady of Good Counsel Parish and its current pastor Father Leroy Moreeuw, CPPS as they celebrate in commemoration of 150 years in service to God. Throughout its long history, the parish has undergone many changes, but the spirit and dedication of its members have remained constant. As the Cleveland Diocese celebrates its sesquicentennial anniversary, Our Lady of Good Counsel Parish remains a beacon of solace and friendship for its members and the residents of Cleveland's Old Brooklyn neighborhood.

TRIBUTE TO EBRI

HON. DONALD M. PAYNE

OF NEW JERSEY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 25, 1998

Mr. PAYNE. Mr. Speaker, I want to congratulate the Employee Benefit Research Institute on their 20th Anniversary. The Employee Benefit Research Institute, or EBRI as it is more commonly known, is the only nonprofit, nonpartisan organization committed to original public policy research and education on economic security and employee benefits. For the last 20 years, they have been instrumental in promoting knowledge and understanding among the media and policymakers of employee benefits. I believe their greatest service has been in advancing the public's understanding of employee benefits and their effect on the nation's economy. Their commitment to disseminating the facts has earned EBRI renowas the preeminent public policy research organization on issues affecting workers and their benefits.

EBRI has provided me with invaluable objective research, data, and analysis. The Institute is guided by the tenet that policy initiatives cannot ". . . be successful unless they are founded on sound, objective, relevant information." The information produced by EBRI covers health, retirement, among other economic issues, is thorough and comprehensive.

One of the most important reference materials to come out of EBRI is the Retirement Confidence Survey (RCS). The RCS is an important indicator of societal attitudes toward retirement planning and savings. While the House considers legislative measures, I find the issue briefs and research documents to be a valuable research and information tool.

As increased attention is paid by policymakers, media, and the benefits community to the unique challenges facing minority groups, I think they are to be especially commended for including the RCS Minority Special Report. This report examines the attitudes of minority groups about preparing for retirement. Such an important effort shines a much-needed spotlight on a issue that is critical to the economic health and well-being of the African American community that is long overdue.

I know many members who are interested in these issues rely on EBRI to provide credible comprehensive data and analysis and use it to make informed decisions about policy initiatives and approaches.

Mr. Speaker, I wish Dallas Salisbury and EBRI continued success as they pursue their quest for the facts.

HONORING JUDGE PHILIP
PASTORE ON HIS 100TH BIRTHDAY

HON. ROSA L. DeLAURO

OF CONNECTICUT

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 25, 1998

Ms. DELAUBRO. Mr. Speaker, today marks the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of the Honorable Philip Pastore, a life-long New Haven resident who has served both the City of New Haven and the State of Connecticut with distinction throughout his law career.

Judge Pastore has dedicated his life to making our justice system work. In both his personal and professional life, he has earned a reputation for his fairness, integrity, and commitment to upholding and respecting the law. These qualities are demonstrated in the many judicial cases he has tried, presided over, and rendered judgments on for more than half a century. Judge Pastore retired only three years ago, leaving a legacy which included positions as a Democratic state representative and a Superior Court judge.

It is fascinating to listen to Judge Pastore's stories of the century of history he witnessed, along with the remarkable changes and tremendous progress to the judicial system. Although he no longer practices professionally, he continues to keep up-to-date on current case law, and his wife still reads the Connecticut Law Journal to him. Many seek his advice, knowing his counsel is offered with wisdom, justice and compassion. Plaques cover the walls of his home to honor the services he has donated to the community. Indeed, his long career has left an indelible mark on the residents of Connecticut, and especially his close friends from the Wooster Street neighborhood. It is difficult to find someone whose commitment to excellence equals his own.

I join with his wife, Margaret, his children, grandchildren, and great grandchildren to honor Philip Pastore on his 100th birthday. Best wishes for continued fulfillment and happiness. Happy Birthday!

RECOGNIZING THE 100TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE CRANBURY FIRE COMPANY

HON. MICHAEL PAPPAS

OF NEW JERSEY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 25, 1998

Mr. PAPPAS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to congratulate the Cranbury Fire Company as they celebrate 100 years of service to their community.

It is my privilege and honor to recognize this group of men and women who have protected the citizens of Cranbury and surrounding towns for the past century.

Since its formation in September 1898, members of the Cranbury Fire Company have placed their lives in harm's way in order to protect their fellow citizens.

We have relied on their selfless sacrifices and have always felt a strong sense of security knowing that they will respond to us when our lives, homes and neighborhoods are in peril.

Many times, we tend to take their services for granted and often do not acknowledge them for their hard work.

I hope that all Americans will reflect on the dedication of our firefighters whenever we pass by their town's firehouse or see a truck responding to an emergency call. We all must recognize the daily sacrifice of these brave men and women.

I extend my deepest appreciation and thanks to the Cranbury Fire Company for their efforts during the past century. It is my great pleasure to be able to recognize their work. Congratulations to all who have served in the company, those who presently serve and those who will carry on the Cranbury Fire Company's tradition of service into the new millennium.

A LIFETIME OF SERVICE—A TRIBUTE TO REV. ROBERT L. BROWN OF ALBION, MICHIGAN

HON. NICK SMITH

OF MICHIGAN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 25, 1998

Mr. SMITH of Michigan. Mr. Speaker, it is with great respect for his many years of service to the community and to his church as educator, counsellor, and administrator that I am proud to salute Rev. Robert L. Brown.

Rev. Brown served as pastor at the Gethsemane Temple Church of God in Christ for 11 years. Bishop Earl J. Wright appointed him Superintendent of the Albion District in 1985, overseeing several churches in the Albion area. He chairs the Elder's Council in the jurisdiction and is the Chairman of the Second Jurisdiction of Southwest Michigan Church of God in Christ, Inc.

As pastor of Grace Temple Church of God in Christ in Albion, Michigan, Rev. Brown has inspired many to become personally involved in doing God's work and making more gentle man's life on Earth. Led by his preaching and example, they in turn light the lives of even more people, even reaching as faraway as Port au Prince, Haiti—where their missionary ministry has built a church and a school to help others discover God's love.

He married missionary Lillie B. Kemp in December 1948 and they'll be celebrating their 50th anniversary this year. The Browns have five adult children and fifteen grandchildren.

In honoring Rev. Brown today, we honor the principles of virtue, moral courage, and sacrifice which he and others in the spirit of peace and the spirit of Christ have long espoused. As an inspiration, strength, and a blessing to those whose lives are touched by his, he helps others understand the place of faith in their lives and discover how to love God and one's fellow man.

Therefore, the Congress of the United States is proud to join with his lovely wife, fine family and his many admirers in extending highest praise and congratulations to Rev. Robert L. Brown.

NATIONAL BIPARTISAN COMMISSION ON THE FUTURE OF MEDICARE

HON. NANCY PELOSI

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 25, 1998

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Speaker, I submit the following testimony.

Thank you for the opportunity to provide testimony to the National Commission. Your work will have a profound impact on the health care of millions of Americans, and I encourage you to seek broad input from Medicare beneficiaries and providers around the country.

Medicare is one of our great success stories; it provides quality health insurance to 38 million Americans at a low administrative cost. Today Medicare is serving as a model provider of consumer protections. In the future, it can be the foundation for increased access to health care for all Americans.

Three months ago, I sponsored two town hall meetings on the future of Medicare in my home district of San Francisco. Hundreds of individuals came to share their thoughts and concerns about Medicare, and to talk about the important role the program plays in their lives.

The consensus in the San Francisco Bay Area was clearly for Medicare for all. Medicare must be preserved, improved and expanded for future generations. People who came to these meetings urged elected officials to protect the long term financial health of the program. But they also shared their visions of what Medicare can be—a more comprehensive program that better meets the needs of beneficiaries, and provides health insurance to many of those who have difficulty purchasing private insurance.

To design a Medicare program that improves services as well as meets the financial bottom line, we need to listen to people who are benefiting from Medicare now, and to those who provide needed medical care through the program. So today I am submitting to the Commission the written comments we received at our town hall meetings. Let me briefly summarize these comments for you.

TESTIMONY AT TWO TOWN HALL MEETINGS

The point made most frequently in written comments was that Medicare should not impose stringent limits on home health care services. The logic of providing home health services is clear: seniors are happier and healthier if they can remain in their own homes, with some assistance, and sustain a level of independence. And increased institutionalization obviously means increased long term costs for the program.

Other frequent comments included the need to provide prescription drug coverage and long term care services through Medicare. One woman noted that, "Sometimes I have to do without a prescribed medication until I receive my Social Security check at the first of the month."

Others voiced their support for an expanded Medicare program in which millions more Americans are eligible for services. It is no secret that if younger and healthier individuals sign up for Medicare and pay premiums, the average cost per beneficiary will fall. Several people who filled out comment forms warned against efforts to privatize Medicare or compromise the program through Medicare savings accounts.

Others argued for including providing prevention, dental and vision services. The importance of these services requires no explanation. In an era when we are insisting all health care providers deliver more comprehensive prevention services, we should demand the same from Medicare. One woman suggested that Medicare require all HMOs to provide a toll free hotline to consumers.

COMMENTS FROM MEDICARE PROVIDERS

Medicare providers in my district also spoke at the town hall meetings about the challenges they face in providing care. The interim payment system for home health agencies has imposed a heavy financial burden on providers. Medicare providers have also supported legislative efforts to carve out disproportionate share hospital payments from payments to HMOs, eliminate the 100 bed requirement for qualification as a disproportionate share hospital, and repeal of the financial penalty for hospitals that transfer patients to other care settings before the DRG period has expired.

CONCERN OF PEOPLE WITH AIDS

The AIDS epidemic has taken a devastating toll in my district, and Medicare plays a significant role in provision of health care to individuals affected by this epidemic. It is estimated that between 6% and 20% of people with HIV/AIDS rely on Medicare for some or all of their health care services. The Centers for Disease Control has estimated that between 10,565 and 22,927 Medicare beneficiaries are diagnosed with AIDS.

A recent report published by the Academy for Educational Development documents several concerns about HIV-related health care services under Medicare. First, because the program does not cover the costs of prescription drugs, beneficiaries are forced to find other means of acquiring the expensive but promising new drug treatments for HIV infection. These drugs can cost $12,000 per year or more.

The report notes several other problems for people with HIV including, "the lack of guaranteed availability of individual supplemental insurance for the disabled under the age of 65, the lack of guaranteed availability of HIV specialists in Medicare managed care plans, the inadequacy of community-based and home care services to address the ongoing chronic nature of the HIV disease process, and the limitations of the hospice benefit for addressing the acute treatment needs of people in the terminal stage of HIV disease." I am submitting a copy of this report with the town hall meeting testimony noted above.

RECOMMENDATIONS

A number of recommendations for reform of Medicare follow from the testimony and policy research presented above. Below is a list of recommendations. In some cases, I have noted legislation I have cosponsored that is consistent with these recommendations.

Expand services available in Medicare

Medicare should provide comprehensive and cost effective care to those who are eligible for the program. The program should provide reimbursement for needed drug therapies, long term care services, dental and vision care, and prevention services. The Medically Necessary Dental Care Act (H.R. 1288) would provide coverage for outpatient dental procedures.

Expand eligibility for Medicare

Medicare can serve as the foundation for increased access to health care for all Americans. I urge the Commission to identify ways in which eligibility for the program can be expanded. The Medicare Early Access Act (H.R. 3470) is consistent with this proposal. The bill would allow many of the "near elderly" to buy in to Medicare. We need to build upon this legislation to ensure that any buy in is affordable for all those who need health insurance coverage.

Address legitimate concerns of Medicare providers

The interim payment system for home health agencies threatens to put many providers out of business. Congress and the Commission must urgently address the need to develop a more equitable payment system for home health care. The Medicare Home Health Beneficiary Protection Act (H.R. 4339) places a moratorium on the interim payment system for home health care.

The Commission should also take steps to protect reimbursement to disproportionate share hospitals. H.R. 2701 would "carve out" disproportionate share hospital (DSH) payments from the payment we give HMOs.

In addition, the 100 bed requirement for qualification as a DSH should be repealed.

The disincentive for early hospital discharge should be eliminated. The Common Sense Hospital Payment Act (H.R. 2908) repeals the financial penalty for hospitals that transfer patients to other care settings before the DRG payment period has expired.

Address concerns of People with AIDS and other disabilities

As people with AIDS live longer lives, more will become eligible for Medicare. The Commission should make several changes in the program to address the needs of this growing population, including: guaranteed availability of supplemental Medicare insurance for disabled individuals; guaranteed access to an HIV expert as a primary care provider and for specialist services; and elimination of the limitation on hospice benefits that bars people from receiving some needed acute care treatments while in hospice care.

In addition, I encourage the Commission to study the interaction between Medicare, Medicaid, and Ryan White CARE program services, particularly in the provision of community based support services.

I look forward to working with the Commission to build a fiscally sound and expanded Medicare program. Thank you again for the opportunity to present these perspectives.

Congratulations to CALIFORNIA BAPTIST UNIVERSITY

HON. KEN CALVERT

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 25, 1998

Mr. CALVERT. Mr. Speaker, today, after nearly a half-century as a member of California's higher education community, California Baptist College becomes California Baptist University. Cal Baptist, founded in 1950, was housed in a borrowed church building for its first four years, moved to its present Riverside location in 1954 and earned accreditation in 1961.

The college reaches this milestone under the leadership of Dr. Ronald L. Ellis, president since 1994. Former presidents are Dr. P. Boyd Smith, 1950-57; Dr. Loyed R. Simmons, 1958-69; Dr. James R. Staples, 1970-84; and Dr. Russell R. Tuck, 1984-94.

During the 1980's, the college was on the cutting edge of non-traditional education when it established the Business Executive program, the pre-cursor to the current Evening Degree-Completion program for working adults. In the mid-eighties, the college added its first post-graduate degree, a Master's degree in Counseling Psychology. Three years ago, the college added a Master of Education degree and, last year, the Master of Business Administration degree. From 1994 to 1997, the institutional enrollment increased 149 percent, much of it through graduate and Evening Degree-Completion programs.

California Baptist College has consistently produced well-schooled graduates. Scores of children in my district are the beneficiaries of that product as they thrive under the teaching of Cal Baptist alumni. The graduates of Cal Baptist's Master's degree program in Counseling Psychology have an unusually high pass rate on the state licensing exam. Cal Baptist alumni serve in the Riverside police department, city government, management in our local banking institutions, a broad array of social service agencies, and church-related positions on a global scale.

California Baptist College—now university—is in the business of preparing complete people, people who are equipped to make a difference. The university provides an environment that fosters not only intellectual development, but spiritual, emotional, physical, and character development. Students are involved in outreach to the homeless; tutoring programs at the county juvenile facility and Sherman Indian High School, a local Bureau of Indian Affairs boarding school; city clean up projects; and the City of Riverside's Study Circles on Race Relations.

The university adheres to a high ethical standard, the kind of standard to which our nation has traditionally aspired and which we continue to uphold as the mark of the truly successful. On behalf of the residents of the 43rd Congressional District, it is an honor to congratulate California Baptist University upon the occasion of their transition to university status.

INTRODUCTION OF VISIT USA
LEGISLATIONHON. SAM FARR

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 25, 1998

Mr. FARR of California. Mr. Speaker, as a cochair of the Congressional Travel and Tourism Caucus, I am honored today to introduce the "Value in Supporting International Tourism in the United States Act of 1998" or the "Visit USA Act". My caucus cochair, Rep. MARK FOLEY of Florida, joins me in dropping this important bill.

Why do we need an NTO?

The reason is simple—it makes good economic sense. The travel and tourism industry is one of the Nation's largest employers, providing 16.2 million jobs. It directly employs 7 million people, and indirectly employs an additional 9.2 million Americans. 92 percent of the tourism industry is composed of small- and medium-sized businesses throughout every region of the country.

The industry ranks as the first, second, or third largest employer in 32 States and the District of Columbia, generating a total tourism-related annual payroll of $127.9 billion.

In my district on the central coast of California, it is the second largest industry, bringing in more than $2 billion and directly employing close to 26,000 residents.

The industry has become the Nation's third-largest retail sales industry, generating a total of $489 billion in total expenditures. The industry generated $71.7 billion in tax revenues for federal, state, and local governments.

While the private sector, States, and localities currently spend more than $1 billion annually to promote particular destinations within the United States to international visitors, the Federal Government spends zero dollars—zero dollars—promoting the United States as a tourist destination.

In 1997, more than 54 million foreign visitors spent $98 billion in the United States. Imagine the benefits to our Nation's economy if we were to actively seek foreign visitors.

In 1997, 17.9 million more people visited France than the United States. Yes, 17.9 million more people chose to visit France over the United States. One hundred nations around the world spend hundreds of millions of dollars annually to promote international tourism in their countries. And each year the United States loses more of its market share to nations actively promoting tourism. By dropping this bill, we hope to change this trend.

The Visit USA Act will establish an Intergovernmental Task Force for International Visitor Assistance. The task force will examine signage and make suggestions where necessary to facilitate international visitors' travel in the United States. The task force will address the availability of multilingual travel and tourism information and the means of disseminating such information.

The task force will also examine the feasibility of establishing a toll-free, private-sector operated, telephone number, staffed by multilingual operators, to provide emergency assistance to international tourists.

Additionally, this legislation instructs the Secretary of Commerce to complete, as soon as may be practicable, a satellite system of accounting for the travel and tourism industry.

The satellite system of accounting would provide Congress and the President with objective, thorough data that would help policymakers more accurately gauge the size and scope of the domestic travel and tourism industry and its significant impact on the health of the Nation's economy.

Let me assure my colleagues who were skeptical of the NTO that this bill is not business as usual. The Visit USA Act requires the travel and tourism industry to match every public dollar spent on marketing the United States with private funds and requires the industry to pay the administrative expenses of the NTO.

I encourage my colleagues to review this bill, think about the impact of the tourism industry in their district, and become a cosponsor of the Visit USA Act.

THE WORLD IS WATCHING

HON. JOE SCARBOROUGH

OF FLORIDA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 25, 1998

Mr. SCARBOROUGH. Mr. Speaker, the world watches while China begins her long march toward superpower status. Regrettably, the view is exceedingly grim for those concerned with the continued abuse of their citizen's most basic human rights.

The current American administration has promised progress in China in return for more open markets. Of course we recognize that this administration, like so many others, is blinded by the vision of China as the next great export market. Further enticing the President is the realization that cheap Chinese imports fuel America's economy by driving inflation down. The sad truth that underlies this economic phenomenon is that Chinese slave labor is the economic engine that drives America's inflation downward.

Will America conclude that such an economic truth is acceptable, or will it conclude instead that cheap goods paid with human blood is far too expensive for our taste. As America decides, the beast slouches toward Bethlehem.

This past week, United Nations Commissioner Mary Robinson visited Communist China. The Washington Post reported that while entering her hotel, the wife of a jailed Chinese political leader was hauled off by Chinese security agents.

During Ms. Robinson's visit, a veteran Chinese democratic activist was arrested for attempting to register a free party in China. In Shanghai, Yao Zhenxian was also arrested for discussing the formation of a party.

A journalist was dragged from his home on September 5 for editing a group of essays on political reform written by government scholars and journalists, according to the Washington Post. Shi Binhai was arrested for nothing more than being a journalist reporting on his country's future.

America remains silent.

In his book on Robert F. Kennedy, Maxwell Kennedy introduces his work with a quote from his father's daybook. In that collection of quotes, Bobby Kennedy scribbled the following words: "No one can usurp the height but those to whom the miseries of the world are a misery and will not let them rest."

In plain view of the butchering of Buddhist culture in Tibet, we quietly slumber. In clear view of Christian persecution in communist China, America sleeps peacefully. In plain view of the entire world, America slouches towards an economically rewarding relationship with China that, unchecked by Western values given to us first in ancient Greece, could rot our nation's soul.

The whole world is watching. Chicago, 1968. . . . Washington, 1998.

TRIBUTE TO THE HONORABLE VIC FAZIO

SPEECH OF

HON. WILLIAM O. LIPINSKI

OF ILLINOIS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, September 24, 1998

Mr. LIPINSKI. Mr. Speaker, I appreciate this opportunity to pay tribute to the fine gentleman from California, Mr. Vic FAZIO. We have been extremely blessed to have such a hard-working, fair leader in the Democratic Caucus and the House of Representatives. He has always tried to assist all Members, no matter what side of the aisle they are on. Vic FAZIO has consistently possessed a keen understanding of what it truly means to be a public servant. Through his dedication to listening to the needs of the American people and unfaltering leadership, VIC FAZIO has served as a strong role model for all current and future Members of the House of Representatives.

Vic, I congratulate you on your retirement, and thank you for setting such a high standard of excellence and integrity.

MODERATE POLITICAL LEADERS IN BOSNIA DESERVE SUPPORTHON. BENJAMIN A. GILMAN

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 25, 1998

Mr. GILMAN. Mr. Speaker, while the results of the recent elections in Bosnia have been mixed, with the U.S. backed candidate for President of the Republic of Srpska—the Serb controlled part of Bosnia—defeated by a hardline ultranationalist, it is important for us to continue to support moderate political leaders in Srpska and throughout Bosnia Herzegovina. Although the ultranationalists have won the Presidency in Srpska, moderate political parties appear to still retain a plurality of seats in the Srpska parliament, and current Prime Minister Dodik, who has been a staunch supporter of political reform and the Dayton Peace Agreement, could still form a government.

For those who may not know him, Prime Minister Dodik is a courageous individual who has attempted to lead Bosnian Serbs away from the strident nationalism that caused the conflict in the former Yugoslavia toward political reform, ethnic reconciliation, and economic empowerment. During the war in Bosnia, Dodik, at some personal risk, spoke out against Serb persecution of Muslims and Croats. Since becoming Prime Minister in January 1998, Dodik has moved swiftly to implement political and economic reforms that enabled the Bosnian Serbs in many parts of Srpska to receive the international assistance they were excluded from receiving because of their previous leadership's failure to carry out requirements under the Dayton Peace Agreement. Dodik permitted the International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia to open an office in Srpska, and encouraged individuals who have been indicted by the Tribunal for war crimes to turn themselves in.

Dodik's future as the head of the government of Srpska now hangs in the balance. If the ultranationalist who won the presidency, Poplasen, is unable to put together a government favorable to his extremist and rejectionist agenda, then new parliamentary elections in Srpska will be required. Some have questioned whether the United States and other western countries are at fault for producing the victory of Poplasen by providing too much support for President Plavsic, and in effect, making her the candidate of the "outsiders" in the minds of the Bosnian Serb electorate. While there may be some degree of truth to this, I believe that other factors such as the malign influence of Serbian President Milosevic had as much to do with the untoward outcome of the election as anything else.

In any event, Prime Minister Dodik has appealed for continued support from the international community. If we want to see moderates such as Dodik succeed in Bosnia, and this is essential to our exit strategy for our troops in Bosnia, I believe that we have no choice but to provide tangible support that Bosnian Serbs perceive as being linked to their support for the Dayton plan. If, on the other hand, the ultranationalists can reassess their grasp on power, we will need to rethink our entire strategy in Bosnia, and whether the creation of a multi-ethnic state that is stable and peaceful is possible to realize.

CONGRATULATIONS TO JOHN GRAYSON ROTHROCK

---

HON. CHARLES W. "CHIP" PICKERING
OF MISSISSIPPI
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 25, 1998

Mr. PICKERING. Mr. Speaker, yesterday morning Mr. John Grayson Rothrock was sworn in as an Ensign in the U.S. Navy Reserve. John has been a loyal and effective member of my staff and I am proud to share him with the Navy.

John fulfilled a lifelong ambition of serving his country in the U.S. Armed Forces. Surrounded by his mother, father and many friends he swore allegiance to the Constitution and its defense. I know that John does not take this oath lightly, because he is following a proud tradition in his family. His father, a combat veteran from World War II, participated in the ceremony and was able to receive the customary "silver dollar" for the first salute.

I am proud of John and recognize him for hearing the call of duty and answering it with service in the U.S. Navy Reserve. It is a pleasure to have John serve in my office and I join my staff in wishing him the best of fortune in his new undertaking.

IN RECOGNITION OF NATIONAL POLLUTION PREVENTION WEEK

HON. ROB PORTMAN
OF OHIO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 25, 1998

Mr. PORTMAN. Mr. Speaker, I want to take this opportunity to recognize and support September 21–27 as National Pollution Prevention Week which is currently being observed in the Second District of Ohio and around the Nation.

Protecting the environment while not adversely affecting a community's business climate is sometimes challenging but it is absolutely necessary. One of the most cost-effective ways to have clean streets, drinkable water, and breathable air is to focus on eliminating pollution before it is created. Clearly, it is much better to eliminate or reduce pollution at its source rather than have to dispose, treat, or release it into the air, water, or land.

Pollution Prevention Week is an excellent opportunity to heighten public awareness of these effective efforts. It can serve to encourage government agencies, the business community, environmental organizations, community groups, and most importantly, the general public, to work toward a cleaner environment and a more competitive, prosperous and sustainable business climate. This is a concept that we can all support, and is one embraced by the Greater Cincinnati Earth Coalition and other constituents on Southwest Ohio to achieve these goals to improve the quality of life for everyone.

A TRIBUTE TO THOMAS M. BARRY

---

HON. WILLIAM (BILL) CLAY

OF MISSOURI

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 25, 1998

Mr. CLAY. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in tribute to an outstanding American and citizen from my home state of Missouri, Mr. Thomas M. Barry, on the occasion of his appointment as President of SBC International's Telkom South Africa operation.

Tom Barry represents the finest attributes of corporate service—he is a true American success story. For over 30 years he progressed through a number of assignments in Southwestern Bell's Missouri division before his appointment as assistant vice-president for external affairs in 1985. The following year Tom was named vice-president for public affairs for the company's five-state operating area. In 1990, he became the president and CEO of Metromedia Paging Services, then an SBC Communications Inc. subsidiary. He became senior vice president for strategic planning for SBC in 1991 and the following year Tom Barry was designated senior vice president for federal relations.

In all of his business before Congress and with my office I have known Tom to be highly qualified to address the complex issues emerging in the telecommunications field. When Congress debated the Telecommunications Act of 1996, Tom demonstrated a unique understanding of the importance of balancing competing concerns, from his company's interest in competitive equities in the telecommunications industry to the importance of preserving universal telephone service and the need for "e-rate" discounts and telecommunications services for schools and libraries and rural health care centers.

I was pleased to learn that Tom will now turn his talents to addressing the telecommunications needs of the people of South Africa. I have been informed that the telephone penetration level in South Africa is only 10% among historically disadvantaged households, a group that represents 87% of the population.

SBC's Telkom South Africa operations, in conjunction with their partners, have promised to implement an aggressive plan to modernize the existing communications network and expand telecommunications services throughout the country for the benefit of all citizens. Tom Barry's next mission is to bring telecommunications services to more than 20,000 priority customers—including hospitals, schools and community centers—throughout South Africa.

I am happy to join Tom's many friends and colleagues in congratulating him on a job well done in Washington and wishing him every continued success in his new undertaking as President of SBC International's Teikom South Africa office.

IN HONOR OF MARC MILLIS

---

HON. DENNIS J. KUCINICH

OF OHIO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 25, 1998

Mr. KUCINICH. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor the breakthrough work of Marc Millis, the head engineer for Breakthrough Propulsion Physics Program at NASA's Lewis Research Center.

Since 1990, his tireless work has centered around the idea of how to build space vehicles that bypass the rules of physics and carry humans far into the universe faster than the speed of light. He gathers and explores a variety of ideas from his fellow colleagues and physicists throughout the nation. Although most of the ideas that come from this program are considered, as he puts it, "too far away from fruition for sponsorship," Mr. Millis has strong convictions to continue his research on how we can best explore the vast outer space. To recognize his important work, on August 31, 1998, Newsweek published the following article, "Department of Warp Drives and Wormholes." The text is as follows:

[From Newsweek, Aug. 31, 1998]

DEPARTMENT OF WARP DRIVE AND WORMHOLES

The geeks are getting impatient. Here we are practically in the 21st century, and human beings have never been to another planet. We've never accelerated to unimaginable speeds, warped space-time or manipulated gravity. And that's not good enough for Marc Millis, an aerospace engineer at NASA's Lewis Research Center. When he was a kid he watched "Star Trek" (all baby engineers do) and Jacqueau Cousteau on TV and wanted to be an explorer. "I assumed by the time I was old enough to get into the field, the rocket technology used by Apollo would be old hat," Millis says.

Would that it were so. NASA is still heaving metal into space with rockets. But there are signs of change—or at least willingness to change. Millis runs a small, meagerly funded program called Breakthrough Propulsion Physics. The idea is to figure out how to build spaceships that bypass the rules of physics and carry human beings far into the universe faster than the speed of light. Inside the rocket-scientist fraternity of NASA, these guys stand out: they're serious researchers who actually use sci-fi terms like "warp drive" and "gravity shield." Millis rides herd over the group, organizing workshops and extracting the big ideas while filtering out the nutty ones.

For Millis the job began in 1990. At a workshop he made a presentation titled "Unsolved Problems: Propelling Spacecraft Without Rockets." Quietly, a few likeminded souls introduced themselves, even though "these kinds of topics were . . . the polite way to say it is 'too far away from fruition for sponsorship,'" says Millis. In other words, crazy. Then in 1995 NASA started the Advanced Space Transportation Program at Marshall Space Flight Center, seeking to improve space exploration with traditional technology. "Someone asked, 'What about things like manipulating gravity? Is this light-speed thing still a showstopper?' Stuff like that," says Millis. "And one of the Marshall people tracked me down."

It turned out there were plenty of ideas out there. At Caltech, a physicist named Kip Thorne was investigating what it would take to construct a person-size wormhole, a shortcut that tunnels through space-time, the quantum-mechanical fabric of the universe. A University of Wales physicist named Miguel Alcubierre proposed that a ship could exceed the speed of light by compressing space-time in front and expanding it behind—your basic science-fictional warp drive. Quantum physicists were trying to figure out how photons, particles of light, seem to accelerate past light speed when they tunnel through an obstacle. Only one idea is actually being tested: researchers at Marshall's Space Sciences Lab are trying to replicate experiments said to show reduced gravity above a spinning superconductive disc. But designing an experiment that eliminates external influences has proved difficult. "It's fascinating," says David Noever, the researcher leading the project, "but you have to be very careful."

Needless to say, the Breakthrough Propulsion Physics program is controversial. "NASA is a place that builds things, not a place to try and take ideas which are decades, if not hundreds of years, from fruition and try to build working prototypes," says Lawrence Krauss, a physicist at Case Western Reserve and author of "The Physics of 'Star Trek'." Thorne, the wormhole expert, is starting to think that fundamental physics forbids traversable, human-size wormholes. And then there's the money issue. "So far Millis's activity has not spent much government money," says Gerald Smith, a physicist at Penn State. "Advanced propulsion is a very tough area, and NASA's not putting much money into it. Those of us who are doing work in it don't see it wasted."

Millis knows he's not likely to be making the jump to hyperspace any time soon. But the program continues to gain speed—in February the Marshall center ran a weeklong workshop on breakthrough propulsion. Next year Millis hopes to award a few small grants to researchers in the field. "There's a few people that these subjects will make nervous," he says, "but there seems to be a greater number who find it exciting." They're the ones without the patience to wait to reach the stars.

PERSONAL EXPLANATION

HON. XAVIER BECERRA

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 25, 1998

Mr. BECERRA. Mr. Speaker, on September 17, 1998, I was unavoidably detained during rollcall vote No. 446, on agreeing to the resolution to provide for consideration of H.R. 4569, a bill to appropriate funds for foreign operations in FY 99. Had I been present for the vote, I would have voted "no" on the resolution.

IN MEMORY OF MARK FIELDS
(1978-1997): WE MUST PRESS FORWARD IN THE FIGHT AGAINST CANCER

HON. TOM LANTOS

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 25, 1998

Mr. LANTOS. Mr. Speaker, this weekend cancer survivors from across America will gather in Washington for "The March—Coming Together to Conquer Cancer," a crusade to strengthen cancer research and improve methods of treatment. As we join together in support of this important event, I believe that it is appropriate to recall the spirit of one who would not let this vicious disease destroy his good heart and dauntless soul.

I would like to ask my colleagues to join me in honoring the memory of Mark Fields, a brave young man from San Mateo, California, who passed away thirteen months ago after a four year fight against leukemia. Mark was an intelligent, articulate teenager with interests not unlike those of most boys and girls his age—computers, Camaros, cycling, and Star Trek. The obstacles he faced, however, were far from typical.

Mark was an exceptional individual not because of his cancer—tens of thousands of children and adolescents are diagnosed with this awful disease every year—but rather as a result of his perseverance in pursuing his dreams and desires at a time when he would have been excused for allowing his spirit to be suppressed by chemotherapy, pain, and fear.

Mark's inspiring character is best reflected in a letter which he wrote to President Clinton on February 11, 1997, urging that all children's hospitals be equipped with computers to help children continue their school work during periods of illness. He eloquently used his personal experiences as a child with cancer to articulate the need for such a program.

Mark Fields was not able to pursue his dream of a college degree, and he did not have the opportunity to work with President Clinton to place computers in children's hospitals across America. He passed away on August 28, 1997, just six months after he authored this letter. Mark's fight is now our fight, and our efforts on behalf of children with cancer must be furthered in his memory.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to enter Mark's letter to President Clinton into the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD.

San Mateo, CA, February 11, 1997.

President WILLIAM CLINTON,

The White House, Washington, DC.

Subject: Children's Hospital Computers

DEAR PRESIDENT CLINTON: I listened to your State of the Union Address and I was very pleased to hear that you have asked that all children's hospitals be equipped with computers to help children keep up with their school work.

I am very interested in this plan because I spent two and half years receiving medical treatment for leukemia at Lucile Packard Children's Hospital at Stanford, California. During this period, I spent what amounted to seven and a half months overnight at the hospital, with my longest stay being 45 days. Thankfully, those treatments are nearly two years behind me and I am feeling great.

During my treatments I was able to complete some high school credits by working with home tutors, but while I was in the hospital, I was definitely alone and out of touch with my school, my teachers and my classmates. This is why I know your plan is definitely needed.

Also, while I was at Children's Hospital, I was asked to participate in the Starbright Foundations's computer link of five major children's hospitals across the nation. This is an excellent way for children from one hospital to connect with children in another hospital. It offers the ability to "chat" and play games on-line, but a connection to schools is definitely needed. Your plan might work well with the Starbright program.

During my senior year I have worked at a local computer store and have realized my interest and abilities are in the computer field, and I will earn a college degree in computer science.

I not only commend you for your hospital computer plan, I would also like to offer you my services. Since I am in the unique position of having been a patient at a children's hospital as well as being very computer literate, I would appreciate the opportunity to assist you in whatever way I can.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Respectfully yours,

Mark Fields.

TRIBUTE TO THE INDIANA STATE LEAGUE OF UNITED LATIN AMERICAN CITIZENS

HON. PETER J. VISCOSKY

OF INDIANA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 25, 1998

Mr. VISCOSKY. Mr. Speaker, it is my distinct honor to pay tribute to the Indiana State League of United Latin American Citizens (LULAC), as it hosts the 1998 LULAC Midwest Conference. This year's conference, titled 'Money Management and the Tools to Make It Work,' is being held on Saturday, September 26, 1998, in Hammond, Indiana. Giving the conference's keynote address is Rick Dovalina, LULAC's National President. He was elected this Fourth of July at the conclusion of the LULAC National Convention. I would also like to take this opportunity to commend Augustine Sanchez, Midwest LULAC Vice President, and the Indiana LULAC state officers, Maria D. Pizana, Terry Serna, Vickie Lipnickis, Belinda Medellin, Dave Jones, Amelia Velez, Louise Martinez, Alicia Rios, and Greg Chavez, for the leadership they have displayed in organizing this important event. Hosting the LULAC Midwest Conference is an honor and a challenge which the Indiana State LULAC has met with vigor and excitement.

Founded in 1929 in Corpus Christi, Texas, LULAC was established to protect the Constitutional rights and freedoms of Hispanic-Americans. Over the years, LULAC has improved the social and economic status of Hispanics through its activism in the areas of equal justice, housing, employment, and education. By 1954, LULAC had earned recognition for winning two landmark civil rights cases. The first integrated the Orange County, California school system, and the second secured jury duty rights for Mexican-Americans in Texas. Since that time, LULAC has worked hard to achieve full access to the political process for all Hispanics, as well as equal educational opportunity for Hispanic children. LULAC councils across the nation work toward this goal by holding voter registration drives and citizen awareness sessions, sponsoring health fairs and tutorial programs, and raising scholarship money for the LULAC national scholarship fund. In addition, LULAC's activism has expanded to include the areas of language and cultural rights. In response to a recent increase in anti-Hispanic sentiment, LULAC councils have fought back by holding seminars and public symposiums on language and immigration issues. The nation's oldest and largest national Hispanic civil rights organization, LULAC continues to be a strong voice in the struggle for equal opportunity for Hispanic-Americans.

The Indiana State LULAC has faithfully worked to fulfill the National LULAC mission through a strong commitment to community and education. The Indiana LULAC emphasizes the protection of civil and human rights for Hispanic citizens and immigrants, and it strives to achieve this goal by educating the Hispanic community. Extremely youth-oriented, Indiana LULAC hosts annual career days and college fairs, provides numerous educational workshops and seminars for students, and offers several leadership training opportunities to students. In addition, Indiana LULAC continues to award scholarships to academic achievers throughout the state and, to date, has awarded over $200,000 in college scholarships. In the future, the Indiana State LULAC aspires to open a LULAC National Education Center, which would provide counseling and tutorial services, scholarships, and low-interest loans to help Hispanic students attend college.

One of LULAC's primary goals is to advance the economic condition of Latinos in the United States and Puerto Rico. The leaders of LULAC are striving to empower members of the Latino community to take control of their financial futures and obtain financial security for their retirement years. With a significant economic disparity between Latinos and the general population, LULAC is taking this opportunity to address this immediate, important issue. The League of United Latin American Citizens 1998 Midwest Conference offers workshops and information sessions to give participants the opportunities and techniques to learn about becoming financially secure, independent, and taking the initiative to become one's own boss. Proceeds for this conference will be used to fund scholarships, as well as youth and young adult educational projects for the Midwest. These programs include the Young Reader Programs, the Hispanic Leadership Opportunities Programs, and the Washington, D.C. Youth Seminars.

Mr. Speaker, I ask you and my other distinguished colleagues to join me in commending the Midwest and State of Indiana LULAC organizations for their extraordinary efforts to unite Hispanics. All involved in the success of these organizations, as well as their endeavors, should be proud of their efforts in working toward equality, independence, and success for Hispanic-Americans.

DALLAS' NBC CHANNEL 5 CELEBRATES ITS 50TH ANNIVERSARY

---

HON. PETE SESSIONS

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 25, 1998

Mr. SESSIONS. Mr. Speaker, it is my pleasure to rise today to recognize a distinguished part of Texas history. This Sunday, September 27, 1998, Dallas' NBC Channel 5 will be celebrating its 50th Anniversary. Channel 5 was founded in 1948 by Texas visionary Amon G. Carter, a noted communications pioneer in both publishing and broadcasting, whose ingenuity lead to the delivery of television to the State of Texas and the Southwest. In fact, NBC Channel 5 was the first television station to go on the air in the State of Texas and the entire Southwest of the United States on September 27, 1948, airing the local visit of President Harry S Truman in his Presidential whistlestop campaign.

While Channel 5 has made its home in a Texas State Historic Landmark Building for the past fifty years, it has served as much more than a simple addition to Texas' architectural heritage. NBC Channel 5 can boast numerous historical accolades, including the first live local news report in Texas in 1948, the first live intercontinental satellite report in 1977, and the first station in the Southwest to offer viewers news via e-mail in 1997.

NBC Channel 5 remains a broadcasting leader in delivering to its viewers the very best in programming and local, national, and international news coverage, highlighted by an unwavering commitment to community service. Therefore, it is with great pride that I ask my colleagues to join me in recognizing fifty years of excellence from a news organization that has raised the standard of journalistic integrity and service to both the great State of Texas and the United States of America; Dallas' NBC Channel 5.

TAIWAN'S 87TH NATIONAL DAY

---

HON. CORRINE BROWN

OF FLORIDA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 25, 1998

Ms. BROWN of Florida. Mr. Speaker, as the Chinese on Taiwan prepare to celebrate their 87th National Day on October 10, 1998, I wish them the best in their continuing efforts to sustain economic growth and to further political reform.

My congratulations go to President Lee Teng-hui and Vice President Lien Chan and the people of the Republic of China on Taiwan. President Lee is to be especially saluted for having repeatedly urged the Chinese communists to hold meaningful exchanges on reunification issues. President Lee is committed to reunification. His dream is to see a reunified and democratic China.

In the meantime, President Lee asks all nations to consider Taiwan's legitimate place in the world community. After all, Taiwan is the 19th largest economy and 14th largest trading nation in the world. Excluding Taiwan's participation in world affairs is a loss for the international community.

May Taiwan have many returns of their National Day and an early reunification with Mainland China under the principles of democracy, freedom, and individual human rights.

TRIBUTE TO EMILY SILICH AND THE CITY OF HOBART, INDIANA

---

HON. PETER J. VISCLOSKY

OF INDIANA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 25, 1998

Mr. VISCLOSKY. Mr. Speaker, it is with great pleasure that I commend the City of Hobart, Indiana, for dedicating its newest park to the memory of the late Emily Silich. On Saturday, September 26, at 10:00 AM, Emily Silich's family and friends will gather to honor her memory. It is due to Emily's dream, vision, and extraordinary efforts that this park has been created to enrich the lives and neighborhoods of the people of Hobart, and the whole of Northwest Indiana.

Emily Silich Park, as it will be named, began as only an idea, a dream. As the City Councilwoman for the Second District of Hobart, Emily sought to provide her constituents with their first park. From its humble beginnings in 1992, to the final culmination in 1998, this drive to provide a positive, clean, and public park for the Second District has been a study in determination and persistence. After Emily Silich passed away in 1995, her family and friends did not allow her dream to fade away.

Instead, Silich's family and friends enlisted the aid of Mayor Linda Buzinec, the local YMCA Board, and Hobart residents. With the aid of the current City Councilman from the Second District, Carl Lindsey, land was purchased from the YMCA. Tom Silich, Emily's husband, and Carl Lindsey donated $3,000 and $500, respectively, in order to purchase land for the park. These efforts, and the work of countless others, has helped to realize one of Emily's goals. Emily Silich Park is located in Hobart, Indiana, on two acres of land. It has among its features a picnic shelter, and playground equipment for the children of the neighborhood. In the future, the Park Board is seeking to add tennis courts and other attractive features.

Mr. Speaker, I ask you and my distinguished colleagues to join me in congratulating the selfless efforts of the Silich family, Mayor Buzinec, and Councilman Lindsey. Through their hard work, dedication, and determination, Emily Silich's goal was realized. Citizens like Tom Silich, Robin Toneff, Carl Lindsey, and Linda Buzinec are examples of the true American ideal: Citizens improving themselves, their neighborhoods, and their communities. I am proud to serve such dedicated residents of Indiana's First Congressional District.

CONGRATULATING MICELL TECHNOLOGIES, INC. ON WINNING A PRESTIGIOUS R&D 100 AWARD

---

HON. DAVID E. PRICE

OF NORTH CAROLINA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 25, 1998

Mr. PRICE of North Carolina. Mr. Speaker, I would like to recognize Micell Technologies, Inc., a high-tech company from my home state of North Carolina that deserves much praise, not only for landing a spot on R&D Magazine's list of 100 most significant innovations of 1998, but also for discovering a new technology that will benefit people's lives and have a positive impact on the environment.

Located in Raleigh and founded only three years ago by Joseph DeSimone and fellow scientists Timothy Romack and James McClain, Micell is being honored in conjunction with Pacific Northwest National Laboratory (PNNL) for advancements in the use of carbon dioxide for professional garment care, metal degreasing, and textile processing.

R&D Magazine has highlighted Micell's newest inventions, the Micell and Miclean solvent cleaning systems, which provide an environmentally friendly alternative to traditional dry cleaning and metal cleaning methods. These systems use a liquid form of carbon dioxide to clean clothing and remove unwanted oils while allowing the carbon dioxide to be recycled time and time again.

This discovery is significant because it will offer an alternative to the use of perchloroethylene, the most commonly used dry-cleaning solvent, which has been known to contaminate groundwater and is also suspected to be carcinogenic. It will protect both consumers and employees in the dry cleaning industry and also help protect our environment.

To help Micell Technologies and others like them, we should be strengthening federal support for basic science and environmental technology development and creating incentives to encourage businesses to adopt environmentally sound, energy efficient, and water conserving processes.

The R&D 100 has been called "The Oscars of Invention." It has honored innovations like anti-lock brakes and the fax and automated teller machines, inventions that have changed the way we live. Therefore, it is with great pride that I publicly congratulate Micell Technologies for their innovative, environmentally friendly technological discoveries.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO TAIWAN

HON. DONALD M. PAYNE

OF NEW JERSEY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 25, 1998

Mr. PAYNE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to send greetings and best wishes to the leaders in the Republic of China on Taiwan. Their national day is a day of celebration for all the Chinese living in Taiwan. Taiwan, a small island country, faces a formidable adversary—the Chinese mainland. Yet Taiwan is able to enjoy its economic success, political reforms as well as freedom and democracy.

Much of Taiwan's economic and political success is directly attributable to the leadership of President Lee Teng-hui. A statesman of vision, energy and courage, President Lee is determined to make Taiwan a model nation for all emerging countries. And most important of all, he hopes Taiwan will inspire the Chinese mainland to democratize and become a free country.

President Lee Teng-hui should be credited for restarting the bilateral talks between Taiwan and the Chinese mainland. It is his goal to see the principles of democracy and freedom flourish.

Happy Birthday to Taiwan!

---

SPEECH OF

HON. LOUIS STOKES

OF OHIO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, September 24, 1998

Mr. STOKES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to commend my colleague, HOWARD BERMAN, for permitting me this opportunity to express my gratitude to a departing member. I am here to join my colleagues as we salute a long time friend and colleague, VIC FAZIO. Over my thirty year career in the United States House of Representatives, I am privileged to say that for twenty of those years, I had the distinct pleasure of knowing and working with VIC FAZIO. The years that VIC served on the Ethics Committee presented him as a man of honesty, intelligence, and integrity. He is a man whose diligent work ethic has earned him a long and productive career in the House. He has worked on various committees and served in several key positions.

As a freshman, VIC embraced a diligent work ethic that established him as a great legislator, VIC was elected to represent the Third District of California in 1978. Since that time, he has been elected to ten consequent terms in the House. He was appointed to the House Appropriations Committee in 1980 and served as the ranking Democrat on the Appropriations Subcommittee on the Legislative Branch until 1996. Although still a member of the subcommittee, VIC relinquished his ranking position in order to gain a seat on the Appropriations Subcommittee on Agriculture, Rural Development, Food, and Drug Administration.

In 1990, he was the political arm of the Democrats in Congress when he was selected to the position of Chairman of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee. He then served as the Regional Representative on the Steering and Policy Committee and sat on the new Steering Committee. VIC has co-chaired the House Bipartisan Task Force on Ethics and was the Majority Whip-at-Large. VIC's tenure also included work on the Budget Committee and also served on the Select Committee on Hunger.

Mr. Speaker, VIC FAZIO has held a well respected position in the House as a very effective legislator. Many of my colleagues recognize VIC as the man with the quick and easy smile, a man to turn to in order to get things accomplished and represented the concerns of his colleagues. VIC is a man whose astute nature provided all he encountered with wisdom and guidance. Indicative of his well respected character, VIC was re-elected by an overwhelming majority of our colleagues to serve as the Chairman of the Democratic Caucus during his tenth term in 1996.

On a personal note, I would like to wish VIC and his lovely wife, Judy, well as VIC embarks on a new path when he leaves the House of Representatives this year. No other has served with such integrity, intelligence, and diligence. The House of Representatives will not only lose a distinguished and hard-working legislator as VIC FAZIO makes his final exit at the end of this year, but it will lose some of its luster when the man with quick smile and easy grace transcends to a different role outside the House of Representatives.

INTRODUCTION OF THE FEDERAL AGENCY MAIL ACCOUNTABILITY ACT

---

HON. RODNEY P. FRELINGHUYSEN

OF NEW JERSEY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 25, 1998

Mr. FRELINGHUYSEN. Mr. Speaker, today, I introduced legislation that will express the sense of the Congress that Federal Agencies should develop a plan to coordinate their mailing expenses, the content of their taxpayer financed mailings, and the currentness of the lists to which they are mailing.

I find it shocking that with annual expenditures of nearly $1 billion, the Executive Branch of government does not have a coordinated mailing plan. The total spending of taxpayer dollars is not monitored by any agency, other than the Postal Service, and the content of their mailings is determined by each Federal Agency, with no uniform rules on partisanship or political content. Additionally, I am concerned that the mailing lists are not current, as I have seen firsthand, and that the Federal Government is wasting money by mailing to outdated lists.

Congress is subject to strict rules about the content of their mailings, the timing of their mailings, and annual budgets. I believe that the Administration, in consultation with Congress, must take a comprehensive look at their mailing practices and determine some uniform standards by which to operate.

I urge my colleagues to support the Federal Agency Mail Accountability Act.

HISPANIC HERITAGE MONTH

HON. PETER J. VISCLOSEKY

OF INDIANA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 25, 1998

Mr. VISCLOSEKY. Mr. Speaker, it is my distinct honor to celebrate the activities of Hispanic Heritage Month. Governor O'Bannon has designated September 15 through October 15, 1998, Indiana's Hispanic Heritage Month. This proclamation is in recognition of the efforts Indiana's Hispanic-American population has consistently displayed to improve the State of Indiana, as well as Indiana's First Congressional District.

In Northwest Indiana, you will find a vibrant, active, and proud Hispanic community. Thriving organizations such as the Latin American Community Alliance for Support and Assistance (LACASA) of NWI, Inc., Northwest Indiana Hispanic Coordinating Council, Hispanic Women's Forum of NWI, Union Benefica Mexicana, Puerto Rican Parade and Cultural Organization, Sociedad Mutualista Mexico, Raza de Bronze, Northwest Indiana Latino Historical Society, the Hispanic Catholic Center, National Association of Hispanic Nurses-Indiana Chapter, National Council of LaRaza affiliate, U.S. Hispanic Leadership Institute affiliates, National Council of Puerto Rican Women (NaCoPRW), League of United Latin American Citizens (LULAC), Indiana University Northwest's ALMA Latino student organization, Purdue University Calumet's Los Latinos student organization, Calumet College of St. Joseph's Los Amigos Latino student organization, Ivy Tech State College's Latino student organization, Valparaiso University's LIVE Latino student organization, to name a few, provide an effective avenue for promoting Hispanic interests and their shared cultural heritage.

Active in every aspect of community life from labor organizer, police chief, and Federal district court judge to educators, Labor President, and clergy, the citizens of Northwest Indiana have a multitude of Hispanic-American role models to emulate. Indeed, as an increasingly important segment of the Northwest Indiana community, Hispanic-Americans are making many valuable contributions to our state and region. These valuable contributions have come not only culturally, but also in the areas of law, religion, agriculture, education, architecture, and technology. Without the contributions of Hispanic-Americans, the rich, diverse, ethnically flavored culture of Northwest Indiana would be incomplete.

Mr. Speaker, Hispanic-Americans strive to earn and enjoy the promise and benefits that America, at its best, extends to all. I am proud to serve as the Representative in Congress for Northwest Indiana, with its diverse multicultural heritage, and I encourage my distinguished colleagues, and all citizens, to participate and enjoy events commemorating Hispanic Heritage Month.

SUPPORT FOR H.R. 4283, THE AFRICA: SEEDS OF HOPE BILL

HON. LEE H. HAMILTON

OF INDIANA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 25, 1998

Mr. HAMILTON. Mr. Speaker, I want to bring to the attention of our colleagues a letter from the Secretary of Agriculture Dan Glickman in support of H.R. 4283, the Africa: Seeds of Hope bill.

Doug Bereuter and I introduced the bill on April 1, 1998. The bill currently has 103 co-sponsors. The purpose of the bill is two-fold. First, it supports sustainable agriculture development and food security in Sub-Saharan Africa. And, second, the bill enhances our ability to respond to humanitarian crises by replacing the Food Security Commodity Reserve with the Bill Emerson Humanitarian Trust. It also helps American farmers by giving the Department of Agriculture the ability to buy commodities for the Trust when prices are low.

Secretary Glickman notes in his letter that the bill would have a very positive impact on our ability to manage the Food Security Commodity Reserve.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE,
OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY,
Washington, DC, September 22, 1998.

Hon. LEE H. HAMILTON,
Ranking Democratic Member, Committee on International Relations, U.S. House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

DEAR LEE: This is in response to your request for the views of the Department of Agriculture (USDA) concerning H.R. 4283, a bill "To support sustainable and broad-based agricultural and rural development in sub-Saharan Africa, and for other purposes" (Seeds of Hope Act). The bill is designed to focus on development activities that will provide assistance to the poor, especially women and children, throughout sub-Saharan Africa.

H.R. 4283 would enhance the Administration's "Partnership for Economic Growth and Opportunity in Africa," as well as Congress' proposed legislation, "The African Growth and Opportunity Act." The Seeds of Hope Act will help build a stronger and longer-term partnership between the United States and the countries of sub-Saharan Africa.

There are two proposals contained in H.R. 4283 that would have substantial positive impact on managing the Food Security Commodity Reserve (FSCR), which this bill would rename the "Bill Emerson Humanitarian Trust." The first major change authorizes holding reserves in the form of cash, as well as commodities. The holding of reserves in the form of cash or commodities permits flexibility in managing the trust and could result in reduced storage and handling costs for the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC). The second major proposal included in this legislation provides for more flexibility in replenishing the trust. Current authority provides for replenishing the FSCR through the purchase of commodities using funds appropriated in advance for this purpose or with existing, uncommitted CCC stocks. This legislation proposes allowing CCC to replenish the trust using funds appropriated for use in carrying out Pub. L. 83-480 activities that related to repaying CCC for the prior release of commodities from the trust.

H.R. 4283 could increase direct spending; therefore, it is subject to the pay-as-you-go requirements of the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1990. The Office of Management and Budget's preliminary scoring estimates of this bill are zero.

The Office of Management and Budget advises that from the standpoint of the Administration's program there is no objection to the presentation of this report.

USDA supports the passage of H.R. 4283. Thank you for the opportunity to share with you the Department's views. I am sending a similar letter to Representative Doug Bereuter.

Sincerely,

DAN GLICKMAN,
Secretary.

IN HONOR OF DR. ROBERT RUBEN

HON. CAROLYN B. MALONEY

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 25, 1998

Mrs. MALONEY of New York. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to Dr. Robert Ruben on the occasion of his retirement as Chair of the Montefiore Medical Center Department of Otolaryngology. Tonight, Montefiore Medical Center is holding a gala salute in honor of Dr. Ruben's distinguished career. The gala will benefit hearing restoration research.

Dr. Ruben has had a long and impressive career in medicine. He received his undergraduate degree in psychology from Princeton University and his M.D. from the John Hopkins School of Medicine.

Although he is retiring from the post of Chair of the Department of Otolaryngology, Dr. Ruben will continue his dedicated work on behalf of people with hearing disorders at Montefiore Medical Center and the Albert Einstein College of Medicine.

When making his decision to retire from the position of department chair, Dr. Ruben took into consideration the time he will now have to continue his work on the protection, repair and regeneration of dead and damaged hearing cells. In his own words: "The more effort, resources and time that we devote to understanding hearing disorders, the sooner we will enable communicatively deprived people to reach their full potential."

Over the course of Dr. Ruben's career he has received numerous honors and distinctions that date back to his teenage years. As a high school student, Robert Ruben received an honorable mention in the Westinghouse Talent Search. He is the recipient of the American Academy of Ophidianology & Otolaryngology Research Award, the Schreiber Gold Medal of the National Association of the Deaf, an Honorary Professor and Advisor to the Peking Institute of Otolaryngology of the People's Republic of China, and recipient of the Presidential Citation, AAO/HNS, among others.

His work on behalf of children and the disabled is extensive. He has served on the Head Start Medical Advisory committee, the National Task Force on Mentally Retarded Deaf, the National Institute of Health Advisory Council, the Advisory Council of the National Institute of Deafness & Other Communication Disorders, and as the director of the American Board of Otolaryngology, to name a few.

Mr. Speaker, I am proud and honored to bring to your attention the important work Dr. Robert Ruben has done for communicatively deprived people and the field of Otolaryngology. Montefiore Medical Center and the Albert Einstein College of Medicine are privileged to have such an outstanding man on their staff.

IN RECOGNITION OF WORLD-
RENOWED SEASCAPE ARTIST
CHARLES VICKERY

HON. WILLIAM O. LIPINSKI

OF ILLINOIS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 25, 1998

Mr. LIPINSKI. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay my respects to a world-renowned seascape artist and outstanding member of my district, Mr. Charles Vickery, who passed away in La Grange, Illinois, on September 22, 1998.

Charles Vickery was widely known as a local legend in Chicago's Western Suburbs where he lived and painted for over sixty years. He began his career, by studying the techniques of such artists as Frederick Waugh, Winslow Homer, and Anton Fisher at The Art Institute of Chicago and at Chicago's American Academy of Art. After he learned the mechanics, he received what he called his greatest instruction and source of inspiration, from Lake Michigan. From Lake Michigan, Charles Vickery learned the light effects and sea anatomy that later led him to be known and remembered for his ability to paint the many moods of water, making it come alive on the canvas.

In 1937, at the age of twenty-four, Charles Vickery opened his first art studio in Western Springs, Illinois. However, his first big break was in 1951 when Eleanor Jewitt, a respected Chicago Tribune art critic, discovered one of his paintings in a Michigan Avenue art gallery, and acclaimed him as "one of the great painters of this age * * * a bright Winslow Homer." The Clipper Ship Gallery in La Grange, Illinois, has been dedicated exclusively to Vickery's work since 1981, displaying his original oil paintings and publishing his collection of nearly 100 limited edition prints.

Charles Vickery has received the Waters of the World Prize, the Pallette and Chisel Diamond Medal, awards from the North Shore Art Association in Gloucester, Mass., and the Union League Club Prize. Although, despite his many awards, the two things that satisfied Charles Vickery the most were bringing pleasure to the collectors of his work and urging other artists to further advance their abilities. Therefore, he was a charter member of the American Society of Marine Artists and a Signature Member of the Oil Painters of America.

Mr. Speaker, Charles Vickery was revered and respected by almost everyone who knew his work. I offer my heartfelt sympathy and prayers to his family and friends. Charles Vickery will most certainly be missed by many close friends, collectors of his art, and innumerable admirers.

TRIBUTE TO THE LATE LINDA McDUGAL

HON. SAM FARR

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 25, 1998

Mr. FARR of California. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor the life and achievements of Linda McDugal who died on May 3 of this Year. Linda has been a guiding force in raising public awareness of the needs of individuals with disabilities to assure everyone equality of opportunity, independent living and economic self-sufficiency.

Linda, one of six children born and raised in Benton, Arkansas, contracted polio at a young age. Through the loving determination and support of her mother, Pearl, and her siblings, Richard, Robert, Paul, Nina and Elizabeth, she attended public school. Each day she and her wheelchair were carried onto the school bus and up the steps of the school. After graduation, Linda attended State Teacher's College in Conway, Arkansas. By the early 1980's, Linda had set out on her course to train others about the rights of persons with disabilities. Linda took a major role in developing a housing project designed to allow people with many different disabilities to live independently. She spearheaded a Disability Awareness Day at the Arkansas State Capitol which was attended by heads of agencies, lawmakers, and by Governor Bill Clinton.

Linda and her husband Robert moved to Santa Cruz, California where Linda continued to make a difference in people's lives and attitudes. In 1986, she urged the County Board of Supervisors to create a Commission on Disabilities to guide public decision-makers in eliminating discrimination against people with disabilities in employment, and in the provision of goods and services. She helped to bring county facilities into compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act. Linda became the first and, until her death, only Coordinator of the Commission. Among the many projects she undertook, Linda initiated an annual Job Fair featuring exhibits by employers who welcome employees with disabilities.

In her dealings with others, Linda was unselfish, seeing the good in everyone, gracefully accepting other points of view, willing to give credit freely, and tenacious as a bulldog. Friends describe Linda as a sweet woman, honest and forthright, never negative, and possessing a delightfully wicked sense of humor. She loved to have a good cry while watching old black-and-white movies about love and romance.

The community will miss her dearly, but Linda McDugal will always be remembered for the pathways she cleared. My thoughts are with her family.

THE CODE OF CONDUCT ON ARMS TRANSFERS ACT

HON. JERROLD NADLER

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 25, 1998

Mr. NADLER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to express my support for H.R. 4545, the Code of Conduct on Arms Transfers Act of 1998, introduced by Representatives MCKINNEY and ROHRABACHER.

We must do more to curb arms sales and military assistance to dictators and human rights abusers around the world. The United States should stop supplying arms to governments that use these weapons to oppress and murder their civilian populations, as well as engage in illegal acts of aggression against their neighbors.

The United States is a leading arms merchant to the world. In 1995, U.S. arms exports amounted to $15.6 billion, three times that of the next supplier and 49 percent of the world's arms exports. The United States must take the lead in curbing arms sales abroad. If we lead, the world will follow. Our nation's resources must not be used to prop up dictators or promote international aggression. The Code of Conduct on Arms Transfers Act would put an end to this shameful practice.

This legislation would prohibit U.S. military assistance and arms transfers to a foreign government unless the President certifies that the country is genuinely democratic, does not engage in human rights violations, is not engaged in illegal acts of armed aggression, and participates in the United Nations Register of Conventional Arms by annually reporting to the U.N. the numbers and types of weapons it possesses and transfers.

This bill also requires the Administration to work with other nations to limit arms transfers worldwide and urge other nations not to sell weapons to countries that the United States has deemed ineligible to receive U.S. arms sales. International cooperation, in the context of a reformed U.S. arms sales policy, is critical if we are to protect innocent people from military aggression by undemocratic governments. This is an essential component of the McKinney-Rohrabacher bill, and it will be most effective only after we begin to limit U.S. arms sales.

The McKinney-Rohrabacher Code of Conduct would help the United States to bring its military policy into accord with its other international efforts to promote global peace, security, and prosperity. I urge my colleagues to cosponsor H.R. 4545. Thank you.

TRIBUTE TO 18,745 AMERICANS

HON. NITA M. LOWEY

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 25, 1998

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to introduce a House Resolution which, for the first time, will recognize formally the 18,745 American civilians incarcerated by the Axis powers during World War II.

We all know what the world faced during the struggle between the evils of Hitler's Axis powers and the heroic citizen armies of the Allies. We know about the 50 million dead and millions of others maimed, wounded, and displaced. The history books are filled with their tragic and triumphant stories. However, there are still little known aspects of World War II that deserve our attention. The plight of civilian American internees deserves our attention. These American citizens were subject to barbaric prison conditions and endured torture, starvation, and disease simply for being American. As they lost their basic human rights, these courageous men and women were used as slave labor and 1,704 died due to the sub-human conditions they were forced to live under. Many were taken prisoner before the United States entered the war.

The horrors faced by America's civilian internees was brought to my attention by Michael Kolanik, Jr., a constituent of mine from Yonkers, NY. His father, Michael Kolanik, Sr., was an American citizen born in Pennsylvania in 1913 who returned to his ancestral homeland of Poland in 1931, with the full knowledge and consent of the U.S. State Department. In September of 1939, the Nazis termed Mr.

Kolanik "a stateless Pole, born in Pittsburgh" and deported him to Nazi Germany as a slave laborer. While incarcerated, he faced a myriad of abuses starvation, backbreaking work, beatings, torture, and living conditions not fit for animals. Everyday was an incomprehensible struggle to stay alive with only the dream of making it home keeping him going. It wasn't until the U.S. 75th Infantry Division liberated the labor camp in 1945 that Mr. Kolanik regained his freedom and basic human rights. Upon his release, the horrific conditions he suffered through were obvious. Normally a strong 155-pound man, Mr. Kolanik had been reduced to 103 pounds. He regained his strength and health, joined the U.S. Merchant Marines, and returned to the United States.

However, his father's story, and many others might not have been heard if not for the tireless efforts of Michael Kolanik, Jr. His love for his father and his desire to bring to light the suffering these American citizens endured drove Michael, a Vietnam Veteran, to make sure Congress recognized those incarcerated by the Axis. The recognition his father, who died in 1992 would not live to see.

Approximately 3,000 civilian internees are still alive. The least we can do is finally honor these survivors and acknowledge their heroic and courageous sacrifices. That is what my resolution does.

HUMAN RIGHTS IN UZBEKISTAN

HON. CHRISTOPHER H. SMITH

OF NEW JERSEY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 25, 1998

Mr. SMITH of New Jersey. Mr. Speaker, the situation in Russia seems to be deteriorating further every day. An enfeebled Boris Yeltsin, under pressure from a Communist-dominated parliament, has named Foreign Minister Evgenyi Primakov, the anti-American former chief spy, Russia's Prime Minister. As we watch this man entrusted with Russia's domestic policy while maintaining control over foreign affairs, our once fond hopes for political and economic reform in the former Soviet Union are fraying at the edge. The rout of Russia's so-called reformers has raised troubling questions about the policy of supporting one man in the name of security and stability.

While the situation in Central Asia is very different, of course, there are some disturbing parallels. Specifically, I rise today to discuss the depressing state of human rights and democratization in Uzbekistan, which the United States apparently has come to see as an anchor of stability in a complex region. The Departments of State and Defense have avidly pursued a relationship with Uzbekistan. I do not criticize them for doing so. Uzbekistan is the most populous country in Central Asia, and if it lacks the large-scale potential of Kazakhstan or Turkmenistan to export oil and gas, it still has impressive reserves of natural resources. Moreover, its strategic location and its pro-American stance bolster the case for good relations between Washington and Tashkent, especially in the face of longstanding neo-imperialist instincts in Russia.

Nevertheless, Uzbekistan remains the second most repressive country among the new independent states, slightly ahead of benighted Turkmenistan. The rationale Tashkent offers for the acknowledged lack of freedom is the need to ensure stability. But President Islam Karimov's policies may well create the very dangers these policies are ostensibly designed to avert.

Over the last ten years, it occasionally seemed Uzbekistan might develop towards genuine pluralism. Opposition movements were allowed to function, though under constant duress, from the late 1980s to mid-1992. In December 1991, Karimov actually permitted an opposition leader to run against him. But since June 1992, when another opposition leader was nearly beaten to death in broad daylight, the regime has clamped down on all expressions of dissent. No opposition parties may function, opposition literature is confiscated, and Soviet-style censorship stifles freedom of the press. The authorities have even refused to register an independent human rights monitoring organization, although western human rights NGOs have been operating in Uzbekistan since 1996. Uzbek and western groups have compiled a list of some 35 political prisoners, not counting about 20 more caught up in a wave of mass arrests in the Fergana Valley last year.

To mask these realities, President Karimov, like all the leaders of the new independent states, have adopted the fashionable rhetoric of democratization and created institutions which purportedly realize that goal. Under the guise of creating three branches of power, for example, Karimov has created a pocket parliament. Uzbekistan's judiciary, for its part, is wholly subordinate to the executive in political matters or corrupt in other cases. The government has also established human rights organizations, which distribute educational materials and supposedly work for the country's eventual democratization, while allowing the regime to show a reformist face to the international community.

All of these issues are well known, as human rights groups can testify, and as the Helsinki Commission's reports and the State Department's annual reports document. But in the last year and a half, another issue has come to the fore: persecution of religious believers. It is true that Uzbekistan's constitution enshrines freedom of religion and Russian Orthodoxy, Judaism and Islam have emerged from Soviet-era repression into the open. But the local religious establishment has supported the government's campaign against non-traditional religions, including Protestant denominations. Uzbekistan's new legislation on religion is the most repressive in the former Soviet Union: as of August 15, any church with fewer than 100 members must close down and stop all activities. Church leaders who fail to comply will be subject to criminal charges. Churches that manage to register are strictly forbidden to engage in any proselytism or missionary activity, and private religious instruction is banned.

This law contradicts OSCE commitments, under which freedom of speech applies to religion. But from the perspective of stability, the most worrisome development has been the campaign against Muslims who want to practice their faith outside Uzbekistan's religious establishment, which, like the parliament and judiciary, is under tight government control. Under cover of an attack on "Wahhabism," a conservative form of Islam associated with Saudi Arabia, the authorities have cracked down on all expressions of piety. Men with beards and women covering their heads are subject to repression. Independent mosques have been closed, Imams have been arrested or "disappeared" and their followers intimidated. In late 1997, a full-fledged campaign against alleged Islamic radicals and criminals began in the Fergana Valley. Uzbek authorities charged that Islamic radicals beheaded a policeman and committed other crimes. But according to reports by Human Rights Watch/Helsinki, the ensuing wave of arrests indiscriminately targeted pious Muslims. There is good reason to believe the claims of those arrested that they were tortured in jail, denied food, refused contact with their attorneys and forced to confess to crimes. The conduct of the trial, which Human Rights Watch representatives personally monitored, was appalling, with the judge ignoring the recantations of guilt extorted by torture and other blatant violations of due process.

Mr. Speaker, let me be plain. I support freedom of religion, not Islamic fanaticism or criminal behavior. Moreover, I am concerned about reports by Uzbek officials, which knowledgeable Western journalists take seriously, that Islamic groups are training in Tajikistan and Pakistan to destabilize Uzbekistan by force of arms. The environment in the region is indeed worrying, considering that the radical Taliban has taken over most of Afghanistan, Iran remains hostile to western values and Islamic terrorists are threatening the physical security of Americans. But the blanket condemnation of Muslims in Uzbekistan is worse than unfair—it is counterproductive. Such a policy applied in Uzbekistan, where declining living standards are creating desperation in some quarters, could lead to a radicalization that might not have occurred otherwise.

If this growing problem is to be addressed, Uzbek authorities must come to an understanding with the Islamic community based on a recognition that the government cannot control all aspects of society and certainly not matters of faith. Room must be found in Uzbekistan's political process for religious and political dissidents.

It is not too late for such an initiative and a particularly timely opportunity is approaching: parliamentary elections are scheduled for 1999. As of now, only government-created parties will be allowed to participate, whereas Erk and Birluk, the democratic-nationalist parties that arose in the late 1980s, remain banned. It is high time to readmit them to the political life of Uzbekistan.

Mr. Speaker, for Uzbekistan, good relations with the United States are a critical basis of geostrategy. I intend to send this statement to President Karimov, and I hope that he takes to heart these well-meaning suggestions.

ON THE DEATH OF MURIEL HUMPHREY BROWN

HON. BRUCE F. VENTO

OF MINNESOTA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 25, 1998

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay my respects to an extraordinary leader in Democratic politics in Minnesota and nationwide, Muriel Humphrey Brown. Brown, the widow of Vice-President, U.S. Senator and presidential candidate Hubert H. Humphrey II, died September 20, 1998 at the age of 86 in Minneapolis surrounded by her family. Brown was born Muriel Fay Buck on February 20 1912, in Huron, South Dakota.

Muriel Humphrey Brown was a wonderful Democratic activist and supporter of her husband throughout his illustrious career of public service in the U.S. Senate, as Vice President and two-time presidential contender. She and Hubert were always a great team and following her husband's death from cancer in 1978, Brown was appointed to her late husband's Senate seat. She became the State of Minnesota's first female U.S. Senator. In fact, she was the only woman serving in the U.S. Senate at that time and she was only the 12th woman in history to serve in the U.S. Senate overall. In her husband's tradition, she employed her position to advance labor issues, women's rights and social programs. As a freshmen member of the U.S. House of Representatives at the time, it was an honor to work with a person of her integrity, status and commitment to Democratic ideals—the ideals of our nation, state and political party, the Democratic-Farmer-Labor Party, organized and built by Hubert Humphrey.

Earlier last week, Brown had the proud honor of standing by her son, Hubert Humphrey III, as he won the Democratic gubernatorial primary for the State of Minnesota. In remarks to the press, Brown beamed after her son's victory. "Hubert would have been proud." This moment seemed to be both a passing of the torch to the next generation and a prophetic capsule ending to a life well spent.

On behalf of my fellow Minnesotans, I would like to extend my sympathies to the family. She will be missed, but not forgotten. Muriel Humphrey Brown is survived by her husband, Max Brown; her daughter, Nancy Solomonson; and three sons, Skip, Bob and Douglas; and numerous grandchildren, most of whom are playing a role in public life and social causes in Minnesota.

Mr. Speaker, I would ask that the following Editorial from the St. Paul Pioneer Press on Muriel Humphrey Brown's life to included in the RECORD.

[From the St. Paul Pioneer Press, Sept. 22, 1998]

MURIEL HUMPHREY BROWN—A CARING MOTHER, LOYAL POLITICAL PARTNER

In her last public appearance Muriel Buck Humphrey Brown was brief and upbeat at the celebration of son Skip's gubernatorial nomination. She has joined the politicians so many times at the podium that Minnesotans were ready for her rich voice before she ever uttered a sound. It didn't matter that on Tuesday night, her speech was frail and soft. The sentiment was strong and the memories of her warmth and wit over a remarkable half-century carried on the family tradition.

Brown died Sunday in Minneapolis at 86. She and the era of optimism and accomplishment in public life she helped her first husband shape will be missed.

There will be no more of her affirming words, no more of the shy woman who left Huron, S.D., to marry Hubert H. Humphrey II, raise a family amidst a political circus, serve as the only Minnesota woman ever in the U.S. Senate, stick with family in good times and bad, and then find in marriage to Max Brown a private life at last.

It isn't accurate to recall her as a central policy-maker, a politician in her own right. She was a woman of her times, the partner, the guardian of family balance, the woman who moved from shy to family balance, the woman who moved from shy to warm and engaging in support of husband Hubert's goals. Muriel Humphrey, at Gov. Rudy Perpich's request, even finished out that public career and partnership by completing her late husband's term as U.S. senator from Minnesota.

For most of the world, the lasting imagine of Muriel Humphrey is wrapped in a proper Minnesota coat against the frigid day of Hubert Humphrey's funeral in January 1978, holding the flag from his coffin. Home folks, however, also remember Muriel Humphrey on the campaign trail for the Wisconsin primary when hardly a spouse would venture out on her own to support a husband-candidate for president. We remember that she entered her beautiful needlepoint in the State Fair under an assumed name so it could be judged squarely on merit. We recall work for mentally retarded citizens, including her own granddaughter. We remember support for her daughter at a tough time, that her four children are Midwestern solid despite childhoods surrounded by power and giants of history.

Muriel Humphrey Brown did her part and then some when the strong, passionate liberalism of the prairies rose from the Depression to start a quest for justice. She leaves us all with the vision of principled, disciplined public life and memories for the voice that sang harmony for the politics of the possible.

A TRIBUTE TO DR. E.B. TURNER

HON. MIKE McINTYRE

OF NORTH CAROLINA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 25, 1998

Mr. McINTYRE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to a man who, since 1948, has given half a century of devotion to rebuilding his community of Lumberton and his county of Robeson in southeastern North Carolina. An empowering, inspirational leader, Dr. E.B. Turner has worked tirelessly to improve the lives of those around him. He has encouraged all citizens, especially African-Americans, to find the courage to use their voices to break an oppressive silence. Dr. Turner has given all people in our community, county and state an example of faith in God, faith in the potential of our area, and the faith to cultivate a land where equality and opportunity flourish. In addition to his countless gifts to our community, he has given my family and me true friendship, by which I have been enormously honored.

This month, our community celebrated Dr. Turner's 50-year commitment to ending social injustice. Even at the age of 72, this continues to be his vision. It was when Dr. Turner arrived to Lumberton as a preacher at the age of 22, that he first discovered the harsh living conditions African-Americans were forced to endure. There were no paved streets in the black sections of town, and most blacks lived in poor housing with little opportunity for upward movement. Not intending to enter the political realm, but responding to the need to reform a decrepit social structure, Dr. Turner accepted the challenges around him as opportunities for a better future for our area. He began his life in the political sphere by working for homes for the elderly and disabled, as well as housing developments for the poor. Since then, he has been actively involved in local government and community organizations. Serving on the Board of Directors of Lumberton Economic Advancement for Downtown, Inc., the Lumberton Housing Authority, and the Lumberton Community and Economic Development Committee are only a few of the ways he has made a difference. He was also the first chairman of the Lumberton Commission for Youth and the Family, an innovative board that has started a variety of programs which have benefitted our citizens and their children. He has been actively involved in the Lumberton Civic Committee, the Youth Fellowship Society, the Lumberton Visitors Bureau and Historic Robeson, Inc. In addition to his civic role in the community, Dr. Turner has been an influential voice for education by serving both on the Board of Trustees for Fayetteville State University and on the Board of Governors for the University of North Carolina. Politically, Dr. Turner has served as chairman of the Robeson County Democratic Party and on the Lumberton City Council, to which he was first elected in 1962 and served for 30 years. He also served as Mayor Pro-Tempore of Lumberton. Currently, Dr. Turner serves on the Robeson County Board of Commissioners, to which he was first elected in 1992.

Dr. Turner still lives next door to the First Baptist Church that brought him to Lumberton years ago with his wife of 47 years, Georgia McNeill Turner. In addition to his priceless contributions to society, Dr. Turner and Mrs. Turner carry the added accomplishment of rearing their two daughters, Andrea and Rosalind.

Dr. Turner has been a symbol of hope and humanity to all races and to every individual he has ever encountered. Often called a trailblazer for blacks in politics, Dr. Turner's fire continues to burn with as much vigor and boldness as it did on that day our community was first blessed with his services 50 years ago.

I am proud to call Dr. Turner my friend, and I look forward to his continuing presence and service to our area. May God's blessings be upon him and his family.

DOLLARS TO THE CLASSROOM ACT

SPEECH OF

HON. BOB SCHAFER

OF COLORADO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, September 17, 1998

The House in Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union had under consideration the bill (H.R. 3248) to provide Dollars to the Classroom.

Mr. SCHAFER of Colorado. Mr. Chairman, I insert the following for printing in the RECORD.

NATIONAL CENTER ON EDUCATION AND THE ECONOMY,
Rochester, NY, November 11, 1992.

HILLARY CLINTON,
The Governor's Mansion, 1800 Canter Street, Little Rock, AR 72206

DEAR HILLARY: I still cannot believe you won. But utter delight that you did pervades all the circles in which I move. I met last Wednesday in David Rockefeller's office with him, John Sculley, Dave Barram, and David Heselkorn. It was a great celebration. Both John and David R. were more expansive than

I have ever seen them—literally radiating happiness. My own view and theirs is that this country has seized its last chance. I am fond of quoting Winston Churchill to the effect that “America always does the right thing—after it has exhausted all the alternatives.” This election, more than anything else in my experience, proves his point.

The subject we were discussing was what you and Bill should do now about education, training, and labor market policy. Following that meeting, I chaired another in Washington on the same topic. Those present at the second meeting included Tim Barnicle, Dave Barram, Mike Cohen, David Homebeck, Hilary Pennington, Andy Plattner, Lauren Resnick, Betsy Brown Ruzzi, Bob Schwartz, Mike Smith, and Bill Spring. Shirley Malcom, Ray Marshall, and Susan McGuire were also invited. Though these three were not able to be present at last week's meeting, they have all contributed by telephone to the ideas that follow. Ira Magaziner was also invited to this meeting.

Our purpose in these meetings was to propose concrete actions that the Clinton administration could take—between now and the inauguration, in the first 100 days and beyond. The result, from where I sit, was really exciting. We took a very large leap forward in terms of how to advance the agenda on which you and we have all been working—a practical plan for putting all the major components of the system in place within four years, by the time Bill has to run again.

I take personal responsibility for what follows. Though I believe everyone involved in the planning effort is in broad agreement, they may not all agree on the details. You should also be aware that, although the plan comes from a group closely associated with the National Center of Education and the Economy, there was no practical way to poll our whole Board on this plan in the time available. It represents, then, not a proposal from our Center, but the best thinking of the Group I have named.

We think the great opportunity you have is to remodel the entire American System for human resources development, almost all of the current components of which were put in place before World War II. The danger is that each of the ideas that Bill advanced in the campaign in the area of education and training could be translated individually in the ordinary course of governing into a legislative proposal and enacted as a program. This is the plan of least resistance. But it will lead to these programs being grafted onto the present system, not to a new system, and the opportunity will have been lost. If this sense of time and place is correct, it is essential that the administration's efforts be guided by a consistent vision of what it were to accomplish in the field of human resource development, with respect both to choice of key officials and the program.

What follows comes in three places:

First, a vision of the kind of national—not federal—human resources development system the nation could have. This is interwoven with a new approach to governing that should inform that vision. What is essential is that we create a seamless web of opportunities, to develop one's skills that literally extends from cradle to grave and is the same system for everyone—young and old, poor and rich, worker and full-time student. It needs to be a system driven by client needs (not agency regulations or the needs of the organization providing the services), guided by clear standards that define the stages of the system for the people who progress through it, and regulated on the basis of outcomes that providers produce for their clients, not inputs into the system.

Second, a proposed legislative agenda you can use to implement this vision. We propose four high priority packages that will enable you to move quickly on the campaign promises:

1. The first would use your proposal for an apprenticeship system as the keystone of a strategy for putting a whole new postsecondary training system in place. That system would incorporate your proposal for reforming postsecondary education finance. It contains what we think is a powerful idea for rolling out and scaling up the whole new human resources system nationwide over the next four years, using the (renamed) apprenticeship ideas as the entering wedge.

2. The second would combine initiatives on dislocated workers, a rebuilt employment service and a new system of labor market boards to offer the Clinton administration's employment security program, built on the best practices anywhere in the world. This is the backbone of a system for assuring adult workers in our society that they need never again watch with dismay as their jobs disappear and their chances of ever getting a good job again go with them.

3. The third would concentrate on the overwhelming problems of our inner cities, combining elements of the first and second packages into a special program to greatly raise the work-related skills of the people trapped in the core of our great cities.

4. The fourth would enable you to take advantage of legislation on which Congress has already been working to advance the elementary and secondary reform agenda.

The other major proposal we offer has to do with government organization for the human resources agenda. While we share your reservations about the hazards involved in bringing reorganization proposals to the Congress, we believe that the one we have come up with minimizes those drawbacks while creating an opportunity for the new administration to move like lighting to implement its human resources development proposals. We hope you can consider the merits of this idea quickly, because, if you decide to go with it or something like it, it will greatly affect the nature of the offers you make to prospective cabinet members.

THE VISION

We take the proposals Bill put before the country in the campaign to be utterly consistent with the ideas advanced in America's Choice, the school restructuring agenda first stated in A Nation Prepared, and later incorporated in the work of the National Alliance for Restructuring Education, and the elaboration of this view that Ray and I tried to capture in our book, Thinking for a Living. Taken together, we think these ideas constitute a consistent vision for a new human resources development system for the United States. I have tried to capture the essence of that vision below.

AN ECONOMIC STRATEGY BASED ON SKILL DEVELOPMENT

The economy's strength is derived from a whole population as skilled as any in the world, working in workplaces organized to take maximum advantage of the skills those people have to offer.

A seamless system of unending skill development that begins in the home with the very young and continues through school, postsecondary education and the workplace.

THE SCHOOLS

Clear national standards of performance in general education (the knowledge and skills that everyone is expected to hold in common) are set to the level of the best achieving nations in the world for students of 16, and public schools are expected to bring all but the most severely handicapped up to that standard. Students get a certificate when they meet this standard, allowing them to go on to the next stage of their education. Though the standards are set to international benchmarks, they are distinctly American, reflecting our needs and values.

We have a national system of education in which curriculum, pedagogy, examinations, and teacher education and licensure systems are all linked to the national standards, but which provides for substantial variance among states, districts, and schools on these matters. This new system of linked standards, curriculum, and pedagogy will abandon the American tracking system, combining high academic standards with the ability to apply what one knows to real world problems, and qualifying all students to a lifetime of learning in the postsecondary system and at work.

We have a system that rewards students who meet the national standards with further education and good jobs, providing them a strong incentive to work hard in school.

Our public school systems are reorganized to free up school professionals to make the key decisions about how to use all the available resources to bring students up to the standards. Most of the federal, state, district, and union rules and regulations that now restrict school professional ability to make these decisions are swept away, though strong measures are in place to make sure that vulnerable populations get the help they need. School professionals are paid at a level comparable to that of other professionals, but they are expected to put in a full year, to spend whatever time it takes to do the job and to be fully accountable for the results of their work. The federal, state, and local governments provide the time, staff development resources, technology, and other support needed for them to do the job. Nothing less than a wholly restructured school system can possibly bring all of our students up to the standards only a few have been expected to meet up to now.

There is a real—aggressive—program of public choice in our schools, rather than the flaccid version that is widespread now.

All students are guaranteed that they will have a fair shot at reaching the standards: that is, that whether they make it or not depends on the effort they are willing to make, and nothing else. “School delivery standards” are in place to make sure this happens. These standards have the same status in the system as the new student performance standards, assuring that the quality of instruction is high everywhere, but they are fashioned so as not to constitute a new bureaucratic nightmare.

POSTSECONDARY EDUCATION AND WORK SKILLS

All students who meet the new national standards for general education are entitled to the equivalent of three more years of free additional education. We would have the federal and state governments match funds to guarantee one free year of college education to everyone who meets the new national standards for general education. So a student who meets the standard at 16 would be entitled to two free years of high school and one of college. Loans, which can be forgiven for public service, are available for additional education beyond that. National standards for sub-baccalaureate college-level professional and technical degrees and certificates will be established with the participation of employers, labor, and higher education. These programs will include both academic study and structured on-the-job training. Eighty percent or more of American high school graduates will be expected to get some form of college degree, though most of them less than a baccalaureate. These new professional and technical certificates and degrees typically are won within three years of acquiring the general education certificate, so, for most postsecondary students, college will be free. These professional and technical degree programs will be designed to link to programs leading to the baccalaureate degree and higher degrees. There will be no dead ends in this system. Everyone who meets the general education standard will be able to go to some form of college, being able to borrow all the money they need to do so, beyond the first free year.

This idea of post-secondary professional and technical certificates captures all of the essentials of the apprenticeship idea, while offering none of its drawbacks (see below).

But it also makes it clear that those engaged in apprentice-style programs are getting more than narrow training; they are continuing their education for other purposes as well, and building a base for more education later. Clearly, this idea redefines college. Proprietary schools, employers and community-based organizations will want to offer these programs, as well as community colleges and four-year institutions, but these new entrants will have to be accredited if they are to qualify to offer the programs.

Employers are not required to provide slots for the structured on-the-job training component of the program but many do so, because they get first access to the most accomplished graduates of these programs, and they can use these programs to introduce the trainees to their own values and way of doing things.

The system of skill standards for technical and professional degrees is the same for students just coming out of high school and for adults in the workforce. It is progressive, in the sense that certificates and degrees for entry level jobs lead to further professional and technical education programs at higher levels. Just as in the case of the system for the schools, though the standards are the same everywhere (leading to maximum mobility for students), the curricula can vary widely and programs can be custom designed to fit the needs of full-time and part-time students with very different requirements. Government grant and loan programs are available on the same terms to full-time and part-time students, as long as the programs in which they are enrolled are designed to lead to certificates and degrees defined by the system of professional and technical standards.

The national system of professional and technical standards is designed much like the multistate bar, which provides a national core around which the states can specify additional standards that meet their unique needs. There are national standards and exams for no more than 20 broad occupational areas, each of which can lead to many occupations in a number of related industries. Students who qualify in any one of these areas have the broad skills required by a whole family of occupations, and most are sufficiently skilled to enter the workforce immediately, with further occupation-specific skills provided by their union or employer. Industry and occupational groups can voluntarily create standards building on these broad standards for their own needs, as can the states. Students entering the system are first introduced to very broad occupational groups, narrowing over time to concentrate on acquiring the skills needed for a cluster of occupations. This modular system provides for the initiative of particular states and industries while at the same time providing for mobility across states and occupations by reducing the time and cost entailed in moving from one occupation to another. In this way, a balance is established between the kinds of generic skills needed to function effectively in high performance work organizations and the skills needed to continue learning quickly and well through a lifetime of work, on the one hand, and the specific skills needed to perform at a high level in a particular occupation on the other.

Institutions receiving grant and loan funds under this system are required to provide information to the public and to government agencies in a uniform format. This information covers enrollment by program, costs and success rates for students of different backgrounds, and characteristics, and career outcomes for those students, thereby enabling students to make informed choices among institutions based on cost and performance. Loan defaults are reduced to a level close to zero, both because programs that do not deliver what they promise are not selected by prospective students and because the new postsecondary loan system uses the IRS to collect what is owed from salaries and wages as they are earned.

EDUCATION AND TRAINING FOR EMPLOYED AND UNEMPLOYED ADULTS

The national system of skills standards establishes the basis for the development of a coherent, unified training system. That system can be accessed by students coming out of high school, employed adults who want to improve their prospects, unemployed adults who are dislocated and others who lack the basic skills required to get out of poverty. But it is all the same system. There are no longer any parts of it that are exclusively for the disadvantaged, though special measures are taken to make sure that the disadvantaged are served. It is a system for everyone, just as all the parts of the system already described are for everyone. So the people who take advantage of this system are not marked by it as "damaged goods." The skills they acquire are world class, clear and defined in part by the employers who will make decisions about hiring and advancement.

The new general education standard becomes the target for all basic education programs, both for school dropouts and adults. Achieving that standard is the prerequisite for enrollment in all professional and technical degree programs. A wide range of agencies and institutions offer programs leading to the general education certificate, including high schools, dropout recovery centers, adult education centers, community colleges, prisons, and employers. These programs are tailored to the needs of the people who enroll in them. All the programs receiving government grant or loans funds that come with dropouts and adults for enrollment in programs preparing students to meet the general education standard must release the same kind of data required of the postsecondary institutions on enrollment, program description, cost and success rates. Reports are produced for each institution and for the system as a whole showing differential success rates for each major demographic group.

The system is funded in four different ways, all providing access to the same or a similar set of services. School dropouts below the age of 21 are entitled to the same amount of funding from the same sources that they would have been entitled to had they stayed in school. Dislocated workers are funded by the federal government through the federal programs for that purpose and by state unemployment insurance funds. The chronically unemployed are funded by federal and state funds established for that purpose. Employed people can access the system through the requirement that their employers spend an amount equal to 1½ percent of their salary and wage bill on training leading to national skill certification. People in prison could get reductions in their sentences by meeting the general education standard in a program provided by the prison system. Any of these groups can also use the funds in their individual training account, if they have any, the balances in their grant entitlement or their access to the student loan fund.

LABOR MARKET SYSTEMS

The Employment Service is greatly upgraded and separated from the Unemployment Insurance Fund. All available front-line jobs—whether public or private—must be listed in it by law. This provision must be carefully designed to make sure that employers will not be subject to employment suits based on the data produced by this system—if they are subject to such suits, they will not participate. All trainees in the system looking for work are entitled to be listed in it without a fee. So it is no longer a system just for the poor and unskilled, but for everyone. The system is fully computerized. It lists not only job openings and job seekers (with their qualifications) but also all the institutions in the labor market area offering programs leading to the general education certificate and those offering programs leading to the professional and technical college degrees and certificates, along with all the relevant data about the costs, characteristics and performance of those programs—for everyone and for special populations. Counselors are available to any citizen to help them assess their needs, plan a program, and finance it, and once they are trained, to find an opening.

A system of labor market boards is established at the local, state and federal levels to coordinate the systems for job training, postsecondary professional and technical education, adult basic education, job matching and counseling. The rebuilt Employment Service is supervised by these boards. The system's clients no longer have to go from agency to agency filling out separate applications for separate programs. It is all taken care of at the local labor market board office by one counselor accessing the integrated computer-based program, which makes it possible for the counselor to determine eligibility for all relevant programs at once, plan a program with the client and assemble the necessary funding from all the available sources. The same system will enable counselor and client to array all the relevant program providers side by side, assess their relative costs and performance records and determine which providers are best able to meet the client's needs based on performance.

SOME COMMON FEATURES

Throughout, the object is to have a performance-and-client-oriented system to encourage local creativity and responsibility by getting local people to commit to high goals and organize to achieve them, sweeping away as much of the rules, regulations and bureaucracy that are in their way as possible, provided that they are making real progress against their goals. For this to work, the standards at every level of the system have to be clear: every client has to know what they have to accomplish in order to get what they want out of the system. The service providers have to be supported in the task of getting their clients to the finish line and rewarded when they are making real progress toward that goal. We would sweep away means-tested programs, because they stigmatize their recipients and alienate the public, replacing them with programs that are for everyone, but also work for the disadvantaged. We would replace rules defining inputs with rules defining outcomes and the rewards for achieving them. This means, among other things, permitting local people to combine as many federal programs as they see fit, provided that the intended beneficiaries are progressing toward the right outcomes (there are now 23 separate federal programs for dislocated workers). We would make individuals, their families and whole communities the unit of service, not agencies, programs, and projects. Wherever possible, we would have service providers compete with one another for funds that come with the client, in an environment in which the client has good information about the cost and performance record of the competing providers. Dealing with public agencies—whether they are schools or the employment service—should be more like dealing with Federal Express than with the old Post Office.

This vision, as I pointed out above, is consistent with everything Bill proposed as a candidate. But it goes beyond those proposals, extending them from ideas for new programs to a comprehensive vision of how they can be used as building blocks, or a whole new system. But this vision is very complex, will take a long time to sell, and will have to be revised many times along the way. The right way to think about it is as an internal working document that forms the background for a plan, not the plan itself. One would want to make sure that the specific actions of the new administration were designed, in a general way, to advance this agenda as it evolved while not committing anyone to the details, which would change over time.

Everything that follows is cast in the frame of strategies for bringing the new system into being, not as a pilot program, not as a few demonstrations to be swept aside in another administration, but everywhere, as the new way of doing business.

In the sections that follow, we break these goals down into their main components and propose an action plan for each.

MAJOR COMPONENTS OF THE PROGRAM

The preceding section presented a vision of the system we have in mind chronologically from the point of view of an individual served by it. Here we reverse the order, starting with descriptions of program components designed to serve adults, and working our way down to the very young.

HIGH SKILLS FOR ECONOMIC COMPETITIVENESS PROGRAM

DEVELOPING SYSTEM STANDARDS

Create National Board for Professional and Technical Standards. Board is private not-for-profit chartered by Congress. Charter specifies broad membership composed of leading figures from higher education, business, labor, government and advocacy groups. Board can receive appropriated funds from Congress, private foundations, individuals, and corporations. Neither Congress nor the executive branch can dictate the standards set by the Board. But the Board is required to report annually to the President and the Congress in order to provide for public accountability. It is also directed to work collaboratively with the states and cities involved in the collaborative Design and Development Program (see below) in the development of the standards.

Charter specifies that the National Board will set broad performance standards (not time-in-the-seat-standards or course standards) for college-level Professional and Technical certificates and degrees in not more than 20 areas and develops performance examinations for each. The Board is required to set broad standards of the kind described in the vision statement above and is not permitted to simply refly the narrow standards that characterize many occupations now. (More than 2,000 standards currently exist, many for licensed occupations—these are not the kinds of standards we have in mind.) It also specifies that the programs leading to these certificates and degrees will combine time in the classroom with time at the worksite in structured on-the-job training. The standards assume the existence of (high school level) general education standards set by others. The new standards and exams are meant to be supplemented by the states and by individual industries and occupations. The Board is responsible for administering the exam system and continually updating the standards and exams.

Legislation creating the Board is sent to the Congress in the first six months of the administration, imposing a deadline for creating the standards and the exams within three years of passage of the legislation.

COMMENTARY

The proposal reframes the Clinton apprenticeship proposal as a college program and establishes a mechanism for setting the standards for the program. The unions are adamantly opposed to broad based apprenticeship programs by that name. Focus groups conducted by JFF and others show that parents everywhere want their kids to go to college, not to be shunted aside into a non-college apprenticeship "vocational" program. By requiring these programs to be a combination of classroom instruction and structured OUT; and creating a standard-setting board that includes employers and labor, all the objectives of the apprenticeship idea are achieved, while at the same time assuring much broader support for the idea, as well as a guarantee that the program will not become too narrowly focussed on particular occupations. It also ties the Clinton apprenticeship idea to the Clinton college funding proposal in a seamless web. Charging the Board with creating not more than 20 certificate or degree categories establishes a balance between the need to create one national system on the one hand with the need to avoid creating a cumbersome and rigid national bureaucracy on the other. This approach provides lots of latitude for individual industry groups, professional groups and state authorities to establish their own standards, while at the same time avoiding the chaos that would surely occur if they were the only source of standards. The bill establishing the Board should also authorize the executive branch to make grants to industry groups, professional societies, occupational groups, and states to develop standards and exams. Our assumption is that the system we are proposing will be managed so as to encourage the states to combine the last two years of high school and the first two years of community college into three year programs leading to college degrees and certificates. Proprietary institutions, employers, and community-based organizations could also offer these programs, but they would have to be accredited to offer these college-level programs. Eventually, students getting their general education certificates might go directly to community college or to another form of college, but the new system should not require that.

COLLABORATIVE DESIGN AND DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM

The object is to create a single comprehensive system for professional and technical education that meets the requirements of everyone from high school students to skilled dislocated workers, from the hard core unemployed to employed adults who want to improve their prospects. Creating such a system means sweeping aside countless programs, building new ones, combining funding authorities, changing deeply embedded institutional structures and so on. The question is how to get from where we are to where we want to be. Trying to ram it down everyone's throat would engender overwhelming opposition. Our idea is to draft legislation that would offer an opportunity for those states—and selected large cities—that are excited about this set of ideas to come forward and join with each other and with the federal government in an alliance to do the necessary design work and actually deliver the needed services on a fast track. The legislation would require the executive branch to establish a competitive grant program for these states and cities and to engage a group of organizations to offer technical assistance to the expanding set of states and cities engaged in designing and implementing the new system. This is not the usual large scale experiment, nor is it a demonstration program. A highly regarded precedent exists for this approach in the National Science Foundation's SSI program. As soon as the first set of states is engaged, another set would be invited to participate, until most or all the states are involved. It is a collaborative design, rollout and scale-up program. It is intended to parallel the work of the National Board for College Professional and Technical Standards, so that the states and cities (and all their partners) would be able to implement the new standards as soon as they become available, although they would be delivering services on a large scale before that happened. Thus, major parts of the whole system would be in operation in a majority of the states within three years from the passage of the initial legislation. Inclusion of selected large cities in this design is not an afterthought. We believe that what we are proposing here for the cities is the necessary complement to a large scale job-creation program for the cities. Skill development will not work if there are no jobs, but job development will not work without a determined effort to improve the skills of city residents. This is the skill development component.

PARTICIPANTS

Volunteer states, counterpart initiative for cities.

15 states, 15 cities selected to begin in first year, 15 more in each successive year.

5 year grants (on the order of $20 million per year to each state, lower amounts to the cities) given to each, with specific goals to be achieved by the third year, including program elements in place (e.g., upgraded employment service), number of people enrolled in new professional and technical programs and so on.

A core set of High Performance Work Organization firms willing to participate in standard setting and to offer training slots and mentors.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTION

Strategies for enriching existing co-op tech prep and other programs to meet the criteria.

Commitment to implementing new general education standard in legislation.

Commitment to implementing the new Technical and Professional skills standards for college.

Commitment to new role for employment service.

Commitment to join with others in national design and implementation activity.

CLIENTS

Young adults entering workforce, dislocated workers, long-term unemployed, employed who want to upgrade skills.

PROGRAM COMPONENTS

Institute own version of state and local labor market boards. Local labor market boards to involve leading employers, labor representatives, educators, and advocacy group leaders in running the redesigned employment service, running intake system for all clients, counseling all clients, maintaining the information system that will make the vendor market efficient and organizing employers to provide job experience and training slots for school youth and adult trainees.

Rebuild employment service as a primary function of labor market boards.

Develop programs to bring dropouts and illiterates up to general education certificate standard. Organize local alternative providers, firms to provide alternative education, counseling, job experience, and placement services to these clients.

Develop programs for dislocated workers and hard-core unemployed (see below).

Develop city and state-wide programs to combine the last two years of high school and the first two years of colleges into three-year programs after acquisition of the general education certificate to culminate in college certificates and degrees. These programs should combine academic and structured on-the-job training.

Develop uniform reporting system for providers, requiring them to provide information in that format on characteristics of clients, their success rates by program, and the costs of those programs. Develop computer-based system for combining this data at local labor market board offices with employment data from the state so that counselors and clients can look at programs offered by colleges and other vendors in terms of cost, client characteristics, program design, and outcomes. Including subsequent employment histories for graduates.

Design all programs around the forthcoming general education standards and the standards to be developed by the National Board for College Professional and Technical Standards.

Create statewide program of technical assistance to firms on high performance work organization and help them develop quality programs for participants in Technical and Professional certificate and degree programs. (It is essential that these programs be high quality, nonbureaucratic and voluntary for the firms.)

Participate with other states and the national technical assistance program in the national alliance effort to exchange information and assistance among all participants.

NATIONAL TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE TO PARTICIPANTS

Executive branch authorized to compete opportunity to provide the following services (probably using a Request For Qualifications):

State-of-the art assistance to the states and cities related to the principal program components (e.g., work reorganization, training, basic literacy, funding systems, apprenticeship systems, large scale data management systems, training systems for the HR professionals who make the whole system work, etc.). A number of organizations would be funded. Each would be expected to provide information and direct assistance to the states and cities involved, and to coordinate their efforts with one another.

It is essential that the technical assistance function include a major professional development component to make sure the key people in the states and cities upon whom success depends have the resources available to develop the high skills required. Some of the funds for this function should be provided directly to the states and cities, some to the technical assistance agency.

Coordination of the design and implementation activities of the whole consortium, document results, prepare reports, etc. One organization would be funded to perform this function.

DISLOCATED WORKERS PROGRAM

New legislation would permit combining all dislocated workers programs at redesigned employment service office. Clients would, in effect, receive vouchers for education and training in amounts determined by the benefits for which they qualify. Employment service case managers would qualify client worker for benefits and assist the client in the selection of education and training programs offered by provider institutions. Any provider institutions that receive funds derived from dislocated worker programs are required to provide information on costs and performance of programs in uniform format described above. This consolidated and voucherized dislocated workers program would operate nationwide. It would be integrated with Collaborative Design and Development Program in those states and cities in which that program functioned. It would be built around the general education certificate and the Professional and Technical Certificate and Degree Program as soon as those standards were in place. In this way, programs for dislocated workers would be progressively and fully integrated with the rest of the national education and training system.

LEVY GRANT SYSTEM

This is the part of the system that provides funds for currently employed people to improve their skills. Ideally, it should specifically provide means whereby front-line workers can earn this general education credential (if they do not already have one) and acquire Professional and Technical Certificates and Degrees in fields of their choosing.

Everything we have heard indicates virtually universal opposition in the employer community to the proposal for a 1 1/2% levy on employers for training to support the costs associated with employed workers gaining these skills, whatever the levy is called. We propose that Bill take a leaf out of the German book. One of the most important reasons that large German employers offer apprenticeship slots to German youngsters is that they fear, with good reason, that if they don't volunteer to do so, the law will require it. Bill could gather a group of leading executives and business organization leaders, and tell them straight out that he will hold back on submitting legislation to require a training levy, provided that they commit themselves to a drive to get employers to get their average expenditures on front-line employee training up to 2% of front-line employee salaries and wages within two years. If they have not done so within that time, then he will expect their support when he submits legislation requiring the training levy. He could do the same thing with respect to slots for structured on-the-job training.

COLLEGE LOAN/PUBLIC SERVICE PROGRAM

We presume that this program is being designed by others and so have not attended to it. From everything we know about it, however, it is entirely compatible with the rest of what is proposed here. What is, of course, especially relevant here, is that our reconceptualization of the apprenticeship proposal as a college-level education program, combined with our proposal that everyone who gets the general education credential be entitled to a free year of higher education (combined federal and state funds) will have a decided impact on the calculations of cost for the college loan/public service program.

ASSISTANCE FOR DROPOUTS AND THE LONG TERM UNEMPLOYED

The problem of upgrading the skills of high school dropouts and the adult hard core unemployed is especially difficult. It is also at the heart of the problem of our inner cities. All the evidence indicates that what is needed is something with all the important characteristics of a nonresidential job Corps-like program. The problem with the Job Corps is that it is operated directly by the federal government and is therefore not embedded at all in the infrastructure of local communities. The way to solve this problem is to create a new urban program that is locally—not federally—organized and administered, but which must operate in a way that uses something like the federal standards for contracting for Job Corps services. In this way, local employers, neighborhood organizations and other local service providers could meet the need, but requiring local authorities to use the federal standards would assure high quality results. Programs for high school dropouts and the hard-core unemployed would probably have to be separately organized, though the services provided would be much the same. Federal funds would be offered on a matching basis with state and local funds for this purpose. These programs should be fully integrated with the revitalized employment service. The local labor market board would be the local authority responsible for receiving the funds and contracting with providers for the services. It would provide diagnostic, placement and testing services. We would eliminate the targeted jobs credit and use the money now spent on that program to finance these operations. Funds can also be used from the JOBS program in the welfare reform act. This will not be sufficient, however, because there is currently no federal money available to meet the needs of hard-core unemployed males (mostly Black) and so new monies will have to be appropriated for the purpose.

COMMENTARY

As you know very well, the High Skills: Competitive Workforce as sponsored by Senators Kennedy and Hatfield and Congressman Gephardt and Regula provides a ready-made vehicle for advancing many of the ideas we have outlined. To foster a good working relationship with the Congress, we suggest that, to the extent possible, the framework of these companion bills be used to frame the President's proposals. You may not know that we have put together a large group or representatives of Washington-based organizations to come to a consensus around the ideas in America's Choice. They are full of energy and very committed to this joint effort. If they are made part of the process of framing the legislative proposals, they can be expected to be strong support for them when they arrive on the Hill. As you think about the assembly of these ideas into specific legislative proposals, you may also want to take into account the packaging ideas that come later in this letter.

ELEMENTARY AND SECONDARY EDUCATION PROGRAM

The situation with respect to elementary and secondary education is very different from adult education and training. In the latter case, a new vision and a whole new structure is required. In the former, there is increasing acceptance of a new vision and structure among the public at large, within the relevant professional groups and in Congress. There is also a lot of existing activity on which to build. So we confine ourselves here to describing some of those activities that can be used to launch the Clinton education program.

STANDARD SETTING

Legislation to accelerate the process of national standard setting in education was contained in the conference report on S.2 and HR 4323 that was defeated on a recent cloture vote. Solid majorities were behind the legislation in both houses of Congress. While some of us would quarrel with a few of the details, we think the new administration should support the early reintroduction of this legislation with whatever changes it thinks fit. This legislation does not establish a national body to create a national examination system. We think that is the right choice for now.

SYSTEMIC CHANGE IN PUBLIC EDUCATION

The conference report on S.2 and HR 4323 also contained a comprehensive program to support systemic change in public education. Here again, some of us would quibble with some of the particulars, but we believe that the administration's objectives would be well served by endorsing the resubmission of this legislation, modified as it sees fit.

FEDERAL PROGRAMS FOR THE DISADVANTAGED

The established federal education programs for the disadvantaged need to be thoroughly overhauled to reflect an emphasis on results for the student rather than compliance with the regulations. A national commission on Chapter 1, the largest of these programs, chaired by David Hornbeck, has designed a radically new version of the legislation, with the active participation of many of the advocacy groups. Other groups have been similarly engaged. We think the new administration should quickly endorse the work of the national commission and introduce its proposals early next year. It is unlikely that this legislation will pass before the deadline—two years away—for the reauthorization of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, but early endorsement of this new approach by the administration will send a strong signal to the Congress and will greatly affect the climate in which other parts of the act will be considered.

PUBLIC CHOICE TECHNOLOGY, INTEGRATED HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES, CURRICULUM RESOURCES, HIGH PERFORMANCE MANAGEMENT, PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT, AND RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT

The restructuring of the schools that is envisioned in S.2 and HR 4323 is not likely to succeed unless the schools have a lot of information about how to do it and real assistance in getting it done. The areas in which this help is needed are suggested by the heading of this section. One of the most cost-effective things the federal government could do is to provide support for research, development, and technical assistance of the schools on these topics. The new Secretary of Education should be directed to propose a strategy for doing just that, on a scale sufficient to the need. Existing programs of research, development, and assistance should be examined as possible sources of funds for these purposes. Professional development is a special case. To build the restructured system will require an enormous amount of professional development and the time in which professionals can take advantage of such a resource. Both cost a lot of money. One of the priorities for the new education secretary should be the development of strategies for dealing with these problems. But here, as elsewhere, there are some existing programs in the Department of Education whose funds can be redirected for this purpose, programs that are not currently informed by the goals that we have spelled out. Much of what we have in mind here can be accomplished through the reauthorization of the Office of Educational Research and Improvement. Legislation for that reauthorization was prepared for the last session of Congress, but did not pass. That legislation was informed by a deep distrust of the Republican administration, rather than the vision put forward by the Clinton campaign. But that can and should be remedied on the next round.

EARLY CHILDHOOD EDUCATION

The president-elect has committed himself to a great expansion in the funding of Head Start. We agree. But the design of the program should be changed to reflect several important requirements. The quality of professional preparation for the people who staff these programs is very low and there are no standards that apply to their employment. The same kind of standard setting we have called for in the rest of this plan should inform the approach to this program. Early childhood education should be combined with quality day care to provide wrap-around programs that enable working parents to drop off their children at the beginning of the workday and pick them up at the end. Full funding for the very poor should be combined with matching funds to extend the tuition paid by middle class parents to make sure that these programs are not officially segregated by income. The growth of the program should be phased in, rather than done all at once, so that quality problems can be addressed along the way, based on developing examples of best practice. These and other related issues need to be addressed, in our judgment, before the new administration commits itself on the specific form of increased support for Head Start.

PUTTING THE PACKAGE TOGETHER

Here we remind you of what we said at the beginning of this letter about timing the legislative agenda. We propose that you assemble the ideas just described into four high priority packages that will enable you to move quickly on the campaign promises:

1. The first would use your proposal for an apprenticeship system as the keystone of the strategy for putting the whole new postsecondary training system in place. It would consist of the proposal for postsecondary standards, the Collaborative Design and Development proposal, the technical assistance proposal and the postsecondary education finance proposal.

2. The second would combine the initiatives on dislocated workers, the rebuilt employment service and the new system of labor market boards as the Clinton administration's employment security program, built on the best practices anywhere in the world. This is the backbone of a system for assuring adult workers in our society that they need never again watch with dismay as their jobs disappear and their chances of ever getting a good job again go with them.

3. The third would concentrate on the overwhelming problems of our inner cities, combining most of the elements of the first and second packages into a special program to greatly raise the work-related skills of the people trapped in the core of our great cities.

4. The fourth would enable you to take advantage of legislation on which Congress has already been working to advance the elementary and secondary reform agenda. It would combine the successor to HR 4323 and S.2 (incorporating the systemic reforms agenda and the board for student performance standards), with the proposal for revamping Chapter 1.

ORGANIZING THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH FOR HUMAN RESOURCES DEVELOPMENT

The issue here is how to organize the federal government to make sure that the new system is actually built as a seamless web in the field, where it counts, and that program gets a fast start with a first-rate team behind it.

We propose, first, that the President appoint a National Council on Human Resources Development. It would consist of the relevant key White House officials, cabinet members and members of Congress. It would also include a small number of governors, educators, business executives, labor leaders and advocates for minorities and the poor. It would be established in such a way as to assure continuity of membership across administrations, so that the consensus it forges will outlast any one administration. It would be charged with recommending broad policy on a national system of human resources development to the President and the Congress, assessing the effectiveness and promise of current programs and proposing new ones. It would be staffed by senior officials on the Domestic Policy Council staff of the President.

Second, we propose that a new agency be created, the National Institute for Learning, Work and Service. Creation of this agency would signal instantly the new administration's commitment to putting the continuing education and training of the "forgotten half" on a par with the preparation of those who have historically been given the resources to go to 'college' and to integrate the two systems, not with a view to dragging down the present system and those it serves, but rather to make good on the promise that everyone will have access to the kind of education that only a small minority have had access to up to now. To this agency would be assigned the functions now performed by the assistant secretary for employment and training, the assistant secretary for vocational education and the assistant secretary for higher education. The agency would be staffed by people specifically recruited from all over the country for the purpose. The staff would be small, high powered and able to move quickly to implement the policy initiatives of the new President in the field of human resources development.

The closest existing model to what we have in mind is the National Science Board and the National Science Foundation, with the Council in the place of the Board and the institute in the place of the Foundation. But our council would be advisory, whereas the Board is governing. If you do not like the idea of a permanent council, you might consider the idea of a temporary President's Task Force, constituted much as the council would be.

In this scheme, the Department of Education would be free to focus on putting the new student performance standards in place and managing the programs that will take the leadership in the national restructuring of the schools. Much of the financing and disbursement functions of the higher education program would move to the Treasury Department, leaving the higher education staff in the new institute to focus on matters of substance.

In any case, as you can see, we believe that some extraordinary measure well short of actually merging the departments of labor and education is required to move the new agenda with dispatch.

GETTING CONSENSUS ON THE VISION

Radical changes in attitudes, values and beliefs are required to move any combination of these agendas. The federal government will have little direct leverage on many of the actors involved. For much of what must be done a new, broad consensus will be required. What role can the new administration play in forging that consensus and how should it go about doing it?

At the narrowest level, the agenda cannot be moved unless there is agreement among the governors, the President and the Congress. Bill's role at the Charlottesville summit leads naturally to a reconvening of that group, perhaps with the addition of key members of Congress and others.

But we think that having an early summit on the subject of the whole human resources agenda would be risky, for many reasons. Better to build on Bill's enormous success during the campaign with national talk shows, in school gymnasiums and the bus trips. He could start on the consensus-building progress this way, taking his message directly to the public, while submitting his legislative agenda and working it on the Hill. After six months or so, when the public has warmed to the ideas and the legislative packages are about to get into hearings, then you might consider some form of summit, broadened to include not only the governors, but also key members of Congress and others whose support and influence are important. This way, Bill can be sure that the agenda is his, and he can go into it with a groundswell of support behind him.

That's it. None of us doubt that you have thought long and hard about many of these things and have probably gone way beyond what we have laid out in many areas. But we hope that there is something here that you can use. We would, of course, be very happy to flesh out these ideas at greater length and work with anyone you choose to make them fit the work that you have been doing.

Very best wishes from all of us to you and Bill

MARC TUCKER.
